Brinton Carpet Plant Employees Will Get Ten Per Cent Increase

Strike Is Settled With Compromise Between Company And Employees

WILL RETURN MONDAY

Brussels Union Has No Intention Of Joining The C. I. O.

Two hundred and forty employees of the Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Company will return to their looms and desks Monday morning with 10 per cent pay increases as the result of a strike settlement agreed upon Thursday evening. The settlement climaxed a walk-out which occurred one week ago to-day.

The settlement was effected by a compromise between union leaders who demanded full restoration of the total 25 per cent pay cuts effected by the company during the depression years and the claims of company executives who held the time for restoration of pay cuts has not yet arrived. The meeting of the Brinton employees with the Brinton executive and the leaders of the Canadian Brussels Carpet Weavers' Association at which the settlement was agreed upon was one of amicable almosphere, it is reported.

First Meeting

First progress toward the settlement came at a meeting of strikers, only fifty some members of the Brussels Association of the total of 240 employees, Saturday afternoon. The strikers agreed to accept the 10 per cent pay increase, the figure suggested by four representatives of the National Board of the Brussels Association who had been in conference with Vern. Dawson, plant manager.

The evening meeting was called to seek approval of the general body of Brinton employees of the 10 per cent increase. Following the meeting, A. C. McGowan of Guelph, spokesman for the National Board, released the following statement to the press:

Statement

"The strike has been settled today and the weavers will return to work at 7 o'clock Monday morning at a ten per cent increase.

Fall Is Fatal Madoc Miner

Sidney Allport 25, Dies During Trip To Belleville Hospital

BELLEVILLE, Ont., March 27 (CP)—Sidney Allport, 25, Madoc, died of injuries received yesterday when in some unaccountable manner he fell or slipped while being lowered in the bucket of a hoist at the Canada Talc Mines, one mile east of Madoc.

He was being rushed to Belleville Hospital by Dr. S. Eagleson, when he died. The body was taken back to Madoc, where an inquest was opened and after preliminary evidence had been taken was adjourned until Wednesday. Coroner Dr. S. Eagleson presided.

It was understood the injured man asked the hoist man to lower him in the shaft, in the course of his duties. When Manuel Ethier, Hinton Light, and Joseph Robillard went to the hoist with a load of rock, they found Allport slumped at the bottom of the bucket. He suffered a broken neck, fracture at the base of the skull, a broken cheek bone and several dislodged teeth. The hoist man said he felt no unnecessary tugging or jerking, while the bucket was being lowered.

Mr. Allport leaves a young wife (nee Violet Rogers) and two small children. Funeral arrangements are not yet completed.

Armory Motorist Pays $25 for Failing to Return to Scene of Accident

STRATFORD, Ont., March 27—(C.P.)—Robert Kalbfleisch, Harmony, was fined $25 and costs when he pleaded guilty before Magistrate J. A. Makins to-day to a charge of failing to return to the scene of an accident in which he was involved. The accident occurred when a car driven by Kalbfleisch struck a parked vehicle. Considerable damage was caused to both cars.

Would See Dictators Go Like Spittoons

Woodstock, March 27.—

WITH a pensive look in his eye, kindly James Clarke tried to explain his hoarding of twenty-one or more cuspidors resting in a dusty basement room in the Oxford County Courthouse.

"Time was when no County Council could legislate prosperity unless these were on the floor of the chamber," he mused. "But the boys don't chaw these days. Too many cigaret smokers, I reckon."

"It might be a better world," he suggested, "if a few of these dictators we hear so much about could be placed on the shelf, too. I think the spittoons were more modish."

Higher Prices Bringing Run On Hired Men

$20 TO $30 MONTHLY

TORONTO, March 27.—(CP). — Increased purchasing power of farmers due to higher prices for produce and livestock has resulted in a much greater demand throughout Ontario for farm labor at higher wages than has been offered for several years, H. C. Hudson, Superintendent of the Employment Bureau of the Ontario Department of Labor said to-day.

"In many centres the demand for farm help is as great or greater than the labor supply, a most unusual condition at this time of the year," said Mr. Hudson. "The height of the demand will be delayed three or four days by the heavy snowfall, but snow at this time of year is considered highly beneficial to the land.

"In Oshawa and some other centres, the minimum wage offered is $20 a month, a higher rate than obtained in other years," he said. "Kitchener offers are $18 to $25 a month. These wages are, of course, for men experienced at milking and plowing. Demand for single men is higher than for married men. Port William had made eight placements by March 15, more than twice the number ordinarily placed by that time."

More Single Men Calls.

A. W. Taylor, Guelph employment service superintendent, said demands for farm labor are coming in steadily, with all requests being filled at $20 and $30 a month, including board and room. Wages in London are higher than last year, the employment bureau there said. It reported unfilled farm jobs for 10 experienced single men at $20 a month. Inexperienced help are offered $15 monthly.

Nations Across Universe Speed Pace To More Arms

BLOOD FLOWS IN SPAIN

Catholic, Protestant Clash With Nazis—Jew Trods Uneasy Path

TORONTO, March 27. —(AP)— Church bells throughout the Christian world pealed today the joyous tidings of the risen Christ—but to a world torn by war, the thought of war and by religious conflict.

Christ, on the way to his death on the cross, spoke to his disciples of "wars and rumors of wars," of brother that "shall betray the brother," of censure for the church.

And today:

Nations everywhere speeded the pace of armaments.

Civil conflict gripped Spain, brother against brother.

Pope Pius XI issued an encyclical to the Roman Catholics of Mexico, beseeching them to hold fast to the faith in the face of conflict dating back to the Conquistadores of Cortes in the 16th century.

The Jew, in Poland, in Germany and elsewhere trod an uneasy path. In the Holy Land of Palestine there was unrest.

In Spain, those who follow the cause of fascism or monarchism gathered in insurgent Seville to worship. In Madrid and in the Basque country of the north, those who support the republican regime gathered also to give thanks for the resurrection.

Some churches throughout the countryside were scarred by shells. Some, under government command, were stripped of furnishings and used for other purposes.

Pope Backs Rebels.

For the Church has become an issue in the war—the insurgents professing to be her protector; the government conscripting some church property and charging Catholic priests are fighting against Madrid.

Pope Pius has inferred his favor for the insurgents, fearing the government will spread Communism against which he long has been an outspoken opponent.

The pontiff, preparing to participate tomorrow in Easter services at St. Peter's cathedral after long illness, within the past two weeks issued his latest exhortation against Communism which he feels is an enemy of both religion and the welfare of nations.

He followed it quickly with an attack upon the Nazi government of Germany which he charged had taken away the right to control religious education of youth. He warned, without naming him, that Reichschancellor Hitler would be regarded as a "senseless prophet of absurdity" if he sought to become spiritual head of the German state.

For four years now, German Catholics have disputed with the Nazi regime, fearing conscription of church lands and vigorously determined to retain the right of religious instruction for Catholic youth. German youth movements, the church charges, have made this task most difficult.

Protestants, too, differ with Hitler over administration of the German Evangelical Church. Last week Hitler aides sought a truce, but Protestant leaders declared they were determined to continue the fight to keep the government out of church affairs.

Courage for Mexico.

The Papal message to Mexican worshippers today went to a nation where church conflict has long ex-

Call For "Painted Turtles" Brings Aquarium A Surprise

EVERYONE DOOMED

NEW YORK, March 27.—(AP)— There are painted turtles and turtles, painted, and if you don't think there's a difference, C. W. Coates of the New York aquarium will be glad to point it out—when he cools down a little.

Coates said today he had ordered a shipment of chrysemys picta, commonly called "painted turtle." He didn't get painted turtles, but he did get turtles, painted.

"Churches and houses and roads painted on them," he moaned, "and trees and fields, and all manner of things.

"In addition, each turtle had a name painted on him. You should see those names," said Coates sadly.

"There was Mickey Mouse and Amos and Andy and Barney Google and Tillie the Toiler. And the colors! Bight yellows, greens, pinks, blues and purple! I was so mad I boxed them all up and told the dealer to come and get them immediately!"

2 Railway Heads Meet Union Chief

MONTREAL, March 27 (CP) — Railway heads and representatives of 117,000 railway workers resumed negotiations today in regard to restoration of the 10-per-cent pay cut. Labor Minister Rogers conferred with both sides yesterday in Ottawa and announced breaking of the deadlock which disrupted negotiations last Wednesday. S. J. Hungerford, Canadian National Railways president, and Sir Edward Beatty, Canadian Pacific Railway president, met vice-presidents of 17 unions today. The men's general committee will reconvene here Tuesday.

Woman Who Asked Jail Cell Argues Way Out A Day Early

Now Proposes Action Against Oxford County For False Arrest And Imprisonment

ALL OVER A DOG

WOODSTOCK, Ont., March 27.—(CP).— Mrs. Clara Kendall, who seemed to hold a mathematical decision over the authorities anyway, announced to-day she would start legal action against Oxford county for false arrest and imprisonment. She argued her way out of jail yesterday.

For beating Constable W. D. Sharpe over the head with a broomstick, Mrs. Kendall was fined $22.15 or 10 days in jail and no amount of persuasion could get her to pay the fine. Finally she went to jail March 17, announcing she would get out Good Friday.

While jail authorities couldn't figure out how the 10 days were up yesterday; since the Norwich widow didn't arrive until after noon on St. Patrick's Day, they released her anyway.

The original intention was to free her at 10 o'clock this morning.

Out of jail, Mrs. Kendall said: "I was railroaded into jail but the matter will come before a higher court and the county is going to pay for my humiliation."

"Coronation" the Kendall pup which brought about all the trouble by disappearing in February, was cared for at the jail by Governor Jack Skinner and his wife. Mrs. Kendall said the Skinners were nice people.

When "Coronation" was found by a neighbor near Norwich, an advertisement was published in a newspaper advising the owner that the pup would be returned upon payment of cost of the ad. Mrs. Kendall got the pup but wouldn't pay for the ad and that's how Constable Sharpe happened to visit her.

C.P.R. CASE DROPPED

OTTAWA, March 27 (CP) — Charge of attempting to derail a train near Smith's Falls, Ont., against Elden Smith, 20, Arthur McFarlane, 20, and Ronald Hartford, 20, Amherst, N.S., was withdrawn in police court today when Canadian Pacific Railway detectives said they had no evidence against the men.

Old Speed Limit Rules Till May 24

Toronto, March 27—(CP)

MOTORISTS who go skimming along highways at 50 miles per hour, believing they are within the new law passed by the Ontario Legislature, may get an unpleasant surprise.

The speed limit on Ontario highways is still 35 miles per hour. The legislature has passed an act increasing that limit to 50 miles per hour, but that law doesn't become effective for 60 days from last Thursday — in other words May 24.

In order to achieve uniformity of the coming into effect of new laws, Attorney General Roebuck introduced a measure which provides that all legislation passed at the present session comes into effect 60 days after prorogation.

An earlier dispatch which The Examiner is carrying today on page 2 said the law came into force when being signed by the Lieutenant governor. This was found later to be an error.

Euler Back Home Sure Of Treaty

KITCHENER, Ont., March 27 (C. P.). — Back from his trip to Australia and New Zealand, Hon. W. D. Euler, Minister of Trade and Commerce, said to-day he expected a satisfactory trade agreement between the Australian and Canadian Governments would result from recent negotiations.

The Minister reached his home here yesterday and will go to Ottawa after the Easter holidays. He was away three months, also visiting the Fiji Islands, Pago Pago in the Samoa Islands, and Honolulu. He was accompanied by his private secretary, Finlay Sim; the director of his department's intelligence service, L. D. Wilgress, and the First Secretary of the Department of External Affairs, J. S. MacDonald.

Vanishing American Pedestrians See Closed Season—Or Extinction

Providence, R.I., March 27.—

THOSE people who do not ride in automobiles, sometimes referred to as Vanishing Americans, made public their rules for survival today.

The National Pedestrians' Association decided, after looking over last year's casualty statistics, that its members had best declare a closed season if their particular species was not to be extinguished altogether.

There were legal, as well as anthropological, aspects of the thing.

"Keep on going across the street, even if the light turns red," Arthur R. Blanchard of Providence, executive director, advised. "Legally you're in the right, even if you're dead."

Prof. Roger L. Nicrison, of the University of Michigan, was less given to levity and more to mathematics.

"If we could keep the pedestrians over 50 in bed after dark," he said, "we'd have half the problem solved."

SHOT BY ALLIES

Places Taken By Spaniards Says Madrid As Socialist Advance Goes On

VALENCIA, Spain, March 27 (A. P.). — Internal fighting among 30,000 Italian volunteers on the Guadalajara front, official Spanish government sources said yesterday, has caused their removal from the ranks of General Francisco Franco's insurgents.

Deserters coming across the battle lines confirmed government pilots' reports yesterday the Italians had been withdrawn from the front lines in the Guadalajara sector.

Government sources said an "enormous number" of corpses had been found in "certain places, indicating those in the front line had been shot by others behind them."

Transfer of the Italians to other fronts was expected here. Spaniards have moved into the positions vacated by the Italians, it was said.

Another City Bombed.

MADRID, March 27 (A.P.). — Insurgent air raiders bombed Alcala de Henarres, 20 miles east of here today. The city is a strategic point on the road to the north-eastern Guadalajara front.

First reports of the attack were brought to Madrid by eye-witnesses, unable to give the extent of casualties or damage. Communications with the city were cut off.

The attack was staged as Government guns were reported blasting at Navalperal de Pinares in a drive on the important insurgent stronghold of Avila, 50 miles west of Madrid and slightly north.

The bombs struck an off-chord for Madrid's songs of victory based on recent successes in Guadalajara Province and near Pozoblanco on the southern front.

The populace felt the tide of war had been turned.

Joyful "militianos," their nondescript uniforms still smeared with trench mud, sang and shouted a joyous refrain in the city's bars and cafes—on Easter leave—while their comrades on the western front were reported to have established advanced outposts in the drive toward Avila.

The government force reached a point near Navalperal de Pinares, 16 miles east of General Franco's strategic base at Avila. Avila is about 50 miles west of Madrid and slightly north.

Newspapers blazoned claims that Franco's long weeks of pressure on the government stronghold at Pozoblanco, 150 miles south of Madrid, had been cracked in a mass rout of his troops.

The press reports said government artillery was battering insurgent concentrations at Navalperal de Pinares in the drive toward Avila. Government outposts were on the fringe of the town.

March Under February List In Work Lines

Ontario Alone Advances — General Mining Building Drop Offsets Other Gains

HIGHER THAN YEAR AGO

OTTAWA, March 27 (C.P.). — Industrial employment on March 1 showed a substantial increase over the corresponding date last year, but was below the figures of the previous month, according to a report issued to-day by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

Returns from 9,088 firms showed 975,882 were at work on March 1, while reports from 9,411 employers on March 1, 1936, showed 831,959 workers on their payrolls. On February 1 this year 997,679 were employed.

Increased employment in leather, pulp and paper, textile and iron and steel in manufacturing, communications, railway construction, maintenance and wholesale trade was more than offset by declines in mining, transportation, building and highway construction, the largest being a decrease of 14,000 men being released from logging.

The index, on the base 1926 equals 100, was 102.8 on March 1 compared with 104.1 on February 1, and 98.9 March 1, 1936.

Ontario Alone Advances.

Ontario showed a moderate upward trend in employment on March 1, while all other provinces showed a contraction.

In Ontario the 4,449 co-operating employers added 1,905 persons to their forces, bringing them to 422,980. The trend of employment at that date in the years for which statistics are available has not invariably been upward, although the average change in the years since 1920 has been an increase exceeding that noted at the beginning of March, 1937.

Captain Confesses To Smuggling Volunteers When Cornered By Patrol

OFF SPANISH COAST

Ottawa Unable To Shed Any Light — Bill Provides Penalties

PORT VENDRES, France, March 27 (CP-Havas).—Twenty-five would-be volunteers in the Spanish civil war, who claimed to be Canadians, were held here today after they attempted to run the international non-intervention blockade of the Spanish coast.

Despite their claim to Canadian nationality, port officials believed many of them came from other countries.

The coastguard cutter Le Cerbere, patrolling the northern Mediterranean coast of Spain, stopped the steamer Sans Pareil off Cape Bear, near the Spanish frontier this morning.

In reply to questions from the coastguards commander, an officer of the San Pareil said the ship belonged to A. M. Gaudel of Valras, in the Henault Department of France, and was going to Cerbere to take on a cargo of furniture.

The patrol agents were suspicious, however, and insisted on searching the Sans Pareil. Gaudel, who was aboard, then admitted he was attempting to smuggle 25 men into Spain.

The ship was ordered to proceed to Port Vendres, where the would-be volunteers told the authorities they were Canadians.

Gaudel and his crew were placed under surveillance, and the Sans Pareil was held by maritime authorities, pending further investigation.

Ottawa Lacks Details.

OTTAWA, March 27 (CP).—Without further details, officials here were unable to say today whether 25 men caught near Port Vendres, France, as they attempted to enter Spain were actually Canadians.

A bill was recently approved in the House of Commons, providing penalties for Canadians who volunteer with combatants such as those in Spain.

Old Section 65 Inserted In Act

Omission Would Have Sent All Corporation Taxes To Public Schools

TORONTO, March 27 (CP)—Vital to the terms of the Separate School Act, the old section 65 of that act, under which directors of corporations must give direction as to the amount of taxes to be diverted to Separate Schools, has been returned under an added clause to the statute law amendment act.

This was revealed today by Hon. Arthur Roebuck, Attorney-General. He said the Conservative motion to repeal last year's Separate School bill, did not provide for a return of section 65. The clause was added in the dying hours of the session on Thursday.

Had section 65 not been re-inserted, he said, it would have been a serious matter for the Separate Schools.

Okay, Terrific And Lousy Top 10 Most Over-Worked Words

Frequency Of Their Use Indicate Your Education, Charm Says Dictionary-Maker

LISTS CHIEF OFFENDERS

NEW YORK, March 27—(AP)— Now come the 10 "most overworked" words.

Wilfred J. Funk, who took time out from his activities as a dictionary maker, magazine editor, book publisher and poet to compile the list, not only picked the words but named classes of people he considers their "most flagrant abusers."

Your education, charm and related qualities, he thinks, can be measured inversely with the frequency with which you use his 10 words. Here's the list and the folks accused of being chief offenders:

1.—Okay; child and shop-girls.
2.—Terrific; all persons "exposed" to Hollywood for 24 hours or more.
3.—Lousy; ditto.
4.—Contact (both verb and noun) advertising workers.
5.—Definitely; society.
6.—Oil; Broadwayites.
7.—Racket; tradesmen.
8.—Swell; interior decorators.
9.—Impact; columnists and commentators.
10.—Honey; stock brokers.

Pie Prospects Halt Time In Brantford

A dozen pigeons were too much for the power of the clock. The occurrence was the second of the kind here, and stories of pigeon pie are being heard around the Postoffice, where the birds are proving a nuisance.

Roebuck Amendment Aimed To Nip Chaos, Assessments, Notices

New Speed Limit Of 50 Miles Is Put Through And Now In Force

LEGISLATURE PROROGUES

Unparliamentary Procedure Probably Unparalleled In Queen's Park History

The Legislature was prorogued at 6.45 o'clock Thursday evening after a turbulent session. Before prorogation an important change was made in the Conservative motion accepted by the government, for repeal of school tax amendments which re-apportioned corporation taxes among Public and Separate schools.

Attorney General Arthur W. Roebuck moved an amendment which the House approved. Under this amendment school taxes in 1937 would not be affected by the repeal legislation.

If the repeal legislation affected the 1937 taxes, said the Attorney-General, assessments made and tax notices served would be valueless, causing chaos in municipalities.

Signs To Be Changed.

Thousands of highway signs throughout Ontario will have to be changed immediately as a result of the Legislature's recent action in boosting the motoring speed limit to 50 miles an hour on the open road and to 30 miles an hour in built-up areas.

The present 35-mile-an-hour signs posted at strategic points in country and the 20-mile signs at the entrances to all incorporated cities, towns and villages, must either be replaced by new ones or be repainted to conform to the amended law.

The new speed limit became effective at 6.35 p.m., Thursday, when the Lieutenant-Governor of the Province, in proroguing the Legislature, gave Royal Assent to the enabling bill. Hon. T. B. McQuesten, Minister of Highways, was expected to protest against it at third reading, but his "kick" did not materialize.

Motorists who were picked up yesterday for speeding anywhere in Ontario are, it is understood, subject to the new provisions and not to the old ones.

Extremely Lively Session

The third session of Ontario's 19th legislature which closed on the eve of Good Friday produced a sizeable amount of scheduled and unexpected legislation, explosive outbursts of unparliamentary procedure and a collection of terms not found in the Queen's Park glossary. The session began Jan. 19, paused three weeks while Premier Hepburn regained his health in the south, sitting day.

Crest of the legislative climb was believed passed this week with approval in committee of ways and means of items in the Canada-United Kingdom trade pact. Considerable work remains but it was understood the order paper has been stripped of matters likely to prove controversial.

Considerable corridor speculation arose from Prime Minister Mackenzie King's pronouncement Friday night that he did not expect an expeditionary force from the Dominions or the United Kingdom would take part in another European war should one arise.

Opinion that the Dominions might not send another expeditionary force has been expressed in other quarters, but, as far as could be learned, it was the first time a highly-placed authority had suggested the United Kingdom might be in the same position.

EXPECT 2 WEEKS TO END SESSION

Morning Sittings Will Start Wednesday And Continue Till Close

OTTAWA, March 27. — (CP) — Parliament, its session's end perhaps no more than a fortnight away, is enjoying a three-day Easter recess before entering the prorogation stretch which comes early this year because of the Coronation May 12.

Notice the race with time and eloquence must start came yesterday when Prime Minister Mackenzie King placed a resolution in the House votes and proceedings for presentation Monday, asking that morning sittings start Wednesday and continue thereafter on every sitting day.

U.S. Freighter Flashes S.O.S. 840 Miles Out

Nearest Vessel Not Expected To Arrive Until 10 p.m. Tonight

WATER POURING IN

SAN FRANCISCO, March 27.—(AP).—Carrying a crew of about 40, the U.S. freighter Volunteer, flashed an SOS to-day as her pumps failed and water rained in her hold. The British freighter Fresno City, 250 miles away, steamed to her assistance at 12 knots.

The Volunteer reported she was 840 miles from Yokohama, Japan. It was estimated the Fresno City would reach the stricken craft about 10 p.m. P.S.T. (1 a.m. Sunday E.S.T.) to-night.

Word of the Volunteer's plight was received by Globe wireless here in a relayed message from the Dollar liner President Harrison. The freighter said water was "out of control" in No. 1 hold and the pumps not functioning properly.

The message also was picked up by the Empress of Canada, sailing west from Japan. The Canadian Pacific liner held to her course after learning the Fresno City was the nearest ship.

The first distress message from the Volunteer was flashed at 12.30 a.m. At 2.08 a.m. came another that the Volunteer had "hove too" and would await arrival of help.

Globe wireless said the Volunteer probably was damaged in a mile-a-minute gale which swept the Pacific Ocean two days ago. No storm was reported to-day.

The Volunteer, owned by the U.S. Shipping Board, is a ship of 7,717 gross tons and 416 feet long. She was built at Alameda, Calif., in 1918 by the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation.

Japan Balks At Gun Limit

Has No Intention Of Using Only 14-Inch Calibre She Tells Britain

TOKYO, March 27 (A.P.). — The Japanese Government officially declined to accept a tri-power limitation on naval gun calibres without a simultaneous recession in naval tonnages by the other great sea Powers, the United States and Great Britain.

Japan thus held herself free to construct guns of any size.

The Japanese position, outlined in a note handed by Foreign Minister Naotake Sato to the British Ambassador, Sir Robert Clive, was that quantitative and qualitative limitations could be considered only in conjunction.

The note refused to accept Britain's request naval armaments, free from the restraints of the now-dead Washington and London Naval Treaties, be limited to 14-inch guns.

When the 1922 Washington Treaty was negotiated, Japan possessed two Dreadnoughts equipped with 16 16-inch guns each—the 39,000-ton Kaga and the 42-000-ton Akagi. Under the treaty terms the two were dismantled and converted into airplane carriers.

Some naval observers believed Japan might now go further than her previous armament strength and construct battleships of 68,000 tons or more capable of carrying 18-inch weapons. Construction of such superships was believed feasible under Japan's five-year naval budget.

EUROPEAN DEMAND IMPROVES WHEAT

Futures Establish New Seven-Year High—Canada's Stocks Low

WINNIPEG, March 27 (C.P.). — Ever-increasing European demand for wheat, with available supplies disappearing at a rate not witnessed in years, continued to-day the basic cause of an dynamite-laden a "bull" market as has been seen in years.

Emphasizing the fact that Canada's stocks just now are at the lowest level in nearly a decade, wheat futures prices skyrocketed 9¼ to 3¼ cents a bushel on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange this week. Always a wide mover, flax shot up 15¼ to 11½ cents net, in sympathy.

All wheat futures established new seven-year high price marks during the week as the May option closed on Thursday at $1.43¾, July $1.40¼, and October $1.26⅝. Current prices contrasted with the all-time low price of 38 cents a bushel in 1932.

While Germany, Italy, Greece, Great Britain, and other European countries showed no signs of letting up their heavy purchases, under way for weeks, Canada's visible supply of wheat dropped to 80,713,435 bushels as at March 19, the last reporting date. It was the smallest stock of the grain in more than 9½ years. One year ago, the total was 212,761,762 bushels.

Storekeeper Swings Knife And Hammer-Wielder Flees

IN SOUTH LONDON

LONDON, Ont., March 27.—(CP)—A hammer bandit was sought by London district police to-day for his attack on Joseph Quigley, middle-aged Irish storekeeper, during an attempted robbery. The bandit was described as of medium height and between 35 and 40 years old.

Struck on the head when his back was turned, Quigley, despite the fact he suffered a deep scalp wound, snatched up a sharp-edged hunting knife and routed his assailant. The attack took place last night.

The bandit entered Quigley's small store on Ridout street in south London and asked for cigarettes. When Quigley turned to a shelf behind him to fill the order, the missile customer drew a hammer from his pocket and struck him.

Hearing the movement, Quigley turned and attempted to ward off the blow. The hammer struck him on the side of the head, opening a gaping wound.

As Quigley grabbed up the knife the bandit dropped the hammer back in his pocket and ran out, disappearing in the darkness.

a committee of four of the National Board and William Burns of the Department of Labour in Queens Park, Toronto, was in attendance.

"Conditions throughout the trade were discussed with Mr. Dawson, manager, and during the negotiations the best of feeling was enjoyed. We, as representatives, wish to contradict various statements which have appeared in the press regarding possibility of a general strike being called in our trade. At no time was this considered. We wish to thank the department of Labour, especially Mr. Burns, their representative, for the assistance he rendered during negotiations. Also to the press for the favourable stand they took during the strike.

"The committee in charge of negotiations were and are still very favourably impressed by the reception received from Mr. Thomas."

Four Representatives

The representatives of the National Board of the union who negotiated were led by Harold Price of Brantford, president, and included Robert Reid of Toronto, secretary, Mr. MacGowan and H. Fell, both of Toronto. Mr. Burns of the Department of Labour was present in the city for several days and served as mediator.

Referring to the presence of Alex. Welch, Committee of Industrial Organization, in the city, Mr. McGowan said there is no possibility the members of the Brussels union will abandon their organization to throw in their lot with the C.I.O. He denied that the Peterborough strike was planned as the forerunner of a general strike in the other three plants of Brussel union membership in Toronto, Brantford and Guelph but stated the union would likely insist on improved wage scales in those plants as it has done at the Brinton Carpet Company.

Sourdoughs Live Again Gold Rush Days Compare Old Methods With Modern

VANCOUVER, March 27—(CP)—Men and women who participated in the Yukon gold rush rolled back the years at the annual dinner and dance held here and told how modern methods have brought record gold yields.

Dawson City's first mayor—Henry Macaulay—presided. At his right sat Premier T. D. Pattullo, who went to the Yukon in 1897 as secretary to the Yukon Commission which brought the law and civil regulations to the land. Many other notables attended.

"The commission was 26 days making the journey to Dawson," the premier recalled. "Last year we flew from White Horse to Dawson and back in one day. The airplane is making a new north."

Yukon Commissioner G. A. Jeckell told the gathering of later developments in the territory. More gold was being produced today than ever before. Old methods where strong men toiled with pick and shovel and creek waters supplied power, had been replaced by modern machinery. Great dredges now won the gold from the earth. "The Yukon is prosperous. Nobody is on relief," he said.

Dr. Alfred Thompson, for many years representative of the Yukon in the House of Commons, declared that never in history did the race produce a more virile and versatile people than those who joined in the gold rush. Tribute was paid by delegates to the women of the rush days.

William A. Smith, 80, was the oldest sourdough at the meeting. He staked Number 1 claim on rich Eldorado Creek.

John Dempster, hero of "The Lost Patrol," was also present. He was a constable in the Royal North West Mounted Police when a patrol set out from Fort Mackenzie for Dawson to meet them. He found them dead of privation.

Among women sourdoughs was Mrs. Bessie Morrow of Portland, president of the International Sourdough Reunion. She announced that the reunion this year will be in Toronto.

Beatrice Isette (Mrs. George Smith), who was known as the Yukon Nightingale, was present again. Miss Lulu Fairbanks, secretary of the International Sourdough Reunion, was among the Seattle contingent.

THE COMPASSION OF OUR LORD

"He that hath seen Me hath seen the Father," said Our Lord. "Lord, shew us the Father," was the immediate reply. In this beautiful story Our Lord shows us the Father's character as He comforts the bereaved Mary. She stands at the sepulchre weeping, wailing. Why? She is the woman out of whom the Lord cast seven devils. He had broken the bonds of her evil habits. But more than that. She was not left alone. She was received into the fellowship of that small band of women "who ministered unto Him of their substance." They welcomed her into their company. There was no scornful look or patronage. They received her as one of themselves. Truly they were holy women. But now He is dead. That small band of women would soon be going back to their homes. She would be alone. That was the horror that preyed upon her mind all that Sabbath day. Would the seven devils return and her last state be worse than the first? No wonder she was wailing, uttering hear broken sobs.

A shadow falls and she, looking up through tear dimmed eyes, sees a man standing in working dress. It is the gardener. Surely he will know where they have laid Him. No explanation on her part. Her mind is so full of her loss that she takes for granted that he knows why she is weeping. Then falls upon her ears the word "Mary." "He calls His own sheep by name and they know His voice." It is the old tone of intimacy. Immediately she cries:—"Rabboni, My Master"; and seeks to grasp His feet in humble devotion. It is the Lord full of compassion for her sorrow. "He is the same yesterday, today and for ever." Death has no power to take from Him the heart of compassion.

Have you noticed how naturally she accepts the fact of His resurrection? His standing there does not surprise her. Her woman's instincts told her it must be so. Her Lord had broken her bonds of evil habits. He had cast out of her seven devils. Surely He could break the bonds of death? "It was not possible that He should be holden of death." "I lay down my life of myself. I have power to lay it down and I have power to take it again." "He trusted in God." With His dying breath he cried:—"Father, into Thy Hands I commend my spirit."

The Father did not forsake Him. On the third day the Spirit of the Father entered into that cold, dead Body and filled it with Divine Life and energy. God's Spirit entered into that Body and transfigured it and it passed through the tomb into a new life of activity and strength. "I am He that liveth and was dead and behold I am alive for evermore."

Our Lord deals with the individual. Mary. Later in the day, Simon Peter. Personal contact with the individual. That is always God's way and principle. He values human liberty and personality. One by one He calls us. Each child is dear to Him. It is a fundamental truth of Christianity that God deals with the individual personally. "Behold I stand at the door and knock. If any man will open unto Me I will come in and sup with him."

Yet we must not forget the other and equally important part of the truth. The same Lord that evening revealed Himself to the assembled Apostles and disciples who were gathered together in the upper room. The individual is important. Yes. But the family of God is important also. The individual cannot live by himself alone. He needs the family love and fellowship; the family needs him. He has a contribution to make to the family and the family to Him. If He stays out of the family circle both are poorer. "No man liveth unto himself."

What is the value of this story to us? Have you discovered the Divine energy giving you power to overcome sin and that evil habit? "Christ liveth in me." To your joy you have discovered that the power of evil habit is broken; the evil desire has lost its attraction for you. This is the proof to your soul of the resurrection of the Lord Jesus. "I live, yet not I, but Christ liveth in me." This is your personal experience and proof of His Resurrection.

Yet there is something more in this story. On some day of sorrow when you look upon the face of one who has passed within the veil you weep. It is good for you to weep. Yet you must not as those who have no hope. It may be in that hour of sorrow you also, who have followed Him faithfully, will find Him standing at your side. He will call you by your Christian name. Your eyes will be opened to behold the risen, glorified Lord, bone of your bone, full of compassion, drawing near to comfort you. Like Mary of old you will cry:—"Rabboni, My Master, My Lord and My God."

"CHRIST IS RISEN INDEED."

Into the narrative of each of these prophets (Jeremiah, Ezekiel and Daniel) there are woven deeply the contemporary events through which prophets and peoples were passing. These events are historic. Their dates are certainly known. The fact that the events, passing in natural sequence, transpiring once and not recurring, are caught in the texture of the writings, settles for all time the date of the writings themselves. From such demonstrations of time and place there is no appeal.

Modern critics, intent upon TEXTUAL CRITICISM as the know-all and end-all of the discussion, failed to see these obvious factors. Failing to take them into consideration, as the scientist would, most certainly have done, they landed themselves into a veritable "ditch" of errors, and they have led the people into the same ditch into which they have fallen.

British-Israel, using both methods, have come to the help of the people, and are lifting them out of the ditch into which they have fallen.

We turn to other sections of the Bible record and find that this school of thought lays further obstacles in the way of acceptance of the plain, straightforward record of the Holy Book.

For instance—the assumption is imported from abroad again—that the various names of God in the early Scriptures are to be explained on the hypothesis that before the Scriptures were arranged and written, there were many systems of religion, having either many Gods, or many names for God. Letters of the alphabet are used to indicate the supposed original writers from whom the names have been borrowed, and

A man believes only that which he practises.

"BRASS TACKS" ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Easter Sunday, March 28, is John, chapters 20 and 21, especially 20:19-29; 21:20-24, the Golden Text being Revelation 1:17, 18, "I am the first and the last, and the living one; and I was dead, and behold, I am alive forevermore.")

OUR LORD'S disciples on the first Easter morning brought with them to the tomb of their Master a dead and empty hope. They came to embalm a corpse and expected to find everything at the tomb just as they had left it when they hurriedly placed the body there on Friday afternoon.

The Empty Tomb

The first thing that greeted their empty hope was an open and empty tomb. As they were wondering how they would roll the great stone from the door of the tomb, they looked up, and behold, the stone was rolled away and an angel was sitting upon it. Mary Magdalene rushed back to the city immediately to report this to the disciples, while the two other women went on to the tomb, and were directed by the angel to "come see the place where the Lord lay." What more conclusive proof of Jesus' resurrection could anyone want?

The Living Lord

And yet there came a more convincing proof when the risen living Lord appeared to his disciples in person, in bodily form which they recognised as their Lord, speaking, walking, and even eating with them. The first of these appearances was granted Mary Magdalene; the second to the women returning from the tomb; the third to Peter, probably Easter afternoon, the fourth to two disciples toward evening on the road to Emmaus, the fifth to the eleven except Thomas that evening; again a week later when Thomas was present; still later to seven disciples by the lake, when Peter's love was questioned as many times as he had denied his Lord, and he as often renewed his profession of love, but humbly now instead of boastfully. Thus there came a resurrection of their own faith and hope. Love had not died at the cross, but faith and hope had. Easter quickened both their faith and hope and gave new zeal to their love. And Easter means nothing to us unless it "begets us also again to a living hope," an unfailing faith and radiant love for the risen Christ as Lord of our lives.

CATHEDRAL MUSINGS

EASTER, as all students know, is a very ancient festival, dating back for thousands of years before the dawn of the Christian religion. The spring equinox marks not only the time of resurrection and rebirth of nature after the death-like sleep of winter, but also that inner mystical rebirth of which the Master spoke. It is the ancient New Year; an end of the old, a new beginning; a putting on of the marriage garment.

So for our meditation at this holy season we cannot do better than dwell upon the mystic Hymn of Initiation:

Awake! Thou that sleepest, arise from Thy tomb,
Descend from Thy cross, ascend to Thy throne,
Rend the veil of the Temple, stand out in the Light,
Let the Holy of holies no more be in night,
Join hands with the Masters, the Great Brethren above,
Who labour for ever through greatness of Love.
Man! know thy Redeemer, He dwelleth within:
Buried deep in thy body, now gross from thy sin
Is the only true Saviour, the Christ-spirit within
In the Light, Life and Love of the Risen Christ we greet you,

John's Recollections of the Risen Lord — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By the Rev. Alvin E. Bell and Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—John 20:1-21:25.

At dawn Easter day three women came to Jesus' tomb with spices to finish embalming his body. They were amazed to see the tomb open and empty. Mary Magdalene was first to see the risen Lord for he appeared to her.

Peter and John hurried to the tomb to verify the women's report. There the angel showed them the empty grave clothes still lying in position where Jesus' body lay, but empty of the body they once encased.

Five times Jesus appeared to various disciples Easter day. Thomas had missed all this and refused to believe unless he should see and feel Jesus' wounds. One week later he saw Jesus and believed saying, "My Lord and my God."

Later Jesus appeared to seven apostles by the shore of the lake. Here he questioned Peter about his love as many times as Peter had denied him. Peter professed his love humbly.

The Low Man Wins—What?

There is one Rural Route in Ontario called R. R. No. 1, St. Ann's, and according to information supplied in the House of Commons tenders were received on January 8 this year for the carrying of the mails there. Those who tendered and the amount of each tender follows:

John K. Bauchuk	$ 509.00
Stephen Ribbecon	528.00
Milton Crown	600.00
Albert S. Morley	612.00
Harold E. Cocks	744.00
George R. Garner	836.00

That information was presented in answer to a question, and part of the question had to do with who secured the contract. The answer was: "Contract awarded to lowest tenderer in conformity with Post Office Act."

The spread between the low and top figure in this case is amazing, but not unusual. The man who asked for $895 for the year's work would have to cover just the same number of miles and deliver and collect the same amount of mail matter as the man who offered to do it for $500, and $500 per year is $9.61 per week. Out of that amount he will have to keep and feed a horse, have it shod and keep his rig and harness in repair If a car is used then there will be the upkeep of that. After which the courier will have to attend to the serious business of living himself.

Under the Post Office Act the lowest tender is accepted. It may be at a figure where a man cannot well feed himself and his horse, but that makes no difference. It may be less than a living wage, but that too makes no difference. If one were to tender on the basis of a living wage he would know in advance he could not get the contract. It is a poor and miserable way to do business, and of all government employees the rural carriers are the only ones on which this beat-down system is imposed.

He Did It, Then Undid It

The situation at the moment seems to be that the province of Ontario is just where it was before all the changing of the Assessment Act for the purpose of providing what was termed equality to Separate Schools was ever started. There has been a deal of turmoil, but according to statute nothing has happened. All that has been undertaken is of no effect; all the sittings of courts and the gathering of statistics are now of no avail because Premier Hepburn accepted the move of Mr. Henry to repeal the School Tax Act.

It was not entirely unexpected at the end, but previously it had been entirely in the class of the unexpected. Mr. Hepburn's address in the Legislature is worth a little consideration. It was one of those prepared speeches, and he probably knew in advance just what he would say. We find reasons for his changed attitude stated this way:

"I must confess I did not anticipate the violent opposition from the Conservative party and the Conservative press."

"However I find the Act as it stands not workable."

"It is my responsibility to forestall the possibility of a religious war in the province."

There was much reference in Mr. Hepburn's address to the campaign in East Hastings, and his claim is that an open outbreak was promised and threatened by the Conservatives during that campaign, one which would see Roman Catholics on one side and Protestants on the other. Whether they would do bodily violence one to the other was not clearly stated. The plain truth is the by-election in East Hastings was not one out of which either Liberal or Conservative party could extract a great quantity of satisfaction as far as campaigning methods were concerned. The result, though could be interpreted as indicating that the school issue was not a good one on which to place the fortunes of the Liberal party in a general election. Undoubtedly the issue, if kept to the front—and that would have been done by the Conservatives—would have created bitterness, but there is room for honest difference of opinion as to what Premier Hepburn feared most: (1) the possibility of a religious war in the province, or (2) having to fight a general election based on the school issue.

Front Seats in a Church

During Passion Week services in Peterborough there was a good demonstration of the preference of people to sit in the back seats of the church. On the evening when the service was in St. Andrew's church the weather was not at its best, and the congregation was not sufficient to tax the seating accommodation of that splendid auditorium. There was no one sitting in the front seats. The congregation began eight rows from the front, and from there to the back there was a good congregation. In that church the choir and the organist are between the preacher and his congregation, and when that space is added to the distance of seven or eight empty rows of seats there is somewhat of a gulf between the speaker and those to whom he is to address his message.

It may be an inferred compliment to a speaker for the people to sit away at the back, giving the impression he could be heard in any part of the building, but it must be hard work for the speaker. That rather great expanse in between is serving no good purpose. It is just that much space which must be covered before the speaker can come to grips with his audience. What there is about the front seats in a church which seems to scare people from using them has always been somewhat of a puzzle. And still is.

Matthew 28:1-10

IN THE end of the sabbath, as it began to dawn toward the first day of the week, came Mary Magdalene and the other Mary to see the sepulchre.

2 And, behold, there was a great earthquake: for the angel of the Lord descended from heaven, and came and rolled back the stone from the door, and sat upon it.

4 And for fear of him the keepers did shake, and became as dead men.

5 And the angel answered and said unto the women, Fear not ye: for I know that ye seek Jesus, which was crucified.

6 He is not here: for he is risen, as he said. Come, see the place where the Lord lay.

7 And go quickly, and tell his disciples that he is risen from the dead; and, behold, he goeth before you into Galilee; there shall ye see him: lo, I have told you.

8 And they departed quickly from the sepulchre with fear and great joy; and did run to bring his disciples word.

9 ¶ And as they went to tell his disciples, behold, Jesus met them, saying, All hail. And they came and held him by the feet, and worshipped him.

10 Then said Jesus unto them, Be not afraid: go tell my brethren that they go into Galilee, and there shall they see me.

Putting a Member Out

Leopold Macaulay, K.C., member from South York in the Ontario Legislature, was ejected from the House when he refused to accept and follow the ruling of the Speaker. Mr. Macaulay has been a member of the Assembly for 12 years and was a member of the cabinet during the Conservative ministry. The fact that someone was ejected causes no surprise, for the temper of the House within recent days has been such that members might have been tossing each other out through the windows without bothering to enlist the services of the Sergeant-at-Arms. At the moment the Examiner has not been able to find record of a similar occurrence in the history of the Ontario Legislature.

The cause of such an unusual event is informative if not interesting. It appears the Whips of Conservative and Liberal parties had arranged the order of speakers in the debate on the repeal of the school tax question. That arrangement called for Mr. Macaulay to follow Premier Hepburn, but when the Premier finished his address of some fifty minutes, he announced: "I am going to move, seconded by Mr. Nixon of Brant, that the question be now put." That may sound simple enough, but the meaning of the words was that closure had been applied to the debate and neither Mr. Macaulay or any other member of the House could discuss the question. There had been no notice given that such a step would be taken. Anything Mr. Macaulay might have said would not have altered the situation; the vote would have been the same. It is safe to assume that Mr. Macaulay longed for opportunity to rub it in to the government because it had entirely rversed its attitude toward the school tax question, and it must be admitted that Premier Hepburn during his address had indulged in considerable of the rubbing in business when dealing with Conservative campaigners in East Hastings.

Closure should be sparingly applied at any time, and then only upon extreme urgency and with notice in advance that it will become effective at a given hour.

The Porridge Business

The Toronto Star has been bothering about porridge, and the eating of it is the point in dispute, whether to bring the porridge all the way to the mouth or take the mouth part way to the porridge. A thorough-going Scot in this office undertakes to throw light on the question. This way:

Whits a' this blethin' aboot on hoo tae mak' parritch has sairly got awa' below my gudd thochts, mair especially on hoo ye should suppit and eat it. The writtin' o' some of these newspaper men is guid evidence that they had takin' lota o' Parritch tae mak' up wi' the new fangled idea o' the Vitasemines frae the letter A tae the end o' the alphabet, and hindermist if ye like tae tak' it that way or not. Parritch is the only morsel that contains them a'.

Noo, noo, maun, there's only ane way tae eat Parritch and that is the way the "Guid Lord" has provided. Of course, it diena' matter hoo ye eat it as lang as it gets whaur its gaun tae.

In oor guid hame there were nae less than eight bonnie lassies—of course, am takin' Rabbie Burns word for it—and four brawny boys—"Whaur ne'r a toun surpasses for honest man and bonnie lassies," but surely I'll leavin' that tae yer ane guid thochts—that was blessed wi' a guid faither and mither.

In oor family, she couldn't eat Parritch unless he had a bane spin because he declared it gid them a finished touch. While only twa in the hoose suppit them the same way, of course, I'll have tae stop because it's a lang subject and gie ye the secret on hoo tae mak' "Parritch" for the sake o' "Makin."

The body that thocht a Scot's mither had naething tae dae but sit up a' nicht and stir the parritch must be blethrin' and be better tae "haud their blether," see tae get it straught.

The guid mither uses a cast iron pot that was only half fou' wi' water. When it cam tae the byle, she wud tak' a heepit nieveful o' the meal and drap it in sparrin'ly for fear o' getting wee lumpies in it, while sterrin' wi' the spurkle a' the time tae mak' it real guid for a' the family. Nae furgettin' a guid pinch o' saut tae mak' it sweet and halesome. The secret o'"it a' wis' in the simmerin'—it's no in the eatin'. Nae doubt, Scotia has her fancies like a' the countries—some Scots didna' like water unless it is colored, I hae seen Parritch eating frae a platter heald and ama', bowl and nae bowl, sugur tae freckle, yawl, sweet milk tae soor dook, saltery tae then kind that ye could dance the highland fling on tap o' it, but it was guid.

Where Help Is Needed

The Warriors' Ball on Easter Monday night is not only an interesting social event but it is important in that it forms the second largest source of revenue for the Peterborough branch of the Canadian Legion. The annual poppy day and the ball are the main avenues through which the organization of ex-servicemen secure the funds to finance their work on behalf of great war veterans and their families.

As the years pass that work is showing no signs of easing off; the trend indeed is the other way as ex-servicemen find the effects of their war service taking a heavy toll and making steady employment more and more unlikely. Demands upon the Legion for assistance therefore multiply and the task of keeping the treasury replenished grows more difficult as the war fades further back into history. An enthusiastic patronage of the Warriors' Ball is one way in which the public can aid in that task and the merit of the cause for which the function is held should ensure that kind of support upon this occasion.

NOTE AND COMMENT

It is not quite clear whether Quebec by its padlock law to curb Red activities has done more harm to the cause of liberty or to Communism.

Germany has appointed a non-Nazi envoy to the United States and Mayor La Guardia will probably regard that as a personal triumph.

Spare a little pity for the folk who come back from Florida looking for spring weather and run into a belated cold snap.

Agents of John L. Lewis who come to Canada to enlist members for the C.I.O. might find it convenient to study Canadian law before beginning their campaign.

Eastern Ontario Liberals who are asking Premier Hepburn to make a speaking tour of the eastern part of the province this summer seem to forget he spent several weeks in East Hastings not so very long ago.

When two women collided during an Alberta square dance one sustained a fractured shoulder and the other head injuries. Can it be that social credit is making the folk in the prairie province soft?

Canada's sales to Empire countries for the first eleven months of the current fiscal year amounted to $456,565,326, while our purchases within the Empire totalled only $179,193,350. That is too one-sided to last.

Mr. Hepburn says in support of the 50 mile speed limit that buses have to travel at that rate to keep within their schedules. In the interest of general safety it might perhaps have been better to change the bus schedules than the speed limit.

Mr. Henry was forced to withdraw an expression he was supposed to have used in debate in the Legislature. After what Premier Hepburn had said a few hours before the Conservative house leader could be forgiven for supposing that everything went.

We have just finished reading in a Toronto paper that it was the referees and not the New York Rangers who defeated the Leafs Tuesday night. This modern hockey is not so different after all; thirty years ago it was always the referee who was responsible for the defeat of our favorite team.

INTERRUPTED

(By A. R. K.)

¶ My Uncle Eben is profound, he uses word of length and sound, and he is staid and slow; he dotes on history books a lot, they grip his fancy and his thought, if they were long ago.

¶ My uncle seems to be at peace, in reading of the ancient Greece, or of the Persian rule; on Babylon he fairly dotes, and always makes a lot of notes, as though he went to school.

¶ My uncle makes some speeches too, I've heard him utter quite a few, he likes to have me go; the things that happen to us now, he never mentions them somehow, he speaks of long ago.

¶ And when he launches out on Greece, why Uncle Eben says his piece, and pride is on his face; I think he loves the Greek of old, a goodly man, well schooled and bold, a model sort of race.

¶ But then some chap get up to say, he'd like to hear of things today, get facts lodged in his head; it did not get him oats and hay, to hear my Uncle Eben bray, of people long since dead.

¶ He said my uncle made him tired, and left him stuck and badly mired, Greeks dead would make him sob; he wanted facts about today, how he could get some oats and hay—where he could find a job.

FOR LAWYERS ONLY

On section 14—Securities trust capital stock, to be held by minister.

Mr. BENNETT: I think I should place on record just one word, and it is this: These three sections do make us seem ridiculous. I am not going to say any more than that.

Mr. HOWE: Do you mean both of us?

Mr. BENNETT: I mean all of us. That is why we want to dissociate ourselves from it.

Mr. HOWE: I like to let the lawyers fight these things out.

Mr. BENNETT: I should like to hear any lawyer vindicate that position.

GOING THE LIMIT

Mr. POULIOT:

1. Did Major General A. G. L. McNaughton, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., M.Sc., LL.D., president of the National Research Council, make any scientific discovery, from the date of his appointment, June 1, 1935, until now?
2. If so, what was it?
3. If not, what has he been doing as president of such council?

Mr. ROGERS: Mr. Speaker, this appears to be a rhetorical question and does not admit of an answer in its present terms. I would ask that it be dropped.

Mr. SPEAKER: Dropped.

Mr. POULIOT: I have no complaint to make as to receiving the objections of the minister, I am ready to go to the limit, and this is the next step within the limit.

Mr. SPEAKER: Order.

PLAYING POLITICS

Mr. WALSH: If the hon. member who has just spoken would go into the records a little more carefully he would not be so ready with his suggestions. For instance, here is one. A grant was made to the Canadian Pacific Railway in connection with the construction of the Crows' Nest Pass, in which both railways were interested. That grant is to be shown against the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. The other side of the picture was a reduction in the railway's freight rates. Is that fact also going to be stated in this appendix? Is it fair to record one and not the other? I consider this procedure is most unfair to both the railroads.

An hon. MEMBER: I hope they show it.

Mr. WALSH: If I loan a sum of money and receive a favour of some nature in return, surely if I am going to record the one I should also report the other.

Mr. HOWE: Is the hon. member saying that he objects to this clause going in, that he does not want any record?

Mr. WALSH: I object to this clause going in the bill.

Mr. CAHAN: It has nothing to do with the bill.

Mr. WALSH: It is not accomplishing anything. It is not a part of the bill. It sticks out like a sore thumb. It does not belong here or anywhere else.

Mr. HOWE: Will my hon. friend move to strike it out?

Mr. WALSH: I would ask that it be struck out.

Mr. HOWE: Let the hon. member move it.

Mr. WALSH: I will move accordingly, and I thank the Minister of Mr. RYAN: I was.

Mr. WALSH: Can the hon. member state his reasons for voting in favour of this clause?

Mr. RYAN: My reasons are the section itself. It speaks for itself.

Mr. WALSH: State them.

Mr. RYAN: In order to show the people of this country what has been done for all railways, not merely the Canadian National Railway. The clause speaks for itself.

ALL ABOUT DENIM

Mr. BENNETT: What did we buy from England under the reduction of last year?

Mr. DUNNING: I have not the figures, but I could get them.

Mr. BENNETT: I was only interested in the effect of the reduction. The contention of the hon. member has been that we cannot get denim from England.

Mr. DUNNING: Denim is not separately classified, but is included with other coloured cotton fabrics.

Mr. HEAPS: What is the intermediate tariff on denims?

Mr. DUNNING: It is 27½ per cent, plus 3½ cents per pound.

Mr. HEAPS: Can the minister explain why there should be such a high tariff on denims coming into Canada?

Mr. DUNNING: The United States agreement effected a reduction a year ago.

Mr. ROSS (Moose Jaw): When the minister was first answering the hon. member in connection with the tariff against denim he said that it depended on certain things; I understood him to mean the amount of cotton or wool in the denim.

Mr. DUNNING: No; this denim is wholly cotton.

Mr. BENNETT: It is overall material.

Mr. ROSS (Moose Jaw): I thought both cotton and wool were used.

Mr. DUNNING: No, just cotton.

Mr. HEAPS: I still maintain the minister should seriously consider the duty imposed on denims. I used a great deal of this material at one time, and I know how the price has gone up and how it fluctuates, all the time in view of our tariff structure. In 1930 when the tariff on the item jumped, some of the manufacturers in Canada refused to invoice goods to the secondary manufacturers. They shipped the goods, and when they felt the rate was going up they sent the invoices. The result was that the costs went up, too.

Mr. DUNNING: I am afraid the leader of the opposition will have to answer the hon. member.

Mr. HEAPS: I happen to have seen correspondence in connection with the matter. I have never yet been able to discover why the textile industry in Canada requires an intermediate rate of 27½ per cent.

Mr. DUNNING: That is the intermediate rate.

Mr. HEAPS: Our importations are chiefly under that rate, and in addition there is the excise tax of three per cent, bringing the whole rate to something over 30 per cent.

Mr. BENNETT: And in addition a specific duty of three and a half cents per pound.

Mr. HEAPS: We cannot justify so high a tariff on articles in everyday use by the people of Canada.

Mr. DUNNING: My hon. friend's original premise is wrong when he states that the importations come principally from the United States. In every classification of this item which I read, the imports from Great Britain are two and three times as great as those from the United States, and in some cases even more than that. The competitive factor in connection with textiles of this character is the British price.

Mr. HEAPS: My information is that so far as denim is concerned, there is hardly any imported from the United Kingdom. The minister admitted a few moments ago that there was no item which would show the amount of denim imported from the United States and from the United Kingdom.

To The Editor

THE YOUNGER MEN

Editor Examiner:

Sir: Having had the honor of being an invited guest to the Chamber of Commerce banquet dinner which was held in the Empress Hotel on Monday evening, the reputation of this hotel and Mr. Graham as its genial manager was well sustained on this occasion.

In looking over the personnel of this gathering, about sixty in number, composed of professional and business men, some of the men were of more advanced age who for years have made their contribution toward the growth and advancement of this city, and there were men of middle life who are at present giving good service to the interest of this city. But what impressed me more than anything else was the presence of a large number of young men, clean cut, intelligent looking fellows who were catching the vision of the duty they would be called upon to perform in the coming years in giving leadership to the life of this city and make their contributions toward a still greater Peterborough. The guest speaker's address was a very inspiring and helpful one, and was listened to with much attention.

NEED OF MORE POPULATION

(Kingston Whig-Standard)

Speaking at Toronto last week, Mr. Bennett said that the strongest impression made on him by his tour of the British Dominions last year was their need of settlers. His stress on that need suggests their potential attractions for land-hungry, thickly populated countries of Europe.

Mr. DUNNING: Let us see if we cannot get a closer figure. Is denim a woven cotton fabric printed?

Mr. BENNETT: No.

Mr. DUNNING: Is it a woven fabric, cotton, piece dyed?

Mr. BENNETT: No.

Mr. BAKER: Sometimes it is.

Mr. DUNNING: Or is it yarn dyed? I think piece dyed would more likely cover it.

Mr. BAKER: It would not be woven; it would be piece dyed.

Mr. DUNNING: Under that heading we imported from the United Kingdom $1,750,000 worth, and from the United States $300,000. The price competitive factor is the imports from the United Kingdom.

Mr. BENNETT: On cotton textiles.

Mr. DUNNING: If it should be yarn dyed, the imports from the United States last year were only $130,-000 from the United Kingdom.

Mr. HEAPS: I think the figures quoted by the minister prove my contention. The tariff on these items is so high that the Canadian manufacturer cannot afford to bring in these goods. Eight-ounce denim which will sell in the United States for 15 cents a yard will cost the manufacturer here the same price, plus whatever tariff is placed against the material. The Canadian manufacturer has freight charges to pay and other items of expense which make it impossible for him to bring in this material. The figures read by the minister would indicate that he cannot possibly import these goods from the United States.

May wheat touched $1.43⅝, and was the best price quoted for any Winnipeg future since January 2, 1930. July at $1.40⅛ was at its highest level since January 11 of 1930.

Bear Cub Is Caught By Ross Hood In Winter Lair In Harvey Township

Ross Hood of Hood and Cumming, Ford representatives, is a great admirer of the hunting methods of Frank Buck; he too believes that the best technique is to "bring them back alive".

Mr. Hood demonstrated that fact on Friday when he arrived in town with a real live black bear cub that represented the spoils of a trip into Harvey township. The Ford man had been visiting his friend Messen Reid, six miles from Buckhorn and the discovery of the cub was the result of curiosity over the fact that the Reid dog had been doing a lot of barking during the last few days. It was found that the canine protest was directed towards a fallen tree in the woods and a little investigation revealed the winter quarters of a member of the brown family. Messrs Hood and Reid soon uncovered the sleepy cub and equipped with heavy gloves they managed to get a collar around the animal's neck and extricate him from his winter home before he aroused to the fact that his vacation had been invaded.

The cub was put into a box, covered over with a wire netting and brought into Peterborough. It is now on exhibition at the Ford garage and will be kept there for a few days before being donated to Ross Dobbins zoo at the filtration plant. The little bear is thought to be from nine months to a year old and is in good condition having apparently wintered well. There was no sign of his mother in the neighborhood of the den and it is thought that she was probably killed last fall, leaving the cub to spend the winter alone.

GARBAGE MEN GO ON STRIKE

Contractor Declares He Fired Them And They Are Not On Strike

Three city garbage collectors employed by Herbert Withers in execution of his contract for removal of garbage in East City and northern and southern sections of Peterborough announced themselves on strike today for higher wages. Claiming Withers' contract with the city calls for payment of 40 cents an hour to his workers, the men complained that they have been receiving only $1 a day and board.

The three are Ronald Smelt, George Dwyer and Edward Duncan. They told the press their troubles came to a head Friday when they were refused a holiday, despite the fact no garbage collections were being made, and they walked out at noon.

Withers denied today the men went on strike. He said he found it necessary to discharge them when they refused to do their regular work around his pig farm. The three men are not needed in his garbage collection system and he has been keeping them on merely to help them on during a lack of other employment, he stated. He said he warned them on several occasions during recent weeks that he could not afford to continue employing them and urged them to look for other jobs.

$1.75 A Day And Board

Admitting his contract calls for paying a rate of 40 cents an hour to his men, Withers asserted he has been paying the three an average of $1.75 a day and board. Since the three do not average more than four hours work each day he has been exceeding the 40-cents-per-hour rate, he stated.

Withers reported that he has been employing seven men altogether at his yards and that garbage collections are proceeding as usual with himself and other men from his yards making the rounds with the teams. Three teams cover the routes on Monday's and Tuesdays, one on Wednesdays, two or three on Thursdays and Fridays and one on Saturdays, he said.

City's Only Concern

Alderman Malcolm McIntyre, chairman of the City Property Committee which has charge of garbage collection, commented this afternoon that the City's only concern in the matter of the reported strike was whether or not Withers was paying his men at a rate to equal the stipulated 40-cent-an-hour rate. He said he would take no action unless a formal complaint came to his attention.

"I do not know what he pays his men but I do know Mr. Withers has given the city excellent service," Alderman McIntyre stated.

Withers' contract with the city for 1937 provides $7,000 for collection of garbage from the outer area, $400 for taking tin cans away from the incinerator and $1,500 for looking after garbage in a section of the central area—a total of $8,900 for the year.

BETTER TO WORK THAN TO RETIRE

Mike Coughlin At Age Of 80 Urges Men To Not Quit Working

"Get plenty of fresh air, drink lots of water, and walk about five miles a day if you want to live in health to a ripe old age," recommends Mike Coughlin, former resident of Peterborough, who recently celebrated his 80th birthday in Toronto.

A brother of John Coughlin of this city, the old gentleman said he would not recommend anyone to give up work. He retired about three years ago after spending all his working days in the monumental stone-cutting business with his brother John here, after moving from Belleville and later about forty years ago opening a branch in Toronto where he has continued to live.

Mr. Coughlin recalled attending the first Confederation Dominion Day celebrations in Belleville, and later events in political history. He is a Liberal, who in the course of an interview with a reporter at his North Toronto home this week, gave unstinted praise to Tory stalwarts whom he admired, notably to Sir John A. Macdonald, and Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, K.C.

On behalf of his friends of the North Toronto Bridge Club, Mr. Coughlin was presented with a silver-mounted cane by Harry Lewis, at a birthday party which took the form of an oyster stew supper.

Lost Record Of Riel Case Discovered Document Believed Destroyed In Fire

REGINA, March 27 (CP).—Original court record of the trials of Louis Riel, who died on the gallows for rebellion, and his compatriots in the uprising of 1885 has been found in a grimy vault here.

The long missing record, thought to have been destroyed when the Regina Court House burned in 1945, was found by court employees while searching for other papers at the request of W. M. Kennedy, local traffic chief for The Canadian Press.

Damp and falling apart after the long years, the pages tell of the trials of 63 men in July, August and September, 1885, in Regina. Reports of Riel's trial and many others are complete, but several remain unfinished. All of the men were charged with treason and felony.

First trial record is that of the Queen against Louis Riel and it opened at 11 a.m. on Aug. 20, 1885 with Hugh Richardson, magistrate, Henri Le Jeune, associate judge, presiding. J. N. Greenshields, who was defence counsel, died a short time ago in Danville, Que., at the age of 84.

When the court asked Riel whether he was guilty or not guilty on the charge of treason, the book records, Riel rose to his feet and replied: "I have the honor to answer the court I am not guilty."

On that warm day in August the jury was out from 3.20 p.m. until 3.15 p.m. when they returned a verdict of guilty. Riel was sentenced to be hanged on Sept. 16.

The book also gives the record of the trial of Chief Poundmaker, Yellow Mud Blanket, One Arrow, Thomas Scott and others who were sentenced to jail for their connection with the uprising.

Higher Prices Bringing Run On Hired Men

supply in this district of experienced farm workers," said M. H. MacBride, superintendent of Brantford Unemployment Bureau. "Placements are being made daily on an average wage higher than last year. The registration of unemployed is the lowest for any March in the past seven years due to industrial improvement and the demand for farm labor. We expect a continual reduction with the opening of building and other seasonal work."

In Chemong district farmers are offering $25 and $30 a month, for farm help and are hiring men for eight to 12 months, said C. H. Carter, employment superintendent. Wages last year were $20 to $25 a month. "Married men are being hired at $250 a year and up," he said. "They are provided with homes for their families and the usual advantages such as supplies of milk, butter and vegetables."

St. Thomas and Stratford report a keen demand for farm help at $20 and $30 a month, but Windsor has a list of men waiting for farm work. Timmins reports practically no demand, the only offer this month being one filled at $20 a month.

MEMBERS SEE FILMS

Pictures of Farm Life Shown At Peterborough U.F.O. Club Meeting.

At the regular meeting of the Peterborough U.F.O. Club, held in the Paragon hall on Thursday evening, with an attendance of one hundred and sixty people, moving picture films were shown, of an educational and comedy type. These were displayed by the International Harvester Company of Hamilton, on the making of farming implements of all kinds. The comedy films had to do with the manner in which some farmers keep their buildings, fences and roads, in repair.

It was announced that approximately one hundred people have entered the Club membership contest for fifteen cash prizes. The contest, starting March 1st, will continue until December 1st of this year and a large increase in attendance is anticipated.

At the close of the business session lunch was served.

REPORTS ARE READ WESTERN RELIEF

Splendid Response Made By Sub-Divisions Of Catholic Women's League

At the recent meeting of the Diocesan executive of the Catholic Woman's League, held at Columbus Hall, with the president, Miss Delphine Piggott of Downeyville, in the chair, reports were presented of the response made by various sub-divisions to an appeal made at the previous meeting for assistance to the people living in the Western provinces. The report showed a splendid response.

Grafton sub-division sent clothing and vegetables; Lindsay sent $20; Douro, 75 bags potatoes; Norwood, clothing, yarn, mittens, vegetables and canned goods. From the three Peterborough sub-divisions came various responses. St. Peter's Cathedral League sent canned goods, honey and vegetables; the Immaculate Conception League sent $10 and clothing; the Sacred Heart Church League sent a generous donation. From Ennismore there was a generous response from Campbellford, clothing, and from Downeyville, $5.00.

Discussion on scholarship awards were led by Mrs. C. Black of Campbellford, convenor of Education. Continuation schools were discussed and scholarships for second-year work were considered. Owing to difficulty in obtaining standing of contending pupils in various schools, this was left for further investigation.

A letter was read from Rev. Francis McAuliffe, a Peterborough young man engaged in work for the China Missions, telling of great need in China. A donation was voted for this cause.

Miss Piggott was chosen as the delegate to the National convention to be held in Kingston in June.

Those present at the meeting included Miss Delphine Piggott of Downeyville; Mrs. George O'Sullivan and Mrs. Charles Black of Campbellford; Mrs. J. L. Murphy, Mrs. L. Houlihan, Mrs. Meta Fitzsimmons, and Miss M. R. Baker, of Lindsay; Mrs. T. A. Walsh of Hastings; Mrs. Walsh of Douro; Mrs. Staniforth of Norwood; Mrs. M. L. Henry, Mrs. M. J. Roche, Mrs. Geo. Young, and Miss Lillian Burley, of Peterborough.

ELECTION IN B.C. WHEN . . .

Certain Things Must Be On Safe Basis Says Pattullo.

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C., March 27 (CP).—A general election will be held in British Columbia "as soon as a number of things we have in mind have been settled on a safe and solid basis," Premier T. D. Pattullo declared last night in an address in his home constituency here. The earliest an election could be held, he said, was the end of May or the first week in June.

Fish And Game Association To Ask For Beaver For County Game Preserve

An effort to obtain beaver from the National Park at Banff to place in the Peterborough County game preserve is being made by the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association, it was learned today. The Association has asked the assistance of J. J. Duffus, M.P., in the matter.

A need for reduction of the beaver at Banff was indicated in press despatches last week. Enjoying the protection afforded them in the great national preserve, the animals have increased in numbers to the point they are offering a serious threat to the trees in the region. It is understood the Government intends to move some of the beaver to districts in the Dominion where beaver have been scarce.

Peterborough County has a small beaver population but so small that few residents of this district have ever seen a native County beaver. "Some beaver would make a fine contribution to our preserve," E. A. Oulram, Association secretary, commented. "We have written to Mr. Duffus asking him to try to get for us as many as possible."

OXFORD CUTS LOOSE

Celebrate Rowing Victory by Painting London Red.

LONDON, March 27—(A.P.)—Oxford undergraduates celebrated their first boat race victory over Cambridge in 14 years by cutting loose early to-day and painting London's bright light district red.

They battled with police, tried to stop a theatre performance, made an unsuccessful raid on Piccadilly Circus, and had lots of fun.

The main casualties were first-class headaches, broken fists, torn evening clothes, and smashed toppers.

Cheap Money Available For Building Of Houses

Home Improvement Committee To Extend Its Promotional Efforts

HOUSES NEEDED HERE

An encouraging development of the Home Improvement Plan campaign in many Ontario cities is a keener emphasis on home building. Brantford, Guelph, Galt and Kitchener, to mention some of those places where the building of houses has gained a new impetus during the last eight weeks, report substantial activity, to such an extent that home repairs and improvements have become almost of secondary interest. These two branches of the construction industry have made so much progress in western Ontario that members of the Home Improvement Plan committee in Peterboro have begun an inquiry into circumstances which suggest that the building of new houses here is lagging behind the pace west of Toronto.

To Broaden Scope

Promotion of the Home Improvement Plan will not be relaxed locally, and so far its results have been entirely satisfactory with bright prospects for a spurt in business next month. But, the local committee is planning to extend its scope and its usefulness by canvassing the possibilities of assisting home building either on the basis of the Dominion Housing Act or according to the helpful plans which are being advanced by financial companies who have money to lend for this purpose at a comparatively low rate of interest.

The attitude of the Peterboro committee is simply this,—if assisted home building is shifting forward in western Ontario, why has it not taken a stronger hold here?

200 Houses Needed

Accurate information affirms that Peterboro needs something like two hundred new houses. Money can be obtained at 5 or 5½ per cent, repayable over a period of twenty years, if so desired. Obviously two related conditions warrant enquiry and effective help. On the one hand there is a definite need of houses in this city; and on the other hand there is comparatively cheap money available.

Many instances are reported of new houses built by business executives and workingmen in Toronto on forms of assistance including the Dominion Housing Act. Members of the Home Improvement Plan committee expect to have practical information ready for a general meeting next Wednesday night. This will be only one of the topics to be discussed at the meeting which will be announced early in the week.

LOANS To Finance Home Improvements

FIRST decide what improvements you wish to make to your home—then get an estimate. Plumbing, heating and electrical contractors; builders, painters, decorators, architects and supply firms all stand ready to help you determine the cost.

With your estimates ready, call at any branch of The Royal Bank and discuss your plans with the Manager. Loans to finance home repairs, improvements or extensions can be arranged by anyone of good credit standing, able to repay out of income. No security or endorser is necessary and repayment can be made by monthly instalments spread over one to three years.

Ask at any branch for free booklet "Loans for Home Improvements." It gives full information about the Home Improvement Plan of the National Employment Commission.

BUILT-IN BUNKS ARE NOW STYLE FOR BOYS' ROOMS

No Need To Feel That You Must Follow The Nautical In Decoration

WHAT ONE MOTHER DID

Just because you decide that you would like to have built-in bunks instead of beds in the room that your boys occupy, there is no need to feel that you must follow the nautical in decoration.

One mother wanted her boys' room to be different. They had long outgrown the childish furnishings, but the family home would not permit them to have separate rooms.

A Swedish peasant motif provided colour originality and convenience. The room had an awkward corner that had been a handicap in placing the furniture originally. The housewife capitalized on this and built bunks on either side, bringing the heads of the beds together at the corner. Drawers underneath served for extra bedding and heavy clothing, such as sweaters, golf socks, etc.

The floor was covered in a composition material that looked like tile. The walls were painted an off-shade of white. At the head of each bed, book shelves were put in, and the bottom shelves concealed lights.

With her own funds, the mother purchased one new chair for the room in a dark tone which blended with the red, orange, yellow, blue and green of the peasant decorations. A low chest which had been used before, was placed at the foot of one of the bunks. A desk and chair were repainted. A plain rug was used over the tile-like covering.

The casement windows were hung with red and white gingham.

The Home Improvement Plan opens the way for modernizing interiors.

SYDNEY BUSTLING

SYDNEY, Australia. — (CP). — Sydney to-day laid claim to the title of busiest city south of the equator. Statisticians figured out that 16,810,617 tons of shipping entered the port last year, including 7,084 vessels. More than 1,000,000 persons were carried to and from the city overland daily. Sydney's street cars, not counting underground, carried more than 317,000,000 nearly 40,000,000 miles.

House Built On More Than One Level Offers Real Problem To The Decorator

The unusual room is always a challenge to the decorator, regardless of whether she is a professional or just the average home owner interested in the appearance of her house. A house built on more than one level offers a decorative problem, indeed.

The owners of a house built on a hillside, obtained a loan for the improvement and redecoration of the house. The living-room was on a different level from the other rooms, and had a beamed studio ceiling.

With rough plaster walls, the room suggested an English house, but the stairs leading down to the dining-room and kitchen, and the enclosed, curved stairway which went up to the bedrooms did not fit with this pattern. The fireplace, being of red brick, with a white mantel, seemed perfectly at home in the room.

Using this as a basis for their decorative scheme, the owner had a copy of an old-fashioned chimney tryst installed. The floors were painted a dark brown, the woodwork ivory, and the walls retouched in a natural sand color. The windows had twelve small panes of glass.

Venetian blinds were hung and no curtains used. The furniture, which was not new, was of maple, with upholstery in a reddish orange, yellow and blue. Hand woven hooked rugs were used on the floor.

HALL BED-ROOM FINDS NEW USE

No Longer Need The Tiny Cubicle Be Shunned Because It Is Cluttered Up

CAN BE CHEERFUL ROOM

The hall bed-room, the scourge of all city houses a decade or so ago, finds new use to-day, with the magic of modern decoration. No longer need the tiny cubicle be shunned because it is cluttered up with heavy furniture, its walls dark and dreary, and the sun which streams through its one window too bright, or the room too dark and airless with drawn blinds.

Funds may be obtained from any bank under the generous terms of the Home Improvement Plan at a very low rate of interest for the rejuvenation of these rooms, and they often become one of the most attractive in the house.

A housewife decided to do over such a room in her home. The woodwork was painted ivory and a light figured wall-paper used on the walls. The ceiling was painted a pale blue, the color of the sky; floors were repainted and varnished.

Venetian blinds hung at the windows, allowing air without too much sunlight on a hot day. Net curtains were used to take away the feeling of bareness without cluttering up the place with silk or chints.

Furnishings of the room, bought with the family's own funds, were simple. A spool bed, a dresser, a small but comfortable chair and a table were all that were needed. The result was a cheerful room that was its own welcome to the overnight guest.

The Market Place of Industry

Domestic looms and local workshops supplied the simple needs of each community when the industries of Canada began. Customers were all friends or neighbours. The ability and integrity of every craftsman were well-known and created a demand for the commodities he made; his success was measured by the goodwill he enjoyed.

Communities grew and prospered; new settlements were established and thrived; the demand for manufactured products rapidly increased. Distant markets became accessible as transportation facilities improved. The scope of industry widened; goods were shipped farther and farther from every plant, and it became necessary to gain goodwill towards products and their makers in remote towns and villages where they were unknown.

The newspapers have provided this vital service to Canadian industry at every stage of its development. No other medium could ensure the frequent, friendly contacts with consumers, needed to establish confidence, or afford effective territorial control of merchandising activity, when local or national emergencies arose.

Today the manufacturing industries of Canada serve a national market; their products are on sale from coast to coast. Production has been centralized, distribution systems organized, but the success of every enterprise still depends on customer goodwill.

Therefore, progressive companies continue to use the local daily newspapers as an integral part of merchandising. Experience has proved that the daily newspapers of Canada, bought and read by more than two million families every day, provide the most economical and effective means whereby any industry can create public confidence in its policies and profitable demand for its products.

Canadian Labor Is Behind Home Improvement Plan

P. M. Draper Adds Support Of Trades And Labor Congress Of Canada

WORKERS TO BENEFIT

OTTAWA, Ont., March 27.—Canadian labor stands four-square behind the Home Improvement Plan. As a constructive measure to re-establish the building industry, the Plan merits support and cooperation of labor organizations across the Dominion, in the opinion of P. M. Draper, President of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

Mr. Draper gave the following statement on the Plan:

'Canadian workers should benefit very materially from the Home Improvement Plan. It is a project which we can all get behind with a feeling that we are supporting something genuinely constructive. For years the building industry has been bearing the brunt of the depression and workers have felt the pinch of hard times. Year after year has gone by with little sign of betterment.

"Now, at last, comes this constructive building plan, simultaneously with definite signs which indicate that more prosperous times may not be far distant. It is a plan with wide appeal. It is confined to no class or calling. It is non-partisan in every way. It interests the home owner because he is inspired and assisted by it to improve his property. It appeals to the builder and to those in associated activities because it offers a field for their services. It brings a message of hope to the unemployed worker who may, through its operation find what he wants—Job.

And to all of these—indeed to every man and woman in Canada—it offers an opportunity to assist in a nation-wide co-operative effort calculated to assist in materially alleviating Canada's greatest problem—unemployment. Co-operation is the key-word of the Home Improvement Plan. By general co-operation it will achieve success. That Canadian labour will assist to its utmost, by doing its bit in this co-operative effort, I have no doubt."

Youths Dye Locks New Male Fashion

St. Louis, March 27 (AP). WITH platinums, blond and henna-ed heads held high, 30 male "pioneers of fashion" defied pedagogical disapproval and derision of fellow students today, firm in their conviction "if it's all right for the girls, it's all right for us too."

Stares and laughter greeted the youths, students of suburban Webster Groves High School, when they appeared with locks dyed in varying shades, ranging from 'brick-top' to lighter pinkish and golden to platinum blond.

ENGINEER DIES HAND ON THROTTLE

Sudbury Fireman Brings Train In As E. A. Williams Passes

SUDBURY, Ont., March 27 (C.P.)—Stricken in his engine cab, E. A. Williams, Northern Ontario Railway engineer, died with his hand on the throttle, yesterday, two miles west of Markstay.

He was operating an east-bound Canadian Pacific Railway extra engine from Sudbury to Markstay. The engine made the remainder of the trip under guidance of Fireman William Antler, who eased the dead man to the floor of the cab.

Coroner Dr. G. A. Henry said an inquest would be held.

Born in England 57 years ago, Williams travelled extensively prior to his association with the Canadian Pacific Railway as a fireman in 1909. He had been an engineer with the same company since 1912, running engines out of Sudbury for the past year. All his previous employment was from Madder.

Williams and Antler left Sudbury this afternoon with a "light" engine for Markstay to pick up a west-bound extra freight out of North Bay. Two miles west of Markstay, Fireman Antler said, the engineer swayed in his seat and collapsed. The body was brought back to Sudbury on the same engine and was viewed by Coroner Henry. Williams had been in ill-health for several weeks.

Homes Definitely Dated By Modern Conveniences

They Are Either 1937 Or Just Pre-War—Kitchens Not Cars Afford New Rating

NEVER SO ATTRACTIVE

Veneered sophistication has been saying these fifteen years or more that home has become only a place to hang your hat. And sometimes home-loving people have repeated it as if it were true.

Heaven help such hats. They may gad around a lot, stray into so-called smart places, but the odds are against them ascending high in life. Association with cheap high-halters is likely to be their reward in the measure of their tinselled ambition.

As a matter of fact homes were never so attractive as they are today. They are dream places of comfort, convenience, coziness and beauty for the young men and women who step into them after the brief days of honeymoon are over.

Have Kept Pace

The home has not stood idly by while the rest of the world outside was going streamlined. It has accepted the challenge of its most alluring rival, the motor car, and has outstripped it in streamlining and accessory gadgets of which people generally are only becoming aware.

Modern changes definitely date the home fixing its period more conspicuously than at any other time during more than fifty years. Electric lights and running water were improvements which were generally adopted as necessities; but the new home of today assumes such things, and then gaily reaches out for the novelties that have transformed every room from cellar to attic.

Home More Desirable

Your kitchen is either 1937 or not. And if it is not 1937 in all probability it belongs to the old period which has been marked and dated as prior to the shining conveniences which every woman yearns for. But apart from all those appealing innovations which have kept the home in the front rank of modernity, in their combined effect they have made the home more desirable for home-lovers than ever before.

Flat racks are a remote consideration in these homes which in their own day and generation are going to be the rearing ground for youth. Gone is the picture of a studious Lincoln in the flickering light of a hearth fire, but a new youth is in the schools, and young ambitions are attuning to opportunities that are accessible proportionately to far more children than in the so-called good old days when education was a brief and sketchy experience for the majority of boys and girls.

House Reveals You

If you are satisfied with a 1900 home and 1936 or '37 car, that is of course your affair; but you can't get away with it any longer as a matter of smartness. Your house places your tastes and that includes your wife's, far more revealingly than your car. Ten years ago you might have been assayed on the appearance of your car; but not today. Your wife knows the difference, and as she moves around into homes which reflect appreciation of the modern comforts and conveniences she will realize more and more how far she is out of touch with her associates in this matter of home streamlining.

There are more comforts in the home of today than were ever dreamed of even so recently as in the years immediately after the war. The new kitchen is so different from its counterpart of that time that few details of resemblance remain. Look at what they are doing with windows in the new homes! They are just another detail that dates your home as modern or as belonging anywhere in the post-Victorian period.

LOSSES GENERAL TORONTO TRADING DURING THE WEEK

Weakness Evident In Interlisteds—Base Metals And Oils Sag

EXCHANGE TO MOVE

By Alex Pringle
(Canadian Press Financial Writer)

TORONTO, March 27.—(CP)—Falling prices marked the final week of Toronto stock trading in the old exchange buildings and the dull tempo gave a fittingly placid close to a checkered period in the history of the Toronto market.

On Tuesday next the new up-to-date exchange building will be the scene of operations, bringing to one floor all trading in this city in listed stocks and ending the division that resulted from the organization of the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange 40 years ago. The two exchanges, the Toronto (organized in 1852) and the Standard, were amalgamated in February 1934 but operations were continued in separate buildings temporarily.

Open On Tuesday.

Trading will be opened Tuesday by the president of the London Exchange who will press a button in London and a cable hook-up will sound the starting gong here. The Easter holiday was extended to Tuesday to give more time to change over telephone wires from the old buildings to the new quarters.

Influenced mainly by weakness on the New York board, industrial stocks declined about 4½ points in the index on the Toronto market bringing the price level back to 179.04 as compared with a top of 187.87 registered March 6.

All the advance recorded in the last month has been dropped.

Interlistings showed a preponderance of losses Ford A. with a gain of 75 cents, Steel of Canada $2.50 Goodyhuitt Plow 75 cents and Dominion Steel 65 cents, were exceptions. Dominion Bridge dropped $1.20.

Smelters Shows Loss.

Losses of 50 cents to $1 were boarded for Consolidated Smelters, Distillers-Seagrams, Montreal Power, Brazilian Traction, British American Oil, Imperial Oil, International Petroleum, Consolidated Bakeries and Penny Farmer. Hiram Walkers common declined $1.75 and McColl-Frontenac common dropped 42.35 on publication of a sharp decline in earnings.

In the mining section losses were general but more pronounced in the base metals and the Western oils. These groups were involved in the drop of about six points in the miscellaneous mines index to 197.92 while the gold group index declined about two points to 160.82. The high for the mines index for the year was 215.36, registered on March 3 and the gold index 168.50, registered February 3.

Most of the senior golds were steady in the last week. Exceptions were McIntyre, down $1.12 and Lake Shore, 75 cents. Macassa took a loss of 35 cents, Pickle Crow 30 cents, Buffalo-Ankerite 35 cents and 10 to 30 cents were dropped by Chibougamau, Little Long Lac, Tech Hughes, Pioneer, San Antonio, McKenzie and Siscoe. O'Brien and Central Patricia firmed 35 to 45 cents each and Francoeur and Canadian Malartic added 15 to 18 cents.

INVIGORATING SHOWER

When the children return from having been away at school, usually the first thing they miss is the invigorating shower to which school-life has accustomed them. "A tub may be fine for you, Dad," they say, "but give me a shower every time!" Your plumbing contractor or dealer will tell you how one can be installed cheaply and easily in a space only 6 feet 3 inches by 3 feet 3 inches.

Unable to pay more wages an iron company at Yawata, Japan, has met the demand of its workers for increased income to meet rising living costs by promising some supplementary non-cash income, the nature of which is to be determined.

More About Mr. and Mrs. Matthews

Mr. and Mrs. T. Frank Matthews of Toronto, formerly of Peterborough, had an interesting time during their recent seven months' tour of the East, according to the following press notice:

"It took Mr. and Mrs. T. Frank Matthews just seven months to do their tour of the East . . . Starting out from Vancouver, they jogged down to Honolulu and the Islands, Australia, up to Bali and Java . . . by motor to Batavia then on to Singapore, Penang, Siam, Angkore, Dutch Cambodia, China, Japan . . . They did their trip by easy stages, staying over a little longer in some old city they particularly liked. Mrs. Matthews liked Peiping best of all. Bangkok, both she and her husband voted the most Asiatic, with Bali and its Temple dancers next. . . . She said everyone was very hospitable, but reiterated Mrs. Paul Fichter's candid opinion, that the Japanese are now quite hostile to white people. She said they weren't allowed to use a camera in Tokio . . . in fact they were so closely guarded she couldn't even snap her husband. It was interesting to hear of the first international dinner party which the Hon. Randolph Bruce and Mrs. Bruce gave at the Canadian legation in Tokio. Mrs. Matthews says the legation is very pretentious . . . a large modern house built in English style right in the heart of the city. The dinner was a great success with ambassadors and representatives . . . and all talking in different languages. The Japanese wore European dress, but the Chinese ambassador and his wife came in native costume."

Gets Award

Tamara Desni, attractive Russian actress who recently married Bruce Seton, brother of Sir Alexander Seton, was awarded stars ring honors for her work in "Fire Over England." The British-made film was awarded the League of Nations gold medal. Miss Desni is pictured in costume for her role of Elena in the Elizabethan film.

SIMPLICITY RULES SPRING FASHIONS

Neck Lines Are High—Skirts Flared—Plenty Of Color

OTTAWA, March 27. — (CP). — Dame Fashion waits for no man — not even the weather man. Even though wintry blasts persist, she has her spring models ready for the Easter Parade.

Fashion this spring decrees simplicity of line for day-time wear in place of the exaggeration of last season. The huge "mutton" sleeves, the extremely wide lapels, the peplum and tunic are replaced by the slim silhouette of 1937. Width in skirts rather than width in shoulder will allow flared skirts to swing gaily along this spring. Even the tailored coat has a slight gored flare at the hem. Neck lines are high with standard or no revers. The bolero, box cole and Redingote are shown.

Plaid vs. Print.

The more conservative woman who clings to black and navy blue can achieve the spring color motif in striped pongee, plaid or print blouses, or in the variety of "button-holes" of fruits, flowers and feather. Bright stitching, oddly shaped buttons and pockets, or braid bindings are other ear-marks of this year's styles.

As to the Easter bonnet. If it is of straw it will have flowers and be utterly feminine, if of felt it will be masculine in line, with rolled brim. Shoes, bags and gloves can be matching in conservative black or brown, or colorful in dull greens, wine reds and rusts depending on the costume.

A new note this year is the Coronation influence in costume jewellry, small jewelled crowns, sceptres and swords. Sometimes these are made to contain small vials for perfume and are worn on the lapel of suits or coats.

FILM STAR WEDS.

HOLLYWOOD, March 27.—(AP)—Claire Adams, film star of the early days, and Donald Selbie MacKinnon, of Melbourne, Australia, have been married in London, England, her relatives said to-day.

Just Between Us Women

A Daily Chat With Examiner Neighbors, Conducted by Roberta

MOST men and women have to take the way in life which happens to be open to them. They have neither the time nor the inclination to mark and digest the experiences that come their way. Only a few are free to select their paths and choose those which yield the richest harvests of experience.

—Sir Arthur Keith.

Dear Friends:

There is a great deal of truth in this quotation, for we are all more or less bound by circumstances over which we had little or no control, but psychology shows us many opportunities which we would never be able to see if we allow ourselves to just drift along.

I can truthfully say, that if we were taught applied psychology in our youth, we could choose our path more often and make a bigger success of the talents we possess.

No longer would we need to let environment hold us back, nor the opinions of others. For we would have this proven science to show us the grand thing this life could be, instead of the hard thing it is now.

You might ask, "why is it then, Roberta, that your life has been so hard? Why haven't you used this science to your own advantage?" And my answer is that I had to find out all these things for myself, for there was none to teach me in my youth.

All I knew was that I had a mighty power within me, but I did not know how to use it, and if I talked about it they said I was "different" and I got so I hated that word with all my heart.

And then I tried to stifle the thing. I did not want to be set apart, to be like a sore thumb among my fellows. Yet every so often I found I could call upon some power to help my loved ones out of trouble, in sickness, in despondency, and others soon found I could do it, but wouldn't believe they also could use it for themselves, so when I used it for everyone, I had none for myself.

You see, if you use your mental powers too much, your physical body suffers in consequence, and that left me open to every little germ that came along, but of course, with no one to tell me how was I to know?

But I do know that you can alter circumstances, you can change the current of your life, once you know how to use this power. You can choose what you will be, where you will go, what you will do. All successful business men use it knowingly or unknowingly.

The curious thing is, the more you use it the stronger it becomes. You can become depleted when you use it a great deal in the help of others, but it always comes back stronger than before.

Sitting around talking about it does no good. Just believeing in it without doing anything about it, will not help. It is easier to live using it, than going on without it. Expecting anyone else to use it for your benefit without your help is hopeless. They can use it with you, but if you are too lazy to do your part, why Should anyone else bother with you?

Get to "know thyself." That is the first step, and if you don't know how, get a trained psychologist to show you. Have them show all your latent possibilities, your drawbacks and how to make the best of the one, and get rid of the others.

Once you start, life will seem a far better thing in every way. Do not think you can learn all about it in a few days, nor that you will be able to use it at full strength all at once, nor that you may not be a little disappointed because you do not get results as quickly as you might think. Rome was not built in a day but it was built.

It is like Aladdin's lamp, and the more you rub it, the fuller and better your life will become. Why look to others for help, why wish for someone with "pull", when you have all help necessary within you, and more "pull" also, once you know how to use it? Time's up. More later. Let me hear if interested.

Your Friend,
ROBERTA.

WEDDINGS

STEWARD—COWAN.

A pretty wedding took place at one o'clock to-day (Saturday) at the manse of Trinity United Church when Gwendolyn Josephine Cowan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Cowan of Sherbrooke street, was married to Harold Stewart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Stewart, of Dalhousie street, the Rev. G. S. Easton officiating.

Attendants were Miss Gladys Cowan, sister of the bride, and Russell Elliott, of Lakefield, student at the Watchmakers' College at Ecgin, Illinois.

The bride was charmingly frocked in hyacinth blue crepe with a little "pillbox" hat of navy blue straw and navy shoes and gloves. Her corsage bouquet was of pink roses and white sweet peas.

Miss Gladys Cowan wore Coronation rose crepe with small brown straw hat and brown accessories and corsage bouquet of pink and white sweet peas.

Following the ceremony, a reception for immediate relatives and friends was held at the bride's home. Easter lillies and daffodils decorated the rooms and the bride's table was done very beautifully with the cake, with white satin ribbons ending in place spends of pink crepe paper roses. The same pretty roses formed a base for pink candles.

Mr. Stewart and his bride left on the afternoon train for Toronto and Chatham, the latter wearing a suit of navy blue tweed with navy hat, shoes and gloves, and a swagger coat of grey tweed.

On their return they will live on Rubidge street.

FLEMING—LEONARD.

MARMORA, March 27.—The wedding took place at St. Andrew's United parsonage, Marmora, at 10 a.m. on Wednesday, of Mr. Delbert Fleming of Rawdon township and Mrs. Mae Leonard of Marmora.

Rev. C. W. Hollingsworth performed the ceremony, the witnesses being Mrs. (Rev.) Hollingsworth and Miss Jennie Sweet.

How to Keep Colds UNDER better CONTROL

Caught a Cold? . . Vicks VapoRub helps End a Cold Sooner

At the first sneeze or sniffle or irritation in the nose—quick!—put a few drops of Vicks Va-tro-nol up each nostril. This specialized medication is expressly designed for the nose and upper throat, where most colds start. Used in time, Va-tro-nol helps to prevent many colds—and to throw off head colds in their early stages.

Massage Vicks VapoRub briskly on the back (between and below the shoulder-blades) as well as on the throat and chest, for 3 full minutes. Then spread a thick layer over the chest. VapoRub's famous poultice-vapor action continues hour after hour. It loosens phlegm, eases your cough, relieves irritation, and helps to break up local congestion.

Sickness from Colds Cut In Half!

The two simple steps outlined above, together with a few sensible health rules, are the basis of Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds. In the biggest colds-clinic ever held—with 17,353 people as subjects—Vicks Plan resulted in fewer colds and shorter colds. It cut sickness from colds more than half!

Use Of Aerial Transportation Aided J. W. Pierce To Complete Weeks Earlier Than Expected

40 BELOW ZERO COLDEST

Completing his survey of 115 miles of the Ontario-Manitoba boundary up in God's Lake country three weeks earlier than he had expected, John W. Pierce, O.L.S., arrived home in Peterborough Thursday night.

"The most striking features of my experience this winter is the amazing developements that have been made in aerial transportation and radio communication," Mr. Pierce told the Examiner. "We have only a faint idea of the progress that has been made in this branch of engineering, and the fact that the job was finished three weeks ahead of schedule was largely a result of the new facilities which have eliminated the old difficulties of movement. Of course we had a mild season for working with only three and a half feet of snow on the level and the coldest weather 40 degrees below zero, but the accommodation for moving our camps every twelve miles was the greatest factor that helped us.

Rapid Transportation.

Just as an example of how airplanes and the radio speed up things in that unbroken country we were all ready to break up camp just a week ago to-day. We had come to the end of our trail on Echoing River. We had lunch in camp and before evening our party was back in Winnipeg, a distance of 400 miles. Three planes carried out our men and equipment, taking our seven Indian helpers to their reserve at Cross Lake as part of the day's dispersal.

Wings Limited of Winnipeg, the aviating company who have bases throughout this section of northern and north-eastern Manitoba, had five planes in the air last Saturday and each of them flew 800 miles that day. Distances have practically disappeared as a result of air travel in the north country. Our radio operator told me that he was leaving at the first of April for Rankin Inlet, 300 miles north of Port Churchill on Hudson Bay, where the Newmount Mining Company of New York is flying in 50 tons of stuff to be used in their exploration of nickel deposits which they are reported to have discovered away up on the western shore of Hudson Bay.

Did Not Use Dogs.

For the first time in my work in that country we didn't use dogs to transport our supplies. All we had to do was to send a radio message to the Wings base at God's Lake that we would be ready to move camp the next day, and a plane would arrive on schedule and in three hours we would be located twelve miles away without missing a meal. These planes are equipped with skids, and the numerous lakes along the boundary made landings and take-offs easy.

Mining surveys and operations of one kind and another are going in many sections of those remote areas of Ontario and Manitoba, and companies are making every use of the expanding air service."

Mr. Pierce was in charge of a survey party of seventeen men. His work was to strike the boundary line between the two provinces from Island Lake to Echoing River, 115 miles, cutting a six foot swath through the woods, and crossing various rivers and lakes.

$2.50 PER GALLON FOR MAPLE SYRUP

Weather Still Too Cold For Sap To Run In Sugar Bushes

Maple syrup made its seasonal debut on the Farmers' Market here today at $2.50 a gallon. Very little was to be had. Farmers reported the weather is still too cold for a general flow in the sugar trees.

Eggs were firm at 18 to 20 cents a dozen and butter brought 25 to 27 cents. Chickens were scarce at 18 and 20 cents a pound.

The supply of potatoes seemed unlimitated and was offered at a flat $2 a bag. Unchanged at 25 to 30 cents a peck, apples flooded the market. Beef was up at 10 and 12 cents and pork went at 12 and 14 cents.

The Royal Road To The Coronation

ON the 14th day of December, 1895, Prince Albert Arthur Frederick George, one day to become Duke of York and then the British empire's second King George, was born at beautiful York Cottage, Sandringham. The great queen, Victoria, was ruling in the last years of her long and honorable reign. Edward, the baby prince's grandfather, was Prince of Wales, soon to ascend the throne as Edward VII. Prince Albert's parents were the popular George and Mary, Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York, and one day to reign as King George V, and Queen Mary.

It was a typical English family into which the prince was born, though stamped with the seal of royalty. His elder brother, Edward, was 16 months old; Albert himself was born 16 months before his only sister, Mary, now the Princess Royal.

Many a royal duty fell to the lot of the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York, yet no family bounded by the stiffness of royal formality was this, but a carefree English household whose heads accepted without complaint the onerous duties that came their way, and still found time to become kindly and indulgent parents. Before them, too, was the realization of the important part that some day their children must play in the empire's life.

Ruling the nursery was Madame Bricka, known and respected by the young mother as her own companion of many years. Two of the most charming pictures of King George VI, or Prince Albert as he was known until he stepped to the throne—come down from those happy days. They are shown here today.

City Churches Are Filled To Hear Crucifixion Story

Several Congregations Join For Services Marking Good Friday

SPECIAL MUSIC

Thousands of devout worshippers bowed their heads in prayerful reverence Good Friday as the story of the Crucifixion was presented vividly to congregations filling to capacity churches in every section of the city.

Held under auspices of Peterborough Ministerial Association, a Communion service at St. Paul's Church was attended by 800 communicants.

In commemoration of the significance of Good Friday, large congregations representing St. Paul's Presbyterian, the six United and two Baptist Churches, gathered yesterday morning to partake again of the Lord's Supper. This sacrament was observed in three of the city churches, in St. Paul's, where Rev. George A. Easton was the speaker, in Knox United Rev. M. C. Parr and in Mark Street United, Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe.

These services form a link in those being held throughout Passion Week, when the seven Sayings of Jesus from the Cross, have been considered.

At all three services yesterday morning, the central saying "My God! My God! Why hast Thou forsaken me?" formed the theme of the communion message. In introducing his sermon, Rev. Mr. Parr, designated the first three sayings of Christ on the Cross, as dealing with mankind. His first word was one of forgiveness, the second one of mercy, and the third one of filial piety. His fourth saying was one of atonement—a testimony of what sin is, and of what Christ suffered to atone for it. This central saying denotes the deep distress of spirit through which Jesus was passing. This cry of disappointment would seem almost unworthy of the victorious spirit of Christ, if it stood alone, but the record shows it does not stand alone. Jesus taught his disciples that the Son of Man must suffer and die. The necessity lay in the nature of His ministry and the high call of God. His purpose was to win men to free obedience to the perfect will of God.

One full austerity of God's law and the full patience of God's love, was exemplified on the Cross.

Jesus' cry of despair is full of the mystery of spiritual evil. "Why are God and man so far apart?" says this cry of spiritual loneliness. In applying this saying of Christ to our present condition, Mr. Parr pointed out many ways in which man shows his unresponsiveness to Christ in our persistent search for pleasure, wealth and ease. Today, we are called to remembrance as we come to the Lord's table, that Christ died, so that we might live the abundant life.

Assisting Mr. Parr in the opening devotions and in administering the Sacrament, were Rev. Dr. C. V. McLean of St. Andrew's and Rev. F. W. Craik of St. James' United Churches.

The choir led in the special Easter music, including the selection "O Sacred Head" from a mediaeval Latin hymn, with Mr. W. R. Potter at the organ.

The spiritual life of the community has been enriched by the week of Lenten services which will conclude on Saturday night, with Rev. Mr. Craik speaker at the Salvation Army Temple.

AT MARK STREET.

A capacity congregation joined in the communion service sponsored by the Peterborough Ministerial Association at Mark Street United Church yesterday morning. Rev. E. W. Rowland, pastor of Mark Street Church conducted the service, assisted by Rev. T. J. Coon of this city. Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe of Murray Street Baptist Church, preached an eloquent sermon.

Taking as his text the words of Christ, "My God, why hast Thou forsaken me?" Rev. Sutcliffe said Christ had learned to suffer the desertion of many friends during His teachings but had counted upon the unwavering support of God. On the Cross it seemed to Him that even God had forsaken him, but He was to learn that God never deserts those who do His will, that life has no blind alleys.

If Christians are to understand and appreciate the life of Christ they must make sacrifices and suffer, Rev. Sutcliffe said. It is only through sacrifice and suffering that His life and mission can be understood, he declared.

During the service, Rev. Sutcliffe said "O Love That Will Not Let Me Go." Four elders of St. James' United Church assisted the elders of Mark Street Church in dispensing the bread and wine.

The congregations of George Street, Murray Street, St. Paul's, St. Andrew's and Trinity Churches were particularly well represented.

The Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr, pastor of St. Paul's, conducted the service, while the Rev. George S. Easton, M.A., pastor of Trinity Church, preached a sermon from the final words of Christ from the Cross — "Father forgive them for they know not what they do."

Elders of George Street Church and deacons of Murray Street Baptist Church assisted in the Communion service.

Joint services such as the one held in St. Paul's on Good Friday have now been held under auspices of the Ministerial Association for three successive years.

Lent Ends.

Observance of the Lenten season by the members of the three Catholic churches in the city ended at noon today. The commemoration of the crucifixion and death of Jesus Christ on Calvary was attended by large congregations, and preparations have been made for the celebration of the great Christian feast of the Resurrection on Easter Sunday.

At Park Street Baptist.

At Park street Baptist Church on Good Friday evening, the choir, directed by Stanley Northrop, presented Stainer's "Crucifixion", with assisting soloists: Mrs. R. Cowan, who sang "The Resurrection", and "Just As I Am" (from "Olivet to Calvary"), and E. Rowe, whose solos included "How Long Wilt Thou Forget Me?" and "The Holy Hour".

A string trio comprised of Tom Smith, 'cello; Stanley Northrop, violin; Harry Northrop, piano, also played several numbers: Wagner's "Song to the Evening Star", and Liszt's "Liebesraume". Harry Northrop was accompanist for the cantata presentation.

Present Cantata.

The presentation of Caleb Simper's cantata, "The Story of the Crucifixion", was the feature of the Good Friday evening service at St. George's Anglican Church, by the choir, directed by J. Branson, with Mrs. R. King playing piano accompaniments.

The cantata was preceded by two chorales: "O Son of the World", from "The Passion of Christ", and "God So Loved the World", from Stainer's "Crucifixion".

Solos were taken by Miss Beatrice Cuzin, who sang "Rock of Ages", and W. Farr, singing "Voice of the Wilderness". A duet, "Seek Ye the Lord", was sung by Mrs. W. Parr and Mrs. F. Jefferson, and a quartette included Mesdames Jefferson and St. Pilling, Messrs. Parr and Branson.

CHOIR PRESENTED LENTEN CANTATA AT ALL SAINTS'

Penitence, Pardon And Peace Title Of Short Easter Cantata

CHORUS STRONG PART

"Penitence, Pardon and Peace," the short Lenten cantata woven by J. H. Maunder on a triple theme extraordinarily appropriate to the Good Friday season, was sung very beautifully by the choir of All Saints' Church, directed by George Chandler, at the Friday evening service in the church.

This cantata is written in a minor, almost muted mood that suits admirably the three sections and the sentiments conveyed therein. It has no long-sustained, dynamic choral passages and no passionate solo work. The triple theme is carried out in flowing melody that reiterates text taken from Holy Write, and appropriate to the song of the soul in a sinner who seeks for remission of error and arrives at peaceful valleys through penitence an dtrust in God. The message is conveyed through choral, duo and solo passages.

The choir gave an admirable demonstration of fine training, also of reverent absorption, in the presentation.

The cantata opens with words indicative of a penitent frame of mind, in the choral rendition of the very "How Long wilt Thou forget me, O Lord?" in slow, andante movement. And then, as a tenor solo, "Behold, now is the acceptable time," with a full chorus repeating the inspiring message.

In this section, Mrs. James Morley, soprano soloist for the cantata, sings with impressive sentiment and sweet tone, the plea of the conscience-stricken soul: "I sink into deep mire where there is no standing; I am come into deep waters where the floods overflow me," with a passionate cry: "Save me O God." And at the close, comes the assurance: "Cast thy burden upon the Lord, He shall sustain thee."

Peace at Last.

After the hymn which is sung by the congregation, kneeling, opening with the plaint: "Lord, in this Thy Mercy's day; ere it pass for aye away; On our knees we fall and pray," comes the third, and concluding, portion, with "Peace" embodied in strains of a marked and masterly adagio type, the baritone soloist, T. H. Boddy, is heard again in the message: "Come, ye blessed of my Father" and the soprano, Mrs. Morley, has the triumphant "Alleluia!" Here is the theme carried out in the chorus, "These are they that come out of great tribulation," with thanks offered to the Almighty, and, at the close, "How bright these glorious spirits shine," a hymn sung by the congregation.

The choristers have a strong and well-defined part in these religious cantatas, and the choristers performed well last night. The instrument in this much-liked and melidious production is to introduce the phrase by way of soaring, pure-voiced soprano voices, with the deeper bass chiming in, both abating in a fine decrescendo that leaves the voice of the organ paramount for a time.

Introduced in the presentation last evening was a duet from Sir John Stainer's 'Crucifixion,' sung by George Chandler and H. Flowers in good voice while Mrs. Percy Hooper played a pleasing violin selection during the offertory. Mrs. W. A. Logan was at the organ, for the cantata, which was trained and directed by George Chandler.

For Sunday, March 28.

Sunday's horoscope is a rather favorable one, especially in the domain of the church, clergy and ecclesiastical matters. There may be a call for unusual outlay of funds or extraordinary expenditures.

Those whose birthday it is may have a fairly favorable and fortunate year, with the finances under good promise but calling for very sound disposition. There may be lures for lavish expenditures, heavy expenses or possibly unwise indulgences, and these should be properly manipulated. Business is to start under favorable prospects, with advancement along many lines, although there may be a turn of a surprising character to be discreetly met.

A child born on this day may be steadfast and dependable despite some diverting traits of character. It may lean toward good-fellowship, extravagances, pleasure, and various forms of self-indulgence.

For Monday, March 29.

Monday's astrological forecast is a rather difficult and baffling one to interpret, since the planet of the erratic, unconventional, revolutionary and disintegrating is of major significance. In any event, it may bring sudden and radical changes of a devastating nature that may affect the personal as well as business life.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of quite sudden and unforeseen developments, with many elements of the surprising, radical, disrupting and unorthodox to be contacted. These may prove devastating and disintegrating unless managed tactfully.

A child born on this day may be of a bold and adventurous nature. It may avoid all conventions for the expression of either unusual talents or wayward or eccentric tendencies.

VIENNA, March 27 (AP)—The Duke of Windsor made his Easter plans today to attend church services in which he may take part and then to make last minute preparations for departure to St. Wolfgang in the Austrian Tyrol.

He arranged tentatively to read part of the Easter service in Vienna's Anglican Church. Acting as a lay reader, he read the story of the nativity during Christmas services at the request of the chaplain, Rev. C. H. D. Grimis.

The Duke planned to attend church tomorrow with the British minister, Sir Walford H. M. Selby, and then to return to Enzesfeld Castle to supervise shipment of his luggage to St. Wolfgang.

MRS. H. H. STEVENS KILLED IN CRASH NEAR PALMERSTON

Former Peterborough Girl Killed In Head-On Collision

HUSBAND WAS DRIVING

PALMERSTON, March 27.—Mrs. H. H. Stevens, prominent Bruce County woman, and wife of the President and General Manager of the Stevens-Hepner Brush Company, Port Elgin, was killed Wednesday afternoon when a car driven by her husband crashed head-on into another vehicle driven by a man believed to be Albert Benninger, of Carlsruhe, Ont. Mr. Stevens escaped serious injury.

The accident took place at Hallett's Bridge, eight miles east of Palmerston, at 4.30 o'clock. Mrs. Stevens died one hour later.

Benninger was carried from the wreckage with a fractured skull, and is in the Palmerston Hospital, where he was removed from the farm home of Earl Kirkpatrick, in front of which the accident took place. He was identified from a letter found in his pocket. Mr. Stevens is suffering from the shock of the accident and his wife's death.

The accident occurred at the height of a snowstorm that blanketed this district, making the highway slippery and visibility poor. The crash took place on a straight stretch of road.

The injured were given first aid treatment by Dr. MacFarland of Arthur, six miles away from the scene of the accident. An investigation was conducted by Provincial Constables C. Hunter and P. Oldfield. Coroner Dr. Winans of Harriston announced that an inquest would be held.

Mrs. Stevens, who was 54 years of age, is survived, besides her husband, by four daughters, Mrs. Ralph Pequegnat, Port Elgin; Mrs. John Inglis, Kincardine; Mrs. (Dr.) J. E. Campbell, Windsor; and Miss Frances, at home; and her mother, Mrs. Mary Burnett of Port Elgin.

Mrs. H. H. Stevens (nee Miss Ella Burnett), only daughter of the late James Burnett and Mrs. Burnett, was formerly a resident of Peterborough.

Surviving relatives in Peterborough are an aunt, Mrs. Jane H. Kendry; an uncle, Edwin Kendry; and three cousins, Lawrence Kendry, Mrs. George W. Kennedy, and Mrs. W. B. Bletcher; also a cousin, Mrs. George C. Burnham of Toronto.

SUNDAY BASEBALL WILL GO BEFORE O.B.A.A. APRIL 3

Executive Proposes Sabbath Games In All Series Except Semis And Finals

14 CHANGES MOOTED

OSHAWA, Ont., March 27 (CP).—Sunday baseball in communities where no legal restrictions exist will be permitted under the banner of the Ontario Baseball Amateur Association this year if a motion before the O.B.A.A.'s annual meeting here April 3 is adopted. The governing rule, proposed by the executive, would grant Sabbath ball in all series but semi-finals and finals.

A present ruling would be deleted and the following substituted: "The playing of semi-final and final O.B.A.A. championship playdown games is not permitted on Sunday."

Most of the 14 proposed changes and amendments to confront delegates concern organization and eligibility tryouts. One sponsored by the Niagara Falls Baseball Association, however, would allow signed coaches and managers to coach from the base-lines. Another, submitted by the Central Ontario League, would allow amateur teams to play professional teams in exhibitions.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

TWO BASKETBALL games are listed for tonight in the Y.M.C.A., gym. P.C.I. plays C.G.E. at 8.15 in a playoff tilt with a couple of "ifs" attached to it. If P.C.I. wins, the Collegians tackle St. Paul's next in finals; but if the Electrics win, they will have one more game with P.C.I.—it being then considered a home-and-home series with points counting. At 9.00 this eve up there, Belleville's smart E.O.B.A. entry has an exhibition tussle with the local Senior City Cage Loop leader, St. Paul's. Both games ought to be well worth seeing if you like the hoop sport.

AS A guest of the Westclox hockey team Thursday p.m., we thoroughly enjoyed the banquet and entertainment supplied. The pucksters and officers laid to with hearty good will in the factory lunch room, some 18 being on deck. Prexy Lee Allen of the Senior City Hockey League presented the runners-up trophy to Manager H. White of the Clockmakers, and Cy Whalley spoke on behalf of the players. The boys are strongly convinced that the delay while Lakefield and Mayfairs were battling in semi-finals is what beat them out of the championship. They may arrange an exhibition game in Lakefield shortly if the ice holds out.

ONLY SURPRISE in Thursday night's pro puck playoffs was the win for Boston over Maroons. The Wings again knocked over Canadiens, while Lee Patrick's N'Yawk Rangers robbed out the Toronto Leafs. The latter team year after year has proved to be no money squad in playoffs. They play good hockey most of the season, pack in the fans everywhere, make the playoffs and are then knocked off by Maroons, Rangers or Red Wings. Too bad they couldn't have lasted at least a little longer this year. Radio fans here will feel lost on Saturday nights now with no Foster Hewitt screaming vivid word pictures through the mike. If you want to hear a hockey broadcast tonight you'll have to tune in on the Wings' game in Montreal over CFRB at nine.

BILL MURPHY recently was telling us about Art Heal, classy left winger with the Colts this winter. Heal had played with Bill's Tigers in the Junior City Hockey League for two years. Early this winter he phoned Murphy and asked if he could play with the Tigers again, if they operated. "Aren't you trying for the junior O.H.A. team?" Bill queried. Young Heal said sure but if he didn't make it he wanted to stick with his old team. Murph said: "Okay, but you may make the Colts." He did and led 'em in scoring. Such modesty is refreshing.

AMATEUR PUCK playoffs are moving right along. Dominions beat Sudbury yesterday, 4-2, to square their Allan Cup playdown serial. In the first of the intermediate "B" finals, Belleville took a 5-2 verdict from Thorold—and the tilt was even broadcast over the ether! Next one will be staged in Niagara Falls, Barrie juniors are heading toward a title, winning 6-2 in the Falls while Guelph pasted Northern Vocationals of Toronto by a 9-5 count. The Vocs' coach denied that he had protested Barrie for using an over-age player, and this should definitely squelch the persistent rumor to that effect floating around town. Oshawa scribe writes: "Aside to our Peterborough friend—somebody has been telling you tales. Oshawa would like to have another hockey special from Peterborough some time, but give us a year to get over it, eh?"

NO FIREWORKS at all Good Friday at the annual meeting of the O.A.L.A. in Toronto. With $1,517.43 in the bank, the lacrosse moguls are quite content and look forward to another big season. There was no mention made of the game down through Central Ontario, and we can't even make a guess yet as to what the summer will bring forth in this locality. Perhaps the Tri-County League will be reorganized or maybe a local team will enter the O.A.L.A. Ought to be some action in Oshawa before long though that town will hardly go back into senior lacrosse after last year's mess. Won't be long before some dope from the gutted-stock arises is available.

ANNUAL MEETING of the O.A.S.A. in Simcoe yesterday was a success. Pat Hayden and Dave Leether went from Peterborough and the latter was again elected to the executive of the Ontario body. They passed an amendment to allow Sunday softball where it is legally permitted; the rule pertaining to amateur cards for players in the playoffs will be adhered to strictly; and the pitching rule was definitely changed to comply with that suggestion by the T.A.S.A. which we ran a week ago. For the benefit of pitchers and umpires—and they should clip it and memorize the rule—we'll publish it again.

* * * * * *

IT READS: "The pitcher may take one hand off the ball only in the act of delivery. When one hand has been taken off the pitch has begun and must be completed without bringing the ball into both hands again, or changing the ball from one hand to the other. The ball must be released on the first forward swing of the pitching arm. The rule permits the pitcher to take the ball upward in front and over or backward toward the rear in a continuous swing but requires him to release the ball at completion of the first revolution. The wrist must not be further from the body than the elbow. Snappy and jerky delivery on the ball shall be considered illegal. If a pitcher violates the above pitching rule, the pitch is illegal. Time shall be immediately called by the umpire and a ball shall be called on the batter. A pitcher will not be permitted to use tape or other substance upon the pitching hand or fingers."

CANADIAN RANKS WITH NET GREATS

Jean Saunders Of Calgary Expected To Make British Wightman Team

LONDON, March 27—(CP) — A little, blonde Canadian girl from Calgary is sharing the tennis limelight with Britain's greats these days.

She is 23-year-old Jean Saunders, ranked seventh by the Lawn Tennis Association, and is picked by experts to make a berth on the next British Wightman Cup team.

She made an impressive Spring debut this year, reaching the semi-final round of the Queen's Club covered courts tournament, when she gave Kay Stammers, Britain's No. 2 star, stiff opposition in the semi-final.

The Calgary girl made the next to the last bracket by defeating Mrs. J. B. Pittman, a brilliant player, 1-6, 6-3, and 6-1, in a keen quarter-final match.

Then she met Miss Stammers, who shared British Junior doubles honors with her six years ago, and went down to defeat, 6-8, 6-2, 7-5. In nearly every game Miss Saunders had game point and then lost by nervous mistakes.

After the match Miss Stammers declared: "It was a terrific match. Miss Saunders is a very difficult girl to beat, and I think I did very well to win."

Said the philosophical Canadian: "After all I hardly expected to beat Kay. I feel glad I could give her such a good game."

Fourth Midget Draw In Southend Series

St. Peter's and Canucks of the South-end Hockey League battled to their fourth Midget playoff tie in Lakefield on Thursday, the count ending 5-5 and neither side tallying in overtime. Play between these well-matched outfits is for the Graham-Rogers Trophy. Garvey scored twice in the first period for St. Peter's and Rechetta got two and O'Donnell one for them in the third. Nicholls pushed in two for Canucks in the middle chukker while Cauley counted twice and Connors once in the third. It was a classy scrap all the way, with every player on each team turning in a fine performance. The teams:

St. Peter's — Goal, Bannigan; defence, Crary, Rex; centre, Rechetta; wings, Smith, Connors; alternates, Garvey, Boyle, O'Donnell.

Referee—J. Blewett.

The two league leaders battled out for the President's Cup down at the Exhibition Grounds; Orildands stepping on the gas nosed out the T.P.T. on the home stretch.

The protest game to be replayed between No. 6 and No. 19, will be played immediately after scheduled game at St. Luke's on Tuesday.

Last-Minute Scoring Splurge Gives Schriner The Lead

Due to a last-minute scoring splurge by Dave "Sweeney" Schriner, of New York Americans, Syl. Apps, of Toronto Maple Leafs, missed the honor of leading the National Hockey League in scoring honors as a rookie. The high-scoring Mr. Schriner (LEFT), was the league's outstanding rookie when he broke into big-time hockey three seasons ago. Last season he led the league in scoring and equalled Charlie Conacher's record of leading the league in scoring for two successive years by coming from behind this season and beating out the best of them. If Mr. Apps (RIGHT), had managed to notch a couple more points he would have equalled the record set by Nels Stewart and Bill Cook for being the only first-year rookies to leading the league in scoring. 'Sweeney" wound up the season with 21 goals and 25 assists, while Apps notched 16 goals and assisted in 29 successful rushes.

LAKEFIELD WINS EXHIBITION TILT

Noses Out 5-4 Overtime Verdict In Tidy Scrap With Peterborough Squad

LAKEFIELD, March 27. — The Lakefield team, champions of the Peterborough Senior City League, defeated a Peterborough squad 5 to 4 in an exhibition battle that tasted one hour and twenty minutes, in Lakefield on Friday. A good crowd of spectators witnessed the game.

Lakefield started the scoring when Lennox tallied; for the remainder of the canto, neither team scored.

In the second period Blewett scored for the Northerners and Connelly for the Petes, and the game finished in a three-all tie when Sabatino tallied in the third for Lakefield, and Morrow and King each pushed in a counter for the Petes.

In the first ten-minute period of overtime, Jopling tallied for Peterborough and Blewett tied the score when he counted for the second time.

In the second period of overtime no one scored until half way through the period, when Blewett registered a counter for the Lakefielders for the third time in the game, and close checking for the rest of the contest kept the juniors from tying the contest. Blewett was outstanding throughout the play.

MOTORBIKE CLUB PASSES ON RULES

Kawartha Club Limits Speeding, Suppresses Noise and Considers Pedestrian Rights

A number of rules were passed at a meeting of the Kawartha Motorcycle Club Thursday evening in the Chamber of Commerce. President S. Carew conducted the session. Two members were added to the club and several other prospective members were on hand. It was decided to send some local entries to the exhibition race in Norwood May 12th, run in conjunction with the Horse Racing Club there. The race will be on a half-mile dirt track and plans are being made to include an exhibition in stunt riding. Next meeting of the club will be on April 8th.

Included in the rules passed Thursday is one fixing a speed limit of 45 miles an hour; more consideration of the rights of pedestrians; the suppression of noise—with cut-outs being forbidden; strict adherence to traffic regulations; with the club executive empowered to decide penalties for infractions.

P.C.I. Juveniles Win Southend Puck Title

P.C.I. Juveniles won the championship of the Southend Hockey League and the Schneider Cup in Lakefield on Thursday with a 7-1 verdict over St. Peter's. It was a sudden-death playoff game and saw the Collegians earning the decision all the way. They flashed a nice passing attack and had most of the play the last two frames. St. Peter's had a 1-0 lead in the first period on Thornton's tally, but P.C.I. took charge in the middle inning. For the winners, B. Parnell had two goals; Dorris got two and R. Parnell, A. King and B. King one apiece. All the victors showed up well, while the Saints worked hard but did not look too impressive in this tilt. The teams:

St. Peter's—Goal, Shaughnessy; defence, Kirby, Lynch; centre, Thornton; wings, Roy, Curtin; alternates, McCormick, McDougall, Corkery.

P.C.I.—Goal, Driscoll; defence, B. King, Ward; centre, A. King; wings, Morrow, R. Parnell; alternates, Caumrik, Dorris, B. Parnell, Patterson.

Referee, J. Blewett.

AMERICAN CLUBS TRY 'GANG' ACT ON N.Y. YANKEES

Baseball Enemies Spending Money On Improved Power To Stop Favorites

FIVE CLUBS COUNT

NEW ORLEANS, March 27—(AP)—The impending American Baseball League pennant race looks too good to be true—for the New York Yankees.

Joe McCarthy's Yankee Gunners will go to the post as probably the heaviest-played favorites in major league history. On the strength of what they did while ripping the league apart last year, no other club has a chance.

But not so fast, Watson. Every club in the league is gunning for the Yanks with improved power and the old-fashioned gangup should give the world champs far more trouble than they expect. McCarthy realizes it and though he's coming back with a stand-pat lineup he's more than worried.

"Last year, I said we had a good chance to win when we were picked for third and fourth, and we did win," reflects McCarthy. "This year I say we have a chance to lose, and we have. It's not going to be easy by a long shot."

Five Clubs Count

Any one of five clubs—Detroit, Boston, Cleveland, Chicago and Washington—could break up the Yankee parade. The other entries of St. Louis and Philadelphia can't be considered by any stretch of the imagination. Of the contending group Detroit appears the class. Mickey Cochrane, whose absence blasted Tiger hopes last year.

The most impressively improved club noted over the tour of camps are Boston Red Sox and Washington Senators. If you're looking for long-shots with a chance, the Red Sox and Senators are good bets to give a grand run for your dough.

Inside Sportin' Dope

BY A. WISE-CRACKER.

Mister Sporting Editor:

Well, Mac, Major McLaughlin of Chicago may not get very far with his idea of a all-American hockey team but right now we look to be in for a all-American Stanley cup serious. Mister Smythe's Leaves is all washed up, the Detroit Red Wings has the Canadiens back on the ropes just ready to slip over the K.O. and the way the Boston Bruins turned the tables on the Maroons Thursnite makes them favorites to cop the 3rd and deciding game which is scheduled for the Beantown Icebox Sun. nite.

The Leaves has been the prize bust of the playoffs up to date. They finished the season going better than at any time all year and went into the money setup with every man on their squad in action and not a sign of a casualty list. And then along comes Lester Patrick's Rangers which aint win more 25 per cent of their games for the last 2 months and tosses the Toronto gang into the ashcan in 2 moves. The Leaves did a lot of squawking over the refereeing in the 1st game which the Rangers took 3 to 0, pointing out how important it was to get the 1st goal and then they went down to New York Thurs. nite, got the 1st marine themselves and couldn't hold it. The Rangers fought back, finally tied the score and went on to outplay the Toronto gang in overtime and grab the goal that meant curtains for the Leaves.

A Dismal Ending

It was a dismal ending to the Toronto hopes but a team can't get only 1 score in over 2 hours of hockey certainly get enough punch to make much of a dint in a play off serious. Mister Smythe will have to do some rebuilding for next winter, and get hold of another couple of Appess if he wants to be up with the leaders. Some of the old cogs in the machine is worn out and it is just a chance whether Mister Conacher will ever come back to his best form again. The big fellow aint done much since he rejoined the Leafs and Mister Jackson after getting back into championship stride half way through the season tailed off again toward the close and didn't burn up no rinks in the 2 play off games.

The Wings is Flying

The feature of the serious so far has been the decisive way them Red Wings of Jack Adams has rose to the occasion. Losing their ace scorer just before the playoffs after being robbed of 2 sterling defence men like Messrs Young and Roulston, the world's champs started out under a handicap but they managed to uncork plenty of power to give the Canadiens a artistic shellacking in the 1st 2 games for the League title. Beating Mister Hart's machine means a team has gotta have something more than a reputation and the whole Wing roster seems to have found their best stuff just when they need it the most. The Barry-Lewis line with Mister Kilrea doing a good job of subbing for Mister Aurie has been simpy flying and when those birds fly Mac, it's just too bad for the opposition.

The Bruins and Maroons has had a brudsing series so far Mac. In the opening game at Montreal Mister Gorman's gang badly outplayed the Bostoneers and win 4 to 1 and the serious looked to be in the bag. 2 nites afterward the outfits met in Boston and this time the Bruins overpowered the Montrealers so completely that right now they look good value to cop the 3rd fixture.

It's tough to admit it but the outlook is for a final serious without a Canadian club in the running. Aint that something?

Sportfully yours,
A. WISE CRACKER.

CURLING

By HERB MARTIN

About two weeks ago there appeared in this column these words: "Our guess is that we will be curling on Good Friday."

The next day we were subjected to a most severe condemnation by "wise" people who "knew" that the winter would end on such and such a date—knew just to the minute.

Well, to-day is Easter Saturday, so yesterday must have been Good Friday—and we were curling, were we not?

And the best part of the whole thing is this, that some of the boys who were the first to take their curling togs home were the very first to bring them back again—and they are still hanging here in No. 8.

Situated in our waiting-room is a notice board—and up in the right-hand corner of this board the date on which we stopped curling, every year, is kept. We have already passed several dates for this season and just as often have had to rub it out—so now we are going to wait until May 24 before we post any more.

We had a nice crowd out yesterday and we expect another one again this afternoon.

The winning skips were: V. Currie, O. McGill, and W. Harvey.

Dyte On Colts' Defence Stands Out, Tallying Three Times

LOSERS SHOOT POORLY

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., March 27 (CP).—Barrie Colts continued undefeated in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior "B" round-robin title series here last night, winning over Niagara Falls Cataracts 6-2, the visiting charges of Gordon Meeking had a good margin in the first and second periods. Cataracts commanded the play in the final frame, but lost many chances through faulty marksmanship.

Dyte on defence for the Colts was the game's outstanding star. Long was another very useful visitor. Murray and Goalie Myers were best for Cataracts.

Barrie Opens Scoring

The Colts showed their best form in the second 20 minutes when they outscored the Falls 3-1. Dyte notched the first goal in less than two minutes, taking a close-in pass from Scott to beat Meyers. Leigh and Walker combined beautifully to put their team further ahead at the six-minute mark, Leigh tallying.

The Falls scored its first goal when the period was half over, Murray notching on a combination play with Hardison. Long serving a penalty at the time. One minute later Jones brought Barrie further into the van by driving from well out, the puck hitting the screen and bouncing behind Meyers.

Cataracts' Final

The third session was half over when Dyte went in alone to count another for the winning team. In less than a minute Puccl brought the Falls up, sinking one behind Goring, and the final counter came at the 19-minute mark, Scott going in alone for the tally. Play roughened up in this period, a free-for-all starting at one stage. Referee Moore chased Kaminsky, Marbello, Walker and Jones for five-minute penalties and nothing further occurred.

Barrie.—Goal, Goring; defense, Dyte, Jones; centre, Bowen; wings, Scott, Long; subs, Brock, Leigh, Walker, Palmer, Marshall.

MAROONS ONLY STOUT BARRIER TO ALL-U.S. FINAL

CANADIENS HELD SHAKEY

By A. E. Fulford

TORONTO, March 26.—(CP)—Montreal Maroons today seemed the only stout barrier to an all-American Stanley Cup final. With Toronto Maple Leafs eliminated and Montreal Canadiens on the verge Tommy Gorman's men held the only likely challenge to American domination of the world hockey series.

The picture may be changed tonight when Canadiens meet Detroit Red Wings in Montreal for the third game of their National league championship series. But if they continue in the bad luck that helped lose them two games at Detroit Red Wings will take the league title for the second consecutive year and move into the final.

It will be up to Maroons then to keep Canada in the fight. The Gormanmen meet Bruins tomorrow night at Boston in the rubber game of their series between second-place teams. It will decide which outfit will move into the semi-final against New York Rangers, conquerors of Toronto Maple Leafs.

Canadiens go into tonight's battle with the feeling they must have had all the bad luck that is coming to them. The climax came Thursday night in Detroit when Dr. J. A. H. Forgue, their club physician, died in their dressing room while the Habitants were playing the third period of their game with Red Wings.

Cloud Over Canadiens.

Naturally it drew their thoughts to Howie Morenz, their great centre who died three weeks ago, and depression settled over the players. They may be able to shake it off before a home crowd tonight and win from the world champions but not the task of taking three straight from Detroit seems impossible. It is more likely Canadiens will be eliminated.

While Maroons are practically unscarred, Bruins will face their game tomorrow night with two injured players. Leroy Goldsworthy has a broken nose and Allan Shields a gashed leg. Manager Art Ross has brought Peggy O'Neill, a seasoned campaigner, and Bobby Bauer, a rookie from Providence and may use either or both if his cripples are not in shape.

Meanwhile Rangers will be resting for their series with either Bruins or Maroons. The only injured player is Neil Colville who suffered a fractured jaw in Tuesday's battle at Toronto and played through Thursday's game in New York without knowing of the injury.

Pratt Breaks It.

That overtime game was broken up when Babe Pratt, Ranger defenceman who was playing forward for a few minutes, banged Art Coulter's pass past Turk Broda to give the New Yorkers a 2-1 win and the series. Pratt had been out with the game in Toronto by 3-0.

It was a rough loss for Toronto who had led on Harvey Jackson's first period goal until Hobey Keeling tied it up in the third.

The 4-0 Boston win over Maroons was a complete reversal of the game in Montreal Tuesday when the Montrealers won, Dit Clapper, 300-pound wingman playing on the defence for the first time in 10 years, sent Bruins away to the win with his first period goal. Charlie Sands, Ray Getliffe and Red Beattie adding other counters.

In the Detroit 5-1 win from Canadiens the Habitants got away to a good start on Paul Haynes' first period goal but six minutes later Mud Bruneteau tied it up. In the second Herb Lewis scored twice and Pete Kelly added one goal in that period and another in the third.

LOW AIRMAIL ROUTE.

CANBERRA, Australia.—(CP)—Postal authorities have decided that when flying boats start carrying mail from Great Britain to Sydney next year three cents will pay the fare of a half-ounce letter for the 12,000 miles trip. From Sydney to Britain the rate will be 14 cents.

2 JUNIOR SQUADS MAY BE OUSTED TONIGHT'S TILTS

Wesleys Can Knock Off Trail Tigers And Ottawa Rideaus The Amherst St. Pat's

REDMEN MEET VICTORIAS

TORONTO, March 26.—(CP). — The eight quarter-finalists for the Canadian junior hockey title will be gunning along four fronts tonight for a further advance on the Memorial Cup. When the firing is over two may be out of playdowns.

Saskatoon Wesleys can knock off Trail Rangers and Ottawa Rideaus can send Amherst St. Pats unrewarded back to the Maritimes. Tigers and Rideaus have won the first games of best-of-three series and need only victories to-night.

Montreal Victorias and Copper Cliff Redmen will open a best-of-three round at Toronto and Winnipeg Monarchs and Port Arthur are to start another at Winnipeg.

Amherst is rated a good chance to survive the night because Rideaus won the first game by only 6-5 and had to come from behind to do it. But Saskatoon, winner of the Saskatchewan title for the fifth straight year, is expected to experience little difficulty after beating Trail 5-0 in the opener yesterday. Triumph would put Wesleys in western finals—Dominion semi-finals—against Winnipeg or Port Arthur.

Mostly By Shutouts.

Montreal's sturdy Victorias have been standing up excellent opposition after sweeping through Quebec competition. They won most of their group games by shutouts. Copper Cliff Redmen are the young sensations of the Ontario campaign, having set high-scoring marks in eliminating Sault Ste. Marie, Timmins and St. Michael's College of Toronto in playdowns.

Winnipeg Monarchs won a provincial title yesterday by defeating St. Boniface 3-2 to end the best season of age-limit hockey Manitoba can recall. Monarchs will be a little leg-weary against Port Arthur, having taken four games to eliminate Portage La Prairie and three to subdue St. Boniface. John McCreedy, one of the stars of the Winnipeg march, got what proved the winning goal yesterday.

Saskatoon Dominion finalists with West Toronto's Nationals last season, had little difficulty in the fifth game with Trail. Doug Brownridge and Archine Wilder scored twice each, contributed two assists. The second game of the series is being played to-day because a live stock show opens in the Saskatoon rink Tuesday and if a third game is necessary it must be played Monday.

Amherst, a little more confident now after a good showing in the first game, should help Rideaus put on another classic for Ottawa fans to-night. St. Pats hope to have the services of centre-ice star Bob Copp, injured in the first contest Wednesday.

Easy Battleford Win

In direct contrast to the balance that seems to exist in the Junior race is the way North Battleford Beavers predominate the flats for the Canadian Senior title and the Allan Cup. They took the opener of their Western finals with Fort William Thursday by 10-2, and should have little trouble repeating to-night, thereby gaining the right to play the Eastern winners.

It seemed until the past few days Sudbury Tigers would gallop over the ground in the East just as Beavers have done in the West. But Toronto Dominions have checked the Sudbury charge abruptly and there's grave doubt whether Tigers can get by the best-of-three round, now tied at one win each.

Sudbury won the first match at home, 4-3, then bowed to Dominions 4-2, at Toronto last night. Tigers claimed a goal in the third period that would have tied the count at 3-all, but the goal judge said the puck struck a post. In the closing seconds, Roy Conacher, brother of two National League luminaries, sank a penalty shot for his third goal of the game.

Now Dominions can take the round in the third game at Toronto Monday. And the other two Eastern semi-finalists, Quebec Aces and Hull Volants, have gained fresh hope on hearing that maybe Sudbury isn't so tough after all.

Hull won the first game of its best-of-three sert with Aces 3-1 in Ottawa. The second is set for Quebec to-night.

To minimize the peculiarity of "vulgar" words of the type sung in music halls and cafes 500 phonograph records of orthodox music will be distributed in Kotakikawa, Japan, primary schools.

The Day That I Forget

By MARIE BLIZARD

CHAPTER 46

JANET opened her eyes slowly wriggled her nose. She inhaled deeply and felt the pangs of hunger. She tried to remember what scent it was that rose so deliciously.

Frying ham!

And Marthat Colby's house in Chester.

"Oh, gosh!" she said in her thread-thin voice. She couldn't remember when she had said that so appreciatively. Or for that matter, when she had smelled anything so good.

She accepted that pleasure for all it was worth. She didn't think of anything but ham and her hunger. She didn't even move in the big double brass bed.

She liked that bed. She liked the soft patchwork quilt folded across the foot of it where her length did not reach. She liked the spotless dimity curtains swaying in the warm April air. She liked the old-fashioned dresser and the small three-legged table beside her bed. There was no chromium here, no silken drapes, no luxurious satin and French prints.

She concentrated on the dresser, trying to pick out the objects there. The china vase and the fat pin cushion with hatpins in it. The button box and the hair receiver, the sweet grass handkerchief basket and Martha's worn Bible. There were other things there; her own monogrammed mirror and brush and comb. They didn't belong there.

On the table beside her there was a low bowl filled with pansies. She tried to remember if pansies were yet in season. She couldn't, so she abandoned the though. She concentrated on the dappled sunlight on the faded carpet.

Again the pain of hunger assailed her and she called, "Martha!"

There was no answer. Janet's voice was reed-like; it wouldn't have carried beyond the room.

For two weeks she had lain in that big bed and only these last three days had she been able to speak. Oh, she had spoken but the things she had said she had cried out in fever. And when the fever passed, she had been too weak, too exhausted to think of anything she wanted to say.

Then she remembered that Martha had left a silver bell on the table for her to ring. She looked at the bell and it pleased her. It represented a little pig and Martha had bought it at the church fair without any thought of ever using it. Finally, Janet remembered what it was for. She reached for it feebly.

"Well, Miss, it's time you were awake. Do you know it's Sunday morning and time good people were up?" That was Martha's little joke. Janet couldn't have stood up even if it had been Judgment day.

Janet raised herself by both hands and then Martha's strong hands were under her arms and arranging pillows at her back. Martha chatted while she arranged a much worn, very soft pink knitted shawl over the small figure of Janet which was both pathetic and ridiculous wrapped in one of Martha's spacious "Filipino" night dresses.

"Have an appetite like a stevedore's, Martha. You know I haven't been ill, I've just been pretending. No one could possibly have an appetite like this one and have been ill."

"Of course you weren't seriously ill, honey. You were just tired out and refused to admit it. When we won't face that sting of fatigue, nature makes us. Now, medicine first." She held out a spoon with a thick green liquid in it and Janet swallowed it, making the proper face that goes with swallowing medicine.

She had been going to say something but Martha had forestalled it.

When she had eaten a fair share of hot rolls and strawberry jam, with her delicious pink ham and a cup of coffee rich with thick cream, she settled back to have a talk with Martha.

"Martha, don't you think it's time I did a little explaining?" she began.

"About what, I'd like to know! Do I have to have an explanation just because my baby comes to me when she's ill? I should say not!"

"But, Martha, there are so many things I want to tell you. I want to tell you what a coward I was and about Joel and....and Russell."

"Of course you do! That's what comes of spoiling you. You think you're going to take up my whole Sunday morning talking about that husband of yours again. Isn't it bad enough that he keeps me running up and downstairs answering the telephone all day long without you having to add to my burdens?" Martha bustled about and straightened things up with a fine show of friendly annoyance.

"Joel....is....?"

"Didn't I tell you?" Martha said beaming. "If you're a very good girl and rest now, then if you eat some broth at 1 o'clock and nap for an hour, you can have a visit from your husband. He's coming out this afternoon."

"Martha"—Janet's tone arrested the older woman—"I don't think I'm up to seeing Joel."

Martha sat down in the low rocking-chair which she had pulled up to the bedside. She took one of Janet's blue veined hands into hers.

"Do you want to tell me why?" she asked.

"I want to tell you lots of things when I feel stronger, Martha. I didn't know I was going to be ill when I came. I only knew that I wanted to be with you and....away from everyone else. I still....oh, I mean that I feel so peaceful, so rested. I haven't felt this way in nearly five years, Martha. Somehow I want to hold on to this."

Marthat didn't know whether she should let Janet go on. Dr. Rogers had said Janet was not to talk but Martha had seen doctoring as many years as he had. And she had her own ideas.

"You want to hold on to everything, Janet. And the other things are no havier than this. They're there and all for you just as I am."

"I don't know," Janet said dubiously.

"But I do," Martha said staunchly. "And when you are well and strong again, and the doctor says you'll be like a new girl in another two weeks after this fine rest" (the doctor had said that Janet would be all right as soon as the storm clouds cleared away), "you'll see that it is. I've been having many a long talk with Joel, dear."

"Martha! Have you truly?" Janet held hightier to Martha's hand.

"Jan," Martha said in a very low voice, "you do love Joel, don't you?"

"Yes, with all my heart. When I came out to you that night, I was so confused I didn't know where I was. I can hardly believe it now but then I was....I thought I was in love with another man. But I'm not! I'm not!"

"Of course you're not," Martha said soothingly and began to do little things about Janet's pillows and pulling the covers up to her chin. "Now, you're going to have a nap and dream about the nice fresh start you're going to get."

"Now, what is the matter? Have I tired you, dear?"

"No," Janet said, wiping her eyes with the bed sheet. "Except, Martha, that's the trouble with Joel and me. It's too late to get a fresh start. I've ruined Joel's life by making him a success. And now it's all to involved to find our way back."

"Stuff and nonsense!" Martha pronounced. "If you say one word of that to Joel this afternoon, I'll forbid him to come here again, mind you! I won't have you talking about his career until I tell you you're well enough."

Bedtime Story

UNCLE WIGGILY CATCHES CHARLIE

"Listen!" whispered Uncle Wiggily.

"I am listening!" the Blue Bird whispered back.

"No one must hear me tell you how to help me make a rattle trap to catch Charlie Chick, who has been taking my garden seeds," said the jolly old rabbit gentleman. "No one!"

"Not one!" said the Blue Bird speaking like the Old Sea Dog, who used to be a Pirate in his younger days. "Speak on, Mr. Longears."

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "This is just like the movies, isn't it, Blue Bird?"

"Well, it's sort of plotting," was the answer. "And they do that in the movies, I understand. But on with the dance, Uncle Wiggily. I mean go ahead, tell me what you want me to do to help you set the rattle trap to catch Charlie Chick."

Hiding Place

"It is going to be this way," said the rabbit gentleman. "I think Charlie Chick, the rooster boy, hides in the bushes each time I plant seeds in my garden. As soon as I have covered the seeds and gone away, Charlie comes from the bushes, scratches up the seeds and eats them. I'll never raise anything in my garden that way."

"Certainly not," said Blue Bird. "But what am I to do?"

"You are very good at picking up things in your beak," said Uncle Wiggily. "I want you to pick up a lot of little white stones or pebbles and bring them to me here. Perhaps you can weave a little basket of twigs to carry the stones in."

"Yes," agreed Blue Bird. "I can do that. But what next? What about the rattle trap to catch Charlie?"

"You shall see," promised Mr. Longears. "Fly away, Blue Bird, and bring me many little white stones."

"I shall also bring you happiness," sang the little creature. "That is what we Blue Birds are for."

"Fine and dandy!" laughed Uncle Wiggily when making his garden all over again, raking smooth the place from which Charlie Chick had picked the seeds. Uncle Wiggily made little trenches in the soft, brown earth to hold more seeds.

Soon came flying back the Blue Bird, in a tiny basket he had woven from twigs the Blue Bird had many little white stones that looked like seeds. These stones Uncle Wiggily planted in the garden.

"Stones will not grow," sang Blue Bird.

They Hide

"I know they will not," said Uncle Wiggily. "But these stones will be the rattle trap to catch Charlie Chick. Come, hide with me in the bushes and watch what happens."

While Uncle Wiggily and the bird hid in the bushes, along came the rooster boy. Thinking no one saw him and thinking he had seen Uncle Wiggily planting seeds again, Charlie scratched out and picked up in his beak many white stones.

No sooner were they in his beak, however, than the stones began to rattle and clatter and clank and clink.

"Ha!" There's my rattle trap!" cried Uncle Wiggily hopping out. "I have caught you, Charlie Chick. You took the seeds before, didn't you?"

"Oh, yes—yes, I did," crowed Charlie much alarmed about the way the stones he had thought were seeds rattled in his beak. "But I'll never spoil your garden again, Uncle Wiggily. Never again!"

He never did. I am glad to say, and Uncle Wiggily forgave Charlie. And if the chill sauce doesn't catch cold when it goes to the dance with the pepper hash, I'll tell you more about Uncle Wiggily's sit-down strike.

BE KIND TO CHILDREN

It is cruel to force children to take medicines that are too strong for them. The cramps and other discomforts they may have can be agonizingly painful.

What a difference there is when you give them MOTHER'S FRIEND. It starts a natural movement which carries away all the waste matter from the bowels without worrying the child in the least. Within a short time after Mother's Friend has cleansed the system the child is like a different being—happy, contented and full of pep. Many mothers give their youngsters a dose of MOTHER'S FRIEND once or twice a week. It keeps the child regular, happy and well. Mother's Friend is sold by all druggists, Dominion, Stores, and I.D.A. Druggists, 50c and $1. The largest size is the cheapest in the long run. Telephone your druggist for a bottle to-day.

TWEED

DEAN O'RIORDAN TAKEN BY DEATH

(Examiner Correspondence.)

TWEED, March 27.—Coming with startling suddenness, the death occurred at St. Cathagh's Church rectory at four o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, March 24, of Very Rev. Jeremiath Patrick O'Riordan, V.G., parish priest in Tweed for the past nine years. Although his health had not been of the best he had improved considerably since his return from Hotel Dieu Hospital, Kingston, some weeks ago, returning to his bed a short time ago, although little anxiety was felt for his immediate danger. It is believed that he contracted a chill early this week, which resulted in his death.

The late Rev. Father J. P. O'Riordan was a popular citizen, beloved not only by his own parishioners, but those of all creeds and his passing will be mourned by many.

Born in County Kerry, Ireland, 59 years ago, he received his elementary education at that place, later entering Killarney Seminary and St. Edmund's College at Ware, England, to study for the priesthood. He was ordained at All Hallow's College in Dublin on January 21, 1904. Shortly after this date, he came to Canada, being stationed at the parish of Madoc, where he remained for many years. Later he was transferred to Marmora, succeeding Father Murtagh. However, he returned to Madoc where he stayed until 1928, when he came to Tweed to succeed Rev. Father John Hanley, who went from Tweed to Smith's Falls. In 1928, he was made Dean in the Roman Catholic Church which elevation carried with it additional responsibilities. The late Dean O'Riordan is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Katherine Casey and Mrs. Nora Griffin, both residing in County Kerry, Ireland, and two nephews, Rev. Jeremiah O'Sullivan of Vermillion, Alberta, and Rev. Father Eugene O'Sullivan of Enterprise, Ontario. His parents died some years ago.

Suffers Relapse

Overwork and his zealous regard for his duties in one of the larger parishes of the district, caused a break-down in his health several months ago, and his physicians ordered his immediate removal to Hotel Dieu Hospital, Kingston. After remaining there for some months, it was believed he was sufficiently improved to be removed to his home here. He made several visits to the business section, and it was confidently expected that he would be able to take up the work of the parish within a short time. However, a relapse again confined him to bed about two weeks ago.

Rev. Father O'Riordan always took a deep and unfailing interest in the affairs of his people and was active in the work of the Holy Name Society, the Knights of Columbus and kindred societies of the church. In all matters of social activity he was one of the leaders and the annual picnic, concerts and entertainments received his whole-hearted and undivided attention. He was a leader in general community welfare, and no worthy object was without the general support and co-operation of the kind-hearted and genial pastor. He was a great friend of the children and his frequent visits to the neighboring schools were always an event of interest. Those in need always found in him a warm and charitable friend.

He had travelled extensively, both on this continent and in Europe and his trip to the Eucharist Congress in Dublin four years ago and a subsequent visit to the Vatican in Rome, was depicted in a picturesque manner in a series of travel talks on his return home. His ready Irish wit and humor won for the late Dean O'Riordan a legion of friends in all walks of life.

The good parish priest co-operated with the Boston Transcript in preparing a series of articles on the history of the Dafoe family in the immediate district. Father O'Riordan's early associations in Madoc and his intimate connections with the family were the channels through which much valuable information was compiled.

The funeral will be held on Monday from St. Carthagh's Church when His Excellency Archbishop M. J. O'Brien, of Kingston, will say the Funeral Mass. The remains will be transferred from the Rectory to the church at 3 o'clock on Sunday afternoon, where they will lie in state until the Mass on Monday morning, March 29, at 10 o'clock.

'CROSS AND CROWN' IS SUNG BY CHOIR

Sacred Cantata Splendidly Presented In St. Andrew's Church Auditorium

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, March 27. — Those who failed to attend the sacred cantata presented in the auditorium of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Good Friday evening deprived themselves of a musical treat well worth going many miles to hear. The concert was augmented by the rich tenor voice of that celebrated New York tenor, John Deacon, who alone by his vocal selections made the evening one long to be remembered.

Congratulations are in order for Charles Allan, under whose direction a choir of forty voices sang Ashford's cantata, "Cross and Crown," which was the second annual sacred concert presented by the choir of St. Andrew's Church.

At the beginning of the program a hearty welcome was expressed by the Rev. B. Simpson Black, who introduced Mr. Deacon and Mr. Leslie Lamson, well-known Belleville violinist, who took part in the recital which preceded the cantata. Aided by such popular local singers as Mrs. F. G. DeCarrel, soprano; Mrs. Jack Cowell, mezzo-soprano; Misses Mae Bell and Ruth McCredie, contraltos; and Mr. George Lory, tenor, the choir was also assisted by Mr. Gerald Clute, Mrs. J. M. Dales, Mrs. H. Cryer and Mrs. H. Connor. Mr. Arnold Bates, local pianist, also acquitted himself admirably, both in solo and to the accompaniment of Mr Allan at the organ. Mrs. John Deacon assisted Mr. Deacon at the piano, while Mrs. M. McFarland at the piano assisted Mr. Allan, who played the organ for the cantata.

Muskrat Trappers Looking Forward To Larger Catch And Higher Prices

Chief Dan Whetung, 60-year-old leader of the Curve Lake Indians forecast an unusually heavy muskrat catch this season, although upwards of 500 trappers along the Otonabee River and the Kawartha chain of lakes were held up today by a barrier of ice, still holding solid on marshes, lakes and rivers.

High water has prevailed during the entire winter, said the Chief, and this always results in good trapping.

Orders already placed with local fur buyers by outside firms show that at least 30,000 rat pelts will be marketed in Peterborough with top prices being paid for the prime rats from the lower Otonabee and Rice Lake, where the world-famed Hudson seal skins are obtained.

The rats are prized by Indians at the Hiawatha Reserve and at the Curve Lake Reserve, near Lake Chemong, for their food value as well as pelts. The rat being a vegetarian, is edible, and skinned carcasses are salted, kept for months, then eaten by the Indians.

Last year price opened at $1.25 and prime skins brought as high as $2.20. This year the falling off in quantity because of extensive trapping indicates a starting price of $1.40 with tops possibly up to $2.50.

TWEED

FIVE SENTENCED IN CHICKEN THEFT

Two Men Get Four Months, Man 76 Suspended Term, Woman 15 Days

TWEED, March 27.— Appearing before Magistrate Lloyd at the weekly police court held in the Township Hall, Clarence Vilneff and Edward Comerford pleaded guilty to charges of stealing chickens and were given four months each in the Ontario Reformatory. Alex Casilbo, also charged with the same offence, was given six months' suspended sentence owing to his rather advanced age of seventy-six. He was given a reprimand by the magistrate. Mrs. Rose Casilbo pleaded guilty to charges of receiving stolen goods and was given fifteen days in the county jail. Clayton Lobb, on pleading guilty to the same count, was given one month.

Olive Carson was also accused of receiving stolen goods and she offered a plea of guilty, but in view of the girl's age, Magistrate Lloyd hesitated before registering a conviction. After consulting Acting Crown Attorney Ormond Butler, the charge was dismissed after the girl had agreed to attend church regularly and pick better company.

Leo O'Coin faced a charge of intoxication and in lieu of paying the usual fine, he took ten days in the county jail.

Most of the above cases were the result of an investigation by Constable Hayes following an aftermath of chicken thefts in th is immediate neighborhood.

The season for trapping of muskrates was officially opened on Thursday, and will continue until April 16th. The counties for open muskrat trapping immediately bordering on the Bay of Quinte are: Prince Edward, Hastings, Addington, Frontenac, Northumberland, Peterborough.

CAVAN, March 27.—While working in his wood-lot on Saturday last, though they were not close, he knew that one was a good-sized buck.

The following Monday Ernest Cavanaugh was surprised to see a fawn jump in front of his car near Mr. White's grist mill. Though the car was speeded up to more than thirty-five miles per hour, the fawn had no difficulty in holding its lead. When it turned off the road it struck a wire fence and was thrown back sharply. Mr. Cavanaugh stopped but the fawn regained its feet and slipped through the fence. Inside a short space of time three hounds came along.

Many deer have been seen locally this winter, and if all hounds were confined might perhaps be found in these parts for many years.

Two Beverage Rooms For All Ontario Hotels

Liquor Board Aiming At Full Enforcement Effective On April 1

One Room To Serve Men Only, Other Woman With Or Without Escorts

WARNING BY ODETTE

Authority To Be Given Municipalities For Earlier Closing Rule If Desired

TILBURY, Ont., March 29.—(CP)—Demand of the Liquor Control Board for separate and distinct beverage rooms for men and for women except when the latter are accompanied by escorts, will be in the nature of complete enforcement of a regulation outstanding since the return of beer and wine by the glass, Edmond D. Odette, liquor commissioner, said here to-day, in clarifying his order made at Toronto, last evening. Mr. Odette was interviewed at his home in Tilbury.

The order stated that it is mandatory every hotel must have separate rooms for men and women on April 1 when all authorities for sale of beer and wine will be presented for renewal.

No Exceptions.

"The order will be enforced in every hotel which is selling beer and wine in the province," said Mr. Odette. "The regulation was set out by the Board when the system was first instituted, but some have not been complying. In the case of some hotels which at that time had neither the room nor facility for separate beverage rooms, authorities were granted upon the understanding that they would make arrangements to comply with the order as soon as possible.

"Now, two years have passed, and a number of hotels have made no move toward complying with this regulation. They have had ample opportunity to do so and on April 1, which is the beginning of the license year, the order will become mandatory.

"This order has been given to every applicant for an authority in the province. It is very concise and clear. Two beverage rooms, one for men and one for women and their escorts must be ready by April 1 or licenses will not be renewed," said Mr. Odette.

Earlier Closing

The new regulations coming into effect for April 1 gives municipalities the right to declare by by-law whether the beverage rooms in their districts should close before midnight, the time set by provincial regulations.

"There will be no closing of beverage rooms before 10 o'clock at night but if any municipality feels that they should be shut up by 12 p.m. or 11, or 11.30, all they have to do is pass a by-law and submit it to the Liquor Control Board and we will do the rest," said Mr. Odette.

"A municipality for instance might desire an earlier than 12 o'clock closing on some particular night. That's all right with us. From the first of the month they will have the authority to go about getting it."

Man Boarder And 2 Women Are Murdered

NEW YORK MYSTERY

NEW YORK, March 29.—(AP)—Triple murder of a beautiful artists' model, her mother and a roomer in their home gave police to-day their second Beekman Hill death mystery within a year.

Veronica Gedeon, 20-year-old model, and her mother, Mrs. Mary Gedeon, 54, were strangled and beaten to death. The mother was ravished.

Frank Byrnes, 36, waiter and bartender, who had been renting a room in the Gedeon apartment for five weeks, was stabbed in the head. His six wounds indicated an ice pick may have been the weapon.

The Gedeon apartment is on the fourth floor of an unpretentious building on fashionable Beekman Hill, only a block and a half from the apartment house where Mrs. Nancy Titterton was killed last April by John Florentz, upholsterer's assistant who recently was electrocuted.

Dr. Thomas A. Gonzales, chief medical examiner, estimated Mrs. Gedeon was the first to be slain, with Byrnes next and Veronica last.

An Arrest Made.

Police Inspectors Thomas Tunney and Rudolph McLaughlin, investigating the slaying, took into custody for questioning today a man identified by them only as "Louis" or "Frenchy."

Tunney, a brother of Gene Tunney, former heavyweight champion, said the man was taken in a tenement

Canadian Chrysler Branch Tied Up By Strike Across Border

WAIT ON AGREEMENT

WINDSOR, Ont., March 29.—(CP)—Chrysler Corporation of Canada, Ltd., officials announced to-day that Windsor plants would be shut down to-morrow and some 2,000 persons temporarily thrown out of work as a result of shortage of materials annually imported from United States' plants now paralyzed by strikes.

Lack of material has resulted in small groups of workers being laid off at intervals during the last week. In hopes an early U.S. strike settlement might be reached, the Chrysler plant here was kept open as long as possible, but further production is impossible according to officials.

It is hoped, however, that Walter P. Chrysler and C. I. O. representatives may reach agreement within the next few days to permit reopening. Until such an agreement is reached Canadian production lines cannot move, according to plant officials.

Fleeing Italians Shot Down By Comrades Captive Reveals

40,000 IN ROUT

VALENCIA, Spain, March 29.—(CP)—Forty thousand Italians, many of whom were slain by their own comrades in a disordered retreat, took part in the unsuccessful insurgent campaign on the Guadalajara front, Major Antonio Lucciano declared today in his government prison cell.

Captured by advancing government troops, the Italian officer told the Associated Press all insurgent troops in the Brihuega sector, northeast of Madrid, were Italians.

The men were moved around so quickly, positions changed so often and there was so much confusion, Italians killed hundreds of their own men, "but I could not attempt to get the exact number," said Lucciano who asserted he was an officer in the regular Italian army.

He said four Italian divisions totalling 10,000 men each participated in the Guadalajara campaign.

Major Lucciano said he volunteered for the Spanish war along with most of the other officers and men of the Littorio division with which he served in Ethiopia.

During 1926 and 1930, the Italian lived in New York where he was a glove importer. High tariffs drove him out of business and he resumed a military career he had started at the age of 15.

Several hundred other Italians also were held in the Valencia prison.

"I think our beef is the best in the world, he said "we should do our utmost to advertise it."

INDIAN STABBED CHATHAM BRAWL

Unknown Assailant Believed Hungarian—Two Women Held

CHATHAM, Ont., March 29 (CP)—Hopes were entertained today for the recovery of Norman Johnson, 24-year-old Indian who was admitted to hospital Easter morning with knife wounds in his chest, back and arms, inflicted by an unknown man in a brawl in the east end of the city.

The fight occurred in a building containing three apartments. Two women, Bertha Robinson, 22, and Lavina Palmer, 38, who gave the apartment address, were picked up by police for questioning and are being held on nominal charges of vagrancy. They were in police court today and remanded until tomorrow without being asked to plead.

Meanwhile, police conducted inquiries in the hope of learning the identity of Johnson's assailant, believed to be a Hungarian.

It was learned there had been a party in the dwelling Saturday night. The Hungarian had followed Palmer into one of the rooms. A woman, it was said, called Johnson into the room, claiming he had insulted her. The man, it is said, alleged the woman had robbed him. The fight then started. Mrs. Clara Johnson, mother of the injured man, attended the party and received a gash under the right eye when she attempted to rescue her son from the man fighting with the knife.

Leaking Vessel Fights Gamely To Reach Port

37 Crew And 2 Passengers Still Aboard Freighter As Jap Craft Stands By

ONE HOLD FLOODED

SAN FRANCISCO, March 29—(A.P.)—The stricken U.S. freighter Volunteer, with 39 aboard, apparently was winning its fight early today against a leaky hull and defective pumps, radio messages indicated.

MacKay Radio reported a message from the Canadian liner Empress of Canada, saying the Volunteer was striving to make Kobe under its own power. The message said the British motorship Fresno City, which sped 240 miles under forced draft to the aid of the Volunteer, had resumed its course to Los Angeles.

Three wireless later intercepted another message from the Empress of Canada saying the Volunteer had checked the flow of water into its hold, and all crew and passengers were still aboard.

When the Volunteer sent out its first SOS, it was approximately 940 miles off the Japanese coast.

The Japanese freighter Yuo Maru was reported standing by the Volunteer, which carried a crew of 37 and two passengers.

The first message in nearly 24 hours to be received by Globe wireless, from the liner President Harrison, read:

"Volunteer proceeding slowly to Kobe."

Reports Differ

The reports from the Harrison and Empress of Canada conflicted with an earlier message from the Choshi wireless station at Tokyo which said an unnamed British steamer had rescued those aboard the Volunteer and the freighter apparently was doomed.

Buffeted for two days by a terrific gale, the vessel's pumps became clogged early Saturday. Water poured through spread hull plates into the No. 1 hold.

Captain W. M. Gelder, skipper of the Volunteer, ordered two calls for help flashed within four hours.

Ships in the immediate area, including the Fresno City and the speedy Empress of Canada began to converge on the Volunteer. The Fresno City was the nearest ship. When it reached the floundering vessel the Empress of Canada resumed its course towards Vancouver.

NEW 12-POINT PROGRAM

MOSCOW, March 29. —(AP)— A warning from Joseph Stalin against capitalism, "Trotzkyism" and conceit as the three great enemies of Russia was delivered to the nation today.

Formidable and lasting barriers against these enemies, Russia was told, must be erected through the political consolidation of the nation.

The warning was given by Stalin in a speech March 3 in the Kremlin before the central committee of the Communist party, of which he is secretary, and published last night.

He called a new Communist slogan—"Bolsheviks must master bolshevism"—in the speech in which he warned the party against conceit, self-praise, boastfulness and "dizziness from success."

Stalin laid down a 12-point program for the liquidation of the enemies in which he declared the chief point must be concentration on the political education of the Bolshevists.

"All success depends entirely upon a political foundation," he declared, "without which economic advances may appear to be built upon sand."

37 Crew And 2 Passengers Still Aboard Freighter As Jap Craft Stands By

ONE HOLD FLOODED

SAN FRANCISCO, March 29—(A.P.)—The stricken U.S. freighter Volunteer, with 39 aboard, apparently was winning its fight early today against a leaky hull and defective pumps, radio messages indicated.

MacKay Radio reported a message from the Canadian liner Empress of Canada, saying the Volunteer was striving to make Kobe under its own power. The message said the British motorship Fresno City, which sped 240 miles under forced draft to the aid of the Volunteer, had resumed its course to Los Angeles.

Three wireless later intercepted another message from the Empress of Canada saying the Volunteer had checked the flow of water into its hold, and all crew and passengers were still aboard.

When the Volunteer sent out its first SOS, it was approximately 940 miles off the Japanese coast.

The Japanese freighter Yuo Maru was reported standing by the Volunteer, which carried a crew of 37 and two passengers.

The first message in nearly 24 hours to be received by Globe wireless, from the liner President Harrison, read:

"Volunteer proceeding slowly to Kobe."

Reports Differ

The reports from the Harrison and Empress of Canada conflicted with an earlier message from the Choshi wireless station at Tokyo which said an unnamed British steamer had rescued those aboard the Volunteer and the freighter apparently was doomed.

Buffeted for two days by a terrific gale, the vessel's pumps became clogged early Saturday. Water poured through spread hull plates into the No. 1 hold.

Captain W. M. Gelder, skipper of the Volunteer, ordered two calls for help flashed within four hours.

Ships in the immediate area, including the Fresno City and the speedy Empress of Canada began to converge on the Volunteer. The Fresno City was the nearest ship. When it reached the floundering vessel the Empress of Canada resumed its course towards Vancouver.

Rebels Reported Ready To Defeat Motion For Provisional Estimates

OUTLINE THEIR PLAN

Want Immediate Action On Sound Credit Dividend First Of Every Month

(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

EDMONTON, March 29 (CP).—The Aberhart Government will stand or fall by the budget now before the Legislature and opposed by the insurgent group of Social Credit members. Premier Aberhart announced his government's stand today during a press interview.

"This matter will have to be settled on the floor of the House," he said.

The Premier said if the motion to pass provisional estimates, to be moved by Hon. Colon Low, Provincial Treasurer, this afternoon, is defeated, the budget debate would continue.

"We would go to a vote on the budget," he declared.

It was uncertain if the Premier would withdraw his closure motion. He gave notice of closure on the budget debate last Wednesday.

It was announced in Calgary Sunday he planned to withdraw the motion, but this morning he was not prepared to say if he would follow out this plan when the House meets this afternoon.

There were reports he had been approached by a delegation of insurgents and urged to resign on the understanding he would be named Alberta's official representative to the Coronation.

It was also reported the insurgents planned to defeat the motion for provisional estimates.

"I don't know anything about it," said the Premier.

The Rebels' Plans.

In opposing the Aberhart government's budget, the insurgents have demanded their plan for Social Credit be introduced in the Legislature without delay.

The section of the Act dealing with dividend payments reads:

"Beginning at the option of the commission a provincial per capita consumers' dividend shall be paid on the first day of every month to every person entitled to Alberta credit. Payment shall be administered under the direction of a provincial credit commission.

All payments shall be met by the issuance of certificates on provincial credit.

"It is the intent of the Legislative Assembly of Alberta to determine the amount of the provincial consumers' dividend in any accounting period, making it approximate such percentage of the provincial credit account as may be available and not otherwise appropriated, as deemed advisable by the provincial credit commission, that said dividends shall in no case amount to less than five per cent. of said account."

No Tax On Dividends.

The dividends would be exempt from taxation. Provision would be made for the payment of monthly dividends to minors.

ABERHART TO STAKE REGIME ON BUDGET VOTE

Two Beverage Rooms For All Ontario Hotels

Liquor Board Aiming At Full Enforcement Effective On April 1

One Room To Serve Men Only, Other Women With Or Without Escorts

WARNING BY ODETTE

Authority To Be Given Municipalities For Earlier Closing Rule If Desired

TILBURY, Ont., March 29.—(CP).—Demand of the Liquor Control Board for separate and distinct beverage rooms for men and for women except when the latter are accompanied by escorts, will be in the nature of complete enforcement of a regulation outstanding since the return of beer and wine by the grace, Almond O. Odette, liquor commissioner, said here to-day, in clarifying his order made at Toronto last evening. Mr. Odette was interviewed at his home in Tilbury.

The order stated that it is mandatory every hotel must have separate rooms for men and women on April 1 when all authorities for sale of beer and wine will be presented for renewal.

No Exceptions.

"The order will be enforced in every hotel which is selling beer and wine in the province," said Mr. Odette. "The regulation was set out by the Board when the system was first instituted, but some have not been complying. In the case of some hotels which at that time did neither the room nor facility for separate beverage rooms, authorities were granted upon the understanding that they would make arrangements to comply with the order as soon as possible.

"Now, two years have passed, and a number of hotels have made no move toward complying with this regulation. They have had ample opportunity to do so and on April 1 which is the beginning of the licensing year, the order will become mandatory.

"This order has been given to every applicant for an authority in the province. It is very concise and clear. Two beverage rooms, one for men and one for women and their escorts must be ready by April 1 or licenses will not be renewed," said Mr. Odette.

Earlier Closing

The new regulations coming into effect for April 1 gives municipalities the right to declare by by-law whether the beverage rooms in their districts should close before midnight, the time set by provincial regulations.

"There will be no closing of beverage rooms before 10 o'clock as usual but if any municipality feels that they should be shut up by 12 p.m. or 11, or 11.30, all they have to do is pass a by-law and submit it to the Liquor Control Board and we will do the rest," said Mr. Odette.

"A municipality for instance might desire an earlier than 12 o'clock closing on some particular night. That's all right with us. From the first of the month they will have the authority to go about getting it."

EARL KITCHENER DIES IN NAIROBI

Warrior Brother Of Distinguished Soldier Lost In Sinking Of H.M.S. Hampshire

NAIROBI, Kenya Colony, British East Africa, March 29 (CP-Havas).—Earl Kitchener, brother of the distinguished soldier who was lost in the sinking of H.M.S. Hampshire during the Great War, died here yesterday. He was 90 years old.

Lord Kitchener succeeded to the title when his younger brother, the first Earl, was drowned with his staff in the sinking of the Hampshire to the west of the Orkneys in 1916 while on a special mission to Russia. The first Earl was the hero of the 1898 Sudan expedition, led the British forces in South Africa during the Boer war, and during the first two years of the Great War was the organizing genius behind the raising of 3,000,000 men for service.

The second Earl, his brother, also was a soldier. He served in the Franco-Prussian War of 1870, and with distinction in Burma in 1891. During the Great War he served in South East Africa. He had been living in retirement in Kenya. His 13-year-old grandson, Viscount Broome, succeeds to the earldom.

Man Boarder And 2 Women Are Murdered

NEW YORK MYSTERY

NEW YORK, March 29.—(AP).—Triple murder of a beautiful artists' model, her mother and a roomer in their home gave police to-day their second Beekman Hill death mystery within a year.

Veronica Gedeon, 20-year-old model, and her mother, Mrs. Mary Gedeon, 54, were strangled and beaten to death. The mother was ravished.

Frank Byrnes, 36, waiter and bartender, who had been renting a room in the Gedeon apartment for five weeks, was stabbed in the head, but six wounds indicated an ice pick may have been the weapon.

The Gedeon apartment is on the fourth floor of an unpretentious building on fashionable Beekman Hill, only a block and a half from the apartment house where Mrs. Nancy Titterton was killed last April by John Florenza, upholsterer's assistant who recently was electrocuted.

Dr. Thomas A. Gonnalet, chief medical examiner, estimated Mrs. Gedeon was the first to be slain, with Byrnes next and Veronica last.

An Arrest Made.

Police Inspectors Thomas Tunney and Rudolph McLaughlin investigating the slaying, took into custody for questioning today a man identified by them only as "Louis" or "Frenchy."

Tunney, a brother of Gene Tunney, former heavyweight champion, said the man was taken in a tenement

INDIAN STABBED CHATHAM BRAWL

Unknown Assailant Believed Hungarian—Two Women Held

CHATHAM, Ont., March 29 (CP). —Hopes were entertained today for the recovery of Norman Johnson, 24-year-old Indian who was admitted to hospital Easter morning with knife wounds in his chest, back and arms, inflicted by an unknown man in a brawl in the east end of the city.

The fight occurred in a building containing three apartments. Two women, Bertha Robinson, 22, and Lavina Palmer, 36, who gave the apartment address, were picked up by police for questioning and are being held on nominal charges of vagrancy. They were in police court today and remanded until tomorrow without being asked to plead.

Meanwhile, police conducted inquiries in the hope of learning the identity of Johnson's assailant, believed to be a Hungarian.

It was learned there had been a party in the dwelling Saturday night. The Hungarian had followed Palmer into one of the rooms. A woman, it was said, called Johnson into the room, claiming he had insulted her. The man, it is said, alleged the woman had robbed him. The fight then started. Mrs. Clara Johnson, mother of the injured man, attended the party and received a push under the right eye when she attempted to rescue her son from the man fighting with the knife.

18 EXECUTED

Nazi Espionage System Said Organized Before Civil War Started

MANCHESTER, March 29.—(CP-Havas)—German spies serving the Spanish insurgents have uncovered a plot to foment an uprising behind the insurgent lines, the diplomatic editor of the Manchester Guardian reported today.

At least 18 ringleaders in the plot —which involved plans to release prisoners held by the insurgents and arm them for the uprising — have been executed, it was said. A number of officers serving under General Francisco Franco were involved, the newspaper added.

"The conspiracy reportedly was hatched in a number of towns with Malaga, southeastern port recently captured by the insurgents, the nerve-centre, the newspaper stated.

According to the Guardian the German espionage service which was responsible for bringing the plot to light had been well organized in Spain before the civil war broke out last summer.

Commenting on recent government victories in Guadalajara province, the Guardian said: "There is as yet no reason to believe that the victory is the turning point in the war. When drier weather sets in an an advance on Madrid will be easier and the city will in all likelihood be put to its severest test."

Fleeing Italians Shot Down By Comrades Captive Reveals

40,000 IN ROUT

VALENCIA, Spain, March 29.—(CP)—Forty thousand Italians, many of whom were slain by their own comrades in a disordered retreat, took part in the unsuccessful insurgent campaign on the Guadalajara front, Major Antonio Lacotano declared today in his government prison cell.

Captured by advancing government troops, the Italian officer told the Associated Press all insurgent troops in the Brihuega sector, northeast of Madrid, were Italians.

The men were moved around so quickly, positions changed so often and there was so much confusion, Italians killed hundreds of their own men, "but I could not attempt to set the exact number!" said Luciano who asserted he was an officer in the regular Italian army.

He said four Italian divisions totalling 10,000 men each participated in the Guadalajara campaign.

Major Luciano said he volunteered for the Spanish war along with most of the other officers and men of the Littorio division with which he served in Ethiopia.

During 1928 and 1929, the Italian lived in New York where he was a glove inspector. High tariffs drove him out of business and he resumed a military career he had started at the age of 15.

Several hundred other Italians also were held in the Valencia prison.

"I think our beef is the best in the world," he said "we should do our utmost to advertise it."

Stalin Wants Less Flattery More Assistance In Campaign

Brands Capitalism, Trotzkyism And Conceit Russia's Worst Enemies

NEW 12-POINT PROGRAM

MOSCOW, March 29. —(AP)— A warning from Joseph Stalin against capitalism, "Trotzkyism" and conceit as the three great enemies of Russia was delivered to the nation today.

Formidable and lasting barriers against these enemies, Russia was told, must be erected through the political consolidation of the nation.

The warning was given by Stalin in a speech March 3 in the Kremlin before the central committee of the Communist party, of which he is secretary, and published last night.

He coined a new Communist slogan—"Bolshevists must master bolshevism"—in the speech in which he warned the party against conceit, self-praise, boastfulness and "dizziness from success."

Stalin laid down a 12-point program for the liquidation of the enemies in which he declared the chief points must be concentration on the political education of the Bolsheviks.

"All success depends entirely upon a political foundation," he declared, "without which economic advances may appear to be built upon sand."

Lower Costs During Year Hydro's Aim

Commission Program Calls For Increased Mileage, Additions To Plants

WANT 10,000 NEW USERS

Propose To Build 1,500 Miles Of Line—Eastern System In Good Shape

TORONTO, March 29 (C.P.). — Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission's present fiscal year program calls for additions to plants, increased line mileage, and reduction in wholesale cost of power.

The report for the fiscal year, ending October 31, 1936, carries plans for:

Construction of more than 1,500 miles of rural primary lines to meet 10,000 new applications the Commission expects will be forthcoming.

Erection of a storage dam on the Frederickhouse River to increase the water supply for the canyon development on the Abitibi River.

The report said the Long Lac Gold Field shortly would need 7,000 horse-power, expected to jump to 12,000 horse-power in 18 months. Building of high-tension transmission lines and service lines connecting with mines, accounted for most of the $1,413,984 spent on Northern Ontario properties in the last fiscal year.

Reduction Before November 1.

Before November 1 the commission expects to announce reduction in the wholesale power costs, said the report, which noted savings made through cancellation of contracts the commission held with Quebec power firms and their revision.

Under the old contracts power costs for the year ending October 31, 1935, amounted to $7,963,993. Under the revised contracts costs in the fiscal year ending October 31, 1936, amounted to $2,524,228.

Reserves set up for depreciation, contingencies, stabilization of rates, sinking fund and insurance purposes; Co-operating municipalities $627,344,402; Northern Ontario properties $2,130,913; Hydro-Electric Railways $165,202; insurance, workmen's compensation and staff pensions $5,367,402; total, October 31, 1936, $80,906,111.

After noting credits of $248,724 to Niagara system municipalities, the report said: "There is not a single debit 13th bill against any municipality in the Eastern Ontario system and rebates have been made totalling substantial sums.

"In the Thunder Bay system the net credit on the year's operations has been such as to warrant material rebates to the consumers which the commission has recommended should be made at the earliest possible date. Not since 1930 has the Thunder Bay system been so prosperous."

BALLYDUFF

LIVELY DEBATE ON NOVEL TOPIC

Social Evening Promoted By Ballyduff Ladies' Aid Is Success

(Examiner Correspondence.)

BALLYDUFF, March 29.—On Tuesday evening the Ladies' Aid of Ballyduff Presbyterian church sponsored a delightful social evening in the church. The chairman for the evening was Rev. Y. Walker, pastor of the church, who interspersed the various program numbers with interesting remarks.

The main feature of the program was an interesting debate, contested by four ladies, Mrs. Fred Gray and Miss McLellan, negative side; Mrs. Milton Gray and Mrs. Melville Lathengue, affirmative side, all of whom are ex-teachers except Miss McLelland the present teacher at Ballyduff. The subject of debate was "Resolved that a rich, homely, cranky man is more desirable as a husband than a poor, good-natured handsome man."

The judges were Miss Thompson and Mr. Higgs, teachers at Pontypool and Mr. Earl Gray, teacher at Lotus. Mr. Higgs gave the judges' report, expressing the difficulty of the judges in arriving at a decision, which finally resulted in declaring the upholders of the negative side Mrs. Fred Gray and Miss McLellan, to be the winners.

Other interesting numbers on the program were delightful readings by Miss Isobel Sisson and Miss Thompson, the latter of whom favoured Pauline Johnson. Mrs. Fred McGill contributed a delightful Irish son in keeping with March 17th.

An appetizing lunch was served by the ladies of the church who had provided liberally for the occasion. As a result of a small charge the proceeds of the evening amounted to fifteen dollars which will augment the funds in the treasury of the Ladies Aid.

Arrangements have been made for holding a cookinole parte in the Ballyduff school room on Wednesday April 7, when progressive games will be played with prizes for the winners. Lunch will also be served. The Ladies Aid have held several of these jolly events during the winter months and will conclude their series on April 7, owing to the approach of the busy season.

Extensive Changes Made At Guelph

He was up there yesterday, he said, "and found everything in good shape and the discipline much improved. Dr. Results, the superintendent, has been given practically a free hand in carrying out the reorganization. Obviously there will be a number of changes because there were a lot of guards who had reached the superannuation age and were unfit to carry out the duties entrusted to them."

Police announced 10 persons would be summonsed for violating the Sunday sales law.

In some restaurants tobacco and cigarettes could be obtained with a meal. In others the proprietors refused to sell under any circumstances while several sold only to those they knew, turning strangers down. Hotel tobacco stands, however, continued to do business without interruption.

COMEDY IS GIVEN BY HASTINGS CAST

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, March 29.—"Here Comes Charlie," a delightful three-act play, carrying its full share of comedy was the well-acted presentation on Wednesday evening in the town hall by the Young People's Society of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church.

Rev. D. K. Perrie, minister of the church, was chairman and welcomed all present. The brief program which took place between acts provided excellent entertainment. Mrs. Roy Johnson gave several piano and Mr. J. C. Wilson, and daughter, Muriel, sang three numbers, "When Mr Dream Boat Comes Home," "There's a Silver Moon on the Golden Gate" and "Love's Own Sweet Song" with piano accompaniment by Miss Mary Puffer.

The comedy was under the direction of the Rev. D. K. Perrie and the capable work of the cast of five men and five ladies was a splendid tribute to the fine work of the director, who worked with the young people for the first time in a play. Well chosen as to parts and with the players entering fully into their characterizations the play ran smoothly from start to finish, every word of the comedy being heard distinctly by everyone.

Lunch was served to the cast by the Ladies Aid at the close of the play.

Crown Jewel Guards Begin On Rehearsals

Visitors To Hear 248 Salutes, Have All-Night Subway Service First Time In History

70 LINERS OF TOURISTS

LONDON, March 29—(AP).—Rehearsals of Coronation pageantry to insure there will be no error when the King and Queen are crowned in Westminster Abbey May 12, are under way at the Tower of London.

These rehearsals involve the King's Bodyguard and the Yeoman Warders. Warders who will guard the Crown Jewels while they are on display in the Abbey, before and after the Coronation, are receiving instructions in their duties.

All Warders are being instructed in the handling of the ancient weapons they will carry while forming the Guard at the west entrance to the Abbey, by which the Royal procession will enter.

Artillerymen are preparing for no less than 248 salutes that will boom from the grey walls of the Tower on Coronation Day.

Coronation visitors to the Tower will have opportunity to see, through excavation now under way, some of the old, outer defenses of the Tower-defences built during the reign of Henry III and demolished in 1353. What remains of the Lion Tower, Causeway and old Drawbridge will be revealed and some of the old defence replaced.

Handle 12,000,000 Passengers

London subway trains will provide an all-night service—for the first time in history — as part of the transportation facilities to be provided for the Coronation.

This shattering of rules and precedent will take place the night of May 11-12 when hundreds of thousands of Londoners will be piling into the Coronation procession area to find vantage points as spectators.

It will be the largest transportation problem London has had to deal with, with plans being made for more than 12,000,000 "passenger journeys."

How London will look May 12, in a modern decorative tribute to the historic ceremony of crowning a king, has been revealed by the Westminster City Council.

Decoration schemes for nearly 4½ miles of London streets, including most of the Coronation procession route, have been approved by the council, to cost approximately $115,000.

Torches on pylons, flowers, bunting, ensigns, flags and floodlights are a part of the program. Private decorations, by office buildings and stores, will be in keeping with the general plans.

The first contingents of overseas visitors to the Coronation are now arriving. Before May 12, it is expected more than 70 liners, loaded to capacity, will reach Britain from the Dominions and from India.

Learn Fans Idle Before Mine Blast

DUBOIS, March 29.—(AP).— District Mine Inspector Tom Lewis said to-day he was investigating a report that "ventilating fans had been out off" for several hours in the Kramer mine where two miners and seven rescue workers died in two explosions.

Lewis in charge of the Dubois area in Northwestern Pennsylvania, said he had been told the fans were idle "from 7 a.m. until 3 p.m. Saturday (two hours before the first blast) because of a change at the power house."

Ordinarily, 800 men work at the mine, but because of the five-day week fewer than a dozen men were there Saturday when the blasts tore through the north-west corner nearly two miles back in the shaft.

Rescue workers who had toiled steadily for 27 hours brought out the last body—that of Francis Dixon, Dubois, early to-day.

Commons Gets Back To Work After Briefest Of Easter Holidays

RELIEF TO STIR DEBATE

OTTAWA, March 29 (C.P.). — The House of Commons returns to work to-day after one of the briefest Easter recesses on record, three days, and the Senators will be back to-morrow as Parliament prepares for the last stages of the session.

Corridor gossip say the Government has set April 10 as the prorogation goal, but agree the session may last until some time the next week. The administration is said to wish all those attending the Coronation on May 12 to reach England in a fairly leisurely manner.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King told the House last Thursday night the Trans-Canada Air Lines Bill and the annual relief legislation would be among this week's business. The Air Lines Bill already has received second reading on assurance of Transport Minister Howe that the Canadian National Railways Bill will retain 51 per cent. of the stock, a controlling interest.

The Bill to revise the capital structure of the C.N.R. is on the order paper for third reading and another founded on the revised Canada-United Kingdom pact is out of Committee of Ways and Means.

It was believed in some quarters Conservative Leader Bennett might raise objection to to relief legislation. He has already moved one non-confidence motion against the Government during the Budget debate when he expressed regret at what he called the Government's failure to take adequate steps to deal with the unemployment problem.

The Senate, adjourned since March 18 for the Easter holidays the House could not take, is expected to start work on measures going up to it from the House, or route for Royal Assent. The Upper House apparently has finished or almost finished its own work.

MAN BOARDER AND TWO WOMEN

house directly across the street from where Miss Gedeon's mother, Mrs. Mary Gedeon, 54, operated a furnished rooming house until last December.

The man was taken by the officers to a police station, and was described as being about five feet, five inches tall and short and stocky. Shortly after his arrival a squad of officers took him away in a car to an unannounced destination.

The triple murder was discovered by Mrs. Gedeon's estranged husband, Joseph Gedeon, an upholsterer, and other daughter, Mrs. Ethel Kuhner, and her husband, Joseph Kuhner, when they arrived at the apartment for an Easter dinner.

They saw the nude body of Veronica lying on the bed, the partly clothed body of her mother crumpled half beneath the bed, and the dead Byrnes on the bed in his own room. Byrne was dressed only in his underwear.

No Barking In Night.

Police remarked on the shrill barking of a pekinese at the entrance of strangers. Neighbors said they had not heard the dog bark once during the night.

Inspector Francis J. Kear, one of the chief investigators in the Tillerson case, said: "It would look at present like the work of a sex maniac."

"Ronnie" Gedeon, as the model was known to dozens of artists and photographers, had a great number of friends. Police said her father thought she had too many—that his disapproval of this fact led to the separation of himself and his wife.

With her beautiful figure, Ronnie was something of a favorite as a nude and "scanties" model. She has been pictured in many advertisements scantily draped in towels, in baths, on washing machines, and in underwear.

ARTIST DESPAIRS MODERN DRESS GOES TO AFRICA

EXHIBIT 'WOWS" TORONTO

TORONTO, March 29—(C.P.)—A fully-clothed Canadian is just an agglomeration of mosaic cylinders to the eye of Artist Adam Stycka.

Canadians, in fact most modern white men, push their feet through a pair of cylindrical trouser legs each morning. They thrust their arms through tubular sleeves, wear jackets and overcoats that are also cylindrical. And, to top it all off, when they really decide to dress up for some formal occasion, they wear black stovepipe hats.

Even in Paris, where life is generally gayer, Adam Stycka found all this rather depressing, so he got into the habit of running off to North Africa for a few months every year.

There the men and women wear flowing, light-colored or gaudy garments in harmony with the brilliantly sunlighted landscape. There Stycka finds colors, light and shadows, and he derives a thrill from painting.

Adam Stycka is junior member of the smartest, most fashionable brother act in modern art. Tade Stycka, portrait artist is the elder brother. Their exhibition, on view in Toronto for three weeks, "wowed" thousands of picture lovers and created a stir as few art shows have in recent years. Father of the two talented brothers was the late Jan Stycka, one of the big figures in European art before the Great War.

Montreal, Then Back to Paris

With pictures boxed and en route to Montreal for another show, Adam Stycka paused Saturday to talk about his love of light before leaving for New York and a liner which will take him back to his Paris studio. The Styckas are Polish, but studied their art in France, Tade later opening a studio in New York where more people have money to commission portraits.

Adam remains in Paris, continues his annual pilgrimages to Morocco, Egypt and other parts of Africa, painting ravishing "desert flirts," copper-skinned women washing clothes in deep blue water, Arab boys leading donkeys, turbaned sheiks. Since 1908 Adam has been painting the luminosity of brilliant color of the desert days and nights. He has worked long hours under the glaring Sahara sun while the heat warped his palette and made his oil paints run like soup. But he has loved every moment of it. At the same his brother Tade was painting clever portraits of European nobility and wealthy Americans. Paintings by the two brothers sell so easily they have a hard time getting enough together for an exhibition. Adam thinks wistfully that one some other planet there may be more brilliant or vari-colored sunlight, but the way things stand he'll have to be satisfied with the sun of the African desert.

WELSH TURNING ON NATIONALISTS

Population Resent Scheme To Boycott Coronation As Going Too Far

London, March 29 (C.P.)—Welsh Nationalists have apparently gone too radical with their views and the great bulk of Welsh opinion has risen against them.

Following their recent arrest of three Welsh Nationalist leaders who were tried in London and sentenced to three months for their part in the burning of buildings attached to the Royal Air Force bombing School at Penrhos.

The Nationalists decided to bring pressure to bear upon England by release of their leaders and sent circulars to local authorities and religious bodies in Wales. But the circulars invaded an expression of opinion deemed by the country as a whole as far too extreme. "It is impossible to celebrate the Coronation in Wales owing to the feeling of injustice prevailing during the time the men are imprisoned."

The great majority of local councils took exception to this passage, terming it an attempt to engineer a boycott of the Coronation. Only two or three local organizations have supported the circular in its entirety.

And now it is reported that the majority of the Party's own members feel strongly against the sentiment expressed in the circular and that the subject of Coronation should not have been raised.

George Robertson, C.N.R. Telegraph Operator at Belleville, formerly of Peterborough, with his bride, spent the Easter week-end in the city with his mother, Mrs. Mary Robertson of Lake street. Mr. Robertson was married on Good Friday to Miss Olive Mullin of Belleville, and they spent a brief honeymoon in Toronto and Peterborough.

Mrs. W. B. Morris and Mrs. G. A. Spicer, president of the local Home and School Council, both of whom are members of the executive committee of the Ontario Federation of Home and School Associations, left for Toronto to-day to attend the Easter-week convention of the Federation, and the executive committee meeting which was held this afternoon.

A large attendance is anticipated for the Warriors' Coronation Ball which will be a major event of to-night (Monday) at the hall of the Canadian Legion, with Percy Atkinson's orchestra playing and a program that included many novelty dancing numbers, with prizes, and special decorations appropriate to the occasion. Mrs. Black Lets Members In On Yukon Baked Bean Dish

Senators Iva Fallis and Cairine Wilson Contribute Favorite Easter Menus

By Margaret Bruce
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

OTTAWA, March 29.—(CP)—This Easter Monday brings from Canada's women parliamentarians and wives of foreign diplomats favorite menus and recipes to gladden hearts and comfort palates of epicures grown tired of Lenten restrictions.

Mrs. George Black, The Yukon's woman House of Commons member, contributes the menu of her famous pork and beans supper as well as the recipe for the main dish.

Mrs. Black serves a strong, clear soup, then the piece de resistance—the pork and beans—accompanied by Boston brown bread, boiled onions with creamed sauce, pickled peaches, water melon pickles and chile sauce. For dessert there is baked apple pie and coffee.

The Baked Beans

She soaks the beans overnight in a big earthen pot and in the morning parboils them in salted water. Then she drains off the water and adds a spoonful of baking soda. Add fresh boiling water and allow to simmer two or three hours," she says.

"Ten for a party of 12, add two-thirds of a cup of molasses, a teaspoonful of mustard, pepper and salt, and mix thoroughly with the beans. Put them into the bean pot. Add a little more water to moisten. Take a good sized piece of salt pork. Square it and put in the centre. Cover and add moisture from time to time until last half hour in the oven. Bake for about two or three hours with the top on in a slow oven, and for the last half-hour leave the cover off.

"Everything is deliberate when baking beans," says Mrs. Black, "for they must be thoroughly cooked to have the pork crisp and the beans a beautiful brown."

Woman Senators' Favorites

Senator Fallis:

"Mint flavored pineapple juice with green cherries. Baked Virginia ham, accompanied by small apples baked with raisin and spice filling, candied sweet potatoes, Brussel sprouts, fruity shredded cabbage salad with pimento, followed by a dessert of strawberry shortcake, coffee and mints."

Senator Wilson:

"Clear tomato soup with hot rolls followed by lobster in the half shell with rolled brown bread, pineapple water ice and sponge finers for the sweet, hot cheese biscuits and coffee."

Mrs. Hans U. Gramow, wife of the German vice-consul, offers a "typically German" dish for the Easter food parade. It is called "saure nieren" (sour kidneys).

"Cut veal, pork, or beef kidneys in thin slices and let them simmer in butter with a little onion and lemon peel. First you have prepared a brown sauce from butter, flour, beef broth, spices, half a cup of vinegar, peppercorns, vinegar or lemon juice, a little sugar and some hock. Let this sauce boil at least half an hour. Strain the sauce and pour it over the kidneys gradually. Stew them until tender; for veal and pork kidneys one hour, for beef kidneys one hour and a half. Noodles or macaroni go very well with saure nieren."

EVOLUTION THEORY STIRS MINISTER

Indiana Baptist Wishes Van Loon Were Back In Zoo

INDIANAPOLIS, March 29 (AP)—With a promise to "raise cain" at Brasil, Ind., Thursday night, the Rev. Verdi Allen, Beech Grove Baptist minister today prepared to carry his anti-evolution fight throughout the state.

The pastor declared, in a sermon at his church, he would not stop his campaign "until a law prohibiting the teaching of evolution is on the Indiana statute books." His attacks are directed at Hendrik Willem Van Loon's "the history of mankind," on the approved list for study by Indiana school children.

"I would to God that Mr. Van Loon would go back to the zoo and stay there," the Rev. Mr. Allen said. "If these highbrows want to believe in evolution, so far as I am concerned they can go live in the zoo with their cousins."

Floyd I. McMurray, head of the State Education Department, recently said evolution was being taught in Indiana schools "merely as a theory, not as a fact, but Allen declared "Van Loon's theories are leading little innocent boys and girls to believe evolution is a fact."

Just Between Us Women

A Daily Chat With Examiner Neighbors, Conducted by Roberta

THERE was a laughing devil in his sneer,
That raised emotions both of rage and fear;
And where his frown of hatred darkly fell,
Hope withering fled, and Mercy sighed farewell.
—Lord Byron.

Dear Friends:

Did you ever realize that you gave yourself completely away by the things you laugh at? But you do. If your laughter causes another to suffer, you are cruel for the love of it. In short, you are a sadist. (Look it up in the dictionary.)

My memory tells me of a man who used laughter as his biggest weapon against his wife, who tortured her with it, who laughed as she cried and who in the end killed her, but the law could not touch him, because to laugh is not against the law.

We pay men large sums to make us laugh, but it was never meant to hurt another. Yet how many will use it for just that thing. They see someone they know pass them on the street, or meet them at some entertainment, and because they are better liked or better dressed, they laugh so that the other will hear and be hurt by it, and it is the height of cruelty.

You know yourself how it can hurt when someone laughs when you pass and when you know that, you should never use it like that to hurt anyone. God knows life hurts us plenty, without our friends doing it. I would far rather someone would slap me, than laugh at me, for with the slap I could hit back, but with the other I am powerless, and so are you.

Of course, we should think where it comes from, and if they are illbred or vulgar or ignorant, we should put it out of our mind. Once I had a woman consult me and her chief trouble was that she took too much notice of other people's laughter because she had been badly hurt in her youth by it, and so had gotten a sort of phobia about it.

But whether we have a phobia or not, sneery laughter can play the dickens with our nerves, can get us down so that it is hard to get up again. Myself, I have got well over it and do not care whether anyone laughs at me or not, for I know my life better than anyone else, I know what I try to do, so why should I let the laughter of fools disturb me.

Come to think of it, I cannot remember when anyone did laugh or sneer at me, for it is awhile now, and my mind is so busy with many things that I take little notice what most people do.

Yet I love laughter bubbling out of a person. I love the gurgle of a baby, the smile of old people, the grin of a mischievious boy, for all of them warm the heart of me. I love the smile of understanding between friends, and I like to see the smile which goes between lovers.

There are so many nice things for us to laugh at, that you would wonder anyone would use something so nice to wound another. Boys and men standing at street corners think it clever to laugh at girls who will take no notice of them, but thank goodness the girls don't even hear them.

So, laugh all you can but let it be clean and nice, and don't forget that only human beings have the power to do it. Let us see what some of the poets say of laughter. Meiander says: "The fool will laugh though there be nought to laugh at."

And Sir Philip Sidney says: "Laughter almost never cometh from things most disproportionate to ourselves and nature." And Carlyle says: "How much lies in laughter: The cipher-key, wherewith we decipher the whole man."

But we give ourselves away by the things we laugh at. If we laugh at the deformed, or the ignorant, or the drunk, or the foolish, we show ourselves to the world as all out of proportion, for there are things so sad that mirth should be far away.

And now two little things to make us laugh before I stop. "Joe Homer always makes a hit with the bleachers." "Oh, is he a baseball fan?" "No he goes in for peroxide blondes."

"They say only a thin partition separates genius from insanity." And the other replied, "Well I always said that guy next door was goofy."

And so that you will not say the same about me I will say "au revoir."

Your Friend,
ROBERTA.

BURLESQUE STAR'S STORIES DIFFER

Paying the Price of Glory

A large number of Italian soldiers serving with the rebel forces in Spain met death. How many dead men there are is not officially stated. Mussolini appeared worried about the matter, but he was not present during the fight; truth is he was a long way off.

The reading of a number of reports indicates that the rebel leader Franco decided to use the Italian recruits as the spearhead of an offensive attack on strong government positions in the early morning of March 7. They broke under a surprise counter-attack and fled in disorder. It is recorded also that their flight was looked upon as being mutiny in the ranks and many of the Italian troops were shot in the back.

One correspondent tells of visiting a barracks where 300 of the Italians are prisoners in the hands of government forces. They stated they were glad to be in prison and were content to stay there; also said they did not want to fight in the first place and would be glad when it was all over so they could go home. With the exception of a few officers the prisoners were peasants or town laborers who had been forced into service in Spain.

It is not difficult to believe these men were telling the truth, and that the correspondent was recording the truth when he wrote these Italian recruits did not want to fight. The germ of a professional soldier does not enter the being of a peasant; he is essentially a man of the land; his tastes are apt to be simple and his wants would be few. Going away off to conquer some foreign land would be as foreign to him as the land itself. When he said he wished the trouble would be over so he could go home he undoubedly told the truth, for home, even a humble one, would be the ultimate of all desires to the peasant mind.

These humble people are victims of a mischievous and entirely bad leadership. Mussolini seeks glory, but he insists the price shall be paid by peasants and by town laborers who are happy when taken prisoners and who desire above all else to go home to their own folk. In between the lines of these various despatches one can easily read a tragedy which is being forcibly thrust upon the peace-loving peasants of Italy. The overblown ambition of a leader is being paid for by bullets in the backs of disheartened peasants who have no interest in foreign conquest and who longed for only one thing—to go home.

Taxes and Dynamite

Municipal financiers in Toronto are deep in thought. They have gone into a huddle regarding the fate of Casa Loma, the house which Sir Henry Pellat built at a cost of $1,700,000 and on the furnishing of which he spent another million. The amount of taxes owing the city amount to something like $90,000, and that is how the city of Toronto came into possession of Casa Loma. The city has owned it for five years and during that period of course has received no revenue for the place has not been occupied. Of course Casa Loma has no monopoly in that field as Toronto has about $12,000,000 in unpaid taxes, and the last report from the Department of Municipal Affairs gives its per capita rating in unpaid taxes as $18.36. That is not considered unduly high especially compared with a figure of $46.21 for the city of Windsor. Then Toronto has property to the value of $160,000,000 on which no taxes are collected as it is exempted from taxation, and no doubt the city has—like all other cities—its full share of vacant property which it has gathered in because taxes were not paid.

When Sir Henry Pellat built his Casa Loma he was thinking in terms of constructive action to the extent of something like $2,700,000, and reports from Toronto indicate that civic officials are now thinking in terms of dynamite. It is openly suggested that would be the quickest and possibly the only way to get rid of the castle—blow it up—be done with it as soon as possible. The city owns the place and the city would have to pay for tearing it down or blowing it up. There are men in Toronto with humble enough homes who have stumbled over the same barrier as Sir Henry Pellatt—taxes. Time was when people in Toronto almost wore their pointer fingers down to the first knuckle showing Casa Loma to their visiting friends. Truth seems to be the city of Toronto has lost a few thousands by way of unpaid taxes, but on the same account Sir Henry lost his millions of original investment.

It Is Not Enforced

Strange bits of information come from Ottawa. Take the case of expenditures during an election. The law requires that candidate, whether successful or not, shall make a statement of expenses, and of personal contributions received. The candidate is also required to have this published at his own expense. But the law says nothing about donations which may be made by companies to central campaign funds. Of such there is no record.

Returning officers are supposed to receive such statements from candidates within two months of the election, but a good many candidates never make any such returns.

The law also provides that a penalty shall be lodged against a member of parliament who takes his seat without having filled in and published his statement of expenses, but there is nothing to indicate there has ever been enforcement of the law.

Apparently it is the business of Ottawa to make the law and in this instance the business of no person in particular to see that it is enforced.

Equal Opportunity

Ontario Trustees and Ratepayers Association have an ambitious programme which they will discuss at their annual meeting in connection with the Ontario Educational Association. There are in all fourteen sections and the first one reads:

Equal educational opportunities should be given to every child in Ontario.

Without bothering with all the other points that one alone is sufficient for the moment. We suppose the average citizen would say yes to that suggestion. There is something which appeals to the democratic soul when the words "equal opportunities" are used.

But actually that is a large order. Take the case of one school, and that one school is probably not one bit different to any other. It is and was in a village. Every boy and girl in the village went to the public school, and there was nothing much to prevent them all having equal opportunity. When the schooling received there was completed it was noticed that a number of the boys started dropping out. They found something to do in the planing mill in the box factory or in a store, and they quit school because it was necessary for them to go to work. They came from homes where there was little money and a number of younger children to be cared for.

Across the track was the high school and the dropping out process was even more marked there. Perhaps a year or two would see a number of those who had started drop out. It was necessary for them to go to work. Their folks could not keep them at school any longer. The number of those who knew in advance they were going to finish high school and then proceed with higher education was small indeed.

Why? Simply on account of money. People did not take their children out of school because they wanted to but because they had to do it. It might be argued that equal educational opportunities were available there, but the chance to take advantage of the opportunities was not equal then and it is not equal today. Just how it is proposed to give every child in Ontario an equal opportunity is something we would like to have explained. It may be a painful fact and a blunt one, but opportunity in educational advantages is closely related to the financial ability of parents to make these opportunities available to their children.

The Boss Was Smart

There is not the same amount of flutter and dither about an Easter bonnet that there used to be. The milliner does not create the things as was once the case. Nor do we see pieces in the weekly papers about the millinery openings. The business seems to have been greatly simplified and much of the mysticism and long expectation has oozed from it. It may be because ladies buy more hats than was once the case, and on that account the Easter hat has not the same chance of being upstanding and outstanding and chic and charming because throughout the year it has so many competitors.

But they used to have millinery openings and the village store used to bring in a milliner from outside. As soon as she came people would know who she was and inside a day or so it would be known where she was boarding and all about her. She seemed to be assimilated in a hurry.

When it came time for the millinery opening to be written up for the weekly paper the boss used to get hot and flustered. The man who ran the store was the best advertiser and he expected the editor to do something for him on the millinery opening. There was no joy in the errand. The boss admitted he could throw what he called a trenchant pen if necessity arose; he could do well enough with a village council meeting or a fowl supper, and he was strong on personal items and almost famous as the writer of an obituary for a regular and paid-in-advance subscriber. But the millinery opening was different. It was a field into which he had made not even brief excursion. He'd put it off until the last day and every person knew when he was finally going out to take a crack at it because he'd slide across the street to the barber shop and have his whiskers trimmed. After that he went off the deep end.

But the boss had a way with the ladies; he had a technique for which one had to give him credit. He would always explain to the milliner that she knew so much more than he did about hats; that he marvelled at the skill she exhibited in always building and selecting just the right hat for all the variety of faces and figures (we think he mentioned figures) and therefore it would be greatly to the advantage of the store and would add to the prestige of the milliner if she would use her inimitable knowledge and prepare something for the newspaper. The boss would be pleased to return and pick up the copy. When he finally brought back the story he was more pleasant, and a great burden seemed to have fallen from him.

PINK SEDAN

(By A. E. K.)

¶ Speed limits will be changed they say, about the twenty-fourth of May, that makes me sad and sore; for cars will travel faster then, we'll have parades of racing men, at fifty miles an hour.

¶ If I was hurried on a call, and had no time to waste at all, then that might be all right; or if I was long miles from home, and driving steady all alone, I might get home that night.

¶ My pink sedan is old indeed, nor is it filled with power and speed, yet I can make it go; but when I start it up a hill, it comes well nigh to stopping still, and it moves very slow.

¶ When I go down a hill it's good, and moves along like how it should, and I feel gay indeed; but cars rush past me as I go, my pink sedan is getting slow, I fear it's gone to seed.

¶ Speed limits don't mean much to me, though once I drove at thirty-three, it rattled quite a lot, it sounded like an empty freight, and then I had to sit and wait, because the thing got hot.

¶ When they have speed of greater kind, I know I'll linger far behind, in my old pink sedan; I'll put in gas and put in oil, and let the wheels and gadgets toil—and do the best I can.

(Parliamentary Debates)

FIXING OUR NAVY

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): That is a mistake in the wording of the item.

Mr. BENNETT: It should be corrected. The item simply states that it is to provide for the maintenance of the ships.

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): This item is for the purchase of the two ships.

Mr. LAWSON: There is no mention of maintenance in the item.

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): It is to cover the purchase price, some refitting in England, and the cost of sending the Canadian crews to England.

Mr. HEAPS: What will be the total cost of these boats when they are completed?

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): The total cost will be $9,201,000 less the amount necessary for personnel expenses. The actual price is $1,560,000 each, which includes a certain amount for refitting.

Mr. HEAPS: What will be the total maintenance cost for these two boats?

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): Because of their larger size, there will be an additional maintenance cost of about $530,000 per annum for the two boats.

Mr. HEAPS: That is over and above what it cost to maintain the other two?

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): That is correct.

Mr. HEAPS: What will be the total cost of maintaining the two new boats?

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): The maintenance of each destroyer will run to about $272,175 per annum.

Mr. GREEN: One of the old destroyers, which I understand are to be broken up, was named the Vancouver. The suggestion has been made that some memento from that ship should be given to the city of Vancouver. Will the minister take this suggestion under consideration?

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): I shall be delighted to see that it is carried out.

Mr. BENNETT: I think the item should contain the proper discription before we vote the money. Put it in some sort of shape which adequately explains what it is for.

Mr. DUNNING: I move, Mr. Chairman, an amendment to the wording of the item, to read as follows:

To provide for the purchase and refitting of two destroyers for the Royal Canadian Navy.

GOING FISHING?

Mr. MACKENZIE KING: But the understanding does not have to do with the size of the mesh.

Mr. BENNETT: The reservation or understanding says that the international commission shall have no power to authorize any type of fishing gear.

Mr. MACKENZIE KING: "Type."

Mr. BENNETT: —"of fishing gear."

Mr. MACKENZIE KING: Yes.

Mr. BENNETT: And obviously the mesh in the net is the essential thing. It is of no use to talk about the size of a mesh lodged in a museum in Seattle or Vancouver. This contemplates the use of the mesh in a net, otherwise it does not provide for the escapement of anything. There is no getting away from that difficulty. If the commission is to settle the size of the mesh, obviously the mesh must be in a net and obviously the net must be utilized for catching fish. Therefore it contemplates that the fishing gear, and the type of gear, which is the mesh and the net, shall be of such a size as will permit the escapement of the salmon.

Mr. MACKENZIE KING: Would it not be possible to have different types of gear with mesh of the same size?

Mr. BENNETT: No; that is the whole point.

Mr. MACKENZIE KING: Why not?

Mr. BENNETT: The essential thing is that the catching of the fish depends on the size of the mesh.

Mr. MACKENZIE KING: Certainly.

Mr. BENNETT: About that there is no doubt. The question of the type of appliance that is used for the purpose of enabling that net to catch the fish is another thing altogether.

Mr. MACKENZIE KING: That is all that is dealt with.

Mr. MICHAUD: That applies to escapement, not to catching fish.

Mr. BENNETT: I think the minister is too experienced in catching fish not to see that, while this act provides for escapement, it obviously provides for retaining those that are larger in the mesh and lets the smaller go out of the mesh.

Mr. MICHAUD: The commission has nothing to do with any type of fish other than sockeye.

Mr. BENNETT: But it distinctly says they have the power to authorize the size of the mesh to provide for the escape of the smaller fish.

Mr. MICHAUD: Of sockeye.

Mr. MACKENZIE KING: They still have.

Mr. BENNETT: No, they have not. That is the point exactly.

Mr. MACKENZIE KING: I am afraid we cannot agree there.

Mr. TAYLOR (Nanaimo): May I ask the right hon. gentleman a question?

Mr. BENNETT: Certainly.

Mr. TAYLOR (Nanaimo): Does he regard the intent of the mesh to be that the smaller fish of any species should be allowed free?

Mr. BENNETT: Certainly. That is what is says in distinct terms.

A Bit of Nonsense

Couldn't See It

He was an amateur gardener, very. His friends on the 9.10 to town were doing their utmost to give him advice, and now they'd started on leg-pulling.

"Now," said one of his fellow travellers one morning, "you know the way to get the best out of your sweet peas don't you? Plant them half an hour before it rains."

The amateur missed the point completely, but as everybody else laughed he realised it must be a joke.

A few days later in the train he suddenly began laughing to himself.

"I see that joke about the sweet pea seeds now," he said. "They don't have anything very much to do with it."

SHE WANTS ADVICE

Editor Examiner:

Sir: Hoping that this does not take up too much room in your paper, I would like the people to know something they think they know of the way my children and I are being used. It is thought by the public that my children and I are better off than when my husband, Norman A. Robinson, was with us, but if they will read this letter they will see different. My children's life and mine are far from being happy, for how can a mother feel happy when she knows she cannot give her children the food they need because she cannot get it as she has to make $3 do her over from March 22 to April 1. That means that all I can let them have is one meal a day, that is what some might call a meal. All they get is 2 or 2½ slices of bread and then some days later on in the day it is some rolled oats or vegetables with some bread or stale cakes they get from some kind person, so how can we be better off? There is no use me looking for more money but if there is any one who can help me make these three dollars get more for my children to live on I will be willing to try it, but I feel there is no one that can feed four children and themselves on three dollars for ten days and not another cent coming into the home to help with. If there is any way I can make it go any further than I am please some one let me know. I would also like to say that I have not had the handling of my money since my husband died and that it has been a steady cut from six dollars a week until it is now a dollar and a half. These cuts have all been done here but not in Toronto. It has even been that after I had bought soap to do my washing I had to return it to get bread to feed my children.

DEFENDS MODERN MUSIC

Editor Examiner:

Sir: I have read some letters recently in your columns on the subject of music which were very interesting to me, may I add another?

I will own up at the beginning that I am unable to play any instrument neither do I pose as an authority. However, I am exceedingly interested in it and exceedingly fond of it, and there is one thing about modern music and the so-called classical music that I have never been able to fathom. I will take as an example two bodies of people, acquaintances of mine, one of these two lots of people are entirely devoid of music to the extent that they cannot sing a hymn in tune with other people or whistle a simple melody like God Save the King. One or two of them have taken piano lessons and can read music so that they can play what is written before them, but they cannot play by ear. Now the next lot are just the reverse, half of them at least have never studied music but they all can play beautifully on two or three different instruments.

These two groups represent friends of mine I know in four different cities in which I have lived during the past twenty-five or thirty years, namely New York, Cincinnati, Toronto and Peterborough. Now here is what interests me and that is that the former group of people call modern music "low brow," while the latter would not be paid to listen to anything else. I once questioned a man I know about this who is head of a large music store in the States, and he said something that appeals to me at least, to answer it from every angle and what he said was this: Anything in order to be considered great must be in contrast to something else, and in the days of Bach, Chopin and Mozart there was just one type of music and so it gradually came to be called classical and through generation after generation this idea became so firmly imbued in the minds of the people that the very idea of anything being greater was just ridiculous but the really musical people of today who prefer modern music are really the great majority, which is proved by the fact that so many of the large musical organizations of, let us say, the old type of music are practically bankrupt.

I am of the opinion that there is more truth than poetry in this. A person may be able to copy a story, and by practice write it down in good handwriting, but that does not mean that he is an authority on literature. But to interpret modern music a life time of practice would not suffice, it has to be born in one.

It seems to me that the reason some people look down their noses when speaking of modern music is because of three things, the nickname of jam which has been applied to it, because it can be danced to and lastly they simply lack enough music in their make up to appreciate the art of it.

PEACE OR WAR WHICH?

Editor Examiner:

Sir: In looking over and reading some letters to the editor and the various opinions expressed along religious lines it seems that all mankind have some brand of religion or other and all seem to think that their special brand is correct.

But after all religion and Christianity are two vastly different things. Religion might mean anything or nothing, while Christinity is a heistate or regeneration into the life and resurrection of Christ into which state all partakers of that nature are called expressly by one spirit.

Most religions do not imply an openly sinful life or a departure from professing Christianity, but they do teach a great liberty of settling down and adjusting ones self to worldly things and through the efforts of mankind the world shall be gradually won over until righteousness shall cover the earth as the waters cover the sea. It speaks of a peace when there is no peace. There is no peace mentioned in Holy writ in connection with the present dispensation excepting that individual peace which only is obtained through faith in a crucified and risen Lord.

Great writers have written volumes on the subjects, the magicians and soothsayers of today have shouted themselves hoarse and still the world goes on, the rich devouring the poor, the strong trampling down the weak. Our peace conferences have met and dispersed, well meaning souls have prayed and still that avenging sword of Genesis 3:24 has never been sheathed. Will we still look to man or will we look to God's word? He has offered the sacrifice and provided a door of escape, a free salvation. If Jesus was the Son of God and this is inserting the same if that satan used and if Jesus said, "think not that I have come to send peace on earth I came not to bring peace but a sword". Then there shall be no peace as long as the blood of that Righteous Abel crieth from the ground of this sin cursed earth our Lord points us to Daniel's prophecy where wars and desolations are determined. He points us to Sodom and to the days of Noah Rev. 17 will show what once was a great city has become a mighty system then we turn to Luke 24-25 and we say it pays to be fools and slow of heart and believe what Moses and the prophets have said. Our Lord is coming and all nations of the earth shall wail because of Him. Read Matt. 23-39.

The Story Of An Indian Village.

(From the Ottawa Journal.)

ON DECEMBER 18, 1912, The Ottawa Journal announced that Mr. Harlan I. Smith and his assistant, Mr. W. J. Wintemberg, of the Victoria Museum, had uncovered six Iroquois Indian villages near Prescott, had found 91 human skeletons, already had shipped to the museum 120 boxes of specimens and relics. Today there comes to this desk a Government publication wese in Mr. Wintemberg describes in detail the discoveries he made with Mr. Smith a quarter-century ago. Officially it is Bulletin No. 83 of the National Museum of Canada, the title being Roebuck Prehistoric Village Site, Grenville County, Ontario.

The field work of Messrs. Smith and Wintemberg covered parts of two years, 1912 and 1913, and largely was confined to a site near the village of Roebuck forty miles south of Ottawa. From this area they sent to the museum 167 boxes of specimens, including human skeletons from eighty-three graves, and these figures give us some idea of the importance of the St. Lawrence region in the Indian scheme of things.

The site of this Indian village now called Roebuck had been known since 1845, but serious excavations were not attempted until 1912. It was some eight acres in area, occupied the flat top of a sand hill in country then heavily wooded, was defended by palisades. While the age of the village cannot be fully definitely Mr. Wintemberg says the lack of any evidence of articles that might indicate contact with white men leads to the conclusion that it flourished and was deserted before the first white explorers reached this part of the country.

With much digging, much sifting of sand, there was uncovered a large collection of articles which have found a permanent place in the museum—such things as bits of pottery, Indian pipes, objects of superstition, instruments used in primitive games, and so on. The skeletons found with very few exceptions were those of women, children and old men, leading to the supposition that somewhere in the neighborhood is another cemetery where the Iroquois warriors found their last resting place.

UP TO THE HOME.

(Ottawa Journal)

DISCUSSION OF cigarette license fees in Ottawa city council brought from some of its members the statements that schoolboys sometimes smoke, that some dealers have been known to sell to youngsters single cigarettes at a cent each.

If such sales are being made they are against the law, and the police may be expected to make every effort to end the practice. But in a general way so widespread is the use and distribution of cigarettes that it is quite impossible to keep them out of the hands of juveniles.

It is quite clear that the police cannot prevent smoking by juveniles. That responsibility rests upon the home and the school—and primarily upon the home. Youngsters are not impressed by the argument that smoking is an immoral act; when they look about them and see that "everybody" smokes nowadays. But usually they can see the force of the argument that age makes a difference. Usually they can be persuaded, if their parents go about the business tactfully, that smoking is harmful to a growing boy—or girl—that it is unbecoming in a youngster and something that quite well can be left to maturity.

The schools can do something, the police a little bit, but home instruction and discipline are the safeguards in this matter as in many others.

BIG EARNERS.

(Louisville Courier-Journal)

EGGS and chickens bring an income of nearly $30,000,000 a year to Kentucky farmers and their wives. The value of the 1936 tobacco crop including all types, was only $34,841,000.

A bright statistician at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture has figured that, if placed end to end, the eggs produced in Kentucky each year would reach around the world, and the 11,000,000 hens on 234,000 farms would form a single row reaching from New York to Los Angeles.

Probably if the average person were asked what he thought brought more money to the farmers of the United States than any other single source of income he would answer corn, or wheat, or hogs, or cotton. The United States Government's figures, however, show that milk brings more cash than anything else. There are today more than 25,000,000 cows in the United States, producing an average of 46,500,000,000 quarts of milk a year.

SHORT SIGHTED.

(Victoria Colonist)

IT IS A pity that the Federal authority and the Provinces do not cooperate in the matter of preservation. The former is willing, but the Provinces that own their natural resources are jealous of any infringement of their rights, and are more anxious than anything else to derive revenue from the forests and to put no impediments in the way of exploitation. This means, of course, that they are not concerned about handing down the forest resources as a legacy to posterity. A short-sighted policy is being pursued. The denudations of the forests has proceeded to such an extent that reforestation appears to be the only certain remedy for the future. There will be an interval, however, when it is possible that even British Columbia will have little or no timber for export purposes, and a great source of wealth will be temporarily lost to this Province.

Supreme Court Reverses Previous Decisions Backing Washington State Measure

FIVE TO FOUR VOTE

Ruling Goes Back 14 Years—Affects New York, Arizona, Arkansas

WASHINGTON, March 29—(AP)—The U.S. Supreme Court reversed previous decision to-day and upheld constitutionality of the Washington State law establishing minimum wages for women.

The 5 to 4 decision was delivered by Chief Justice Hughes. Justice Sutherland delivered a dissenting opinion in which he was joined by Justices Van Devanter, McReynolds and Butler.

Hughes concluded his opinion by referring to a division 14 years ago holding unconstitutional a minimum wage act for women in the District of Columbia.

"Our conclusion," he said, "is that the case of Adkins vs. Children's Hospital should be and it is, overruled. The judgment of the Supreme Court of the State of Washington is affirmed."

The court also in the past has held unconstitutional similar laws for New York, Arizona and Arkansas. It upheld by an evenly divided vote a statute for Oregon.

The decision on the New York law last June 1 caused President Roosevelt to remark that a "No Man's Land" had been established by the court, in which neither the states nor federal government could function.

an assurance of provincial credit certificates; for:

A discount on prices to consumers at retail; Government services; interest fee on loans; debt payments; import subsidies; provincial consumers' dividends; such other purposes as the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council at the request of the commission may by Order-in-Council designate.

It would be the duty of the commission to establish a retail discount rate based on percentage which unused productive capacity bears to total productive capacity.

Such percentage production capacity would be ascertained by estimating the total capacity of the industries and people of Alberta for the production of wanted goods and services for the immediate preceding three-month period for which figures shall be available; to this shall be added an estimate of imports for the immediate preceding three-month period.

There would be no retail discount rate unless productive capacity exceeds consumption, in which event the discount would be fixed at the rate of 20 per cent.

There would be a system of voluntary contracts and regulations governing the retail and wholesale trade and penalties would be provided for the falsification of accounts and records.

U.S. COURT UPHOLDS RAIL LABOR ACT

Ousts Virginia Roads' Attack On Constitutionality Of Collective Bargaining

WASHINGTON, March 29 (AP)—The Virginian Railway Company lost today in the United States Supreme Court in its attack on constitutionality of the railway labor act which guarantees collective bargaining to railway workmen.

The unanimous decision was delivered by Justice Stone.

It affirmed a ruling by the fourth circuit court of appeals directing the railroad to negotiate in collective bargaining with a group of its employees on labor disputes.

The railroad also was enjoined from interfering with the workmen in selecting representatives for collective bargaining.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, March 29 (C.P.).—Wheat and some of the coarse grain futures established new seasonal highs on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day on strength of bullish weather reports from the United States Southwest and strength of corn futures both in Chicago and the Argentine.

At the final bell prices were 3¼ to 1⅝ cents higher with May at $1.47¼, July $1.43¾ to ⅞, and October $1.29¼ to ⅜.

Heavy investment buying with offerings noticeably light forced prices to new seven year highs in wheat futures, with May touching its highest at $1.46⅞, July $1.42⅝ and October $1.28⅝.

United States wheat prices climbed more than two cents. May corn gained 3½ cents on reports European countries were outbidding the Argentineans for Argentine corn. There is believed to be little corn available for Chicago delivery to fill May contracts.

Flax advanced the full five-cent limit for the third successive session, and new highs were posted in all positions.

Prices touched their high levels during the first hour on heavy buying and a scarcity of offerings proved little resistance to the upswing. But after May wheat touched $1.49⅞, its best prices since December 6, 1929, another splurge of profit-taking caused prices to react.

CHILD MARRIAGE SPLITS FAMILY

Older Sisters Take Girl 12 From 57-Year-Old Spouse—Ask Annulment

BRADENTON, Fla., March 29 (AP).—Older sisters, determined to free 12-year-old Martha Nell Revell from her 57-year-old husband, enlisted the aid of an attorney today.

Dewey A. Dye, the attorney, said he had been instructed to bring annulment proceedings.

Meanwhile, Martha Nell stayed with her sisters. Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lemuel E. North, asked County Judge Sam H. Murphy for a warrant charging the older sisters with kidnapping, but he declined, saying the child told him she would not go back to her husband and parents, "even if I have to run away."

Mr. and Mrs. North gave their consent for the marriage and witnessed the ceremony last Saturday. Judge Murphy said the bride told him her father forced her into the union with Chandler L. Revell.

When the marriage was disclosed early this week, Mrs. North said Revell and her daughter would live at the North home to permit the child to continue her studies in the sixth grade of the Manatee School.

ARMAMENTS NOT WAY TO ENSURE PEACE IN WORLD

Dr. Lorna Cotton-Thomas Tells Rotarians Will For Peace Necessary

OFFENCE AND DEFENCE

A plea that the will for peace which had developed from the family circle into the community and thence to the nation should be extended into the international sphere was voiced by Dr. Lorna Cotton-Thomas in a thought-provocative speech before the Peterborough Rotary club at its weekly luncheon today. Dr. Cotton-Thomas, who described herself as a "hard-headed pacifist," declared that only in that way and not by the building up of greater armaments could world peace be reached and she warned that a general war at this time would mean the destruction of civilization and an economic crash in which every nation would lose.

The baby member of the clubs, Dr. R. K. Magee, was introduced to the members by Rotarian Fred I. Roy, who referred to the fact that Dr. Magee had already contributed splendid service in the assistance he had given Rotary's crippled children's work.

President Graham announced that Rotarian Sid Black had been appointed a member of the club's boys' camp committee. He also informed the members that at a recent meeting of the Southend-on-Sea, Eng., Rotary club a resolution had been passed expressing hope for the continued success of the club.

Dr. Cotton-Thomas, introduced by Rotarian Dr. A. T. Barr, asked the question at the start of her address, "Is peace only a Utopian ideal or does it really exist to-day?" She declared that peace was in our midst now and it only remained to extend its reign from the national to the international sphere. In the early days the family had been the unit of peace and the families protected their members against those of other families. As time passed regard for law and order developed on the basis of the community and finally this developments spread to include the whole country. She reminded her hearers that this will for peace had not been God-given on a silver platter but that our ancestors had fought for it until to-day it existed on a national basis.

The World is Smaller.

The speaker declared that the time had now come to extend that will into the international field. Developments of science had made the world a place largely unknown sixty years ago, much smaller. A woman could spin her plane around the world at the equator. Events were heard about all over the globe as quickly as they happened and the perspective of the world now were inter-dependent upon each other to a greater extent than ever before, so that the conditions were ripe for the development of the will for peace on a world basis. Only by such a development, she argued, could peace be established.

"I am not worrying so much about the destruction of civilization by war," said Dr. Cotten-Thomas. "Civilizations have passed before. What I am concerned with is the destruction of culture that must follow."

Spain, she pointed out, offered a horrible example of the results of war, for there the last remaining traces of Moorish culture that had been left in Europe had been wiped out by the guns of the contending forces. If the workers were to win the conflict and build homes for the people, they would not make up for the loss of priceless art caused by the war.

The fact that neither side could hope to win a modern war and that the defeat of one nation meant the defeat of all was stressed by the speaker, who quoted a famous Scottish sociologist to the effect that offence and defence were internal and external aspects of the same thing.

Dr. Coston-Thomas stressed the individual responsibility in developing a will for peace. It would be by the opinion of individuals that this will would be built up brick by brick. As for men like Mussolini and Hitler, she contended that the will of the people of Italy and Germany could bring them to their knees, and there were signs in both countries that such a development was on its way. The delegating by Hitler of some of his powers and responsibilities to others was a very significant sign. In conclusion, the speaker again urged consideration for the responsibility of the individual in this matter of building up a desire for world peace.

Believed to have occurred in the North Pacific Ocean, 3,000 miles away, a severe earthquake was recorded recently on the seismograph at Rathfarnham Castle, Irish Free State.

TRAINING SEASON OF NEW REGIMENT BEGINS WEDNESDAY

provided for the men that will be made specially attractive, and it is understood that pay is being arranged for parades in so far as the finances of the regiment will permit.

One of the main events of the coming season will be the field day of tactical exercises on July 1 in competition with the Princess of Wales' Own Regiment, Kingston, and the Cameron Highlanders of Ottawa. Major James Turnbull has been given charge of this feature, and Major O. R. E. Melton will direct the canvas model competition which will be held in May. Other practical activities include a signalling course that is now getting under way and the training season for officers and non-commissioned officers.

Reconditioned Ranges.

The rifle ranges will be reconditioned in preparation for firing competition during the summer and autumn, and the first inspection of the regiment will take place at the end of June.

Responsibility for the success of the regiment is being placed upon company commanders. Accommodation at the Armouries is being altered for the special convenience of the Prince of Wales Rangers, and the recruits who sign up this week will enter an atmosphere in which their interests will be as closely associated as possible with every phase of the regiment's morale and efficiency. The ambition of the officers is to make the new Rangers a smart military unit, and to that end the co-operation of the men will be sought to the fullest extent.

The initial period of training is being entered upon with high hopes for extensive progress this spring, and the realization of the competitive feature with allied regiments in the Eastern district is bound to be a factor in eliciting from all ranks their keenest interest and abilities.

LAKEFIELD

EASTER SERVICE OF MISSION CIRCLE

Plans Made For Mother And Daughter Banquet In April

LAKEFIELD, March 29. — The regular April meeting of the Mission Circle of Lakefield United Church was held at the home of Mrs W. W. Leonard on Wednesday evening. The meeting took the form of an Easter service of worship for which the theme was the "Glorious Realization."

The president, Miss Mary Webster, presided and opened the meeting with an Easter hymn. A prayer in keeping with the occasion was led by Mary Webster, and readings, "Foreshadowings of Life Eternal," "Foretellings" and "Witnesses to the Resurrection" were read by the president, vice president and second vice president, respectively. After a prayer in unison, the group joined in a re-dedication to the Christian cause, and the president brought the worship service to a close.

Excerpts from the study book were taken as follows: "Chinese Mother and Beautiful Jade" by Zelma Darling; "Where Fear is King" by Myrtle Armstrong; "Industrial Centre in Peking," Daisy Mullen; "Women in Industry," Mary Tanner; "Remainder of Chapter," Pearl Mullen.

Plans were made for a "Mother and Daughter" banquet to be held early in April; a committee composed of Mesdames W. J. Charlton, D. F. Kelly, W. W. Leonard and H. P. Barrett and Misses Mary Webster, Madeline Charlton and Zelma Darling was appointed to be in charge of arrangements.

Misses Madeline Charlton and Helen Burgess were appointed members of the program committee for the next meeting. Ushers were appointed against with the missionary thankoffering meeting which the W.M.S. are holding on Sunday evening, March 28 in the church. An Easter hymn brought the meeting to a close.

Mary Webster thanked Mrs. Leonard for extending her home to the girls for the evening. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess at the conclusion of the meeting.

Mission Band Meets

The Mission Band of Lakefield United Church held their annual Easter thankoffering meeting and concert on Wednesday evening, March 24 in the Sunday School room.

Jimmy Webster, president of the Band who presided over the concert very capably brought the meeting to order with a short address of welcome.

A hymn, "Brighten the Corner Where You Are" was followed by a prayer led by Gladys Allan. A playlet, "How Some Dollies came to go as Missionaries," was presented by Marjorie Hull, Joan Kelly, Lillian Calberry and Mabel Hopkins and showed how the sacrifice of some small children at home in sending their dolls to a foreign country helped to win many little heathen hearts to Christianity.

Mary Allison sang a missionary song and the thankoffering was received by four boys, Dave Spence, Jack Millage, Jamie Hull and Gregory Knox. Jean Tanner led the offertory prayer. "I Stood on the Shores of Galilee" was sung by Donald Milburn.

An Easter exercise was then presented, in which Harry Spence, as the Master of Spring, called up the spring flowers who appeared in the persons of Evelyn Allan and Grace Millage as lilies, Doreen Kelly and Joan Spence as daffodils and Lillian Calberry and Betty Bullock as tulips, all of whom united to form a spring garden and sang "O Lovely Spring" as a conclusion to the exercise.

Missionary slides in conjunction with the study book were then presented. "Around the World with the Mission Band." Miss Rose Kidd gave a splendid description of the pictures which took the audience to the different missionary centres to see the children that the Mission Band is studying about this year, and which they are helping in their work. The outline made the pictures very real, and the following recitations given at intervals during the slides, served as an introduction to the different nations: Donald Harrison recited "My Friends of the Whole World."

Slides Introduced

Frieda Webster introduced the slides on China with "To Friends in China." Mabel Heapiza read a tribute to the Japanese and Max Freuitzer recited "To the Jolly Friend," as a prelude to the pictures of Galilee.

Mrs. Bullock moved a vote of thanks to those present for their support of the Mission Band and expressed appreciation of the co-operation given by the children. Mrs. G. Kelly seconded this motion.

Candy was sold during the concert, and the proceeds from the thankoffering and the sale of candy combined amounted to almost $12. The children all took their parts well.

ARTIFICIAL FEVER IS USED TO TREAT OVER 25 DISEASES

RADIO NOW USED

NEW YORK, March 29 (AP).—A great spread in new uses of artificial fever, to treat more than 25 diseases, was reported to the first international conference on fever therapy which began today.

Artificial fever is the raising of all or any part of the body's temperature. As hot water and hot sand baths, it is the oldest remedy known to man.

But today's conference dealt with mysteries mostly of the last two years, puzzles discovered in using fevers made by two new devices, radio waves and hot air rooms of 160 degrees Fahrenheit.

Fevers running temperatures up about 105 degrees, it was explained by Professor Pierre Brasil, of the University of Paris, kill quite a variety of dangerous bacteria just below the point where the heat becomes dangerous to human life.

But medical men also have seen, he said, cures with scarcely any raising of temperatures. Two things, he explained, seem to be involved: Shock, which sometimes helps to cure instead of to kill, and the cleansing effect of fever.

There are two completely distinct methods of inducing artificial fever, he went on.

One is vaccination, with proteins like milk or beer yeast, even with common table salt and inoculation with malarial fever. The other is heating the body by radio waves, hot air, electricity or water.

Shocks and No Shock.

Shocks, Professor Abrami said, accompany the first type of treatment. The second method produces no "shock" in the medical sense.

"It is a remarkable fact," Dr. Abrami said, "that two methods so different in nature can give similar therapeutic results."

The disease in which cures or partial relief have been reported with use of artificial fever, hearty aways used as an aid to some other treatment, include rheumatic fever, some forms of arthritis, St. Vitus dance, multiple sclerosis which is hardening of certain brain and spinal cord tissues, and several skin diseases.

Also shaking palsey, sciatica, inflammation of the inner coating of arteries, varicose ulcers but not varicose veins, Raynauds disease, a form of hand or leg paralysis, angina pectoris, and high blood pressure.

Several eye troubles have been relieved along with shingles, endocarditis, an inflammation of heart linings, neuritis in some forms, asthma, puerpura or skin hemorrhages, adenitis, a form of gland inflammation, bone inflammations, diphtheria and bronchopneumonia.

No Penalty As Yet Enlisting Abroad

OTTAWA March 29 (CP)—Until the new foreign enlistment act becomes law Canadians seeking to enlist with Spanish combatants apparently are not liable to prosecution, government officials said today.

This comment was offered on cabled reports there were five Canadians among 25 men arrested by French police near the Spanish border on charges they were trying to join Spanish government forces.

The foreign enlistment act, which provides penalties for Canadians who volunteer with foreign combatants has been approved by the House of Commons, but still has to pass the Senate before it becomes law. Justice Minister Lapointe told the House a few days ago the measure is not retroactive.

SCARED BY A MOUSE

A Miss, who happens to be a school teacher in a neighboring municipality, has a unique incident to tell. The other Sunday evening while sitting in her home reading a book she was surprised to hear a bass note on the piano in the next room being played intermittently and then all at once there was a glissando and then one of the high notes began to sound. The young lady all at once was in a cold sweat. At last she got up sufficient courage enough to tip-toe to the door of the room and the music immediately stopped. When her father returned she told him and the next morning the trap yielded up a mouse.—C.

Born In Smith Ninety Years Ago Mrs. McDowell Is Still Active

One Of Selwyn's Oldest Residents Is Honored On Her Birthday

PRESENTATION MADE

SELWYN, March 29.—On Friday afternoon a number of the ladies of the community called on one of Selwyn's oldest and most beloved residents, Mrs. McDowell, who was that day celebrating her ninetieth birthday.

She, Mrs. Abbigal Pearson McDowell, was born on a farm on the centre line of Smith, the farm now occupied by Reg. McConkey. She was one of a family of twelve, six girls and six boys, all of which have pre-deceased her, except two brothers, Robert Pearson aged 85, who resides with her, and Joseph Pearson, aged 87, who resides in Michigan. Her mother, Mary Fitzgerald, was born in Tipperary County, Ireland and came to this country when a girl twelve years of age. She was married at the age of fifteen to Wm. Pearson who was born in New York, U.S.A.

Married in U. S.

Mrs. McDowell, before her marriage was residing in United States, where she met and married her husband, Wm. S. McDowell, who predeceased her nineteen years ago.

She resided in the States for thirty-five years before coming to Selwyn twelve years ago on the first of April, where she has lived ever since.

She is a person of a very sweet and charming personality and she is also very active for her years. She does all her own house work, but she is getting unable to do very much reading owing to a cataract on one eye, which also affects the other eye. However, she is able to converse about the modern topics of interest such as the coming Coronation of King George VI and the recent abdication of the Duke of Windsor.

When the ladies called on her on the afternoon of her birthday, she greeted them in her own sweet way.

Presenation Made

As a token of their love she was presented by Mrs. Albert Hughes with a beautiful wool cardigan sweater-coat, accompanied by an address, read by Mrs. Carmen Whitmore.

Mrs. McDowell's only words after she opened her gift were "God bless you all." A few of the Selwyn boys also sent along a smoking set for her brother, Mr. Pearson, who celebrated his eighty-fifth birthday in February. Mrs. McDowell also received a luscious basket of fruit and a jar of her favorite preserve from some of her friends.

The ladies then prepared delightful refreshments of sandwiches, cookies and tea, and to top it off, a lovely two-storey birthday cake, with lighted candles baked by Mrs. Wilfred Nichols, niece of the honored guest. After lunch a social hour was spent in listening to more of Mrs. McDowell's tales of bygone days. One thing she has in her possession, and which she prizes very much, is a chest brought from Ireland by her mother when she came to this country. In her most modern manner she told how if she were a young girl of today she would have this lovely old chest in her bedroom and use it for a hope-chest. Another thing of which she is very proud is that her father fought in the War of 1812.

Mrs. McDowell was planning on making her Easter Communion at St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church Young's Point, of which she is a devout member.

Personals

Miss Gladys McIlmoyle of Toronto spent the past week at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis McIlmoyle.

Mrs. Gilbert McIlmoyle spent the past week visiting with her daughters, Mrs. L. Forsythe and Mrs. H. Bell in Omemee.

On Wednesday afternoon last a number of ladies of the Women's Association met at the home of Mrs. Bruce Fitzgerald when they quilted the autograph quilt made by the members some time ago. A very delightful afternoon was spent and delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Fitzgerald and Mr. Gilbert McIlmoyle spent Wednesday afternoon and evening with relatives and friends in Omemee.

The many friends of Mr. Aaron Davis will be pleased to learn that he has returned to his home from the hospital and is progressing favourably.

Gilbert McIlmoyle spent a few days last week in Kemptville, Ont., where they attended the annual convention of the Cheese Factory Patrons Association.

Taken Out In Dinner Pails Mine Thefts Believed To Total Million

DEADWOOD, S.D., March 29 (A.P.).—Raw gold, taken out in dinner pails from the world's richest gold mine—the Homestake at Lead, S.D.—was searched to-day by authorities to be hidden in fish bowls and other receptacles of many tiny Black Hills homes.

Secret Service investigation has resulted in the arrest of five men in connection with thefts some estimated have passed as high as $1,000,000.

State's Attorney Alex Rentto said "more arrests" would be made for "high-grading"—stealing rich ores—from the mine. Police said they learned some of the company's 2,000 employees recently borrowed money on stakes of high grade ore. This ore, they charged, had been taken from the lower levels of the mine—nearly 5,000 feet underground.

The fire aroused were announced last week at Denver by Rowland H. Goddard, head of the District Secret Service.

A fugitive warrant is out for Parks Du Pont, described by Goddard as "the brains of a conspiracy to dispose of the stolen gold." He was identified as a former member of the French Foreign Legion.

Stalin's speech, coupled with an editorial in the newspaper Pravda warning against servility and flattery within the party, was interpreted in some circles as his manner of serving notice he wanted less applause and more understanding for what he is trying to accomplish.

This coincided with reiterated party demands in recent weeks for more self-criticism as a means for winning national support in advance of the forthcoming elections when the secret ballot will be tried out.

PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, CANADA, MONDAY, MARCH 29, 1937

Canadian Students Are Serious

Canadian students have become less complacent during recent years, Dr. A. J. Brace, Canadian worker in China, said in his address to the Open Forum here Sunday. This was one of the significant changes in the national attitude which struck him on his return to Canada from his service in the Far East.

No Colourful Easter Parade

The colour of other years was lacking in Peterborough's Easter parade Sunday. A few of the gentler sex essayed gay Spring hats and even a few sported gay Easter cloak and suit ensembles but the more sombre winter garbs predominated. Peterborough merchants, however, report they did one of the best Easter trades in years.

RUSSIA IS READY TO CRUSH JAPAN ON SHORT NOTICE

Dr. A. J. Brace Discusses "Hot Spots In Far East" With Open Forum

CHINA MAKING PROGRESS

Russia has proved itself ready and able to crush Japan on short notice, Dr. A. J. Brace, noted author, soldier and explorer and teacher in the Hsu-Chwan University in China, declared in an address to the Open Forum at George Street United Church Sunday afternoon. His subject was "Hot Spots in the Far East."

Russia has been acutely conscious of the Japanese ambitions for conquest, and has taken important steps in preparation for the day when the attack comes, he said. Their one great strategic weakness in the Far East, the lack of adequate communication, has been remedied partially by doubletracking of the Trans-Siberian railway and the construction of many spur lines, he explained. He reported the Russians have concentrated a huge permanent air and ground force in the Far East ready to meet any emergency.

Dr. Brace explained that the long series of border incidents between Russia and Japan during the past several years have been instigated by the Japanese to test Russian strength. In each incident, the Japanese had come out second best when the Russians proved their superiority in the air. Russians have also proved their superiority as air fighters over the Japanese, Italians and Germans in the Spanish civil war.

Veteran Of Boer War.

The speaker, a veteran of the Boer War and the Great War in which he commanded a Chinese labor battalion, dealt with the struggle of present-day China to unite itself and organize against further aggression from Japan and the outside world. The administration is combatting five major problems—Japanese aggression in the north, Communism, poverty, opium and graft—he said. That great progress is being made is demonstrated by the fact 108,000 miles of good roads have been built to unify the great country during the past two or three years, air lines have been instituted between the more important cities, widespread use of the radio for educational purposes had been instituted, the banking system has been centralized, and the national language has been reformed from one of 40,000 characters to 1,000 characters, he stated.

Greater progress has been made in China in the past four years than in the previous 30 years, Dr. Brace declared. Due to the organization of a crack army of 250,000 men and an air force which includes 1,000 pilots, Japan has greatly modified its high-handed attitude toward China, he related.

THE Royal Road TO THE CORONATION

The King-to-be with his sister, now the Princess Royal, and his brother Edward (RIGHT)

THOUGH the Boer War raged to disrupt the peace of empire and the great queen died to a nation's mourning, early years for the young Prince Albert and his brother and sister were comparatively uneventful. Too young to feel the tragedy of strife or of grief, the royal children were growing up as hundreds of thousands of sturdy British children do. Their father and mother, realising the responsibilities that would some day rest upon them, planned their lives so that early tutoring would instil in the youngsters an appreciation of their duties.

But there was gayety and laughter in the royal household. There were happy weeks at Sandringham when the court of King Edward VII was there, and weeks in London and at Balmoral, in Scotland, where Prince Albert would one day find his bride. King Edward and Queen Alexandra were indulgent grandparents to the royal youngsters and gladly supervised their welfare and their happiness while the father and mother were absent on many a royal task.

Plentiful are the stories still told in the royal family of practical jokes and escapades played in those carefree years and if King George VI is a kindly and indulgent father today, perhaps to his own happy boyhood must the credit be given.

Sports became a popular part of the schedule. Prince Albert learned golf and tennis and is still the best player at both these games in the royal family. Squash racquets and football, and the national game, cricket, also earned his interest before 1900 saw the breakup of the family group and his own start in Osborne naval training school.

TABLET UNVEILED AT PARK STREET TO GERALD PANTER

Boy Drowned Almost One Year Ago—Body Never Recovered

BAPTISMAL SERVICE

One of the features of the Easter Day services at Park Street Baptist Church was the dedication and unveiling on Sunday afternoon of a brass tablet erected to the memory of Gerald Franklin Panter, who lost his life by drowning almost a year ago. The boy's body was never recovered.

Dedicated by the Rev. O. K. Tyler, the memorial tablet was unveiled by George Panter, father of the little victim of the tragedy. Mrs. Panter was also present at the service.

The service was attended by over 300 members of the Sunday School, who assembled in the church under the direction of Assistant Superintendent Maurice Dunkley. The dead boy was a former member of the Sunday School.

Following the memorial service, the Rev. Mr. Tyler, who is shortly leaving Park Street Church, officiated at a baptismal service. Included among the seven young people from the Sunday School who were baptised were Lura and Broadus Tyler, the children of the Rev. Mr. Tyler and Mrs. Tyler. Others who were baptised included: Rita Masdin, Doreen Smith, Marguerite Dunkley, Bruce Campbell and Fern Bartley.

The day started with a Sunrise Communion service at seven o'clock, under auspices of the Young People, and was followed by other services at eleven o'clock, three o'clock and seven o'clock, at which the story of the Resurrection was told in Scripture lessons and in sermons. Special Easter music was a feature of all the services, the choir being under the direction of Stanley Northrop, organist and choir leader.

Dr. A. J. Brace Present.

At the evening service the Rev. Dr. Alfred J. Brace, son of the late Rev. A. H. Brace, one of the first pastors of Park Street Church over thirty years ago, was present. Known to several older members of the congregation, Dr. Brace spoke briefly of some of his experiences as a missionary in China, where he has labored for a quarter century.

On Friday of this week Mr. and Mrs. Tyler are to be the guests of the congregation at a big social gathering, while on Sunday Mr. Tyler will preach at farewell services prior to leaving for Woodstock as pastor of the First Baptist Church there. His successor has not yet been named.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, March 30

According to the lunar aspects, this should be a generally satisfactory and prosperous day. There are likely to be profitable transactions in connection with rings, mergers, secret organizations or through secret, strategic or tacit understandings, rather than by direct methods. However, chance and speculation are under favorable rule, and there may be much gained through personal popularity or friendships.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a rather successful and prosperous year, with those matters flourishing that are connected with combines, secret bodies, or unusual characters, or by diplomacy, tact or subtle understandings. Speculative enterprises thrive and much of a profitable nature is to be gained through friendship, personal popularity and contacts with influential personages. Social engagements may prove interesting.

A child born on this day may be enterprising, ambitious and generally capable, although in a shrewd or clever way. It may have artistic as well as mystical tendencies, and will enjoy personal popularity and probably power.

CITY COUNCIL IS LIKELY TO TAKE ACTION ON HOURS

Temperance Workers Believe Board Taken Step In Right Direction

REGULATION NEEDED

While he was unable to forecast how far the City Council would go under the new regulations of the Liquor Control Board becoming effective on April 1, giving municipalities the right by by-law to declare whether or not beverage rooms shall close before twelve o'clock midnight, Mayor George Macdonald stated: "There is no doubt the Council will take some action."

Personally Mayor Macdonald thought the regulation permitting municipalities to control the hours of closing and the regulation that will require hotels to provide two separate beverage rooms, was "a step in the right direction."

"I have always thought that twelve o'clock midnight was too late an hour for any beverage room to keep open," he said.

"It is a very little step, but it is a step in the right direction," declared Mrs. A. J. Throop when asked by The Examiner to offer some comment bearing on the new regulations.

Much Needed Regulation.

Mrs. Throop, who is superintendent of the Travellers' Aid of the Provincial Women's Christian Temperance Union and county president for Peterborough and Northumberland, believed that the regulation requiring hotels with authorities to operate two distinct beverage rooms was a much needed regulation.

Remarking on the regulation that will give each municipality the right to declare by by-law whether the beverage rooms in their midst shall close before 12 o'clock midnight, the hour prescribed by Provincial regulations, Mrs. Throop said she hoped the City Council here would do something at once to bring about the earlier closing of beverage rooms in Peterborough.

Mrs. G. K. Tyler, president of the local branch of the W.C.T.U., who first learned of the new regulations through The Examiner, stated that while she had not had time to consider them fully, "I think separate beverage rooms for men and women would be a big improvement over the condition as it exists at the present time."

She believed also that the regulation which proposes to give each municipality the right to set its own closing hours to meet individual local needs was "an eminently fair measure."

CHINA ADVANCES A HUNDRED YEARS DURING LAST FIVE

Miss Marion Coon Tells Lakefield W.M.S. Of Progress Made

MANY CHANGES NOTED

LAKEFIELD, March 29.—"China has made a hundred years' progress in the past five years," Miss Marian Coon of Peterborough, missionary from South China, told members of the Women's Missionary Society of Lakefield United church and their friends at the Easter Thank offering meeting of the W.M.S. held in the United church, Lakefield, on Sunday evening.

"It has been most interesting to watch the progress made by these people in the past five years," Miss Coon continued, for though they were formerly considered to be a very backward nation, they are now rapidly acquiring modern customs."

"Back in 1926, when the question of motor transportation in China was suggested, people laughed and said, 'China, with its narrow and uneven streets, with steps at frequent intervals, will be one place where automobiles will never come.' But they were wrong, for during the past 5 years buildings have been torn down, streets widened and steps removed so that travel by automobile is made possible.

Transportation Changes.

Miss Coon gave an interesting picture of the progress China has made in transportation, when she described three trips she made from Chung-king, the city where she was stationed, to Cheng-tu, where the missionary headquarters for Western China are located, a distance of about 300 miles. The first trip made in 1930, was in a sedan chair carried by two natives, and took from ten to twelve days, the natives rising at 5 p.m. and travelling until dark to make the journey in that time. The second trip was made by automobile in 1933. The roads were rough and the journey most uncomfortable, so that the trip took somewhat longer than the one and a half days they had counted on.

"In 1935, Miss Coon made the trip by airplane in an hour and a half. Airplanes have become quite common in China, more so than in Canada," she said, "probably because it is less expensive to buy a plane and operate it than to build roads for automobile traffic.

Miss Coon drew an interesting comparison between the civil wars of 1924 and 1934. In the first war, shells did little damage because they were of ancient vintage and consequently ineffective, but in the revolution of 1934 the latest and most up-to-date ammunition was used so that great damage was done not to armies and property.

A few years ago there were only three men in Chungking who would appear on the street with their wives. Now the men have become educated to respect women and to give them greater freedom, and the younger men accompany their wives to the movies, etc., just as Canadians do.

A Christian War Lord

Formerly China was governed by war lords who were originally bandits. The country is still governed by a war lord, Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek, but he is a Christian and rules wisely, taking an interest in the welfare of his people.

There is a new attitude toward Christianity in China. The fact that the new era in China is bringing with it new problems—poverty, caused by machines taking the place of workmen and the threat of war from nations such as Japan, as well as famines, the government is seeking to cope with these problems and to settle them satisfactorily. They are receiving help from the Christians and from Christian missionaries, so that a new attitude toward Christianity is springing up. The fact that Chiang Kai Shek is a Christian is not the cause of this new attitude toward Christianity, but the effect of it. The Chinese cannot fail to see what the Christians are doing to break down superstition and fear and build up more wholesome conditions in Chinese society.

Women Need Freedom.

Women are gaining a new freedom and have now the right to attend school if they wish, and to choose their own husbands. This freedom for women is creating new wives and consequently new homes and new husbands. Chinese young people are becoming educated, and are full of schemes to reduce illiteracy, build homes and improve conditions generally in their country and in the towns in which they live. Many are blindly seeking for a cause to serve. It is a challenge to all Christians to enrol them in the Christian brotherhood of man," Miss Coon concluded.

BRINTON STRIKERS ARE BACK AT WORK

Quite Satisfied With The Increase Of Ten Per Cent. In Wages

With the exception of three city garbage collectors who claim they are on a walk-out the employ of Herbert Withers, garbage disposal contractor, all was quiet on the Peterborough strike front today. All employees of the Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Company went back to their looms this morning content with the assurance of 10 percent pay increase.

Only 56 of the Brinton Carpet Company's total staff of 240 went out on strike but production of the plant was brought almost to a halt last week. Workers reported today they are quite satisfied with the compromise increase of 10 percent for the present and had words of commendation for what they termed the amicable spirit of the management in dealing with them at their general meeting Thursday evening.

Rumors of labour troubles brewing in other plants about the city have been circulating but no authoritative report was at hand today.

The status of the garbage strike is uncertain. The three men claim to be out on strike for 40 cents an hour rather than $1 a day and board which they claim they were paid but their employer, Herbert Withers, claims the men were discharged and are unneeded in his garbage collection system.

90 Per Cent Of The C.G.E. Employees Will Subscribe To Insurance Plan

Of the Canadian General Electric Company employees who are eligible for the proposed group insurance, 90 per cent. have signified their desire to subscribe. A condition to the adoption of this plan requires at lease 75 per cent of all the eligible employees in the company's various plants to express a wish to accept the plan.

At the local works today it was reported that the Peterborough response was regarded as highly favorable, but that definite news was lacking from several Toronto plants. However, it is believed the company's offer to its employees will be largely accepted. The time limit set by the company for replies from the plants was April 1.

SHORT COURSE FOR AIR-MINDED

Opportunity Is Being Given Young Men Of Peterborough And District

An opportunity for young men of Peterborough to gain a groundwork in the technical aspect of aviation is to be afforded here during the next few weeks by J. D. M. Gray, distinguished British pilot and aeronautical engineer, according to present plans. A meeting of all interested will be held at the Chamber of Commerce to-morrow (Tuesday) evening at 8 o'clock.

The proposed course will consist of a series of ten lectures if the response to-morrow evening is sufficient to justify it. Mr. Gray, who was an acting flight commander in the Royal Flying Corps during the Great War, announced. The lectures will be designed to prepare unskilled, semi-skilled and skilled men in the theory of flight, function of controls of aircraft, the fundamentals of aircraft engines, rigging of aircraft, the fundamentals of the fitter's job, the instrument man's job and the electrician's job and the various problems connected with flying. Training for employment requirements in the various aviation industries now opening up in Canada is the object of the course.

A nominal fee of 50 cents a lecture will be charged.

Route Survey

Mr. Gray is a graduate of Glasgow University. After serving at engineering posts in England, he enlisted with the Royal Flying Corps and was wounded in 1915. In 1916 he was called upon to organize the engine department of the Canadian Curtis Aeroplane and Motor Company and in 1917 rejoined the R.F.C. to train Canadian pilots in Texas and again serve overseas.

Included among many activities in an interesting career in the years since the war was his survey of the northern air route from England to Canada which will be followed in flights this year. He has flown as one of the famed "hell-diving" aircraft testers and served as one of the private pilots of the late King of the Belgians. He was one of the first pilots on the United States' original air mail run from New York to Erie, Pennsylvania.

Mother "Careless" In Death Of Son

Windsor, March 29—(CP) MRS. Flory Chuban was accused of "gross carelessness" by F. S. D. Harding, Toronto, inspector of the Ontario fire marshal's department, at an investigation today in connection with the death of her three year old son, Peter and serious burns to her four-year-old son, Billie. Mrs. Chuban sobbed at the accusation.

The two children were alone at the time, Mrs. Chuban explained she had gone to a nearby cafe to inquire for work. The husband works at an automobile plant. Mrs. Chuban denied she was in a beverage room at the time of the fire, despite repeated questioning.

Inspector Harding charged it was carelessness on the part of the mother "in leaving these two minor children alone even for 15 minutes."

CHIMNEY FIRES

March winds brought an epidemic of chimney blazes and two minor fires over the week-end. Fire of unknown origin damaged one end of the Marks greenhouse at 469 Parnell Street. Firemen laid one water line and a chemical line before checking the blaze. Damage to the building and contents was estimated at $75. Sparks from a chimney set afire the roof of a home owned by Jack Hays at 713 Park Street on Sunday noon. Damage was limited to $15.

Not Heard From Husband Since Capture By Rebels In Madrid

WINDSOR, Ont., March 29. —(CP)— Mrs. Bert Levy, Windsor, whose husband was taken prisoner by rebel troops at Madrid five weeks ago Saturday, has written to Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Foreign Minister Anthony Eden for assistance, she said to-day in revealing she has not heard from Levy since his reported capture.

"His first thought would be to send his family a line, even if he were ill," Mrs. Levy said. "We haven't heard from him nor have his relatives in the United States."

Since going to Spain from England New Year's Day, Levy has written two letters to his wife. The last letter arrived the same day as a news despatch arrived from Spain telling of his capture.

Mrs. Levy's letter to Prime Minister King and Foreign Minister Eden record that her husband fought for the British army in the Great War, that his health has been poor since he suffered from gas poisoning and asks steps be taken to contact him.

It states in part:

"The memorial was completed in 1929, and on June 30 of that year was unveiled by the late General Sir Arthur W. Currie, beloved commander of the Canadian Corps. Ven. Archdeacon Scott, former senior chaplain of the 1st Canadian Division, pronounced the invocation for dedication.

"Erected by the Citizens' War Memorial Committee and financed by public subscription, the memorial bears the names of more than 650 men from the City and County of Peterborough who gave their lives during the Great War.

War Contribution.

The names inscribed on the Memorial are indicative of the great contribution of the City and County to Canada's effort in the war. War veterans comprise a considerable section of the present-day citizens, and have shown themselves equally capable of carrying on in peace as they did in war.

Typical of the place they occupy in the community life are the members in the employ of The Quaker Oats Company, one of Peterborough's largest industries. Incidentally, this company awards a decoration for those in their service continuously for 25 years or more, and time overseas was counted with those who returned promptly to the company's employ. The list is as follows (Citations those with 25 years' service with the company):

Albert A. Glass, John Beggs, *Alfred Armstrong, James Forbes, Roy F. Rae, Harry E. Bedge, *William Lessington, Thomas Williams, Frank W. Elmour, Harry V. City Churches Are Thronged With Worshippers On Sunday

Sunrise Communion Services Brought Out Large Congregations

PAGEANTS RENDERED

Despite grey skies and a cutting wind, churches of all creeds and denominations were thronged with worshippers on Easter Sunday, and Sunrise Communion services brought out particularly large congregations.

Regular choirs in a number of the city's churches were augmented for the occasion, and the glad story of the Resurrection was again told in the congregational singing of hymns, in the Scripture lessons, and in sermons preached from the pulpit.

Holy Communion was celebrated at several churches throughout the day in the Anglican churches, while Roman Catholic churches observed Holy Communion at the celebration of every Mass.

The Rev. W. P. Robertson preached at the morning service at St. John's and also at a Sunday School rally in the afternoon, while the Rev. R. T. P. Brain was the preacher at Evensong.

At All Saints' Church the Rev. J. Douglas Paterson officiated at all services preaching sermons at morning and evening services.

At Murray Street

The ordinance of believer's baptism was administered to nine young people at the morning service at Murray Street Baptist Church by the Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe in the presence of a large congregation. Mrs. Helen Barrie Willis, possessor of a nice-controlled lyric voice was the guest soloist.

At Park Street Baptist Church the Rev. O. K. Tyler officiated at the dedication and unveiling of a memorial tablet and also administered baptisms to seven young members of the Sunday School, while at the evening service the Rev. Dr. A. J. Brace spoke briefly of his work in the Chinese mission fields.

"The Inevitableness of Easter" and "Cross-Crowned Calvary" were the themes of morning and evening sermons preached by the Rev. M. C. Parr at George Street United Church, where special Easter music with Miss Isobel Duthie and Henry Ballen as soloists was a feature. A Sunrise Communion service was well attended.

Great questions of immortality and the future life were answered in musical renditions—solos, anthems, hymns, and chimes at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, the preacher for the day being the pastor the Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr. The evening service was most unique, being a combination of music and art.

Miss Sundar Gaikwood of India addressed the congregation of Mark Street Church in the morning, while Dr. Charles Endicott of Saskatoon preached an interesting message at the evening service. Both visiting speakers were presented by the Rev. R. W. Rowland.

"The Risen Christ" was the subject of a powerful sermon preached by the Rev. C. V. McLean at St. Andrew's United Church in the evening, while special music throughout the day was under direction of Robert B. Harle, choirmaster with Mrs. Ross Williamson as soloist.

Special music and appropriate messages featured services conducted by the Rev. Fred Cryer at St. James' United Church. Soloists were Mrs. R. C. Searles, Mrs. H. P. Doig, R. C. Searles and B. Pickford, with Cecil Lapp at the organ.

Easter Pageant

An Easter message was preached by the Rev. J. W. Magwood at Knox United Church in the morning with an Easter pageant "The Dawning" as a feature presentation by the C.O.I.T. at the evening service.

The Rev. George S. Easton conducted services throughout the day at Trinity Church. "The Abolition of Death" was the subject of his morning address, while at the evening service he discoursed on the subject "The Eternal in Man."

A sunrise march and service started the Easter Day services at the Salvation Army Temple where Colonel John Southall of Toronto was the guest preacher for the day. Pastor George A. Chambers introduced Pastor Robert Eastman of Oshawa as guest speaker at morning and evening services at the Full Gospel Pentecostal Church, while at Bethany Gospel Tabernacle, Pastor W. McArthur preached on the subjects "Pan Resurrection Appearances and Messages of Our Lord" and "What If Christ Had Not Risen From the Grave."

REPLAY MAY GIVE QUEBEC ACES A CHANCE

FT. WILLIAM WINS

Evans Series With Beavers—Copper Cliff Redmen Beat Montreal 4-1

TORONTO, March 29. — (CP)—The Dominion Senior hockey maze would only be following its own strange sequence if Quebec Aces should come up swinging now and battle to the championship. Aces have been as close to elimination as Allan Cup contenders ever were and it would be a fitting climax to a peculiar season if they went through.

One of six teams in the running, Aces were a step from the brink Saturday. They trailed 2-0 less than five minutes from the end of the second game of their best-of-three series with Hull Volants—and Hull had won the opener 2-1.

Then things happened. Quebec shot three straight goals to win. Hull protested the first counter. Authorities upheld the protest and the game was ordered replayed. Today Quebec was back in the hole, one game down and needing a win tonight to remain in the fight.

The teams meet at Quebec and if Aces win there will be a fourth contest at Montreal Wednesday. Should Volants win they will meet Sudbury Tigers or Toronto Dominions for the eastern title and the right to enter Allan Cup finals. Tigers and Dominions play their deciding game tonight at Toronto.

Beavers Lose Second.

Happenings at Calgary, scene of Western finals and next month's cup finals, were even more fantastic. They tended, too, to strengthen the chances of Quebec or whatever other unit represents the East.

Fort William lashed back at North Battleford and whipped the Beavers 5-3 to even their best-of-three set. Beavers, the Dominion's standout aggregation all winter, had scored a 9-2 triumph in the opener. The second tilt's result was the upset of the season.

Last night Frank Coulson resigned as Beaver coach. Dissension in the ranks was apparent. Coulson said trouble culminated when the team's uniforms were changed at the last minute to avoid a clash with the similarly marked jerseys of the Fort William club.

Now the Lakehead city, bulwarked by Goalie Gordie Hacquoil who is playing in his eighth Allan Cup semi-final, may earn the right to try to hold for the West the trophy Kitchener captured last year. Hacquoil has been ill and he collapsed in Saturday's encounter, but he's been declared fit for the rubber game tonight.

Four provinces contain all today's cup survivors, six senior teams and six junior. They're centred in Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Ontario and Quebec. When Trail and Amherst Juniors bowed out before Saskatoon Wesleys and Ottawa Rideaus respectively Saturday, British Columbia and Nova Scotia lost their last representatives. Each of the outfits was achieved in two straight games.

Wesleys duplicated their 1936 win over Trail. They left little question of supremacy with margins of 5-0 and 5-1. Archie Wilder was the star of the second engagement, scoring two goals and assisting in another. Maurice McCloskey, Jim Wilson and Sid Abel got Saskatoon's other markers, Hank Smith saving Trail from a shutout.

Saskatoon likely will oppose Winnipeg Monarchs in western finals. Monarchs, champions of what was likely Canada's strongest junior group, started semi-finals against Port Arthur Saturday and won 8-2. They can gain a three-day rest for the Saskatoon series, which will be played in Winnipeg, by winning again tonight.

Amherst went down gallantly at Ottawa, losing the second game 7-5, a score that left a good impression. The Maritime team lost by 5-4 Wednesday. The visitors had an edge in skating and went ahead early but couldn't hold their advantage. Three times Rideaus came from behind to score.

Creighton Lowther scored four times for St. Pats in another brilliant performance that placed him among the year's best juniors. McTeer and Hawkins contributed two goals each for Rideaus.

Redmen Win 4-1.

At Toronto Copper Cliff Redmen continued to impress against Montreal Victorias, though they eased down after one period. They won 4-1, nabbing three goals on an early power play. Victorias showed a big, fast team that couldn't capitalize on chances. At home tonight the Montrealers may prove more of a money team but indications were Redmen would win again and enter eastern finals against Ottawa.

CURLING

By HERB MARTIN

And the curling for the 1936-37 season has come to an end.

To-night we will put away stones stack our brooms, and turn the key in the front door.

Commencing curling on December 2, 1936, and right through until March 27 is not a bad season at all. True we had some broken weather, maybe a little more than the average winter, yet we were able to finish all of our competitions, and all on good ice

But this was only accomplished by the co-operation given to the committee by the boys—and that helped an awful lot.

The season's climax was reached on Saturday when the boys turned out to our last curling of the season. The ice was fair when play commenced, but soon became very heavy and sticky. However, the ice was there and they might as well use it.

The winning skips were: A. B. Oates, V. Currie, and J. J. Howden.

And this concludes our efforts in writing curling notes for this season.

Braddock Is Served With Court Order

NEWARK, N.J. March 29.—(AP).—Heavyweight Champion Jimmy Braddock to-day was served with a court order designed to prevent his bout with Joe Louis at Chicago June 22 until he first has gone through with a championship defense against Max Schmeling in New York June 3.

Papers in the action, brought by Madison Square Garden, were served by William F. McDermitt, United States' Marshall. Braddock is instructed to appear in United States' Federal Court, New Jersey district, in Newark April 5 to show cause why a temporary injunction should not be granted against the Louis-Braddock bout.

He's "Dizzy" Dean Of American League

Paul H. (Dizzy) Trout, (ABOVE), right-handed recruit pitcher, training with the Detroit Tigers at Lakeland, Fla. has announced that he is willing, in fact eager, to be the American league counterpart of Dizzy Dean. "I'll make more noise that Dizzy Dean," he announced. "I honestly believe Dizzy's going to fool even himself—by making good," says Manager Mickey Cochrane of the Tigers.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

SINCE THE annual convention of the O.B.A.A. is being held in Oshawa this year—in fact next Saturday (with an executive meeting the night before)—all clubs and leagues in Eastern Ontario should make it a point to get in their affiliation fee and vote at this session. Local and district loops or clubs should not put this off. A big representation from the east is desired. The C.O.B.L. club will be represented, but what about the East Peterborough League, City Loop Hastings County Trent Valley, and Lakeshore, etc. The fees must be paid sometime, so why not now when delegates can take in this highly colorful session and vote on questions brought up? Last O.B.A.A. convention in this neck of the timber was held in Peterborough in 1931.

* * * * * *

THERE ARE 14 amendments to the constitution at this convention besides the election of officers. Many of the amendments are minor matters but several are important. The Central Ontario Baseball League is presenting two—one being to allow pro and amateur clubs to meet in exhibition games and the other to have Bob Elliott of Deloro appointed a life member of the O.B.A.A. And two men of this section are running for office, Ernie Gibbard of Napanee and Max Swanston of Peterborough. Big delegations will arrive from Toronto, Western Ontario and down Niagara Falls' way. The east will have to be well represented if we want to have any say at this session.

* * * * * *

THIS CONVENTION is open to anyone representing a league or club—each one having two votes when the fee is paid upon entering the convention hall. Delegates will be banquetted free gratis afterward on Saturday. Entertainment in large quantities with refreshments the night previous is also on the free list. In fact, all is done to make it a big time for the baseball visitors, and there is generally a swell time. It is best to arrive the night before for the real fun and the lobbying. A flock of rooms at the Genesha Hotel have been set aside for diamond delegates at three smacks for a single with bath or four to five berries for a double spread and jub. So hop to it, you ball moguls, and be on hand.

* * * * * *

UP AT the "Y" gym on Saturday e'en before the best crowd of the season, P.C.I. eliminated C.C.E. in Senior City Basketball semi-finals, and will now meet St. Paul's in a home-and-home final serial. The lads from the knowledge factory took a 33-11 decision, so there was no room for argument. Dope on the finals will be available in a day or two. Following the windup loop fixture, St. Paul's yanked out a neat exhibition victory over a strong Belleville squad, 26-27. The Saints will be tough to take in the finals of the City Loop but the P.C.I. players are feeling right confident now. Accounts of games and list of leading scorers in this loop are published tonight.

* * * * * *

ALL FOUR teams remaining in the O.H.A. junior "B" playdowns—this does not include the Peterborough Colts, though—will swing into action again tomorrow night. Niagara Falls meets the Nervocs in Toronto and Guelph journeys to Midland to meet Barrie. That latter should be a bit of a humdinger. Friday sees the Falls and Barrie at Midland while the Nervocs go to Guelph. Much interest is being exhibited in this round-robin serial. In Allan Cup playdowns, Toronto Dominions tackle Sudbury at the Gardens this e'en in their third clash, and the winner meets the Quebec champs in Toronto on Wednesday. Second game of the Belleville-Thoroid intermediate "B" series is in the Falls on Wednesday. And so they move right along.

* * * * * *

LAST WEEK the pro puck setup began to look like maybe an All-American final between Detroit and either Boston or Rangers. However, ye Maroons knocked off Boston yesterday, while Canadiens will make the Wings go at least four games in their N.H.L. series. The Maroons open the Stanley Cup semi-finals in N'Yawk on Thursday, while the Flying Frenchmen and the Detroits meet tomorrow p.m. in Montreal. Foster Hewitt and a gob who doubtless likes him over the air waves did the play-by-play broadcast from the Quebec metropolis Saturday.

* * * * * *

THE ROVERS of N'Yawk—the team Drake Jopling of this town plays for—swept the three-game series with Baltimore in the Eastern United States Amateur League consolations to cop the Hershey Cup. Scores were 8-3, 3-2 and 2-0, giving Les Patrick's young squad a 13-5 round total. This will end the season for the Rovers, but the Hershey B'ars and Sea Gulls are still in final playoffs and the Hershey B'ars—that name is a neat way of sneaking some advertising for the candy company that sponsors the team, eh?—have won two in three starts of the best-in-five series.

* * * * * *

LACROSSE ENTHUSIASTS here say a central place to play is all that keeps Peterborough from a spot in the lacrosse limelight. Auburn Field is okay but a bit north of the downtown section. The Brock st. rink would be ideal but may be running as a dance hall again this summer. Some talk of getting in with the men's softball crew and working together to obtain a closed-in park somewhere appears to be only talk yet. So if the locals go into the O.A.L.A. on a regular schedule, arrangements with the city and the senior ball club regarding a turn at Riverside Park—maybe under lights—seems the only solution. The problem is a knotty one.

* * * * * *

HITHER AND yawn: A soccer meeting will be held tonight at eight in the Chamber of Commerce to organize and present reports; a big turnout is needed . . . . Haven't heard yet about the girls' cage semi-final in the junior section . . . . Jack Desmarais may represent the local City Baseball League at the O.B.A.A. convention this week-end . . . . Should be a baseball meeting here during the week . . . . Dave Leather of Peterborough is returned to the O.A.B.A. executive year after year without any opposition . . . . Dit Clapper gave a good account of himself yesterday as Boston Bruins fell before Maroons . . . . The girl and boy softballers will be thinking of summer organization within the next couple of weeks . . . . Whilst a six-week case of Fever ala Spring is beginning to get the best of us.

ARDENT HOCKEY FANS

Detroit Couple Have Paid $1,800 in Hockey Admissions Over 12 Years.

DETROIT, March 29—(CP).—Mr. and Mrs. John S. Noblett are nominated as Detroit's champion hockey fans—and with reason, too.

Noblett has seen every professional hockey game played in the Arena here since the building opened 12 years ago. Mrs. Noblett has missed but one since she became an ardent rooter three years ago.

Noblett estimates he has watched Detroit perform in 468 games. In money, including Mrs. Noblett's admission, their fun has cost them approximately $1,800.

They can prove they've attended the games, too, for they have ticket stubs for every match from the time the National League Detroiters were known as the Cougars, then Falcons, now the Red Wings, as well as stubs for games when Detroit Olympics of International League fame played here.

PORTLAND BUCKAROOS WIN.

PORTLAND.—Portland Buckaroos captured the Pacific Coast Hockey League championship here last night when they defeated Spokane Clippers 2-1 for the third straight time in the playoff series final. Blyth and Sutherland scored for Portland. O'Neill notched for Spokane.

Boston Red Sox Win Freakish Game From Senators 13 To 12

SARASOTA, Fla., March 29. — Boston Red Sox took things easy to-day after winning a freakish game yesterday from Washington Senators, 13 to 12. Manager Joe Cronin was the star performer with a home run and a triple, the latter with the bases loaded.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — Boston Bees, after a 6-5 defeat at the hands of New York Yankees, lined up against St. Louis Cardinals today with high hopes of victory.

The Bees showed enough hitting strength yesterday to convince Manager Bill McKechnie that they can win ball games. They collected 10 yesterday and had a 5 to 2 lead up to the fifth inning when they proceeded to throw the game away.

The Cards began their game-a-day schedule in the Grapefruit League to-day in the game with the Bees. Warneke and Ryba were to do the hurling.

LAKELAND, Fla. — Manager Mickey Cochrane, displeased with his Detroit Tigers' showing at the plate, ordered an extensive batting practice to-day as the squad enjoyed an open date from a Grapefruit League season now marked by four straight defeats.

ORLANDO, Fla. — Washington Nationals hoped to start a new winning streak to-day at the expense of Montreal of the International League. After taking eight straight exhibition games, the Nationals were defeated 13-12 yesterday by Boston Red Sox.

MAROONS' 4 TO 1 WIN SHUTS OUT BOSTON BRUINS

Tiny Thompson Proves The Goat And Russ Blinco The Hero

RANGERS NEXT MATCH

BOSTON, March 28—(CP)—Montreal Maroons, given a "break" and checking like fiends, came from behind second-period elimination to defeat Boston Bruins, 4 to 1, last night in the third and deciding game on their preliminary Stanley Cup hockey playoff.

Victory, second of the series by the 4-1 score, lifted the Stanley Cup holders of 1934-35, into the semi-finals against New York Rangers. Bruins won the second game here Thursday night, 4-0.

Tiny Thompson, the goalkeeper of a dozen Bruin seasons and a hero most of them, seemed destined to be the "goat" of the Bruins' loss, and Russell Blinco, who fired what proved to be the winning goal, the hero of the Maroon triumph.

Nearly 17,000 fans, hanging to rafters and anything else to see the game, watched Dit Clapper shoot Boston into the lead at 5.18 of the second period after 25 minutes of dull, playoff hockey. That goal signalized the first opening of Maroons' offensive and their "break" came little more than ten minutes later.

Bob Gracie came skating back from a penalty just in time to take a long, blue-line pass from Cy Wentworth. Gracie handed it to Earl Robinson to beat the lone Bruin defenseman, and "Robbie" fired. There was a goal a second later, but also a dozen different versions as to how it had been scored.

The official scorer gave the goal to Wentworth, with assists to Robinson and Gracie, though to the majority of the fans, Thompson pulled the puck into the goal while trying to clear Robinson's shot in while the puck slithered about, and banged it past the slow-clearing goalie.

Ting made another mistake, late in the third period, when he started too late to outrace Dave Trottier for a loose puck in Bruins' defensive zone. Trottier pushed it past him and shot it into an empty net.

Great Checking Display.

But that goal didn't matter, for Blinco had scored one at 19.25 of the second period, and Robinson another at 14.30 of the third on a breakaway. Blinco's came after a face-off near Boston's blue line. He raced after it and whipped a high backhander despite Allan Shields's efforts to check him.

Clapper's goal, scored on a blistering 30-foot drive that went past Beveridge's skate, appeared at the time to be enough to win the game. Up till then it had been the dullest of hockey, and only the tenseness of the battle and what depended on the result, kept the crowd satisfied.

Old Lionel Conacher, who says he's retiring after these playoffs, backed the all-star Maroons checking machine. He was out there for 50 or more of the 60 minutes, breaking up play after play in that "roving goalkeeper" style of his.

Boston—Goal, Thompson; defense, Shields and Portland; centre, Wiseland; wings, Beattie and Goldsworthy; subs, Clapper, Smith, Bauer, Hollett, Dumart, Schmidt, Oatliffe Cowley, Sands.

Officials— Bill Stewart and Ag Smith.

First Period.

Scoring—None.
Penalties—None.

Second Period.

1—Boston, Clapper 5.18
2—Maroons, Wentworth (Gracie, Robinson) 15.48
3—Maroons, Blinco 19.25
Penalty—Gracie.

Third Period.

4—Maroons, Robinson 14.30
5—Maroons Trottier 17.56
Penalties—Northcott.

At The Baseball Training Camps

LAKELAND, Fla., March 29 (AP)—The No. 1 worrier in the Brooklyn Dodgers' camp at the moment is Buddy Hassell, all because his .319 average of last season seems as far away as the moon at his current hitting rate. In his last two games, he has left 13 runners stranded on base, and in the last seven starts has gotten but two hits.

JACKSON, Miss.—Manager Bill Terry provides the rainy day at the New York Giants training camp: 1—Billy Terry will retire as an active player April 15, day before the season opens; 2—Dick Bartell is definitely the Giants leadoff batter for 1937, with JoJo Moore dropping to the No. 2 slot.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—It's going to be quite a problem for Manager Joe McCarthy to weed out his extra New York Yankee outfielders when pruning time comes around. He has six flychasers in camp. Joe DiMaggio, George Selkirk and Jake Powell are regulars, but Rookie Ernie Roy and holdovers Roy Johnson and Myrll Hoag have been doing almost as well.

GULFPORT, Miss.—Clyde Castleman, young New York Giants pitcher, was left behind to work off some extra poundage when the Giants moved on today to resume their exhibition series against Cleveland. Castleman, who has been slow at rounding into form, will pitch for Jersey City against Memphis tomorrow.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla.—Dizzy Dean, only a week in the St. Louis Cardinals' camp has been pitching as if he had been in training for a month. His fast ball is just as fast as ever. He is expected to make his first start against Detroit tomorrow.

TAMPA, Fla. — Disappointed by the weak hitting of his Cincinnati Reds in recent exhibition games, Manager Charles Dressen instructed his pitchers today to put everything they had on the ball. Dressen assigned Paul Derringer and Gene Schott to pitch against the Phillies this afternoon.

CANADIENS DUMP PLAY-OFF JINX BEAT WINGS 3-1

SMITH INJURES ARM

By A. E. Fellows
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

MONTREAL, March 28.—(CP)—New confidence gripped Montreal Canadiens to-day as they set themselves to meet the world champion Detroit Red Wings to-morrow night in the fourth game of their three-of-five series for the National Hockey League championship.

It was confidence based not only on their great showing Saturday night when they defeated Wings 3-1 to make the series count 2-1 for the Detroiters but also on the absence of Norm Smith, Detroit defenceman from his job.

Smith was injured Saturday night in the first period of the game when 11,500 Canadien fans saw the Habitants snatch with Babe Siebert's goal half way through the third period. A liniment in his right arm was torn when Herb Lewis, Detroit wing, fell on him in a pile-up before the Detroit goal.

Earl Robertson, Pittsburg Hornets' net-minder, will take over Smith's post to-morrow night and may play Thursday if Canadiens force the series to five games. Jimmie Franks, rookie substitute, who took Smith's place Saturday night, will go to Hornets, Detroit farm team, to play for them in their play-off series with Syracuse Stars.

The development gives Canadiens a real hope that they may win the N.H.L. title Red Wings took last year to go into the Stanley Cup finals. They were on the short end of 4-1 odds against that before Saturday's game, but their win and Smith's absence has shortened the chances against their winning three straight.

Victory is Siebert's.

Babe Siebert, rugged Canadien defenceman, won the game for them when he beat Franks with a terrific sot from just inside the blue line. The rubber bounced off Franks' pads, but its force was so great it turned him around and the puck dropped over the goal line.

The goal broke a 1-1 deadlock and threw the Canadien supporters in the packed forum into a frenzy. The rabid Habitant fans showered programs and coins on the ice and held up the game for five minutes with their celebration.

Later Johnny Gagnon got his second goal of the night to make the victory sure. Gagnon scored in the second minute of the game to give Canadiens a lead they held until Marty Barry zipped a puck past Wilf Cude early in the third.

Smith went out when the second period was half over. He was injured with only a minute of the first period to be played but seemed in good condition when he started the second. However, a fall to the ice convinced he couldn't carry on and he asked Manager Jack Adams to substitute Franks.

Exhausted After Ladies' Hockey Game

Mlle. Colette Raimondeau, too exhausted to remove her equipment, sits on the floor of the dressing room after playing for France in the international ice-hockey match against Great Britain for the Lady Greer cup, in London England, recently. Mlle. Colette is a member of the "Droit-au-But" Club, champions of France and pioneers in women's ice hockey. Britain retained the trophy although the match ended with the score 1-1. France refused to play extra time and therefore conceded to Britain.

BRADDOCK FIGHT APPEARS HEADED FOR COURT RULING

Could Believed About To Reconsider Schmeling Offer As Latest In Proposals

PAPERS TO BE SERVED

By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr.
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

NEW YORK, March 29 (AP).—Whether or not Heavyweight Champion Jim Braddock carries out his announced program of appearing at his attorney's office at Newark today and accepting service of "them papers," it seems certain the various factions in the fight muddle will finish their battles in a court-room with John Law as referee.

The papers concern Madison Square Garden's effort to force Braddock to give up his bout with Joe Louis at Chicago June 22 and consummate on a fight with Max Schmeling here June 3. They have been in the centre of the affair since it began whirling with tornado speed Saturday morning, leaving all observers dizzy and hardly able to distinguish the facts from the bewildering statements.

Three separate proposals are under consideration and the latest possibility seems to be that Joe Gould, Braddock's manager, has decided to reconsider Schmeling's offer of $330,000 for a bout in Berlin as a possible "out" in case affairs on this side of the ocean became too involved.

Some Developments.

Here are the various announcements that have come to light in the past two days:

(1) Gould says Braddock will accept service of the court order obtained by Madison Square Garden, requiring him to show cause on April 5 why he should not be enjoined from going through with the Chicago bout.

(2) Col. John Reed Kilpatrick, Garden head, and U.S. Deputy-Marshal Robert C. Forrest, in charge of the Newark office, maintain Braddock was served at Woodcliff, N.J., Saturday despite protests of "mistaken identity."

(3) Joe Jacobs, Schmeling's U.S. manager, says Gould got in touch with Schmeling by shore-to-ship telephone a few days ago to talk over the Berlin offer, which was withdrawn before the German sailed, and that Schmeling said re-opening would have to wait until he reached Germany.

(4) Gould asserts he talked with Schmeling but didn't mention the fight; he still wants $400,000.

(5) Chicago promoters, awaiting the outcome of the legal mixup as to the Illinois Senate's action in passing a bill providing for a $10 top for Louis-Braddock fight tickets, have little to say. Gould already has announced there won't be a Chicago fight at $10 top.

Barring a sudden decision to take whatever money may be forthcoming in Germany or a compromise of the sort, Kilpatrick says will not be considered, the only way to settle the matter seems to be to thresh it out in court. In that case it's purely an academic matter when and where the much-discussed papers are delivered.

Cop 38-27 Decision In Exciting Exhibition Basketball Game In "Y" Gym

St. Paul's, local Senior City League Basketball League leaders, took a 38-27 exhibition win over the Belleville Deacon A.C. teams, the "Y" here Saturday evening before a big crowd. The Belleville crew had been in the Ontario intermediate "A" playdowns, losing out to Kingston and, though minus some regulars, they made it a keen contest Saturday here. They were down but one point at halftime.

Orde, lanky Belleville centre, was outstanding, despite a sprained wrist which hurt his shooting. He got eight points as did his teammate, Muir. March, Thornburn and Sedgewick stood out for St. Paul's the former for his defence work and the other two for fine work up front. Thornburn got 15 and Sedgewick 12 points. St. Paul's had a 17-16 edge at the breather but ran up the count in the last half. It was an exciting game all through. The teams:

P.C.I. defeated C.G.E. 33-11, Saturday night in the "Y" to qualify for the Senior City Basketball League finals and will next meet St. Paul's. Without Richardson and Crowe, two regulars, the Electrics were handicapped but put up a real battle against the flashy Students. The latter had an 11-10 lead at halftime after C.G.E. led most of the way. But in the second stanza, P.C.I. did a right-about-face to completely overwhelm their rivals. C.G.E. got but one point this half.

Dougherty and Oesley led the Collegians, the former getting 14 and the latter 12 points. Kelly on guard also showed up well. STARS, HORNETS BOTH WIN TILTS

Springfield Puts Reds Down 5-4—Meet Philadelphia Next

NEW YORK, March 29 (AP) — While Syracuse Stars and Pittsburgh Hornets continue a red-hot battle for Western Division honors in the International-American Hockey League playoffs, the top-ranking Philadelphia Ramblers and Springfield Indians are ready to start a shorter but otherwise similar series in the Eastern sector. The ultimate winners will fight it out for the league title.

While the Stars and the Hornets were splitting a pair of week-end games to keep Syracuse one game in front of the three-of-five series, Springfield finished its preliminary-round conquest by whipping the third-place Providence Reds 5-4 Saturday night.

As a result the Indians will begin another two-of-three playoff at Philadelphia Tuesday, Springfield nearly "new" the deciding game against Providence by adopting defensive tactics after piling up a 3-0 lead and as a result will go into the next round as the under-dog.

Pittsburgh, after losing the opening game as Syracuse game back Saturday to trounce the Stars 4-1 on a flashy exhibition by Don Deacon. Syracuse kept Deacon well covered last night, however, and racked up a 3-0 victory as Murray Armstrong starred in a tough-and-tumble game. These teams clash again at Pittsburgh Wednesday.

A free-for-all scrap in the fatal period was the high spot of last night's game. Starring when Jimmy Orlando and Normie Mann came to blows it involved most of the players on both sides. Eddie Convey and Red Doran joined the first pair in the penalty box and while both teams were short handed, the Stars sewed up the game.

Armstrong, who had passed to Jack Howard for the opening tally, skated in for an unassisted goal and three minutes later Jack Markle banged home the final point on passes from Bummer Doran and Art Jackson.

In accordance with a 400-year-old custom at Eton College, England, Lord Hugh Cecil distributed 76 new threepenny coins.

BANCROFT, March 29.—A short time ago, on the farm of Mr. R. Umpstead, near Maynooth, a calf with two heads was born. The body and legs were perfectly formed, there were only two ears but just in front of them two heads branched out. The faces were exactly similar in every respect. The calf lived only a very short time.

CHAPTER 46

"Is it really you, Joel, or are you Santa Claus?" Janet said to her husband when she saw him standing on the threshold of her small room. His great height made the room seem smaller.

He stood there looking at her without speaking for a moment. There was something in his face that told her he had not expected to see her again. There were other things she saw in his face before he grinned at her in the half shy way that she had always loved. The lines beside his mouth were deeper. His eyes looked tired and she saw that there was a trace of gray at his temples.

He grinned and came over to her bedside. He dropped his packages and wordlessly gathered her in his arms. She felt pitifully small to him. He brushed the hair back from her forehead and kissed her.

"I've been here many times before," he said.

"Of course you have. Martha told me that she had been keeping you from me."

"The doctor said you weren't to see anyone." Joel didn't add that the doctor had said she had had a nervous shock and that he didn't want her to see even her husband.

Another time Janet might have protested that her husband wasn't "anyone" but she didn't say it now. She had been herself such a short time she hadn't yet made any effort to take hold.

Joel was staring at her hungrily.

"Do I really look so bad?" she asked.

"You look like a little girl who is getting over a party that was too strenuous," he answered. He was afraid to say more. Martha had tried in her tactful way to tell him that Janet had carried more than she was capable of and that he was not to talk seriously to her.

"But look here!" He picked up his packages and dropped them in her lap. "I'm a Greek bringing presents."

"For me? Oh, darling, help me to open them."

There were three new novels, an angora jacket that looked like a baby's sweater, a box of white violets and a basket of Malaga grapes that looked too good to eat.

"Oh, Joel, it's like Christmas!" She wished that she could say something to take the stricken look off Joel's face. He had done nothing through hell since that night when Martha telephone me."

She stroked his hair tenderly.

"Oh, my sweet, I'm sorry it happened. I didn't know what I was doing when I ran up here. I wouldn't have caused you any worry for anything in the world. But, don't you see, it's all right now?"

"No, it isn't," he said with his cheek laid against hers. "It will never be all right until I make up to you for what I've done. You've got to get well, Jan. I need you! If anything happened to you, I don't know what would become of me. Before I knew you I didn't amount to anything. I guess I'm not much good now as a man but whatever I am, I owe to you."

"If it comes to owing—and it never will between us—Mr. Paynter, I'm the girl who will be forever in debt to the gods. All I want is to be the sweetheart you wanted me to be the day that we made our promises to each other in the white house that you can see from the north window. Remember?"

"I remember everything," he said and blew his nose hard. Janet pretended not to see his eyes.

"Now tell me about the apartment and the play. Is everything running smoothly?"

Joel said that everything was fine. In fact, much better than when she was there and when she pretended to look disappointed, he hastened to tell her that it was not so but that she wasn't to think of it.

"You see you aren't coming back for a few weeks."

"But I am! Just as soon as I am able to be up on my foolish legs, I've got to get back!"

"Oh, no you do not, Janet! Martha and I have cooked up a neat little plan. You're going to stay out here until real warm weather comes. You're going to have rest and sunshine and Martha's good care. Jove, that woman is marvelous!"

"Who's marvelous?" Martha asked from the doorway.

"Didn't you ever hear that eavesdropper never hear good of themselves?" Janet asked blithely in a tone that took the impertinence out of her words.

"If you mean I'm marvelous, I call that extra good," Martha answered complacently. "But maybe you'll change your mind because I've come to ask Joel to come down to supper and let you get a nap. Come along, young man. You're Janet's first guest and you're only allowed a few minutes."

"Maybe you'd better go, darling. Martha's a strong minded woman. But come back and say good night to me."

"Even Martha couldn't stop me from doing that. Before I go, you'd better hear the news that I'm to have the spare room three nights a week."

When he had gone, Janet closed her eyes. Her lips moved gently. "Oh, Lord," she said, "I thank You for sending me this illness and making me see the wrong I was doing. I thank You for giving Joel back to me. Please give me the strength and vision to cherish wisely this precious gift from You."

When Joel came back to kiss her goodby, he held her in his arms with a strong tenderness and said, "Janet, I want to ask you a question. Do you love me?"

"I do love you, Joel."

"Are you in love with me?"

"Terribly, my darling. I always have been."

"Forgive me, Janet. I have doubted for a long time that you were. My heart has been sore with jealousy and the knowledge of my own inferiority."

She pressed him closer to her and could not find the words to tell him that she was feeling or the things that his words made her see. She knew then, for the first time, that her friendship with Russell Bede, her social independence, had been in a large measure the cause of the widening distance between them and she resolved that from that day hence she would never give him cause to be unhappy.

Her strength came back to her quickly after that visit. It was more than Martha's loving care that mended her. Her heart was well again. She had Joel back again.

April slipped sweetly into May and the roses long absent from her cheeks blossomed with their roundness. Her step was firm and she felt like a new person. She began to look forward to returning to her apartment in town albeit she was reluctant to end the happy routine of her days in Chester.

She had never been so happy as she was then. Joel stayed in town on Tuesday and Saturday nights. The other nights he hurried out to the country after the theater and stayed with Janet until late the next afternoon. They went walking and one day they had a fishing trip. Another day they had a picnic.

"Happy?" Joel asked and watched with delight the joy that Janet showed when she found a bird's nest.

"Too happy," she said. "But I will always have this happiness to remember. We've got to start thinking of the future, Joel. Do you think we'll go back to California in the autumn?"

Joel didn't answer her. He averted her face and made some comment about weeding the garden before supper time.

Bedtime Story

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S SIT DOWN STRIKE

Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy was reading the paper in Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow one evening after she had given the supper dishes their bath and put them to bed in the closet.

"Ha! Ha! Ha!" laughed the muskrat lady housekeeper all of a sudden.

"What's so funny?" asked Uncle Wiggily who was twinkling his pink nose and wondering what adventure he would have tomorrow.

"I was reading in the paper," squeaked Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy, "about a sit down strike."

"Where?" asked Mrs. Longears.

"In the ice cave factory of Mr. Whitewash, the polar bear," said Nurse Jane. "Ha! Ha! Ha! It was funny. All the other polar bears who work for Mr. Whitewash sat down on cakes of ice and wouldn't take them around to his customers. They refused to work."

"Why did they do that?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

He Gave In

"They said they wanted Mr. Whitewash to give them fur-lined mittens to handle the ice," went on Nurse Jane reading from the paper. "At first he wouldn't do it. But finally, when he found he couldn't get his helpers out of his own cave, he gave in, let them have mittens and every thing was all right."

"Why couldn't he get them out of his cave?" asked the lady rabbit.

"Because they just sat there on the cakes of ice and wouldn't move," explained Nurse Jane. "That's what a sit-down strike is."

"Hum!" said Uncle Wiggily as he hopped up to bed. "That's a funny kind of strike—a sit-down one. But rather jolly, I should say."

"Not much fun sitting on cakes of ice, I should say," remarked Mrs. Longears.

"Oh, polar bears are used to sitting on ice. They didn't mind it," said her husband. "Ho, Ha, Hum!" he yawned and went to sleep.

Next day when Uncle Wiggily hopped out to look for an adventure, and found the weather nice and warm and more birds singing and the wind blowing as if to bring April showers, he said:

"This is a grand day for an adventure. I wonder what kind I'll have? I suppose it will be one with a Bad Chap, though they haven't bothered me greatly the last few days."

All of a sudden Uncle Wiggily saw a little cave between two rocks on a side hill. Over the cave was a sign which said:

COME IN, UNCLE WIGGILY

"Well, this is very polite and kind," said the rabbit gentleman. "I wonder whose cave this is and who invited me to come in? Very likely there is an adventure in here and some of my friends wanted me to find it. I shall hop in this cave and see what happens."

Surprise

So, thinking no harm, Uncle Wiggily hopped inside the cave. It was just about large enough for him and no one else. He was no sooner inside than he saw it contained no adventure. But before he could go out to see who had played such an April Fool trick on him, a voice outside the cave shouted:

"Come on! We've got him! He went in the cave just as I thought he would and now we have him! Come on!"

Looking out of the cave Uncle Wiggily saw the Fox who was waving his tail to the Wolf and Bob Cat running toward him.

"Come out so we can eat you!" howled the Fox.

"No, I will not come out!" said Uncle Wiggily bravely.

"Why not?" mewed the Bob Cat who was very curious.

"Because I'm on strike," said Uncle Wiggily. "This is my sit-down strike," and calmly he sat down inside the cave where the Bad Chaps couldn't get him. Then he laughed.

And if the gold fish doesn't take the seeds out of the rye bread and give them to the canary bird, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily winning the strike.

It's Not Picture You've Seen

Ever see this picture before? Well, you're wrong! It's not the historic photograph of the Hon. Donald A. Smith driving the last spike which marked completion of the first trans-continental line of the C.P.R at Craigellachie, B.C., on November 7, 1885, but it is a very good reproduction. This scene was made during the filming of the Canadian screen epic, "Silent Barriers" which tells the story of the railway achievement. Though character on that historic occasion are played by screen actors, remainder of the scene is correct in detail. Driving the spike is the screenater playing the part of Smith, later Lord Strathcona, while other members of the group represent builders and statesmen who were present at the 1885 ceremony.

EASTER FESTIVAL WELL ATTENDED

Special Music At St. Paul's, Marmora, Is Greatly Appreciated

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MARMORA, March 28. — The Easter festival was joyously observed at St. Paul's with good congregations at each service. Celebrations of Holy Communion were held at 8 a.m. and 11 a.m., the latter being choral. About eighty communicated at these services.

During the offertory at Choral Communion the Andante, Bach's Concerto for two violins, was exquisitely played by Misses Fredda Bradley and Peggy Morland of the Toronto Conservatory of Music. Mrs. H. Rennie, organist, accompanied for this rendition. Bright Easter hymns were sung and Maunder's setting of the Holy Communion service was used.

The rector's Easter message was based on the words of Mary Magdelene, "I have seen the Lord." At Evensong, Rural Dean Caldwell's text was "If Christ be not raised, your faith is vain."

A children's service was held at 10 a.m. when the scholars brought in their Lenten mite boxes. The church was tastefully decorated with Easter lilies, daffodils and other spring flowers, the flowers on the altar being in memory of the late Mrs. F. S. Pearce, who passed away about two years ago.

A celebration of Holy Communion was held at Holy Trinity in the afternoon.

Old Lady Tells Secret of Her Vigor

The writer of the following letter once suffered from rheumatism, headaches, and depression. Then one day a vigorous old lady told her the secret of good health. And now that former sufferer writes to tell others how she obtained relief through Kruschen:—

"Kruschen was recommended to me by an old lady of seventy-two who can dance the Highland Fling—thanks to Kruschen, which she has used for thirty years. She told me to take Kruschen Salts to try and relieve a dull heavy headache from which I suffered nearly every morning on wakening. I was also troubled with rheumatism in both shoulders. Kruschen turned the trick. The headache disappeared and so did the rheumatism. I have continued taking Kruschen and intend to keep it up."—(Mrs.) F.B.W.

Kruschen is a combination of mineral salts which assist in stimulating your liver, kidneys and digestive tract to healthful activity. Regular activity. They ensure internal cleanliness, and thus help to keep the blood-stream pure.

Scotch Steel Strike Makes Nation Uneasy

Defence Officials Worry Lest It Mushroom Into General Tie-Up

HALT ARMS PROGRAM

2,000 Men Involved Said Asking Only Two Cents An Hour More On $15 Wage

LONDON, March 30 — (AP). — British defence officials were reported anxious to-day lest a strike of 2,000 Scottish steel workers mushroom into a nationwide work stoppage by 120,000 persons, and cripple Great Britain's $7,500,000,000 five-year rearmament program.

Government observers kept close watch on the strike by workers of the Parkhead forge of the William Beardmore Co. at Glasgow to determine whether to intervene to prevent a halt in admiralty work.

Skilled engineers among the Glasgow strikers to-day sought endorsement of their strike by the executive committee of the National Amalgamated Union of Engineers, meeting in London.

If such endorsement should be forthcoming, certain observers feared it would bring a general engineering strike affecting thousands of workers. The Amalgamated claims a membership of 120,000.

Some observers said a compromise was envisaged in the Scottish strike because the workers were demanding only an increase of two cents an hour on wages of about $15 weekly. The company has said they already were getting the district maximum wage.

Started Many Wheels Turning.

The rearmament program has speeded work and broadened employment in scores of factories which for years had been depressed. Workers' demands in the Glasgow and other strikes for more pay and better working conditions followed increases in companies' earnings and dividends.

Thus far work in the arms program has been progressing according to schedule.

One of the main units of the Royal Air Force expansion program, the Rolls Royce aircraft engine works at Derby, returned to normal operating conditions March 11 after a three-week strike by grinders of high precision tools. The strike which affected 4,500 men, ended with a promise to negotiate the demand for a wage increase.

Twelve hundred workers at the Whitehead torpedo works in Dorset, staged a two-day stoppage in protest of what their leaders charged was a contract violation by the management in transferring two men from one type of work to another. That strike ended March 19.

NURSES' STRIKE BRINGS CHANGES

Cornwall Hospital Adds Four To Staff, Shortens Hours After Student 'Lie-Down'

CORNWALL, Ont., March 30 (CP) —Four graduate nurses have been added to the staff and changes designed to decrease the amount of work done by the nurses, are being instituted in the routine of the Cornwall General Hospital, the board of governors of the hospital announced today.

The announcement came after a four-hour meeting last night when the board heard the grievances of 12 student nurses who went on a brief lie-down strike yesterday in protest to overwork, lack of adequate study conditions and recreation.

J. C. Alguire, chairman of the board, in a statement issued today, said while the board did not entirely approve of the action of the nurses the girls were "most reasonable in their attitude."

With the absence of six nurses, taking special training in Montreal and Ottawa, and five others who are on the sick list, members of the board realized the staff had been called upon to do extra work, Mr. Alguire said. In view of the situation, the board decided to add a number of graduate nurses to the staff.

Rail Strike Threat Ends With Settlement

Full 10 Per Cent Cut To Be Restored Men By April 1 Next Year

Workers Concede Only One Point—Three Months On Time

117,000 INVOLVED

Labor Minister Brings Two Parties To Agreement After 11-Day Debate

MONTREAL, March 30 (CP) — The threat of a general railway strike in Canada disappeared today.

The representatives of 117,000 men, having gained full restoration of pre-depression wage scales by April 1 of next year, abandoned their proposal of a general walkout that would have paralysed the Dominion's rail transport.

Negotiations with the roads that ended late yesterday found the men almost gaining the point they had fought for in months of battle for higher pay. All they conceded was three months in time.

They won their major objective—complete return of the 10 per cent reductions that the roads put into effect all along the line when hard times struck a few years ago. They lost only in the matter of having the restoration finished by the end of this year.

That was ironed out in final negotiation meetings yesterday between the presidents of the Canadian National and the Canadian Pacific Railways and the vice-presidents of the 18 railway running trade unions who had been meeting here for 11 days. The railways conceded the men four months in the time of completing restoration.

Reach Compromise.

Their concessions came after the negotiations had been deadlocked on the point. Last Friday, the men were demanding restoration by the end of this year; the railways would give it to them only by August of 1938. At Ottawa, Labor Minister Rogers brought them together. And after more talks Saturday and yesterday, agreement finally was announced.

There was no dispute with the settlement from either side, according to the joint statement. It emphasized "mutual satisfaction" and

Edward's New Retreat Will Spare Pocket

Modest Farm House To Lop $1,500 Monthly Off Expenses At Castle

THREE-ROOM SUITE

ST. WOLFGANG, Austria, March 30 (AP)—The Duke of Windsor entered today upon a more frugal mode of life—one which his major domo said would slice more than $1,500 monthly from his previous cost of living at the Rothschilds' Enzesfeld Castle.

The former monarch, his personal secretary, Sir Godfrey Thomas and his adjutants went early to bed last night at Appesbach villa, a modest, secluded yellow house with green shutters which became his new retreat yesterday after a 184-mile motor trip from Enzesfeld.

Austrian detectives who are guarding him, as well as the Duke's major domo and cook, visited the local inn where they proudly displayed cigarette cases and stickpins which the Duke presented before leaving Enzesfeld.

It was then that the chief servant computed the prospective household costs here as compared with Edward's expenses at the Enzesfeld chateau which Baron Eugene De Rothschild had placed at his disposal.

The Duke had sent word he would not arrive until today so St. Wolfgang's 1,709 inhabitants were unprepared to welcome him — which was as the Duke desired. Local Boy Scouts, however, sent a simple bouquet of heather and evergreen.

The 16-room house where the Duke was expected to live until he leaves for France and his marriage with Mrs. Wallis Simpson in May stands on a promontory reaching into Wolfgang Lake. His personal suite faces the lake and includes a bedroom, a newly furnished bathroom and a dressing room.

Canadian Farmers Interested In Settlement Of R.R. Strike

Protest Made By Chamber Of Agriculture Over Threatened Strike

MUST REDUCE COSTS

The sympathetic interest of organized farmers of Canada in the action of railway employees to obtain restoration of their wages was recently expressed in a letter by H. B. Cowan of Peterborough, secretary of the Canadian Chamber of Agriculture, to Howard B. Chase, Montreal, president of the Union of Locomotive Engineers.

During the depression the wages of railway employees were cut 15 per cent., of which 5 per cent had been restored, and announcement from Montreal today summarized the agreement which has been reached as the basis of the restoration of the remaining 10 per cent by monthly increases until April 1938.

Commenting that the application of the railway unions involved a reported increase of approximately $14,000,000 in the annual expenditures of the Canadian railways, Mr. Cowan pointed out that the farmers of this country were substantially affected because "owing to the great distance over which a large percentage of their farm products have to be transported the farmers of Canada are more dependent upon the successful operation of the railways of the country than are the farmers of any other country in the world."

In order that Canadian farm products may compete successfully in

Strike Lasts Only An Hour At Raybestos

Employees Refuse To Return To Work When Noon Whistle Blows

CONFERENCE HELD

Demanding a general increase of 20 per cent. in their wages, employees of Canadian Raybestos Company ignored the one o'clock whistle this afternoon, and assembled in a group outside the factory on Perry Street in an orderly demonstration for more money.

It was reported that the large day shift representing the main departments of the plant named a committee of three men to meet the management. The first information they brought back was to the effect that the company was willing to discuss individual claims for higher wages, but not a flat boost of 20 per cent. for all the employees.

It was also stated that the management wished to talk over the combined demand with three other men from the ranks, but that proposal was rejected.

First Three Sent Back.

"We appointed a committee to ask for a fair wage," several of the men declared, "and what's the use of sending in three more. The first three knew what we wanted."

OSHAWA, Ont., March 30.—(CP) —Seriously injured in an accident east of here last week, Dr. James Harrington of Cobourg is recovering nicely at Oshawa General Hospital, according to his physician, Dr. H. W. Graham. Dr. Harrington's mind is a blank concerning the accident, but he is normal in every other way.

He suffered a fractured skull and several scalp wounds.

As far as can be ascertained the car left the road at a curve, travelled almost 300 feet in the ditch and crashed into a big maple tree.

The car was badly wrecked and those at the accident first, said Dr. Harrington was alone in the car.

20-Ton Blast To Rip Quarry

Ninth Tunnel Explosion At Havelock Expected To Move 80,000 Tons Rock

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, March 30.—The Ontario Rock Company, Limited, has practically completed preparations for their ninth tunnel blast at the Havelock quarry. This tremendous shot, in which approximately twenty tons of high explosives will be used, is expected to take place on or about April 10th. This will be the eighth blast engineered by Superintendent Harry L. Scott.

To prepare the tunnel for the blast has taken a twelve-man crew from the first of December till the present to complete, regular mining equipment being used. It runs to a maximum depth of 78 feet through solid trap-rock. The main tunnel and the several cross-sections, all 4 feet high and 3½ feet wide, make up a total footage of 343 feet.

The twenty tons of dynamite will be placed in fifty-three charges, double-wired with 1,300 feet of rubber-covered wire and back-filled with fine rock dust. The estimated break is placed at 80,000 tons.

Best Teacher Needed Most Lower Grades

It Is There That Pupils' Attitudes Are Determined Says McArthur

TOUCHES RURAL SCHOOLS

TORONTO, March 30 (CP).—The rural school with six pupils or less is inefficient and uneconomic, Dr. Duncan McArthur, Deputy Minister of Education, told the trustees and rate payers department of the Ontario Educational Association today.

Dr. McArthur repeated an oft-given government assurance no move toward the consolidation of rural school units will be forced. All will be done with the consent and approval of those involved.

A determined effort has been made in the last three or four years to give town and city councils control over school estimates, he said. It would be just as logical to give school boards power over council estimates.

"A word of advice to boards of education is that insistence on the letter of the law may not be the best way of achieving your end," he said. "We are hopeful with the return of better economic conditions there will be less stress between boards of education and city councils."

Dr. McArthur advocated the assigning of the cream of university graduates to the public schools or to the first year in high schools as teachers. It was in these classes pupils' attitudes were determined and here the impact of a teacher's personality had its most powerful effect.

88 Per Cent Of Parents Oppose Elimination Of Homework At Night

Toronto, March 30.

MAJORITY of parents favor teachers assigning homework to students, G. A. Evans, York township, told the high school principals' meeting of the Ontario Educational Association today.

"The spasmodic asteries against the general advisability of homework do not represent the attitude of the big majority of those who send pupils to school," said Evans, who based his conclusions on the result of a questionnaire sent to parents in Toronto suburban area. He said 88 per cent of the parents were opposed to elimination of homework.

Sault Editor Wants Wolves, May Even Bag Them Himself

TOURIST ATTRACTION

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., March 30.—(CP).—Editor J. W. Curran, perhaps figuring a few Algoma people may retain a feeling of timidity of the presence of wolves, rambled his constituents yesterday that the wolf is one of the few wild animals which do not defend their young.

He was speaking about his campaign to have the Sault wolf den full of wolves again before the touring season gets around. The old pack was broken up a couple of weeks ago when the wolves escaped. Two were shot dead, one fatally injured in their escaping and the rest ran away.

That was a sad day for Editor Curran of the Sault Star, who loved those wolves as he does all others in Algoma. Last week he sent out a call for more. He urged Algoma citizens to rally to the cause and refill the wolf den.

"I don't expect any returns before the first week in May," he said to-day. "We will have to wait till the year's crop are born, in all probability. If the appeal doesn't result in a full den, I suppose I will have to go out and catch enough myself. But I am figuring Bob Bent, Lyn Hollingsworth and the rest will do the job."

Two Colonels In Insurgent Army At Burgos Suicide Over Situation

FIFTY DIE FOR PLOTTING

Madrid Reported To Have Executed 200 Captives In Reprisal

BAYONNE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, March 30—(AP)—Widespread executions were reported here today to have been ordered throughout insurgent held Spain to suppress bitter dissatisfaction with Italian influence.

Several score persons have been shot as the result of abortive plots, so strong has been the feeling against foreign influence in General Francisco Franco's armies, the reports reaching here despite a strict censorship said.

The information, much of which came from Basque quarters (supporters of the Madrid-Valencia government) said the importation of Italian soldiers never had been popular in the Spanish army but had been accepted as necessary to crush the Madrid government.

With the defeat of the insurgent armies, reported to have been mostly Italian divisions, on the Guadalajara front northeast of Madrid, this feeling was said to have been intensified, resulting, in some extreme cases, in definite plots.

These, however, were not thought to have been directed at Franco specifically but against further Italian participation.

Two colonels in the insurgent army at Burgos were declared to have committed suicide in protest because they were "heart-sick with the foreign invasion."

Insurgent quarters in France denied the reports, declaring: "We are in close contact with all Nationalist Spain and we have no such information. These reports are fantastic."

50 Conspirators Shot.

GIBRALTAR, March 30.—(AP)— Mass executions in extreme southern Spain—including those of 50 conspirators against General Francisco Franco's insurgent regime and 200 government prisoners shot in reprisals—were reported today from Algeciras.

The reported revolt in Southern Spain was centred at the insurgent-held towns of Algeciras, La Linea, and San Roque.

The 50 insurgent conspirators, with 20 soldiers among them were killed over the week-end, the reports said.

In addition, the advices said the 200 government prisoners were shot by firing squads after authorities declared they had helped to foster an anti-insurgent revolt in the Malaga region.

The insurgents military commandant at La Linea was relieved of his post.

Other arrivals from Tetuan said more than 500 officers and men at the insurgent aviation base at Tetuan said more than 500 officers and men at the insurgent aviation base at Tetuan, Spanish Morocco, had participated in one section of the revolt.

In a full page of and or criticism he described the phrase as (1) A pollution of the English language, (2) A barbarism, (3) Janus-faced verbal monstrosity, (4) a nameless thing, and (5) a weasel.

And he said lawyers using it would encourage the court's displeasure.

ROGERS RELIEF ACT UNDER FIRE BY TWO PARTIES

Minister Reveals 500,000 Still Jobless But More Working In '36 Than Since '29

GRANTS UNCHANGED

OTTAWA, March 30 (C.P.).—The House of Commons turns to-day to supplementary estimates and Government amendments to the Combines Investigation Act after giving first reading yesterday to the administration's relief measures for 1937.

Labor Minister Rogers introduced 1937's relief legislation in the face of charges from Conservative ranks that he was continuing policies the Liberal Opposition had condemned during the last administration and from the C.C.F. members that he was not dealing with the problem in a fundamental way.

After a debate of several hours on the resolution preceding the measure Mr. Rogers introduced the bill which was given first reading. It is practically the same as last year's measure providing for grants-in-aid to the provinces, loans and agreements on works projects.

Great progress was made in the House of Commons yesterday with the Canada-United Kingdom Agreement Bill, the measure providing for revision in the accounting setup of the Canadian National Railways and several minor Government measures passed.

Conservative Leader Bennett renewed his opposition to the changes in the accounting system of the Canadian National, claiming it was contrary to the Audit Act, and that it would result in a balance sheet that would fail to disclose the information to which the people of Canada were entitled.

500,000 Without Work.

Labor Minister Rogers disclosed that there were still 500,000 estimated unemployed in Canada, apart from those being cared for in the drought areas, but there had been more improvement in the past year than for any year since the depression started.

Differing opinions were expressed by New Brunswick members on the announcement by Premier Dysart of that province last year that relief was being discontinued. Louis Robichaud (Lib. Kent) said experiments in his county had proved that relief was unnecessary and claimed some credit for the Premier's decision to end relief.

A. J. Brooks (Cons. Royal) read reports of St. John City Council proceedings to support his charge that the Premier's announcement was "ridiculous." Relief was necessary and was being paid by municipalities.

"Our Government is one of the most backward Governments in the

SPLIT NARROWS LANSING STRIKE

Agreement Believed At Hand As Chrysler Negotiations Continue

LANSING, Mich., March 30 (A.P.) —Informed sources said to-day the Chrysler strike negotiations had progressed to a position where agreement was in sight.

An air of expectancy prevailed in the vicinity of the conference, now in its seventh day. Little remained, some observers close to the proceedings averred, in the composition of differences in the costly dispute, which for more than three weeks has kept idle 60,000 Chrysler Corporation employees and thousands of wage earners in related fields.

Sources close to Governor Frank Murphy of Michigan made these points in arguing that an agreement was imminent:

Conferences have continued without interruption;

Sit-down strikers have been evacuated;

At no time has there been any intimation that the conference would blow up;

The principals understand each other and know about how far each will retreat;

Dominion Chooses Coronation Flag

Ottawa, March 30—(CP)

THE flag to be displayed at the Coronation as the Canadian standard will be "the Arms of Canada, granted by Royal proclamation dated November 21, 1921, with the Royal Crown at the staff," Prime Minister Mackenzie King stated in a reply tabled yesterday in the House to a question by C. E. McIntosh (Lib., North Battleford).

(The entire flag will be the Coat of Arms with the Royal Crown on the staff. It will be the same Coat of Arms as used on the Red Ensign.)

"Canada has not a recognized distinctive national flag," the answer stated. "The Red Ensign with the Arms of Canada in the fly is used on vessels of the Canadian mercantile marine. The Blue Ensign is used on vessels belonging to the Dominion of Canada."

POLICE WONDER WHY NO SOUNDS GIVEN IN KILLINGS

Reveal Few Short Grey Hairs Only Clue In Triple Apartment Mystery

GIRL ARTISTS' FAVORITE

By Devon Francis
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

NEW YORK, March 30.—(AP).—Detectives pieced together to-day the fragmentary record of a grotesque melodrama known as the triple killing of Beekman Hill, and, for a public accustomed to glib third-act solutions, it did not make sense.

Three persons were slain in a crowded block where apartments tower tier on tier. Hundreds slept within hailing distance.

The clues: A few short, gray hairs and some infinitesimal bits of flesh.

In a small stuffy room at police headquarters a heavy-set, muscular chauffeur and handy man munched sandwiches and answered questions hours on end as detectives sought to shed some light on the Easter morning murder of Veronica Gedeon, artist's model her mother and a roomer.

Police said the man, George Guerci, 46, apparently had an airtight alibi.

In a police laboratory an expert bent over vials and microscopic slides to study the hairs and flesh scraped from beneath the polished finger nails of the 20-year-old favorite of painters and photographers.

But, said John J. Lyons, Assistant Police Inspector, "We are groping around in the dark and have absolutely no clues."

Wonder Why No Sounds Heard

Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine was more communicative.

"We have certain definite information," he said, a day after the bodies of the shapely model, her mother, Mrs. Mary Gedeon, and the roomer, Frank Byrnes, were found in an apartment where a woman's shriek could have been heard by hundreds of nearby residents.

"We are concentrating on that."

The police have been light-lipped before. During the investigation of the Nancy Evans Titterton murder —which occurred on Good Friday, 1936, less than two blocks away from the new killings—and the more recent murder of Mrs. Mary Case in Queens, they announced dead ends on all their leads.

Mrs. Titterton's killer has been executed; Mrs. Case's is scheduled for death.

Joseph Gedeon, husband and father of the slain women, visited the police station briefly last night. Asked about some 50 pictures of nudes found in Gedeon's pockets, Edward Mullins, in charge of de-

Harvest Time Again For Sugar Industry

Sap's running! To some 50,000 farmers in eastern Canada this means that a revenue of almost $4,000,000 is about to be realized. Over 24,000,000 of the 70,000,000 maple trees in Ontario, Quebec and the Maritimes will be tapped this pring and their "liquid gold" gathered in huge oak barrels. The average annual per capita production of maple products, according to government officials, is (expressed in pounds of sugar) 2.2 lbs. The average per capita export is .7 lbs. which leaves an average yearly consumption of 1.5 lbs. of sugar per person in Canada. This they claim, is a rather discouraging figure, caused by the general impression that maple sugar and syrup are seasonal products. The upper photograh shows a scene common in all maple woods where farmers are tapping trees, the gathering of the sap from individual buckets for conveyance to the boiling house. At the LOWER LEFT the old method of boiling the sap, outside in an open iron kettle, is pictured The workman, at the RIGHT, is keeping a close check on the flow of sap from the tree.

He and Lady Tweedsmuir will be guests of the President and Mrs. Roosevelt at the White House until Thursday evening, returning the call made on them last summer by the American chief executive.

HASTINGS BAZAAR DRAWS BIG CROWD

Successful Affair Under Auspices Of St. Andrew's Ladies' Aid

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, March 30. — The efficient committee of energetic workers and the generous buyers who patronized the various sales, helped to make the annual Easter Saturday bazaar held under the auspices of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Ladies' Aid, a success.

Lynch's Hall was most attractive with its gay ceiling decorations and with the display on the four well-arranged booths. Near the entrance to the door Mrs. S. Spooner and her helper, Master Billie McEachnie, took charge of the sales of samples. Near by the table of lovely fancy work and hand-made novelties received continual attention when displayed by Mrs. H. B. Wilson, assisted by Mrs. William McEachnie. Those who were thinking of buying for their Easter Sunday meal were tempted to do so when they viewed the array of cakes, tarts, pies, etc., sold by Mrs. W. E. Wilson, assisted by Mrs. H. Fife. The fourth booth was in charge of Miss Jessie Whitred and Miss Kathleen Skinkle, who sold a variety of home-made candies.

At the rear of the hall a 25 cent tea was served, arrangements being in charge of the president, Mrs. W. H. Fife, assisted by Mrs. V. Findlay, Mrs. O. Phillips, Mrs. C. Dodd, and Miss Agnes Yule. Four tables were effectively arranged with embroidered cloths centered by vases holding yellow daffodils and mauve tulips. A central table with its lovely lace cloth, was centered with a silver basket containing daffodils, tulips, and snapdragons. Many took the opportunity to partake of the dainty luncheon and enjoy a social hour with friends.

Jewish M. P. Omitted From Coronation Party After Being Chosen

POULIOT IS NAMED

OTTAWA, March 30. — Some unpleasantness has been caused around Parliament Hill by the omission from the Coronation delegation of Sam W. Jacobs, veteran Jewish member of the House of Commons for Montreal-Cartier, who frequently adds to the gaiety of nations by his bright sallies in the Chamber, or by indulging in the English custom of having afternoon tea sent to the Banking and Commerce Committee.

This is said to be the second snub which Mr. Jacobs has suffered this session, as he was passed over just before Parliament met in favor of Adrian Knatchbull Hugessen, K.C., a comparatively young man, who was appointed to the Senate after contesting only one election for the Commons, while Mr. Jacobs, who has borne the brunt of the conflict these many moons, was told to possess his soul in patience.

Now, there are many old members of Parliament who think that Mr. Jacobs might very well have been included in the Coronation delegation, seeing that he has been in the House of Commons for twenty years and is one of the most versatile and charming men in the Chamber. As a matter of fact, it is stated that the Jewish member was on the original list of those to go, but certain members objected very strenuously to the inclusion of a Jewish member as the sole representative from the French-speaking Province of Quebec and the redoubtable Jean Francois Pouliot was drafted instead. Elimination of Mr. Jacobs is regarded in some quarters as a slight upon the Jewish race, which has produced such great parliamentarians as Disraeli and Lord Reading.

Resigns From Association.

Efforts have been made by the Canadian authorities to have the Coronation delegation of the Dominion branch of the Empire Parliamentary Association increased by one, so that Mr. Jacobs might be included, but before a decision could be made the affronted member resigned from the association, of which he was one of the oldest members in the Canadian Parliament. The Canadian Branch of the Empire Parliamentary Association was invited to send eight members to the Coronation, and it is said the selections were made by the two Speakers of Parliament.

Ontario is well represented in the delegation, which embraces the following members: Hon. Grey, Chief Liberal Whip; A. G. Casselman, Chief Conservative Whip; Hon. A. C. Hardy, Liberal Senator; Hon. Hugh Stewart (Cons. Leeds); and Hon. Louis Cote, Ottawa Senator. The other delegates are: Jean Francois Pouliot (Lib. Temiscouata); Arthur Beaudoin (Lib. Provencher, Manitoba); and George McPhee (Lib. Yorkton).

AUCKLAND HAILS U.S. AIR CLIPPER PIONEER FLIGHT

Feat Brings Australasia Within Four Days Of America

6,820-MILE DASH

AUCKLAND, N.Z., March 30. — (AP).—Australasia hailed the flight of the Pan-American Clipper to-day as bringing it within four days' air travel of North America.

Captain Edwin C. Musick and his crew of six completed at dusk the 6,320-mile flight here from Alameda, Calif., exploring airways that never before had known the sound of a plane's motor.

The trip was a survey of flying conditions preliminary to establishment of a commercial airline. The Clipper will return to Alameda by approximately the same route.

Captain Musick set down descriptions of quiet lagoons in the lee of some of the most obscure islets of the South Pacific. He spotted them in the final leg of the flight to-day from Pagopago, American Samoa, 1,797 miles away. The trip, with detours, took him over the Tonga and Kermadac Islands, many never observed from the air before.

FULL 10 PER CENT. CUT TO RETURN

declared that good feeling between the roads and their employees had been "fully preserved."

Originally—a few weeks ago — the roads had been willing only to grant the men restoration of three per cent of their old decreases this years. This was in line with the majority finding of a conciliation board which recommended this amount should be restored gradually by November 1.

The men stuck by the board's minority report, which found they should have full return of their cuts this year. A ballot circulated among them, from coast to coast, returned a verdict from the majority that a general strike should be called unless the railways gave back the old wage scales.

The delegates meeting here were not bound to accept the verdict of the rank and file; their leaders said they could have voted either for or against a strike, regarding the system-wide ballot chiefly as a barometer of sentiment. But yesterday's agreement obviated the need of a choice.

Now, all that remains is for the agreement signed yesterday to be approved by the general committee in session here. This union heads said, was a formality only. The vice-presidents who met with the railroads were empowered at a meeting earlier yesterday to sign the wage settlement. They signed it, and subscribed to the statement expressing satisfaction.

DRUNKEN JOKE BEHIND POLICE SURPRISE RAID

Second Swoop On Montreal Jobless Bureau Puts Officials In Furore

SUSPECT QUEBEC SOURCE

MONTREAL, March 30.— —Provincial policemen's second surprise raid on the Montreal Unemployment Commission Bureau, by which a department head and four subordinates were evicted last night as they were attempting to catch up on arrears of work, was the result of a drunken joke by a Provincial Agent stationed here, it was learned on good authority to-day.

Mayor Raynault has been in telephonic communication with Premier Duplessis, and quotes the latter as denying flatly any such action was ever authorized or even hinted. Yet the invading Provincial squad yesterday produced a telegram purporting to carry the authorization of the Attorney - General's Department which is headed by the Premier himself.

Several witnesses have stated the telegram was originally produced by a Quebec officer who was obviously far gone in liquor. No disciplinary action has yet been taken, but it is understood the matter will be investigated and suitable measures will follow. This revelation, however, far from pacifying the city authorities, who have all along resented Quebec's interference in the local dole administration, has added fuel to their anger. They contend this incident merely underlines the unwisdom of the whole proceeding. When the Quebec squad first raided the relief office March 16, their warrant was a telegram from Edgar Vesine, Provincial Auditor.

Evicted Men Reinstated.

Early to-day the five evicted employees were reinstated by orders of the Mayor and Executive Committee Chairmen after their conversation with the Prime Minister. Since the greater part of the Commission staff is observing the Easter Monday holiday, the interruption caused no serious delay in the work of relief distribution. The Mayor to-day produced a letter from Quebec, stating that Auditor Vesine could not now be spared from his work to appear as a witness before the city-appointed committee of citizens and Aldermen, which is investigating the dole situation, and suggesting the probe be called of for a fortnight until Quebec agents complete their own survey. After the last meeting of the citizens-Aldermen committee, Chairman Alderman J. H. Brier stated no evidence had been brought out so far which reflected in any way on either the efficiency or integrity of the present Administration.

Trees Are Tapped

Although wintery weather has prevailed during the past week, a few farmers have tapped maple trees and are preparing for the annual run of sap.

Other farmers are being supplied with early baby chicks and are already speculating on the probable price of poultry and eggs for next autumn.

Roads here are in very bad condition, deep, watery ruts being cut in several places making it impossible for truckers to haul heavy loads of timber. Sleighing is very poor as bare places are too numerous.

The Ladies' Guild of St. Mary's Church are sponsoring a social evening including progressive crokinole, lunch and dance to be held in the Lifford Community Hall on Thursday evening, April 8th, for the purpose of augmenting church funds.

School closed on Thursday at Lifford for the Easter vacation, the teacher, Miss Stephenson, returning to her home at Omemee for ten days.

A Cross-Section of Canada

People in every walk of life—a cross-section of Canada—are interested directly or indirectly in the telephone business.

Nearly twenty thousand men and women of all ages and occupations have invested their savings in Bell Telephone stock.

There are more than 710,000 telephones in Ontario and Quebec alone.

The lines of some 800 other telephone companies connect with Bell lines for interchange of service—adding some 140,000 additional telephones to those of the Bell Company to provide a unified service that touches the lives of virtually every citizen of this Dominion.

The Trans-Canada Telephone System — a co-operative enterprise uniting the major telephone systems across the Dominion—provides a service from coast to coast that is available to practically any telephone user anywhere in the country. Canada's leadership in voice-communication is the logical result of the spirit of service which animates telephone workers.

Father Charges Son Came Home With Finger Marks On Throat

Wm. Mechetuk Registers Complaint Against Campbellford High School Principal

TO BE INVESTIGATED

CAMPBELLFORD, March 30. — When Mrs. A. Hollings re-appeared at the monthly meeting of the School Board held in the Council Chambers of the Public Library on Monday night to ascertain what action the Board had taken regarding the complaint she had made at the last monthly meeting when she alleged her daughter had been struck on the head by one of the Public school teachers, W. Roy Louckes, chairman of the Board, explained that as she had left the last meeting without stating the nature of the action she wished the board to take nothing had been done.

However, when it was requested that some action be taken to assure the parent that no repetition of the treatment accorded her daughter would occur, the matter was placed in the hands of the Internal committee along with the claim made by Wm. Mechetuk that his son was caught by the throat by the Principal of the Public school and returned home bearing distinct imprints of the Principal's fingers on his throat which drew blood. Mr Mechetuk stated further that he had taken the boy to one of the members of the board who had seen the condition of the boy, who was now afraid to return to school.

Principal C. S. Haig being absent from the meeting, his version of the incident was not revealed.

Wants Music Taught.

Following a report from the chairman of the Buy committee, Glen Thompson, Mr. A. A. Martin, Public School Inspector, gave his report to the Board. Among his suggestions was that music should be taught in the school and that some of the members of the Board should interview the staff with a view to finding out which of the teachers was best qualified for this work. Saying that 40 out of 113 classes in his inspectorate received instruction in music it was a matter of regret to find that no provision was made for musical training in the Campbellford school.

As the heating system of the Public school was fast approaching the time when it would have to be changed, he suggested that a central heating system should be installed and gave figures which he had obtained from the secretary of the school board showing the comparative costs of heating the Public school and the High school at $950.00 and $725.00 respectively per year. Drinking water on all floors and a manual training room for the boys were other suggestions which the Board promised to give consideration.

On motion of Dr. H. O. Richardson and F. C. Bonnycastle a vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Martin following which the accounts were passed and the meeting adjourned.

CHINESE LEPROSY RUMOR DENIED

Lindsay Stories Cost Oriental Colony Business—Haliburton Fishing Popular

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LINDSAY, March 30.—For some time past rumors have been in circulation to the effect that a member of the local Chinese colony had been under medical observation and had been finally deported because he had developed a type of leprosy. Like other idle rumors, it spread rapidly, and in the course of time another story was circulated that a local young man and girl had contracted the dread disease in a Toronto restaurant. Local cafes and other places of business run by Chinese have lost business because of these rumors, with the result that a notice has been published by the proprietors in the local press denying the reports, and referring the public to the Medical Health Department and Chief of Police for verification.

Fishing through the ice for trout in Haliburton County is quite a popular pastime at present, many from outside points journeying to the northlands for a fish. Thomas Roberts, of Haliburton, while fishing at Clear Lake, landed a lake trout weighing 18 pounds. The ice on the northern lakes is 32 inches thick at present.

For the past several days the C.P.R. has had crews employed moving the hundreds of box cars which have been standing on the abandoned Port McNicoll line north of the town. These cars, which have covered about six miles of track, have been hauled to Havelock. It is understood, where many of them will be destroyed. It is expected that the work of tearing up the track will commence at once, and this well known grain route, which was said to be one of the finest road-beds on the continent, will be but a memory. At the time of its construction many had vision of Port McNicoll becoming one of the leading ports on the Great Lake. Confidence in its growth and importance was so great that the boundaries of the town were extended into Tiny Township. The land was subdivided, streets were surveyed and real estate promoters sold lots like hot cakes. When the bubble burst many of the lots were abandoned by their owners and fell back on the township. There is no official confirmation of the report that the C.P.R. will abandon the Lindsay-Bobcaygeon line and give running rights to the C.N.R. to that village. Railway employees, however, state that the report is authentic.

CAMPBELLFORD

EDUCATION IS JUST POURED AT SCHOOL PUPILS

Present System Relic Of Horse And Buggy Days Says H. B. Fetterley

TALKS TO ROTARY

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, March 30. — "Our present educational system is a relic of the horse and buggy days" asserted H. B. Fetterley in an address delivered before the Campbellford Rotary Club at its weekly luncheon held in the St. Lawrence Hotel on Monday.

A prominent educationalist, Mr. Fetterley has had a wide experience in the teaching sphere having spent five years in the Public school, three years in Continuation schools, 14 years as a High school teacher and 13 years as an inspector of Public schools thus being well qualified to speak on what he termed "Education, a perennial subject which concerns everyone of us".

Scanning the history of Public Schools the speaker pointed out that the first schools were those of the church as well as the private schools which formed the basis of our educational system till the act of 1841 under which Dr. Egerton Ryerson was appointed to make his report in which he recommended the present system whereby the country should be divided into different school sections to be kept up by the taxes. It was not however until 1873 that the fee system was finally abolished and our present system inaugurated to remain unchanged till the present time. Drawing attention to the improvements and advancements made in medicine, science, and agriculture the speaker deplored the laisses faire attitude of educationalists particularly relating to our public schools.

A Glaring Weakness.

One of the main faults with the present system is the fact that there is no terminal in the Public Schools for those students who do not intend to go through the secondary schools thus compelling them to go out into the world totally unfitted for it in any way. The mistakes of the present system lay at the feet of the government who have for many years neglected to place at the head of the Department of Education a person who had any real experience in the realm of education. Formerly inspectors were taken from the High Schools and up to a few years ago it was not necessary for them to have any Public School experience. Another error in the opinion of the speaker was the fact that Normal School teachers were picked for their high academic standing rather than for their success as teachers.

Initiative Killed.

The schools themselves remove all freedom and initiative on the part of both teacher and pupil when only an authorized text book may be used in the school according to the rule book setting out the curriculum for the year with the resultant effect that no time is left for anything else. "Too often is a teacher's success judged by the way in which she keeps the children under repression" said the speaker. "Children are kept in their seats and education is poured at them". When the teacher suggests an examination in history for a certain day in the week the students spend all their time cramming for the test while other subjects are neglected while the cramming and nervous strain of the examination itself are the reason that our mental clinics are becoming ever more densley populated.

Wipe Out Examinations.

The constant introduction of the competitive aspect in trying to beat out the other fellow and get the most marks in the examination is probably doing more than anything else to foster the "get rich quick idea".

"I suggest that we wipe out the examination system as a means of promotion", continued the speaker stating that after the exams the notes were thrown under the table and forgotten. Many business firms were today affixing a mistaken value on matriculation which usually formed the basis of getting a position and yet was of no value in 90 per cent of the work they would be called upon to do. Another fault the speaker found with the present system was that enough stress was not being placed on spoken English whereas too much emphasis was placed on the written subject leaving the student to emerge from school lost when it came time for him to become a conversationalist and take his place in society.

In conclusion the speaker drew attention to the correctness of the old dage "never too old to learn" saying that tests recently conducted in Columbia University proved that those who came in the 20-24 year age group could learn 15 per cent faster than any others while people of all other groups showed practically no variation in their mental ability.

Mr. H. N. Carr moved the thanks of the club to the speaker.

In keeping with the service the choir sang "For I Remember Calvary." Following the sermon a reception service was held, four young ladies joining the church: Misses Fern Blodgett, Audrey Mouncey, Jean Carew and Doris Roberts. Holy Communion was administered following the reception service. Easter lilies and daffodils adorned the chancel.

SYLVAN GRANDEUR FOR TOWER HILL

Structures Surrounding Historic London Pile To Be Demolished

LONDON, March 30.—(CP).— After years of rubbing shoulders with a bramble of shoddy warehouses and obsolete buildings, the Tower of London is to be once more belted with greenery. Recently Queen Mary inspected the area where it is proposed to demolish buildings at a cost to the public improvement committee of about $434,358.

One huge warehouse which overshadows Tower Hill will give way to a cleared site resuming the old title of King's Green. Trinity Square Gardens will be opened up and replanned and buildings east of the Tower Hill will be removed for another open space.

When the dust of demolition has settled and the grass has begun to sprout again the finest remaining portion of the old London Wall, foundations of which were built in 21 A.D., will be exposed to view. The wall stands 25 feet high.

Already an attack on the old buildings has been launched and with further support of the public and authorities in money and cooperation the project can be completed within a reasonable time, it is said.

The Sinews of Trade

In the early days Canadian trade was conducted in its simplest form. There was little money in circulation; settlers exchanged furs and the produce of their farms for simple necessities of local manufacture and rare luxuries imported from abroad.

As the fabulous resources of the country became known, the tide of colonization swept inland. Population increased and trade developed between adjoining communities. Trails became highways; the canoe, bateau and Durham boat gave way to the steamer; the pack horse and wagon were supplanted by the railroad; and a steady stream of furs, timber, staves, wheat and flour flowed toward the ports for shipment overseas.

Each phase of development brought new and diversified demands for commodities and services. Accurate up-to-date news of available goods, of current prices and markets became increasingly important to consumers, producers and merchants alike.

The newspapers recognized the need and were quick to provide this essential information. Every issue recorded the current fluctuations in prices and supplies, the arrival and departure of ships and all other data of vital importance to trade.

Maintenance of this service and extension of its scope to meet each new development have contributed much to the expansion and prosperity of Canadian trade.

Today the daily newspapers serve Canadian trade more thoroughly and effectively than ever. Every day throughout the country more than two million copies are distributed and read. Their pages provide a complete and reliable guide to markets upon which the business men of Canada depend.

Coaxing Him to Build

Brantford City Council is considering a proposal to grant a degree of exemption to those who build new houses. The first year there would be no taxes; two-thirds exemption for the second year and one-third exemption the third year. After that at regular rates.

A scheme such as that will always arouse its own opposition, and it will be based on the claim that others who built houses in former years received no such consideration, and for that reason a graded exemption is a species of favoritism.

As an argument that may be sound enough, but it is not going to cause any person to build a house. When times are not normal we all do things in a business way to try and make them better. If a merchant finds his sales are not sufficient then he puts on a bargain sale and cuts his prices and also his profits. The makers of razor blades long ago found it good policy to give away razors in order to induce people to buy blades for them afterward.

Nor is there very much in the charge of favoritism being shown by changing the regulations. We do that in other cases. There have been in all hundreds of motorists fined in Ontario because they drove their cars at 50 miles an hour In a few weeks it will be legal to do that, but those who were previously fined will not be given a rebate. Almost each year there are changes made in tariff rates, but there are no rebates or added levies made upon those who purchased under a previous tariff.

The graded exemption plan for houses is not unreasonable. The city tax collector knows it will not be long before he has new sources of income from these new houses, an only difference being that the new home owner comes in by degrees. Call it coaxing him along if you will, but he is on the road to the tax office as soon as he starts to build his house. The fact that a man built a house and did not pay any taxes the first year would not make the taxes on existing houses any greater. It seems like a plan to meet a peculiar situation. It is not a permanent matter but a concession to get building once more under way. We cannot see anything wrong with it.

Put Something in the Paper

The driver of a rather large truck was in this office today, and he was annoyed. He said so. Also suggested we ought to put something in the paper about it. And that is what we are doing at the moment.

Some of the roads he was using were simply awful. He got stuck so frequently he had to get pulled out and each pull-out cost him money. Some places there seemed to be no top to the road and it was just mud.

Roads often get that way and feel that way in spring when the frost is coming out of the ground. If there is no top dressing left on them then the chance is the driver of the truck has been doing his part in driving it so far down in the mud that it disappears.

If that truck driver has a garden he would not be trying to dig in it just now. He would wait until the frost came out of the ground, otherwise he would have nothing but a lot of hard lumps to deal with later on. Getting frost out of the ground is something which cannot be hurried. We are pretty smart in some things but we can't hurry up that process. Not to the extent of half an hour in a season.

It was the side lines of which this driver was complaining, but he really has no cause for complaint. He is helping to make bad driving for himself and all others for a good many weeks to come by trying to force a fairly heavy truck along a side line this time of year. He wanted us to put something in the paper about it So we did.

On a Motorcycle at 79

Walter R. Henry lives in Goderich. In all he has been living there and elsewhere for 79 years. That is not unusual because others have done the same thing. But Walter R. Henry rides a motorcycle. Nor did he start at it years and years ago. He admits he was 72 years old when he tried to make one of those things go, and before that he used to ride on a bicycle. When he got tired making that go with his feet and legs he turned to the motorcycle.

Walter R. Henry, the 79-year-old motorcyclist of Goderich, says that new the speed law of 50 miles an hour will suit him. When he gets out in the open he likes to sift along at an even 45 miles.

This paper is always looking here and there for something which looks like a record, and Walter R. Henry of Goderich, 79 years of age, chugging along on a motorcycle, may supply material for one.

Going Back to Britain

Those who advocate in all sincerity that we should have more settlers coming to Canada from Britain should study the figures of movement between the two countries.

A despatch from London says that since 1930 there have been more people going from other parts of the Empire to Britain than have left for settlement elsewhere.

In 1936, the last complete years on record, 7,826 more people left Canada to live in Great Britain than came from Britain to live in Canada.

South Africa is the one Dominion which has retained more British settlers than have picked up and returned home.

The figures are not analyzed, but merely presented for what they are worth. When industrial conditions began to improve in Britain people in Canada who had been here and who were not doing any too well, went home in search of work, and many of them found it.

So that puts us temporarily out of the running as being a land which can and will absorb a large number of British immigrants, for the returns for 1936 show we sent more people to Britain than we received from that land.

No One Envies Him

Premier Aberhart of Alberta followed his usual strange custom by making use of Easter Sunday to discuss matters of political significance at the meeting of his Prophetic Bible Institute at Calgary. We consider it fair comment to say he finds himself in a strange position. He was probably convinced that Social Credit could be made to work and said so emphatically when campaigning prior to the last provincial election. His followers thought the same thing; they all seemed to be of one mind, but they are not agreed on how the thing ought to be done.

There are Social Credit members of the legislature who want something done and at once. They desire to pass a law which would tax securities to the extent of $20,000,000 a year. Mr. Aberhart cannot see any justice in such a move, which would be a form of confiscation, and he will quit rather than agree to it.

And right there is where the trouble starts and begins Those who looked for a great change have not yet seen it come to pass. They want to do something and that leads them to the point where they are willing to grab anything on which they can lay their official hands. If it is not lawful to do so they would pass a law saying it would be all right.

We do not believe any person envies Premier Aberhart his position. He has sufficient sanity in him to wish to see where he is going to end before he makes the start, but he is being shoved along by members who want to make a start and then figure out where they are going to land.

No Reason For It

Changing the speed limits in villages, towns and cities from 30 to 30 miles an hour is an example of official nonsense. There was never any demand made for the change, and there was no reason why there should have been a demand.

The change is in open defiance of every rule of good driving or of safety. On nearly every street in every city, town and village there are children playing, and their chances of being struck are increased when the speed limit is legally raised to 30 miles an hour.

Driving in places where population is thickly settled is entirely a different matter to going along a highway.

Court records in the larger centres of population show there has not been a falling off in the list of those charged with driving while drupk. Before raising the speed limit to 30 miles an hour we should have had some assurance that the drunken driver was going to mend his ways. We can see no good in this new regulation. It looks as though the idea of making people drive sanely and well had been thrown out the window.

Less Gas Being Used

The gas department of the Public Utilities Commission of Peterborough is not making money, and the last report showed it was operating at a deficit of over $6,000 during the year. As an operating unit it actually produced a profit of $3,200 which was offset by a depreciation allowance of $9,677.

The Utilities Commission is in the strange position of competing with itself in supplying both gas and electricity to serve the same domestic purpose, and each time there is a reduction in Hydro rates the competition of that form of usage becomes a little keener. The average price paid last year by the domestic consumer of gas amounted to $1.67 per thousand feet, and the cost of producing the gas was $154. In 1931 and 1932 the average family consumption of gas consumers was from 15,000 to 15,500 feet per year; today it is 12,500, and the gas plant as it stands now could produce 50 per cent. more gas with no increased cost apart from coal and oil. That is the problem of the Commission. The numbers of users of gas is not rapidly diminishing, but consumers are using less.

The first drop in consumption was noticed when the Hydro Commission of Ontario introduced flat-rate heaters for water tanks, and there are now 1,100 of these in the city. That displaced a great many gas heaters for tanks. In a number of homes there is now only a gas plate used for heating water on wash day.

It is interesting to notice where the cost is distributed in a thousand feet of gas. The individual who burns gas does not go out and bring it home like groceries or a pair of shoes. He has to pay for a number of things as well as the coal and oil which enter into the manufacture of the gas he buys. Taking the cost of gas at 154.28 cents per thousand feet it is divided this way:

Coal and oil	39.90
Labor and material	27.15
Distribution	14.01
Compensation, insurance, office, etc.	31.23
Interest and sinking fund	41.99
	154.28

So the manufacture of gas is not profitable, and according to methods of calculation which are quite in keeping with sound cost principles, gas is being sold at a loss although the plant may show a slight operating profit. It is not expected this situation will right itself, and there are prospects that the cost of raw materials in gas will increase, while electric energy rates are likely to show a decline. There may be another decrease this year and that will stiffen existing competition for the gas department. It would cause no surprise if eventually the Commission were forced to go out of the gas business.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Many of the guards at the Guelph reformatory are to be changed. The prisoners will probably remain about the same however until their terms expire.

Premier Hepburn has gone to Florida for a short holiday. Whatever the sad waves will be saying along the Florida coast it will seem pleasant after listening to the opposition last week.

Marriages in Canada during February showed a decrease of six per cent, and that is not a very effective rebuttal to the fact that the number of divorces is showing a strong trend upward.

The Post Office department in Ottawa in insisting on two city deliveries on Good Friday was rather bending over backward in seeking to speed up mail service. The morning delivery would have been sufficient.

The adjudicator at the British Columbia drama festival said of one performance that it was absolutely perfect. We are afraid he must be a novice. No experienced critic ever admitted that anything was perfect.

Liquor Control Commissioner Odette says the government inspectors are keeping a very close check upon conditions in beverage rooms, and his statement will cause considerable surprise, even among the inspectors.

It is stated that hens in Spain have lost 25 per cent of their laying capacity as a result of being frightened by bombing and artillery fire. We would have thought hens would be impervious to shell shock.

Japan refuses to restrict naval guns to 14 inches, preferring to go to 16 or even larger. If a man were going to be shot with a 14 or a 16 inch gun we don't suppose it would make much difference which was used.

Easter lilies were seized by police in Irish Free State when offered for sale by the banned Irish Republican army. Being a bit busy at the moment we have not had time to figure out the exact possibilities for harm, injury or danger in an Easter lily.

New regulations will make it necessary for keepers of beer parlors to have separate rooms for men and ladies. Many a grown man today will cherish the memory that his mother was content with a cup of tea when some of the neighbors dropped in.

Municipalities must accept the 30 mile speed limit set by the the bill recently passed in the Legislature. However, municipal police have it in their hands to lay charges of reckless driving at an even lower speed if they are satisfied that the rate set by the motorist is dangerous under the existing conditions.

WEE ANGUS

(By A. R. K.)

¶ Some lad who just moved into town, he lives I think a few doors down, and looks all right to me; but Angus runs him pretty hard, he had him playing in the yard, then asked him in to tea.

¶ He asked him if he'd come again, inquired if he could say just when, a friendly little man; I couldn't figure how 'twas done, for Angus as a rule will chum, with Pete and Joe and Dan.

¶ I asked Wee Angus why the crush, he'd grabbed this stranger in a rush, and hung to him like glue; why had he dropped the other gang, and let them suddenly go hang, for one he scarcely knew.

¶ Wee Angus said he could explain, he'd made the thing all clear and plain, his ball team was at stake; the season would be starting soon, for this new lad they'd all make room, he pitched a curve, a snake.

¶ And more than that to aid the task, the new boy had a dandy mask, a glove and pair of shoes; he also had a catcher's mit, on Dan's left hand he knew 'twould fit, and all this stuff they'd use.

¶ So Angus' kindness is a scheme, the barest kind I've ever seen, and it looks rather tame; but Angus says he's heard me say, how men in business every day —do just about the same.

Our Statesmen At Their Labors

(Parliamentary Debates)

OFF THE TRACK

Mr. DUNNING: I should like to give some justification, not for the condition upon which the leader of the opposition bases his remarks—

Mr. RYAN: Hear, hear.

Mr. DUNNING: —but with respect to the condition which both governments anticipate might occur.

Mr. BENNETT: The hon. member does not know what I am talking about.

Mr. RYAN: I rise to a point of order; the right hon. gentleman says I do not know what he is talking about.

Mr. BENNETT: I do not think so.

Mr. RYAN: I ask him to withdraw it. I must say I have a little more respect for the people of the United Kingdom than he has. He gives as an example, one bankrupt stock going into Great Britain and the English merchants thereupon rising up in arms and threatening the people of this country. If that is the attitude he takes in the matter, I am sure I have greater respect for the people of the United Kingdom than he has.

Mr. BENNETT: I think my remark has been absolutely justified. The hon. member for St. John-Albert (Mr. Ryan) has demonstated that he did not know what I was talking about. I do not suggest that the people of Great Britain would take up arms. Apparently he has not read the section.

Mr. RYAN: I beg to differ with the right hon. gentleman. I followed him very closely and he said the merchants of the United Kingdom would ask that certain conditions be imposed.

Mr. BENNETT: It is the government, not the merchants.

Mr. RYAN: The government would speak for the merchants.

Mr. DUNNING: It seems to me that we have got a little off the track.

Mr. BENNETT: We have not got down to the facts.

Mr. DUNNING: We are rather in the realm of remote speculation.

PAYING THE BILLS

Royal Commission on Anthracite Coal—further amount required, $6,500.

Mr. BENNETT: Will the minister tell us what is the total cost of this commission? I am bound to say that the report is rather disappointing, inasmuch as it did not deal with the importations of anthracite to Nova Scotia from Germany; and several cargoes of German anthracite, sometimes spoken of by vendors as Welsh anthracite, came in to Nova Scotia to which no adequate reference, in my judgment, was made. It seems to me that the commissioner was largely concerned with one firm and its dealings. I should like to know what the total cost was.

Mr. ROGERS: I have not before me the terms of reference of the royal commission which inquired into the importation of anthracite coal. I do have, before me a statement of the expenses, which I take it will cover the particular question asked by the leader of the opposition (Mr. Bennett). The amount voted in the supplementary estimates, 1936-37, was $15,000. As the inquiry proceeded it was necessary to obtain two additional amounts from unforeseen expenses, one of $6,000, and another of $3,500. The present vote is for the replacing of those two amounts taken from unforeseen expenses, a total of $9,500, and the original $15,000, making $23,500 the cost of the commission.

ON BORROWED TIME

Mr. DEPUTY SPEAKER: I do not want to interrupt the hon. gentleman but his time is up.

Mr. WOODSWORTH: May I have two or three minutes longer?

Mr. DEPUTY SPEAKER: With the unanimous consent of the house.

Some hon. MEMBERS: Go on.

Mr. WOODSWORTH: My time was split at six o'clock. I want to call attention briefly to one or two other matters involved in the budget speech. Our revenue from all tax sources will amount to $264,619,000. May I point out that this amounts to nearly $33 per head, or $175 per family of five. Our sales tax, now the largest single source of government revenues, amounts to $115,500,000, which is about $10 per head or $50 per family of five; and undoubtedly it falls most heavily on the ordinary people of the country—and all this in addition to monopoly exactions and tariff robbery. I wish I had time to discuss some of the hidden profits of the textile firms, but I do not suppose I should be permitted to do that until we have the actual report of the commission.

Our public debt charges amount to 26.23 per cent of our expenditures, debt charges due very largely to the war. War pensions amount to 10.32 per cent; national defence 4.36 per cent. In other words we have a total, on account of the last war or prospective war, of 40.91 per cent of our expenditures.

Mr. DUNNING: I do not say that.

Mr. WOODSWORTH: No, the minister did not say that, but I am saying it. I think I am correct; I hope I am.

A Bit of Nonsense

Out of the Mouths of Babes

The wedding had been rather spoilt by a baby which insisted upon crying at the top of its voice throughout the ceremony.

Afterwards at the reception, the best man commented on the nuisance and suggested that children should not be allowed in church.

"You're quite right," said a ten-year-old bridesmaid. "When I get married I'm going to have a note printed in the corner of all the invitation cards—NO BABIES EXPECTED."

Robes For the Mayor.

(From The Lindsay Post.)

PETERBOROUGH citizens are all agog over a suggestion by Alderman James Dutton that the Mayor of Peterborough be adorned with a chain of office and robes befitting the dignity of his office as a worthy means of commemorating the Coronation of Their Majesties King George VI and Queen Elizabeth. It has been suggested that such formality would tend to lend dignity to the office of Mayor and that the robes, once presented, should be handed down to each successor.

In Peterborough, there has been an expression of public opinion invited regarding this matter of doling up the Mayor. Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., says "It's the bunk with a capital B." Others interviewed by the Peterborough Examiner felt that it would be a good thing, that the upholding of traditions of the Mother Land in connection with offices of public trust and honour is well worth the time and expense involved in carrying out the pageantry.

If it were carried out within reason, we would be inclined to side with those favoring official robes for the Mayor of Peterborough. Taxpayers should not be required to bear the burden however. There are too many cases in Peterborough as there are in Lindsay and all other towns and cities where a dollar for food is more important than pomp for the Mayor. There are plenty of private individuals no doubt, with a flair for tradition and a pride in the home town who would gladly dig down for such a worthy purpose and who could afford to do so.

The upholding of tradition in affairs of state is something that we in Democratic Canada have perhaps fallen away from. Many fine old customs in other walks of life could well be revived to general benefit too. Where is the gentleman who used to give his seat to lady passengers on a street car. Where has the family pew at church disappeared to. The pew is still there, but if the whole family ever got together long enough to occupy it en masse on a Sunday evening as of yore, the rest of the congregation would have justification for a little neck craning and whispering behind hands. How about the wife that used to get up in the morning and start her spouse off fortified for the day's work with a hearty breakfast which started off with oatmeal porridge. Where is the youth who thinks enough of his home life that he can spare an occasional evening with the old folks reading a book or joining in family games. These were customs a few years ago, established long enough to truly be termed traditions. Today they are slipping badly. By all means Peterborough, get the robes and wig for your Mayor, it may be the beginning of something. It might be the first step necessary to the re-establishment of a lot of very worth-while traditions that have fallen by the wayside in this perhaps too free and easy Canada of ours.

He Is Well Known Here.

(By J. W.)

TO MOST of us the theory of evolution is a dead language, until every so often some anthropologist appears claiming to have found the missing link between man and ape, and sets scientific world agog.

When such a discovery is made by Professor Raymond A. Dart who is locally known and with relatives in our own city a new interest is awakened in even the average citizen. The recent discovery announced in the Examiner of an ancient skull, by Robert Broom of the Transvall University, Pretoria, South Africa, tends to confirm that made by Professor Raymond Dart, of Johannesburg, some twelve years ago over which the scientists of the world still continue to be excited. Professor Dart has identified the newly found skull as that of the same type of two-legged creature—probably sub-human, and he thinks there are indications in the shape of the creature's skull, that it had learned to talk. A similar animal, with virtually human teeth, was discovered by Professor Dart himself in another cave about three hundred miles from the site of the present find. This was the skull of a five-year-old baby. It was buried fifty feet in a limestone cliff. This fossil skull was of a creature, neither anthropoid ape, nor human being, but stated by scientists to be intermediate between both—in form and brain power.

Professor Dart, then professor of Anatomy in Witwatersrand University, declared that the skull he had found was not that of a human being and yet much more intelligent than a gorilla or chimpanzee. Whether or not it could talk, the brain had advanced in the direction required in an ancestor whose offspring were to attain ultimately the power of communicating with their fellows by the symbolism of speech. Prof. Dart, with other anthropologists, had believed for a long time that Africa, and not Asia, would provide the missing link, and they certainly succeeded in stirring up scientists all over the world for the skull discovered by Dart was much earlier in evolution than the noted Broken Hill skull.

Dart said that the ante-gold ape would have been sufficiently intelligent to leave the tropical forest for the unkowand environment of the Kalahari Desert, and could have used weapons of offence and defence. They lived entirely upon fruits and and roots.

British scientists were deeply interested in the discovery in Dr. Dart of the Taungs skull of Bechuanaland, which is believed to be the oldest in the world and the real missing link.

When the news of this discovery was cabled from South Afrira, Sir Arthur Keith, Hunterain Professor of the Royal College of Surgeons, said: "I know Dart, an Australian anatomist well. He is particularly interested in the brain. He is a most able man and a report made by him must be taken seriously." Again: "Professor Dart is a very competent authority to express an opinion on such a momentous question" said Sir Edgewood David, professor of Geology at Sydney University.

Professor Raymond Dart is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Dart of Indooroopilly, Brisbane, Queensland. He was educated at the Ipswich Grammar School. He matriculated and qualified as a B.Sc. and M.Sc. at Brisbane University where he was also a demonstrator in anatomy. He was tutor in Biology at St. Andrew's College, Sydney University, where he graduated in medicine and was also a vice-president of the college. As a doctor he served on the resident staff of the Royal Prince Alfred College Hospital and received a commission as Captain in the Army Medical Corps when he joined the A.I.F., and served in France. After the Armistice he was appointed a lecturer in anatomy at University College, London, and later received a Rockefeller fellowship to travel through the United States for the purpose of investigating advances in the science of anatomy and X-Ray. It was while touring the United States, that he also visited Canada and his relatives in Peterborough. Upon his return to London, he accepted a position as Professor at Witwatersrand University, Johannesburg, where he and his wife, Dr. Dora Dart, are at present practising.

Professor Dart is one of an impressive family of eight boys. His brother, Dr. J. Leslie Dart, with his wife, Dr. Elice Dart, practice in Sydney, Australia. One brother is a Baptist minister in Texas, another is a doctor in Wisconsin. Two are clergymen in Brisbane, one is in Brisbane University, while the only brother of the eight to enter a business life, is in New York City. The father and mother are living and six years ago visited friends in Peterborough, where several of the family at different times have visited and voted Peterborough a very fine place to live.

ITS WORST ENEMIES.

(St. Thomas Times-Journal)

A PREACHING mission is to progress in Niagara Falls and, apparently, one of its chief aims is to revive the church members as much as those outside. Quite frankly, the worst enemies of the church are the hypocrites who, continually in attendance at the services, are there for business connectional reasons only, and, in their every-day business relations with other people prove that they know nothing of the essentials of Christianity.

It is impossible, for instance, to call a man a Christian who, if he happens to be a painter, gives a coat and a half of white house paint when the specifications call for three coats of elephant hide, or a man of any other business who cheats in any way. Men who do that sort of things are disliked, indeed they are condemned for they deceive no one but themselves.

The real Christian will carry his Christianity into his relations, business and otherwise with his fellows, and not simply use his church membership as a sort of respectable mantle for expediencies. If every church member carried the square dealing, which is the essential of Christianity, into his or her daily life, there would be an infinitely greater respect for the church, unhappily and quite wrongly judged by some of the hypocrites who are members.

MAPLE PRODUCTS.

(Oshawa Times)

THE VALUE to the producers and the extent of the maple products industry in the Dominion is hardly realized by the average citizen, possibly because figures in relation to the product are seldom seen in the press. The industry is a seasonal one and spread over a wide area, and it is only through the statistical branch at Ottawa that such figures may be learned. Just recently the totals for the Dominion in the maple products industry during 1936 were released. The activities come at a time of year when farmers and owners of maple bushes are not busy at something else and provide employment and cash which is most welcome.

Expressed in pounds of sugar, last year's production totalled approximately 29,500,000, valued at $2,700,000, as against 26,000,000 pounds valued at $3,500,000 produced in 1935. The maple syrup output decreased, totalling 2,000,000 gallons last year compared with 2,250,000 in 1935, while the sugar crop showed an increase from 6,500,000 pounds in 1935 to 9,300,000 pounds in 1936. Quebec province was the heaviest producer of maple products, yielding about 76 per cent. of the total, while Ontario came first with about 23 per cent.

Exports of maple products during the past fiscal year amounted to the equivalent of 6,109,803 pounds of sugar, the greater part of which went to the United States. During the first six months of this fiscal year, the equivalent of 2,554,638 pounds of sugar was exported as compared with 3,199,854 pounds during the corresponding months of 1935-36.

SPELLING BEES.

(The Argonaut, San Francisco)

IN AN age when proper diction and clear enunciation of the English language are submerged in a flood of coined words and colloquialisms, a revival of the old-fashioned spelling bee seems anomalous. A series of spelling contests are now being aired over the radio where, we always believed, spelling of a word really mattered very little if it was clearly and correctly pronounced.

The speaking vocabulary of the average American is estimated to be between three and four hundred words, most of them of two and three syllable construction. Simple words like "believe," "sense" and "occurred" are a problem for most of us. Confronted with such stumbling blocks as "phthisis," "asafoetida," "pseudonym" and "pultrum," we would be inclined to doubt the existence of any such word in the American language. What confuses us is the broadcasting of the fact that the majority of Americans, holding university and college degrees, supposedly intelligent and well-read, are

So it seems to us that the radio spelling bee is an attempt to revive an art that has long ago suffered its usefulness.

TOO MUCH CHEESE.

(Belleville Intelligencer)

TOO MUCH limburger-market glutted, so limburger cheese flakers take a holiday until the market returns to normal. With a surplus of one million pounds of limburger cheese the interested farmers of Grey County, Wisconsin, gathered in conference to see what could be done. The result was a decision to cease making until the market absorbed the surplus. Market price is fifteen cents per pound and the annual national consumption of limburger is 11,000,000 pounds. For 45 days until May 1 no new limburger will be made in Grey County, while milk will be diverted to other uses.

NEEDS BIG CROP.

(Calgary Herald)

WHAT the west needs this year is a big crop. It would stimulate business and industry. If a 400,000,000 bushel crop could be reaped this coming Fall, many of our economic difficulties would be over-come. Certainly the unemployment problem would be solved to a considerable extent.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, March 30 (C.P.) — All but one of the grain futures on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange established new seven year highs in active but erratic trading on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. In the final hour heavy profit-taking pared early gains, and at the close prices were unchanged to ¾ cent lower with May at $1.47⅞, July $1.43 to $1.43¼, and October at $1.28⅛ to ¾.

Prices touched their high levels during the first hour on heavy buying and a scarcity of offerings proved little resistance to the unawing. But after May wheat touched $1.49¾, its best prices since December 6, 1929, another splurge of profit-taking caused prices to react.

HIS PLEA REFUSED

Vag Gets 6 Months For Threatening Woman With Knife.

SIMCOE, Ont., March 30—(CP)—Leonard C. Clark, charged with vagrancy and accused of threatening a Waterford woman and her neighbor with a jackknife appeared in court yesterday. He denied the accusations and was only trying to get some tobacco for his pipe.

"Perhaps a six months reformatory sentence would make you have more respect for women who are kind enough to try and help transients like you," the Crown said.

"Please don't send me to a reformatory, please don't," Clark pleaded. He got six months.

THE Royal Road TO THE CORONATION

The young prince on a visit to Balmoral; Her Majesty at Glamis Castle in 1909

SCOTLAND early attracted Prince Albert (he must still be called Prince Albert for until he became King George VI the less common name was always used in the royal family). His grandfather, King Edward VII, spent as much time as the duties of kingship would allow at the lovely and historic estate of Balmoral; when George V came to the throne, Balmoral was even more popular as a gathering place for the royal family, and the Scottish moors often saw the monarch, one of the finest shots in his kingdom, on the hunt.

While at Balmoral, or indeed whenever the courtiphad reason to visit Scotland it was, and still is, the custom to wear the typical Scottish garb. It was a tribute that Scotland deeply appreciated which has drawn the royal family even closer to the country. To-day's picture shows Prince Albert, on one of the Balmoral visits, in the kilts and plaid of the district. Shown also is another picture, even more charming, of Queen Elizabeth at the age of nine.

She was Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon then, young daughter of the Earl of Strathmore and Kingthorne and scion of one of the noblest lines in Scottish history. Youngest of a family of 10, she, too, lived a great part of her childhood life in England, though for three months of each year the family lived at Glamis Castle, the almost legendary pile that history says is the actual castle of gloomy Macbeth. No hint was there when these pictures were taken (the Queen in fancy period dress for a Glamis celebration) that some day the roads of this carefree boy and charming girl would cross. For this was near to the start of the journey that leads to Westminster on May 12.

BEST TEACHERS ARE NEEDED MOST

35 pupils if the "increment" of the teachers' personalities, more important than the curriculum, was not to be lost. He urged abandonment of larger classes as rapidly as finances permit.

Unless teachers' salaries were restored to pre-depression levels as quickly as possible, the general quality of the teaching profession could not be maintained, he declared. Recently teaching has attracted graduates in law, the church, medicine and engineering but this desirable group could not be held with the present salary level.

Applause met Dr. McArthur when addressing particularly the rural section, he declared "any chance to be made in the educational system must carry with it the consent and approval of the people."

The Department of education has insisted on the continuance of rural school boards even where the schools have been closed because of small attendance, he said. The department wished to close no school where another satisfactory alternative could be found.

Grouping Rural Units.

The Deputy Minister said he approached "a very delicate problem —the size of the unit of administration for rural schools." Efficiency should be the consideration. Where present units could give efficient service they should be left alone. Where better education could be provided by grouping two, three or more units, they should be grouped.

"I maintain— and here I speak personally— the school conducted with five or six children is not treating the children fairly," he said. "It cannot provide the social implications or grounding in social contests. Skill in co-operation cannot be developed. The smaller the attendance the greater the chance of instilling the spirit of individualism and selfishness."

Towns and cities attract the best teachers away from the rural schools, he said. The latter get the young and inexperienced. "It is less a matter of salary than the kind of a job you give them," he said. "Give them a job worth doing in the rural schools and they'll do it. I suggest that it is not always possible under present conditions. This is the major education problem confronting Ontario today."

Urges Joint Hiring System.

"Changes will not be forced on anybody," he said. "We'll show the way but ultimately the decision must be yours."

The Deputy-Minister said he held up brief for township school boards. He would rather see a movement toward larger school units start in experiments in co-operation. To this end he suggested groups of rural boards should co-operate in hiring Ontario Agricultural College graduates as board agriculture. The same might be done to teach domestic science.

"Bitter disappointments" was expressed by Dr. McArthur because of several petitions received during the past year against closing rural schools. Invariably, he said, one of the reasons set forth against the closing was that it would depreciate the value of farms in the school section. He thought consideration of the children's welfare should rise above this viewpoint.

to sound out the wishes of all the men as to what they wanted to do. Every man's hand was raised in favor of "sticking together."

An employee told The Examiner that the demand for a wage increase was not stimulated by outside influences. He said that between 60 and 70 men, including the night shift, would be affected by the demand, but that the men of the rubber department were all work.

Thought Reasonable.

"We think it is a reasonable appeal to the company," another employee stated. "The city pay the employees 40 cents an hour. Some of us are getting 38 cents an hour. An increase of 25 per cent. to those getting 40 cents an hour would mean only 10 cents."

The committee of three returned a third time from the conference with the management and reported that the management desired to talk things over in the garage with all the men except those of recent engagement.

"Let's all go," one of the men called out, and the crowd went around to the new building on the east side of the factory.

From the office it was learned later this afternoon that the general conference with the management resulted in an amicable settlement, and the men immediately returned to work. Shortly after two o'clock the day shift was operating at full strength as if the noon hour flurry had not occurred.

On Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Sisson and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hannah called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cephas Staples and presented Mrs. Staples, who is not enjoying good health, with the gift of a beautiful full-blooming cineraria pan/son behalf of St. Mary's Church Guild.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Bernard have moved this week from the farm residence owned by Mr. Herbert Neals, North Line, to the vacant house on Lifford Line owned by Walter Neals and vacated by Mr. Wilfred Mullligan and family.

YOUTH CONFESSES BUFFALO MURDER

body was found in a field February 6.

Higgins said he thought Smith was an acquaintance of Mary Ellen's and also of 14-year-old Frances Fitzgerald from whose back physicians extracted the frozen blade of an ice pick, Sunday night. Investigation of the injury to the Fitzgerald girl, Higgins said, led to the Babcock case confession. Higgins said Smith related that he had offered the Fitzgerald girl a ride, and had stabbed her when "something clicked."

Second Confession.

Lieutenant William E. Downing, one of the three officers who arrested Smith, said that after Smith confessed the Fitzgerald stabbing he was suddenly asked:

What about the Babcock girl—where did you meet her?"

Downing said Smith blurted out: "I've got to get this whole thing off my mind. I killed Mary Ellen Babcock, all right.

"I never saw her until that night. I passed her in Legion Drive. And the urge came over me to go after her. I grabbed her from behind, and when she started to scream I put my hand over her face.

"She fell to the ground and I dragged her across the road, and threw her down the bank. I continued to stab her. I picked up a rock and smashed her in the head. I didn't attack her."

Higgins said the youth identified a knife, found beside the body, as his, but denied ownership of a scarf and gloves.

4 ARRESTED IN STRIKE.

BUFFALO, N.Y., March 29. — (AP)—Police reported the arrest of four men to-day as new disorders broke out on the fourth day of a produce handlers' strike here.

Italians Oust Trade Mogul From Ethiopia

ing chickens, eggs and wheat in from the country, the foreign colony moved through the wide front doors buying everything from tid-bits of jam and cookies from London to magnificent rugs from Armenia, jewelry from Arabia and ready-made suits from the United States.

Driver of Hard Deals.

Trade made the Mohamemd Ali fabulously rich, for he drove hard bargains, dominated the gasoline trade, and had an interest in almost every business in the capital, including the sale of water from private wells to the natives. He had branch stores in what passed for Ethiopia's principal cities and was virtually the business dictator of the black empire.

When the Negus fled Adis at the approach of the Italian armies last May, Mohammed Ali installed his own "army" of Indians and Arabs in his big store across from the native markets. His huge supply of foreign goods and food stocks was the greatest goal of the five days of Ethiopian killing, burning and looting that swept the city before the Italian entered.

But, despite attack after attack, the Mohammed Ali's "army" held firm. Machine guns set up in the doorways and windows cut down scores of looters. When the Italians entered there sat the Mohammed Ali, benign, in his plush chair on the verandah of the rambling building—the dirt streets in front choked with dead, the windows gone, but the store intact.

Disliked the Italians

All's troubles started then.

An industrial lord in his own right, he took poorly to the commands of the Italians. His prices leaped to treble the normal overnight as soldiers and officers, starved and parched through days of forced marching over the last mountains to the capital, jammed his aisles.

He hid cigarettes, refused to sell them for lire and officers, with soldiers carrying leveled, bayoneted rifles, reded them out and shoved him around somewhat. He refused to accept the paper money of the Italians, until none too gentle persuasion convinced him that time had changed and silver was scarce.

VANCOUVER, March 30—(CP)—Streets in Vancouver's Japanese colony were hung with thousands of flags, banners and flowers to-day and its populace awaited a visit from Prince Yasuhito Chichibu, 35-year-old brother of the Mikado.

Japanese children dressed in white middies and black trousers had armed themselves with flags, ready to line the course of the Prince's tour through their section of the city. Some of them already had seen the Prince and his young Princess from the railings above the wharf where the motorship Hetan Maru docked yesterday bringing the imperial suite to the first city of their trans-Canada journey.

Alkaline Forming Foods Should Be Majored Now

Fats, Starches And Sweets Are Chief Acid-Forming Foods

APPLES ARE ALKALINE

By MARY MOORE

The Dinners We Serve in the Spring Tra-La Have Something to Do With the Case

The case referred to in the title being a bad case of Spring fever and I am the victim. Can you believe that I have a touch of sunburn and I haven't ventured south of the 49th Parallel of Latitude all winter, either?

With the top window down in my bedroom the sun shines directly on my pillow at about 3.30 in the afternoon—and I decided to bask in it one easy day and did—and Spring Fever is the result.

Coat was discarded in favor of suit, and Spring is here.

Now that the epidemic of late winter sickness seems to have subsided, we have to put our minds to providing what the nutritionists call protective foods.

Certain advertisers have clarified the meaning of acid-forming foods—chief among which are the fats and starches and sweets. Our point is that alkaline-forming foods should be majored now—and although I knew it well before—I have just remembered that apples are four times as alkaline as any other common food. Good old apples—maybe that is why this great North Country has such an abundant supply of them—since we are denied the wealth of fruits that are grown in the South in the Winter.

While this is not primarily a fruit article it happens that many of the alkaline foods are fruits.

To get the very best that apples have, they should be served raw.

Apple Whip
(Emem's Version)

Force an apple for each person to be served through the fine knife of the food chopper. Have ready 1 cup of heavy cream whipped and immediately put the minced apples in it to prevent them browning—I let them drop right into the whipped cream from the mouth of the chopper. Pile in high glass dishes—chill and top with cherry. We like this best when crackers and cheese are served with it. The whole dish may be sweetened with granulated sugar, but has a very ultra flavor if grated maple sugar is springled over the top.

Rhubarb Punch

One quart fresh rhubarb (4 cups when diced small), 1 quart water, 1¼ cups sugar, ½ cup orange juice, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 pint chilled mineral water (this is optional and may be replaced by ice or ginger ale). Combine the rhubarb, water and sugar and stew until tender. Then press through a fine strainer. Add the orange and lemon juices, cool and then chill. Just before serving add the mineral water or ginger ale. This amount serves eight generously.

New Potatoes With Chives

Two pounds new potatoes, ¼ cup minced chives (or green onion tops), ¼ cup melted butter. Scrub, boil until tender and peel new potatoes. Shake over heat for a few minutes then add the chives and butter which have been cooked together gently for a few minutes.

Roast Stuffed Lamb With Corn Dressing

Have shoulder blade removed from meat and fill cavity with dressing made as follows: Two cups corn pulp, 2½ cups bread crumbs, 3 tablespoons very finely chopped celery leaves, 2 tablespoons minced green pepper, 1½ teaspoon salt, a teaspoon pepper, 4 tablespoons melted butter. Mix well. This makes 3¾ cups dressing.

Place the meat in an uncovered roaster. Sear for 30 minutes in oven of 480 deg. Fahr. Reduce the temperature rapidly to 300 deg. Fahr. and continue roasting for about 2½ hours.

Cheese Loaf
(With Horseradish Sauce)

One cup each boiled rice and mashed potatoes, ¼ cup canned tomatoes, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 2 teaspoons salt, paprika, ½ cup grated cheese. Mix ingredients well, and shape mixture into loaf pan well greased. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. Serve with

Horseradish Sauce

One tablespoon each flour and butter, 1 cup meat stock, salt, pepper, 1 tablespoon prepared horseradish. Melt butter, add flour, and stir until smooth. Add meat stock, bring it to the boiling point and boil 3 to 4 minutes, stirring. Add seasonings and horseradish and serve.

Orange Charlotte

One tablespoon gelatin, ¼ cup boiling water, ½ cup cold water, ½ cup sugar, 1½ cups heavy cream, lady fingers or strips of sponge cake. Soak gelatine for 5 minutes in cold water; dissolve in boiling water and add strained orange and lemon juices and sugar. Set in pan of ice water and stir until it begins to thicken. Fold in cream beaten until stiff. Line mould with lady fingers; pour in mixture, shake down and put in refrigerator to stiffen.

Poached Eggs in Butter

While I like eggs poached in water well enough if served on toast—I must say I think an egg poached in water and served just plain on a plate is a most unappetising and slippery customer.

Perhaps you think poaching them in butter makes them into fried eggs, but it really does not. Just use enough butter to cover bottom of iron frying pan when it is melted. Drop the eggs into this, cover and let stand over the burner where the butter was melted, but put no flame or heat under it—but the cover must fit tightly. If the eggs are not set at the end of 3 or 4 minutes light the fire low, for a minute. This gives a soft egg, firm enough to take out of the pan with a pancake turner. The flavor is delicious.

Though I seem to have wandered from my original argument for alkaline foods, the above things are all essentially Spring-y. Blame my inconsistencies on "The Fever".

COOKIE PRESS COOKIES

THIS recipe took longer to acquire than I anticipated. The lady who offered to find it for me (I had tasted them at her house) had to send to Oregon for her sister's recipe. She vouches for its goodness and says they will keep indefinitely. At the time of giving them to me she said she made the full recipe six weeks ago, and kept them in a tightly closed tin box and the cookies were even better than when first made.

Cookie Press Cookies.

To be used through cookie press or pastry tube.

Butter Cookies.

One pound butter, 1¾ cups sugar, yolks 6 eggs, 5 cups sifted flour, 1 teaspoon almond (or any other desired) flavoring. Cream butter thoroughly then cream in the sugar and beaten egg yolks. Sift in the sifted flour a little at a time until it is all added, then add flavoring. No other liquid is necessary—indeed if you do think you should add liquid it will only make the cookies spread and shapeless when they begin to heat through. Force through the cookie press or pastry tube on to greased cookie sheet into desired shapes, and bake at 325 degrees Fahr.—rather slow oven until crisp and lightly touched with gold.

Six In Finals For Best Cook

Three Are In Their Twenties, But Only One Is Unmarried

NEW YORK, March 30.—(AP)—The old feminine wile of intriguing a man with home-made hot biscuits, in line with the maxim about "the best way to a man's heart," is back in style in the United States.

So say the six women contenders for this year's title of "national cooking champion," at the Women's National Exposition of Arts and Industries.

The "best woman cook in the nation" will be named late this week after a "cook-off" by teams of two in a model kitchen. Three of the six finalists who won regional contests for submitting well-balanced "average American menus" are in their twenties.

Here are the "prize cooks:"

That Dainty Touch Adds Something!

White Lingerie Accents on Dark Frocks Are Smart for Spring

Embroidered Swiss organdie and lace collared bib and jabot, left; right, collar and cuff set in shadow-printed Swiss organdie.

By Lisbeth

Spring is here indeed. There's swing in our silhouettes and rhythm in our fripperies!

If you don't believe the latter statement, wander into any shop that has a display of neckwear on hand and you'll be convinced of the latter fact. There is a decided vogue for dainty lingerie touches on dark or printed frocks, and for exquisite sheer blouses with tailored suits.

Swiss organdie is a popular medium for fresh, springlike neckwear and blouses. It is as fragile and delicate as the feminine heart could desire. For this finest of imported cottons carries a permanent finish that will survive any amount of tubbing, and needs only to be whisked in and out of the suds and pressed to return to its original snowy crispness.

Fine lace and such delicate handwork as embroidery, hemstitching, drawn work hand-tagotting and appliqued net are combined with organdie in lovely blouses and lingerie accents for frocks and suits.

Prim Or Flattering.

Collar and cuff sets, narrow or wide, may be found in styles that are prim and tailored or softly flattering, with much lace and ruffles.

Two collars that add interest to dark frocks are pictured. Adaptable to almost any type of neckline is the dainty collar, bib and jabot combination left. Lacy cut-out embroidered Swiss organdie is combined with fine wide val lace. A pointed jabot falls from a little tailored organdie bow in front in a line to match the long pointed bib.

The other, right, uses a floral motif subtly shadow-printed on the clear Swiss organdie. This motif shows up beautifully in the simple styling of this trim little washable collar and cuff set with jabot of hand-rolled petals. Crystal buttons finish the smart deep cuffs.

Separate collars, many bibs, vestees, gilets and collar-and-bib styles are original and imaginative in their design this season. Separate jabots are more interesting than ever, and are an easily applied lingerie touch to set a frock in tune with spring.

Enquiry Column

Mrs. MARY MOORE

QUESTION: Have you a chart showing amount of potatoes, bread, butter, meat or chicken, pies, cakes, tea, etc., required for a banquet for 100 persons? Thanking you, P. G. G.

ANSWER: Thank you for your letter.

Although I do not have a "chart," I can give you the quantity portions of food required for 100 people.

In the order that you mention them:

Potatoes: Unpeeled, allow a generous 1-3-lb. one rather large potato per person. Three pecks when mashed will serve 100.

Bread: One long loaf sandwich bread—40 slices—20 sandwiches. Allow 4 long loaves for 100 people.

Butter: 2½ lbs. will make 100 "pats"; ¼ tablespoon butter will spread 1 small slice bread (1-lb. contains 32 tablespoons—hence will spread 64 small slices.)

Meat: Roast meat or steak, 1-3-lb. lean meat per person—32 to 40 lbs. will serve 100. Hamburger, creamed, or meat loaf ¼-lb. per person, 25 lbs. serve 100. Twenty-five lbs. meat mixed with other ingredients serve 100.

Chicken: Fifty pounds dressed chicken serve 100 people as roast or fried. When cooked flaked and mixed with 5 quarts medium white sauce 30 lbs. dressed lean meaty chickens when cooked and chopped make about 25 lbs. steamed chicken to be served in patty shells.

Pies: Twenty 10-inch pies cut into 6 pieces will serve 100 and leave enough to give a few second servings.

Cakes: Eight or ten average (10-inch) layer cakes or jelly rolls will serve 100. (An "average-sized" cake requires from 2 to 2½ cups flour.)

Tea (or Coffee or Milk or Lemonade): One cup (measuring cup) per person allows a few "extras" when glasses or cups are served about three-quarters full. Four gallons serve 100.

You write "etc." after this list—anticipating I suppose that I will send a chart, including other foods.

I expect you will serve a vegetable such as peas or a salad. If so the followings quantities for them might help.

Peas (or other canned vegetables): Eighteen No. 2 cans serve 100.

Salad: One-half cup per person; 20 lbs. (about 12 quarts) serve 100.

Rolls: Allow 1½ per person—about 12 dozen to serve 100.

Olives: Four quarts serve 100 generously.

Celery: (Cutting each head into 6 through the heart). Allow two piece per person—about 30 medium sized bunches.

If you desire quantities of other foods write again if you have time before the event.

QUESTION: I wish to thank you for the many helpful hints and recipes I have obtained through your page in our paper. There was one recipe however last November "Emem's Dark Fruit Cake" you published that was not quite clear to me. I am sending the cutting. I got all set to make my cake and then had to leave that particular recipe because I was afraid to venture a guess. "One half each butter and brown sugar"—does that mean ½-lb. of each? I expect to make a wedding cake in the near future. Would this recipe be good for that? How can I secure cider? Thanks.—A.C.

Rich Dark Fruit Cake
(Corrected version)

One lb. fresh moist citron, 1-lb. candied cherries, 1 can crushed pineapple, 3 lbs. seeded raisins (Sultanas can be used but for perfection you should use either seeded Australian Lexias or seeded Valencias which are almost impossible to get because of the Spanish war), 1-lb. clean currants, ½-lb. each blanched raw almonds, butter, brown sugar, 2 cups sifted flour, 1 teaspoon cloves, six eggs (1 cup cider—we have decided since making this cake the last time that the cider is not necessary.) Slice the citron very thinly, and cut the cherries in two or four pieces. Wash the currants and raisins and dry them. Blanch and chop or shred or leave whole the almonds. Mix all these prepared fruits and nuts together. Sift together the flour, baking powder, spices. Combine the fruit and flour mixture thoroughly. Cream the butter and sugar well together. Add the beaten egg yolks and blend well. Add the crushed pineapple and the flour mixture alternately (the cider would be added to the crushed pineapple if used—although we now think it makes the cake too moist). Beat the egg whites until stiff and combine into the mixture. Line 4 bread pans measuring about 4½ x 8 inches with unglazed paper. Grease the paper and fill each pan about ¾ full. Place the pans in roaster on rack and fill to depth of ¾-inch with boiling water. Cover and steam in oven at 275 deg. Fahr. for 2½ hours. Remove the cakes from the steamer and bake ½-hour longer (some cakes take a little longer baking) at the same temperature. This recipe makes about 10 lbs. fruit cake.

We recommend leaving out the cider—and using only the crushed pineapple and egg whites to moisten the batter.

MOTHER HELPED BY KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN

"I have suffered from terrible constipation since the birth of my first child. I tried everything. Very reluctantly, I tried your ALL-BRAN with no faith in it at all.

"Much to my surprise, I have not had to take any medicine since starting to use ALL-BRAN."—Mrs. Doris Eyre King (address on request).

Common constipation is usually due to meals low in "bulk." Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies this needed "bulk."

Within the body, this cereal absorbs twice its weight in water, forms a soft mass, gently sponges out the system. ALL-BRAN also furnishes vitamin B to tone up the intestines, and iron for the blood.

Enjoy this food instead of taking weakening pills and drugs. Serve as a cereal, with milk or fruits, or cook into recipes.

ALL-BRAN is sold by your grocer. Made and guaranteed by Kellogg in London.

PIECE OF DUCHESS' PLANE?

LONDON, March 30 (C.P.-Havas)—A piece of wood, which the authorities believed may have been part of the plane of the missing Duchess of Bedford, was washed up on the sands at the Village of Titchvel, near Hunstanton, Norfolk, to-day.

An extensive search has been carried on since the 71-year-old "Flying Duchess" disappeared last Monday on a solo flight over the flooded Ouse River area. To-day's discovery was one of the few clues to come to light.

Warriors' Coronation

As one spectator phrased it, the "youth and beauty" of the city and district were present at the fifth annual Warriors' Coronation Ball held by the Peterborough branch of the Canadian Legion in their hall, on Easter Monday night. It was a very pleasant event, thoroughly enjoyed, and conducted in a splendid manner by those in charge. Although the attendance was not quite as large as anticipated (there were approximately one hundred and eighty people there), the evening was a decided success, with a large proportion of the younger set making the affair very gay. Pretty gowns were plentiful, and excellent music was played by Perce Atkinson's orchestra.

A number of the patrons and patronesses were prevented from attending, several being absent from the city. The reception honors were carried out by Lt.-Col. and Mrs. W. Gordon Hall, Major and Mrs. H. E. Clifton, Mrs. Walter Hughes, president of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Legion, and Captain W. F. Huycke, K.C., chairman of the arrangement committee. Additional members of the committee included Lt.-Col. Max Slean, president of the Legion; Lt.-Col. Hall, Major Clifton, Captain D. A. Loomis, Mrs. Joseph Mills and Mrs. Hughes.

Catering was done by the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary, with Mrs. Hughes in charge. The Coronation atmosphere of the event was allied with the Easter note in the decorations, in which mauve and yellow and the three flag colors, red, white and blue, were paramount. The dance hall was draped with a profusion of large Union Jacks, which also decorated the entrance hall. At the windows were pastel curtains of Easter tints, and red, white and blue paper shades covered the electrollers, while dozens of floating pennants were suspended from the ceiling. The orchestra stand, carpeted by imitation grass, was backed by a black drape centered by a large Legion motif in the crossed flags, the Union Jack and the Canadian Mercantile ensign. In the ground-floor lounge, where midnight supper was served from tables draped in red, white and blue, there were comfortable chairs, and more decorative flags.

N. Alex. MacColl, Zone representative of the Legion, came up from Campbellford with Mrs. MacColl, to add their patronage to the event, as did His Worship, Mayor G. A. Macdonald, who made the remark quoted in the opening paragraph, and who presented some of the novelty dance prizes, won as follows:

Coronation prize, Mrs. J. A. Dewart and Major R. T. E. Hicks-Lyne (the former receiving an Eversharp pencil donated by S. J. Black, the latter receiving cigarettes); Easter prize, Miss M. E. The choir under the direction of Mr. Wesley Wildman rendered two appropriate numbers "We Will Rejoice," "Awake, Awake." JOYOUS SERVICES HELD AT HASTINGS

Churches Are Crowded With Worshippers For Celebration Of Easter

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, March 30. — Large congregations were present in all the churches on Easter Sunday morning and evening, the churches being beautifully decorated with lovely spring flowers.

The morning service of St. George's Anglican Church was attended by one of the largest congregations in years, most of the congregation partaking of Holy Communion following the service. The opening hymn, "Welcome, Happy Morning," and the recessional hymn, "Jesus Christ is Risen To-day," were most appropriate for Easter day. The rector, Rev. William Stocks, delivered an excellent discourse, his Easter message, the theme of his address taken from II. Corinthians 5, 14, 15: "For the love of Christ constraineth us, because we thus judge, that if one died for all, then were all dead; and that he died for all, that they which live should not henceforth live unto themselves, but unto him which died for them, and rose again." The choir sang an anthem, "Hallelujah" during the offertory.

At Trinity United.

Rev. F. W. Newell, pastor of Trinity United Church, preached two very impressive sermons on Sunday. In the morning his subject was "Mary Magdalene" and in the evening his discourse was on "Easter." Anthems in the morning were "Rejoice, the Lord is King" and "Welcome, Happy Morning," and in the evening the choir sang "In Sunshine and Shadow," with Miss Carrie Downe at the organ.

St. Andrew's Presbyterian.

The morning service of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church was attended by many worshippers who listened with wrapt attention to the sermon on "The Revolution of Immortality" by the Rev. D. K. Perrie. In the evening his subject was "The Incarnation of Christ." Lovely Easter hymns were chosen for the Easter Day service.

Good Friday Services.

Good Friday services were well attended. St. Andrew's Presbyterian congregation united with the congregation of Trinity United Church for the service in charge of the W. M. S. The text for Rev. Mr. Newell's address was taken from Isaiah 53, 5: "But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed." Rev. Mr. Newell gave a very helpful talk, choosing as the theme of his discourse one of the last words of Christ, "It is Finished." Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe, president, and Mrs. A. Fleming, first vice-president, took charge of the worship period as taken from the printed program for Good Friday.

Rev. W. M. Stocks of St. George's Church also preached Good Friday sermons in the morning and evening, choosing as his text in the morning, "Paradise," and in the evening, "The Story of the Cross."

Personals.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Fleming and son Joey of Trenton were Easter visitors with the former's mother, Mrs. Annie Fleming, and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Dalnard of Toronto were Easter Sunday guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Dalnard. Miss Bernice Dalnard, accompanied them home for a week's visit.

Nine members of St. George's Junior Auxiliary wrote their mission study examinations on Saturday evening, in charge of their superintendent, Miss R. Dalnard, assisted by Miss D. Fiand.

Sunday evening guests of Mr and Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe were Mrs. Lobb and daughter, Miss Irene Lobb of

Just Between Us Women

A Daily Chat With Examiner Neighbors, Conducted by Roberta

TWO darkest shadows of life are those which a man makes when he stands in his own light.

—Lord Avebury.

And this on luck: Luck whines—Labor whistles. Luck on chances—Labor on character. Luck slips downward to indigence—Labor strides upwards to independence. Luck lies in bed and wishes the postman would bring him news of a legacy—Labor turns out at six o'clock, and, with busy pen or ringing hammer, lays the foundation of a competence.—O. S. Marsden.

Dear Friends:

Do you ever stand in your own light, so that you seem to be in the shadow all the time? Because you can easily step out of it, and get the true light of common-sense and the benefit of other people's experience to illuminate the way for you.

But you must be willing to see. You must be willing to work, and no matter how wealthy a man may be, he finds that without the labor of his hands, life has a way of being flat and uninteresting.

After all, what has luck ever done for you? We say that this is our unlucky day if things are not going well with us, but might it not be our lazy or careless day? We are creatures of moods, and I will admit that I can always do better when I am in the mood for what I want to do, yet on the other hand we can sometimes get ourselves into the mood if we try.

We are all inherently lazy say what we like. We have many times to make ourselves do things when we would much rather loaf, and it is when we let these lazy moods predominate that we wreck our lives, and begin to degenerate into loafers.

I still maintain that it is better to work at something even altho' there is still little or no money in it, than waste the hours wandering the streets or sitting around the stove. Most of those who have had a stroke of luck, have been busy working away at the job while luck was getting ready to reward them.

Never have I heard of one who was just "bumming" his way through life falling heir to any luck, and it is not because they have not found the money to buy chances on lotteries either, for many have done so, and they look more eagerly for news of the winners, than they do for chances to work.

And so they stand in their own light, not seeing opportunities that would make them more pleased and proud, than any stroke of luck would ever do. They peer out from their own shadow, looking for something that will never come to them.

And many of us stand in our own light as far as happiness is concerned, for while we are so earnestly looking it is right beside us, but our shadow hides it from us. Others can see it, and wonder why we will persist in doing what we do, but we ourselves will not look closely enough, and go through life unhappy and dis-satisfied.

Don't you know that the only real way you will ever get happiness is to make others happy? You think, "why should I try to give to others what I so badly want for myself?" But you cannot make anyone happy without becoming that way yourself.

I would like to print this in large letters so that everyone could see it. When you love anyone, you try to make them as happy as possible, and in the doing of it, you are truly happy yourself. And when you concentrate on nothing but your own well-being, when you think of no one but yourself, when your eyes are straining out for your happiness, you get mighty little of it. You have to give before you get.

If you want to hold anyone's love, you must labor for it, by doing the things that you think will make the other happy, and labor in itself will bring you a big measure of it, for you get a pride in your work and a satisfaction which fills your being like nothing else on earth. So forget about luck, forget about yourself and all you think you want, take a pride in the labor of your hands, whether it be for one you love, or for an employer, and life will smile on you.

Your Friend,
ROBERTA.

WOMAN STARVES FOOD CUT OFF IN RELIEF CASE

Nothing To Eat For Week After She Refuses To Give Up Driving Permit

HAS NO CAR

TORONTO, March 30—(C.P.)—Weak and thin after one week without food Mrs. Marion E. Shenton of suburban Lakeview said yesterday relief authorities were starving her "illegally." She said her food allowance was cut off a week ago when she refused to surrender her driving permit. Neither she nor her husband owned a car, she said.

Mrs. Shenton said she would die of starvation before she would surrender the "British liberties" for which her family "of soldiers" had fought and died.

"This is not a hunger strike," she said in a faint voice as she lay in bed as a result of her lack of food. "At first I was sick from lack of food but now I am just getting weaker."

She said her husband had been summoned to appear in court tomorrow on a charge of non-support. "I hope that it will be made plain that the relief authorities have been following an unjust and illegal procedure in refusing me my food allowance," she said.

Allowance For One Only.

"My husband is doing relief work but is only given a single man's allowance by the township." She said the charge of non-support had been laid to "force a show-down" on the legality of the action of the relief officers.

"We do not own a car and retention of my driver's permit can in no sense be called chiselling," Mrs. Shenton said.

Reeve E. Maguire of Toronto Township in which Lakeview is situated, said Mrs. Shenton "has nobody to blame but herself for her predicament." He said she knew all she had to do to get relief was to surrender her driver's permit.

"Both the government and the Toronto Township Council have regulations which prohibit anyone who had a license card from drawing relief," he said. "We cannot break that regulation and we don't intend to."

UNFAIR TRADE CHARGE IS MADE

Agreements With East Costing Each Albertan $24-$26 a Year Says Cross

EDMONTON, March 30—(C.P.)—Charges "the most glaring and unfair trade continues to exist between Eastern and Western Canada" were made in the Alberta Legislature yesterday by Hon. W. W. Cross, Minister of Trade, Industries and Health, during the budget debate.

"I agree with the honorable members of the Conservative Opposition," he said, "that unless something is done, the only thing we can say is that a line be drawn between Eastern and Western Canada and that we be allowed to form our own trade agreements."

He said tariffs were costing each individual in Alberta between $24 and $26 a year.

"That money is not going into the Dominion Treasury," said the Minister. "More than 95 per cent. of it is going into the pockets of the eastern manufacturers as a subsidy. Now, if that money was left with us or if it were returned, we could finance without any difficulty."

Crowning Rites Are Invested In One Prelate By Old Custom

Cosmo Lang Will Anoint And Crown Both King And Queen

ASSISTED BY PRELATES

By THOMAS T. CHAMPION
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, March 30 (CP). — The whole rite and ceremonies of the Coronation on May 12, except for incidents associated with certain items of the royal regalia, will be performed by the Archbishop of Canterbury, 72-year-old Most Rev Cosmo Gordon Lang.

Naturally his Grace will be assisted by other prelates and the Dean of Westminster has a special place in the service, but it will be the Archbishop who will anoint and crown the King and Queen. He will also administer the oath of service to George VI.

On arriving at Westminster Abbey the King will go at once to the "theatre," at each of the four corners of which he is presented by the Archbishop to those assembled. Four times the Archbishop's question will be heard, "Are you willing to do your homage?" and the answer will be given, "God Save King George."

Ancient Hymn Sung

The central ceremony of the rite, the anointing, is introduced by the ancient hymn, "Come Holy Ghost, Our Souls Inspire," as it is sung at the consecration of a bishop or the ordination of a priest.

The King, divested of his crimson robe, and having removed his Cap of State, will be seated in King Edward's Chair, and will then be anointed by the Archbishop with oil, in the form of a Cross, on his head, breast and palms of both hands.

After several other ceremonies performed by other participants the Archbishop proceeds to the crowning. Standing at the altar, he will take the Crown into his hands and laying it again on the altar he will say a Collect. A procession of the Archbishop with other bishops, the Dean of Westminster bearing the Crown, will then move to King Edward's Chair, where the King is seated. The Dean will deliver the Crown to the Archbishop, "who reverently puts it upon the King's head."

At once the cry rings out, loudly and repeatedly, "God Save the King," the peers put on their coronets, the trumpets sound, and the great guns of the Tower of London are fired.

Places Queen's Ring

It is also the Archbishop of Canterbury's sole prerogative to crown the Queen. His Grace receives from the officer of the Jewel House, in attendance, the Queen's Ring which he places on the fourth finger of her right hand. Then he takes St. Edith's Crown from the High Altar and places it on the Queen's head.

All the preparations proceed to put on their coronets. The sceptres—one with the Cross, and one an ivory rod surmounted by a dove—are placed in the Queen's right and left hands respectively.

The Queen, crowned and invested, now rises and, supported by her attendants, ascends the "theatre" on which stand the thrones. As she passes the King she bows "reverently" and then takes her place on his Majesty's left.

The present Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Cosmo Gordon Lang, is, like his immediate predecessor, a son of the manse. He was translated from York to Canterbury on the resignation of Dr. Randall Davidson in 1928. The Archbishop is in his 73rd year and is unmarried.

Sixteen Seamen Rescued When Halting Wireless Brings Aid

"Amateurish" SOS calls, sent out by the youthful captain of the stricken Norwegian tramp steamer, Bjeerkli, are credited with saving the crew of 16 when the ship foundered off the Nova Scotia coast. Captain Bjarne Sverdrup, 30, tapped out the halting signals which he had learned from watching operators on other ships and which brought liners and freighters to the scene. This latest epic of the seas was being written when the ABOVE photograph was taken from the deck of the U.S. coast-guard cutter Chelan which effected the rescue. The freighter was foundering rapidly while the crew was being taken aboard the cutter and disappeared a few minutes later.

who's world is dealing with unemployment," said A. A. Heaps (C.C.F., Winnipeg North). All other countries of any importance were grappling with the problem in some fundamental way, but Canada seemed to be at a complete standstill.

There was no hope for the unemployed in anything done by the present Parliament so far and two sessions, or half the normal term of a Parliament, had elapsed.

Mr. Heaps asked if Mr. Rogers could not indicate some long-range policy of dealing with unemployment. He did not regard public works or expansion of foreign trade as permanent remedies for unemployment.

Mr. Rogers agreed public works were not a long-range remedy but claimed foreign trade was a factor in improving conditions. Recent expansion in trade had been due partly to the policies of the government and partly to factors over which the government had no control.

Some 50,000 more persons were employed in February this year than a year ago said the Minister. The number of unemployed had also decreased. In January, 1937, the estimated number of unemployed was 450,000. In January 1936, it was 566,000 and in January 1935, 572,000. The improvement during the past year was greater than in any previous year since the depression began.

Some 250,000 boys and girls would reach the age of 16 years during the present year, said Dorion Massey (Cons., Toronto-Greenwood) and a large percentage would be seeking employment. A spirit of hopelessness possessed the youth of the country because of the government's failure to do anything for this particular aspect of the employment problem.

Mr. Rogers said the bill he was about to bring in would provide steps toward re-establishment of youth.

The problem of youth was not one that suddenly came into being in October 1935, Mr. Rogers said, but had been an important phase of unemployment since 1930. He thought some progress had been made when, for the first time since the problem arose a definite sum was being voted to deal with the youth problem.

Jurisdiction was an obstacle to be overcome in this matter, the Minister said, and, particularly, the matter of apprenticeship was outside the Federal authority. But the Government could and would endeavor to influence firms to assist youth through apprenticeship and other means of preparing youths for gainful occupations.

Aid Back To The Land.

Agnes Macphail (U.F.O.-Labor, Grey-Bruce) urged the Government never lends its assistance to settlement schemes involving placement of families on uncleared land or land far removed from community life and human contacts.

There were plenty of vacant farms in the midst of communities where settlers could be near the source of human necessities and in contact with some measure of social life, she said.

In February, 1937, there were 209,978 families on relief compared with 293,376 in February, 1936, the Minister said. Total people on relief for February, 1937, were 1,021,615, as compared with 1,212,129 in February, 1936. These, the Minister said, were outside the western drought area, and was gratifying to note the decrease because in previous years there had not been such improvement in February.

In the drought areas the families on relief increased from 28,808 in February, 1936, to 31,901 in February, 1937.

James S. Woodsworth (C.C.F., Winnipeg North Centre) said relief figures were not complete unless they included a great army of young transients who were to be found in every city drifting from place to place, begging and sometimes committing crimes in order to obtain a night's shelter and food. "There are literally thousands of such men," Mr. Woodsworth declared, and there was apparently no record of them.

H. A. Stewart (Cons., Leeds) said it was apparent that after a year and a half in office the Government was following the same relief policies which the Liberals in opposition had roundly condemned. He thought it natural to expect something different from a party that had so bitterly condemned two years ago the problems it now followed.

Mr. Stewart criticized the Government for closing relief camps in such a way that highways and railways were peopled by wandering young men begging from door to door. He also objected to the Government keeping this legislation back until so late in the session. It should have been one of the first items to be taken up.

STATE STEPS IN IF FARMER FAILS

German Peasant Hailed To Court For Refusing To Cultivate Field

BERLIN, March 30 (CP).—A German peasant in the third Reich is under obligation to till every inch of the land he owns. If he refuses, the state will do it for him—and charge him with the expense. This decision has been given by the court at Liegnitz, Prussia.

A peasant had refused to cultivate one of his fields. Thereupon the official peasant association ordered men to perform the work of cultivation and presented the farmer with the bill. He refused to pay and took the case to court.

The court declared that the duty to cultivate the ground was "an outgrowth of Nazi philosophy," and need not be explicitly laid down by the law.

Medical examiners deduced from the condition of the bodies that Mrs. Gedeon and Byrnes were killed around 11 p.m. Saturday. Four hours later Veronica said good-bye at her front door to Stephen Butler Jr., a Wall Street worker, with whom she had been drinking gin and dancing. They sat on the front steps of her home long enough to smoke a cigaret and then the girl stepped inside her apartment where—waiting in the darkness—was the man who attacked and strangled her. Apparently he had been waiting there with a lively dog as his only companion, the blood of two persons on his hands. None of the other tenants in the building heard sounds of a struggle during the four hours.

Past Lives Revealed

Police began to look into the past lives of the three victims and this is what they found:

Veronica quit school at the age of 16 and married Robert Flower. The marriage was annulled and she began earning her living by posing, frequently almost nude, for artists and magazine illustrators. She appeared in advertisements for bathtubs and bathroom scales. Dean Cornwall, noted illustrator, said of Veronica: "I used her frequently in my illustrations. It was a pleasure to work with her, she was so cheerful." The girl apparently was popular and had dates frequently. She was in the cast of the 'Illustrator' ball, which was raided by police in November, 1935. Among the skits she was supposed to appear in was one called "Nobody Makes a Pass at Me."

Mrs. Gedeon, still attractive despite her 54 years, was separated from her husband an upholsterer. Police found pictures of naked women in his possession and they said he was belligerent during the thirteen hours they questioned him, once almost trading blows with a detective. Despite the separation, Gedeon was friendly with his wife. Byrnes was a waiter and bartender at the exclusive Racquet and Tennis Club. He was an Englishman, a quiet man who was planning to return to England soon.

Death brushed close to another girl in this crime, and probably only the fact that she had a bad cold kept Jean Carp, 20, from meeting the same fate that came to Veronica. She was supposed to have gone to the party Saturday night and to have slept at the Gedeon home. Her cold caused her to cancel the date.

Following a sudden thaw the ice has broken along the Baltic coast and in the rivers of Poland, and it has piled in some places in masses three miles wide and 18 feet high.

Lord Great Chamberlain Girds New King With Historic Sword

Duty Of Presenting Golden Spurs At Coronation Falls To Old Peer

SIXTH OFFICER OF STATE

By THOMAS T. CHAMPION
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, March 30 (C.P.)—As Lord Great Chamberlain, the Earl of Ancaster will have special duties in connection with the presentation of the regalia when the King and Queen are crowned at Westminster Abbey on May 12.

The Lord Great Chamberlain is the sixth great officer of state, the office being hereditary since the grant by Henry I to the family of DeVere, Earls of Oxford. To this officer falls the presentation of the Golden Spurs, emblems of knightly chivalry, with which the King's heels are lightly touched.

Will Gird Sword

There is also the presentation of the sword in a scabbard. "Receive this kingly sword, brought now from the altar of God, and delivered to you by the hands of us, the bishops and servants of God, though unworthy," the Archbishop of Canterbury will say. The Lord Great Chamberlain will then gird the sword about the King.

The spurs having been restored to the altar, the King will ungird the sword and offer it in the scabbard at the altar. It is then "redeemed" by some selected peer by an offering of 100 shillings, and taken from the altar to be "borne naked before his Majesty during the rest of the solemnity."

As Lord Great Chamberlain, Lord Ancaster succeeded the Marquess of Cholmondeley, who relinquished the office following the abdication of Edward VIII. The office is distinct from that of the Lord Chamberlain, and alternates between three families, the head of one of which holds office every third reign.

Has American Wife

The present Earl of Ancaster will be 70 in July. He succeeded his father in 1910. He was in the House of Commons for a number of years before going to the Lords. From 1921 to 1924 he was parliamentary secretary to the Ministry of Agriculture. His wife was the former Eloise Breese of New York City.

In addition to the foregoing duties, the Lord Great Chamberlain is responsible for the linen and gloves used by the King at the Coronation. He also has an important role in the state openings of parliament and is in charge of the Palace of Westminster.

Viscount Lewisham, now Earl of Dartmouth, was Lord Great Chamberlain at the Coronation of George V.

BOOMER COMES HOME

Fort Erie Travelling Cat Takes 3-Weeks' Jaunt in Caboose.

PORT ERIE, Ont., March 30 (C.P.). — "The Boomer," Port Erie's travelling concern, is back home after a 448-mile round trip to Windsor and back via railway caboose.

Adopted by railway workers here last fall, "The Boomer" has taken several trips to Minico and Sarnia in railway cabooses, but has never been gone so long. After an absence of nearly three weeks seeing the sights of Windsor, the travelling feline strolled into the Canadian National Yard offices to-day.

FARMERS ARE INTERESTED

the world's markets, it was necessary, among other things, Mr. Cowan affirmed that "our production and manufacturing costs shall be reduced in every way possible and that, to this end, our great railway systems shall be economically managed." Lower domestic freight rates would make it possible for tens of thousands of farmers on the prairies to find a market for their low grade grains and would reduce the feed costs of farmers in British Columbia and in Eastern Canada. A recent application for rearrangement of these rates had been refused on the ground that the railways could not afford to grant lower rates at this time.

"These matters are mentioned," Mr. Cowan wrote, "not as an argument against the railway unions being granted the restoration of the 10 per cent cut in their wages, but simply in order that you may see that agriculture has a very definite interest in the successful and economical management of the railways of Canada." He also pointed out that the level of farm prices was still 30 per cent below pre-depression levels, and this condition was causing untold hardship to tens of thousands of farmers, and had driven large numbers of them on relief.

"There is nothing but the friendliest feeling on the part of organized agriculture, representing approximately 500,000 farmers in all parts of Canada, toward the railway unions," Mr. Cowan affirmed and asked for a copy of the brief in which the unions had set forth the reasons why they believed their wages should be restored in full.

Nurses Stage Three-Hour Lie-Down Get Overwork Charge To Governors

Cornwall, March 30—(CP)—THREE hours after a lie-down strike had been called, 15 student nurses in Cornwall General Hospital were back on duty here today.

The lie-down strike was said to have resulted from overwork, and was called off after a meeting of the board of governors. The student nurses went to their posts and relieved the night staff which had been kept on duty.

F. B. Brownridge, M.L.A. for Stormont, secretary-treasurer of the institution said the board of governors were unaware the nurses had any grievances, and added "The difficulty has been settled and the nurses are back on duty." None of the patients in hospital were inconvenienced, it was said.

A special meeting of the board of governors and striking nurses has been called for tonight.

Four Peterborough Companies Had No Lost-Time Accidents

Certificates Of Merit Are Presented To Local Industries

EDUCATIONAL CAMPAIGN

Safety and accident prevention work in Peterborough's industrial plants was recognized Monday, when the Canadian Nashua Paper Co., Limited; the Colonial Weaving Company, Limited; the De Laval Company, Limited, and the Western Clock Company, Limited, received a certificate of merit from the head office of the Industrial Accident Prevention Associations.

No "lost time" accidents in 1936 is the basis of award for these certificates of merit, and each claim for award of the certificate is carefully checked against the records, before being issued.

Working with the Workmen's Compensation Board, the Industrial Accident Prevention Associations conduct a year-round educational campaign in the interests of safety, through more than 5,500 industrial plants in Ontario.

Local members of the Associations are now planning to attend the annual two-day safety convention at the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, on April 19 and 20.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday March 31

A DAY of much enterprise and constructive work is forecast from the predominant lunar and mutual aspects. Attendant upon a stroke of bold initiative, there is likely to be a welcome and decisive breaking-up of long stagnant conditions to make way for the practical application of pent-up energies and finely-stimulated faculties.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a splendid year in which to launch important enterprises and give stability to the fortunes. These may be accomplished with the assistance of elders or those in important places who will be disposed to endorse splendid initiative and a shrewd and subtle mental equipment.

A child born on this day may have excellent energies and initiative, with much constructive ability. It may have splendid judgment of a shrewd and subtle quality, probably of an intuitive order.

With the Boy Scouts

No troop or pack reports were received this week. It is a little disappointing when we think that there are 12 troops, 10 packs, and 2 crews.

St. John's Wolf Cubs will go on a hike tomorrow (Wednesday), and will meet in the parish hall at 10 o'clock a.m. Bring your dinners with you. Also they will meet at 6.30 on Friday.

A week from Friday, a minstrel show will be put on for the Scouts; proceeds going toward a camp fund. Boys are reminded that the free camp to the one who sells most tickets is going along. If you want an evening's fun, come along.

Now the Winter has gone, and Spring is in the air, all Scouts should do their best to earn the Camper's badge. There are six parts to the requirements of this badge: kit, site, pioneering, tenfage, cooking, experience.

Let us take experience, which is the most important of all. You cannot be an expert camper by reading books or learning yarns; you must camp and then do some more camping.

You will find the requirements of the badge calls for two types of camping. First troop or patrol camping; second long or pal camping. The first is more elaborate than the second because there are more Scouts to think of. But the second is more like backwoodsman ideas. The main thing in experience is "Get on with it." Get hold of a copy of, "Scouting For Boys," turn to Chapter III. It contains three yarns on camp life. Read these through and closely check up the things you haven't done. That will give you some practical work to start on. Get your experience by doing things.

Next, we have k . . . Three kinds are mentioned! Try yourself for a week; for yourself for a week-end; for a patrol for a week-end.

There are two things to remember. First, a Scout keeps his kit as small as possible. Second, a Scout is interested for dirty weather.

Here is some advice worth following out after your next camp, from an old pioneer. When you get home lay your kit in three piles. In the first pile put everything you used regularly; in the second, those things you used occasionally; and in the third anything you never used. Next time you go camping, be sure to take everything in the first pile; study carefully before taking anything in the second pile, and leave the third pile at home.

Use your imagination; but don't let it run wild. Think of such eventuals as "If I get wet through what shall I do?"

The fear for a patrol is a breeze job. It will be necessary to think especially of the younger boys. Make a full list of what you think you need, then subtract the items you can do without. Keep your eyes open when you go to your first camp. Follow the advice of the old pioneer.

In this way, you will know exactly where you are and what you want and will be prepared for all kinds of camping and for all emergencies.

Good camping, boys.

"The Skipper."

C.N.R. ACCOUNTING SET-UP IS GIVEN ITS LAST READING

Howe Outlines For House Three Benefits From Scaling Down Of Capital

GIVES TRUE PICTURE

OTTAWA, March 29 (CP)—Two of the important bills of the session, the one ratifying the new Canada-United Kingdom trade agreement and the provision for a new accounting set-up in the Canadian National Railways received third and final reading in the House of Commons yesterday and were sent along to the Senate.

Conservatives opposed the C.N.R. bill but offered no objections to the treaty which repeals the past negotiated at the Ottawa Imperial Conference of 1932.

Three benefits would result from the railway accounting set-up which scales down the company's capital structure, Transport Minister Howe told the House.

It would put a value on the railway property which represented the money invested by the government. It would give directors, officials and employees a more reasonable objective and put new heart in them and it would give investors a true picture of Canada's debt situation and relationship between the government and the railway.

Conservative Leader Bennett renewed objections he had raised earlier and said the balance sheet of the railway under the new set-up would not reveal its true conditions. He described the creation of securities trust to hold governmental claims now being written off as unnecessary and complicating and said the claims could be held by the minister of finance directly.

Comparison Difficult

The Canadian national accounts would not show all the money invested in the system under the new arrangement as the Canadian Pacific accounts did. This would create an undesirable situation and make comparison of the two companies' finances difficult.

Every dollar put into the national system to create an asset would be clearly shown in the new set-up, Transport Minister Howe declared. It was proposed to eliminate those expenditures of the government which had been to meet losses, deficits and the unpaid interest.

Objection had been raised to a clause in the bill providing it should operate "notwithstanding any provision in the Audit Act." Mr. Howe said this was inserted to guard against any unforseen contingencies and could be dropped.

There were some $360,000,000 in accumulated deficits and $510,000,000 in interest claims it was desired to eliminate from the railway's capital. There were also some $268,000,000 in monies invested in the railway it was desired to retain.

For practical purposes it might be said the securities representing advances for deficits and interest thereon were worthless and might be thrown away. There was then a total of $1,140,000,000 of advances of which only $268,000,000 was to be regarded as investment and to be retained.

The whole sum, however, had a value in establishing priorities over other possible claimants against the railway. So that this priority might be obtained it was proposed to set up the Securities Trust Corporation to hold the equities represented by the claims.

The $268,000,000 investment would be shown in the balance sheet of the railways as a value of $268,000,000 was being placed on the securities trust and it was made a corporation within the Canadian National Railways.

THE NEW SPEED LIMIT

There seems to be varied opinions among police officers in regard to the new automobile speed limit which comes into effect on May 24. As Belleville Chief Alex Kidd, formerly of the Peterborough police department every strongly disapproves of the change. He thinks 30 miles an hour is too fast for cities, towns and villages and believes the change will increase the possibility of accidents. Another former Peterborough policeman Chief William Carey of Cobourg holds similar views. On the other hand Chief H. Quantrill of Whitby is in agreement with the new speed law which he says are only giving legality to the existing condition.

Want Information On Kawartha Lakes

A steady stream of tourist enquiries continues to flow into the office of James J. Dorris, secretary-manager of Peterborough Chamber of Commerce.

On his desk this (Tuesday) morning, Mr. Dorris found five enquiries from prospective tourists from as many different States. A correspondent in St. Paul, Minn., sought general information about the Kawartha Lakes district; one from Cleveland, Ohio wanted to know about accommodations in Buckhorn district; an engineer from Rochester, N.Y., asked about the Trent Waterway with the object of a boat cruise; a writer from Titusville, Pennsylvania wanted to learn about the fishing and summer accommodations on the Trent Canal; while four young men from Kearney, N.J. who have previously been spending their vacation in Maine and who stated the intention of doing their own cooking, sought particulars of available cottages in the Kawarthas.

Home Improvement Plan Committee Has Been Organized In Lakefield

Organization of a Home Improvement Plan committee in Lakefield was completed Monday night with F. H. Northey as chairman, W. T. Hill secretary, and N. A. Moore and A. J. Charlton executive members with a woman to be appointed next week.

J. E. Jones of Toronto, representative of the Ontario advisory committee in Peterborough, Durham, Northumberland and Hastings counties, was present and reviewed the work that is in progress throughout the district. In a special effort to promote the Plan in Lakefield it was decided to hold weekly meetings, and Mr. Northey's store will be headquarters of Home Improvement in the village.

The details of the Plan were outlined by Mr. Jones who previously visited Lakefield early in March. It was intimated that considerable work in the repairing and improving of houses may get under way when conditions are right. The essentials of the Plan are simple and methods of obtaining money are understood in the community.

Mr. Jones left today for Havelock and Hastings, and will endeavor to stimulate interest in those places, and also in Marmora, Madoc and Tweed. He will likely visit Campbellford again to enquire into the progress of the local committee in the Trent town and is due in Belleville at the end of the week.

At the Empress Hotel Monday night Mr. Jones told the Examiner that the response to the Plan throughout the district has been everywhere encouraging. Some of the most promising centres are Bowmanville, Port Hope, Cobourg, Orrington, Brighton, Trenton and Belleville, and with a centennial celebration planned for this summer Picton is giving the Home Improvement Plan keen attention. A big meeting is being organized for the near future by the Commercial service club of the town.

The Rambling REPORTERS

CAR BREAKS STORE WINDOW.

A new plate-glass window was installed at the Welch barber shop on Hunter street this morning as the aftermath to a runaway of a driverless horseless carriage Monday. A car said to belong to T. J. Carley, K.C., slipped its breaks and rolled backwards from its parking place. The rear bumper smashed one facade of the barber shop's show windows.—C.P.R.

CLIMBS STAIRS BACKWARDS.

Life for poo! old "Nig," a big, friendly Newfoundland dog belonging to a Maitland avenue family, is not what it used to be, but he is doing the best he can. For instance, he is troubled with a bit of rehumatism. He makes his way around with some difficulty and finds it hard to do things he used to do with ease as a pup.

Interesting are some of the tricks he has adopted to circumvent the handicap of his physical failings. He finds it impossible to walk up a flight of stairs forwards so he turns about as he approaches the bottom stair and makes the climb backward. One can almost recognize an expression of disgusted resignation on his face as he executes the curious, comical manoeuvre. —C.P.R.

THREE DAYS HARD WORK

A two-dollar bill may be small change to some but times are still such that it is a token of major economic significance to others.

Going through the cash in his till Monday, Joe Detcher, service station operator, came upon a two-dollar bill with the following inscription penned on its margin:

"This represents three days' hard work."—C.P.R.

EAST CITY CHURCH NOW HAS OLD BELL USED BY INDIANS

Bell Used To Call Indians To Mass In Northern Ontario Village

INTERESTING HISTORY

On Easter Sunday, members of the congregation of the Immaculate Conception Church in Ashburnham heard for the first time the voice of the new bell which was recently installed in the bell-tower, and which forms the completion of the furnishings of the church.

This bell has an interesting history. It was made by the C. S. Bell Company of Hillsboro, Ohio, and was purchased in 1906 by the Jesuit Fathers for a church at French River, Ontario, then a large lumbering centre. With the closing down of the sawmills, the town ceased to exist and the bell was taken away by the Indians of Pickerel. Placing it on a raft, they transported it to Pickerel, in a voyage over the waters reported as being a week in length.

As the bell, which weighs nine hundred pounds, was too large to place in the church, a small belfry was built on the ground, and for many years it served to call the Indians to worship.

His Excellency, Bishop O'Connor, arranged for a smaller bell, which served the purpose equally well, placed in the belfry of the church at Pickerel, and had the large bell sent to Peterborough, where it was installed by James MacPherson in the bell-tower at the Immaculate Conception Church. It has a rich and pleasing tone.

As the bell had already been blessed, there was no ceremony in connection with the installation.

Loan Company Admits 14 P.C. Rate Charged

4 Per Cent. Service Levy Plus $7 Mortgage Costs Also Assessed Borrower

COMMITTEE INQUIRY

OTTAWA, March 30 (CP).—Under a severe cross-examination by W. A. Tucker (Lib., Rosthern), Arthur P. Reid, general manager of the Oriental Finance Corporation, agreed today before the Commons Banking and Commerce Committee that the "effective rate of interest" on money in the hands of borrowers from that company was approximately 14 per cent.

Mr. Tucker read from the company's charter that it was empowered to charge up to seven per cent, "which may be deducted in advance" but he suggested this did not mean seven per cent. discounted.

Several members questioned this interpretation. Chairman W. H. Moore (Lib., Ontario) suggested there was a difference between percentage of cost and percentage of interest.

Mr. Tucker read the wording of the original Act again, several times. "Isn't the rate charged approximately 14 per cent?" he asked the witness.—"No."

"How much interest do you get on loans, then?"

H. C. Walker, company counsel, interrupted. "Let the witness go on with the facts but leave the legal argument for counsel," he said.

Two or three members objected to this interruption.

Stevens Explains.

In a silence which was in contrast to the general hubbub which had prevailed throughout most of the session, Hon. H. H. Stevens (Reconstruction, Kootenay East) outlined his view of the interest situation.

"On $500 loaned, a man repays $25 a month. Obviously there is not much of the $300 due in the last month, so not much interest is necessary," he said. "But the whole $21 which was deducted at first has been retained and the effective rate of interest on money in the hands of the borrower is about 14 per cent."

Some Extras

"So he paid an effective rate of interest of about 14 per cent plus about four per cent per annum as service charge, plus about $7 charges as chattel mortgage costs," Mr. Tucker concluded.

Mr. Tucker asked Mr. Reid how much of these charges were disbursements.

Mr. Walker intervened to explain that disbursements were interpreted by the company to mean payment to anyone for services. This interpolation was objected to by two or three members.

When Mr. Tucker repeated his question, Mr. Reid said it was impossible to set up such an elaborate bookkeeping system as would cover this point.

"But none of that $34 which was deducted from a $300 loan is paid out of the office," said Mr. Tucker.

"We hire special people to do investigating and drawing the mortgages," said Mr. Reid.

"And they're on your regular payroll," added Mr. Tucker.

"We couldn't service a loan for around $4 if they weren't."

Amendment Shelved.

New contention was aroused by an attempt of the sponsors to strike out four of the six sections of the bill and substitute one section from another bill already before the House of Commons.

FIGHT MUDDLE LEAVES BRADDOCK WELL BEFOGGED

Champ Quite Often Has To Wait On Papers To Learn Gould's Next Move

FAVORS RING TO COURT

Accepts Papers—Case To Be Pleaded Monday May Dim Prospects

By Scotty Reston
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

WOODCLIFF, N.J., March 30.—(AP)—Even Champion James J. Braddock was lost to-day in the confusion of the heavyweight situation.

Facing court action for his avowed intention of running out on a bout against Max Schmeling, the champion clings to his apparently crumpled title that is apparently worth $500,000 if he defends it against Tommy Farr, Welsh-overseas British heavy champ, before he returns to the United States.

Pacing court action for his avowed intention of running out on a bout against Max Schmeling, the champion clings to his apparently crumpled title that is apparently worth $500,000 if he defends it against Tommy Farr, Welsh-overseas British heavy champ, before he returns to the United States.

"I don't know anything about this law business," he said today. "But I'd sort like to fight again."

In the present muddle, he lives a fantastic existence. He gets up early and jogs around the park in this little cliff town overlooking the Hudson river. Each afternoon he goes to New York and works out in a gymnasium. After this he visits his manager, Joe Gould.

This is all he does from one day to the next, and yet he is credited with doing all sorts of fabulous things. "Braddock defies Schmeling," reads one headline. "Braddock threatens to quit Chicago bout," screams another. "Braddock going to Berlin," announces a third.

Yet Braddock himself does none of these things. Gould does them all. Part of the time Jimmy doesn't even know about them till he reads the papers.

Accepts the Paper.

Yesterday, however, the champion found one job his manager could not do. Madison Square Garden was hailing Jimmy into Federal Court to "show why he should not be forced to meet Schmeling in New York, June 3, before meeting Joe Louis in Chicago, June 22. The champion went to Newark and calmly accepted the papers. He didn't create the situation which led to the court order, and he won't even be in court Monday when his case is pleaded.

Jimmy is not complaining about the situation. He's a patient plodder and complains about nothing. He has nothing but the highest praise for his manager.

"At least, everybody knows I'm the champion now," he says simply. "Joe got me plenty of publicity."

All observers are not agreed however, that it's good publicity. Some fear that "the Cinderella man" like his nicknamesake, end up in the ashes.

At the moment, it appears that Madison Square Garden has the whip-hand in the situation. If the New Jersey Federal Court does restrain Braddock from meeting Louis until he has fought Schmeling, the champion's chances are not good. And even if the court refuses to grant an injunction against the Louis fight, the champion's promotions are still unsolved.

Recent developments in Chicago indicate that somebody out that way is not too anxious to have the Louis-Braddock fight and yet there is always the possibility of a suit if Gould does not go through with the Chicago bout.

CAGE TOURNEYS

A few changes were announced at noon to-day in the boys' basketball tournaments being run off now in connection with the Hobby Show at the Y.M.C.A. Junior finals will be Wednesday morning while the Intermediates will play on Thursday morning. The Young Men's tourney starts Wednesday night and finishes up Thursday. Intermediate games to-day saw Ascott's team beat Amys' squad and Foster's gang defeat the crew captained by Fitzgerald.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

THERE WAS two bits up, plus the price of the table, as two of us came down the stretch the other eve battling it out neck-and-neck in a tight game of snooker. Our lanky friend passed up a long chance to drop one in the end and instead hustled us up tight behind the black ball. "Just what is the reason," he asked, "why Peterborough teams for the past eight or nine years can't go right through to a Provincial championship?" They often come close but they get knocked off." Our slow bank shot was screwy and we bumped the brown ball to chip four points off our total. "Well, there are several reasons," we told him. "We don't import enough stars to get that added punch. Look at Barrie with their two junior imports a year. Look at Oshawa's senior ball team last year with over half 'em imports. Look at us when we built up a senior O.H.A. team around several imports."

* * * * * *

AFTER HE rapped home the last red and then dropped the yellow and green in the pocket just like Les Burton roping in a fly, our l.f. missed the brown and reasoned: "Well, what other reasons, then?" Yours truly squinted carefully and then took the brown's measure as it sank to the wall. We tapped the cue-ball against it and the four-pointer hugged the cushion all the way into the end hole. But, after muffing the blue, we replied: "Well, besides better opposition sometimes—and this isn't the biggest town in the Province, don't forget—we often run into tough luck. Like injuries, guys who can't get off work, holdouts on the team, or slow starts—like our Orfuns last fall for reasons."

* * * * * *

WHILE WE'RE guessing, he rids the table of that five-ball with a swell shot and then leaves the pink pretty safe with the whole stretch of green cloth in between and the cue-ball on the dyke. "What about bad refereeing or umpiring?" he queries as we measure off that distance drive. "Now you have something," we told him as we banked. The pink to leave it up like a Christmas box. "Looks like that stolen goal in Barrie kicked our Colts out of a title, eh? And didn't two Belleville umps practically rob the Petes three playoff games 'gainst Kingston two summers back? And remember several winters ago when Duke McCurry missed one that meant the pink title to us and two high O.H.A. officials who saw it told him so later? It's no wonder we often yelp at bum officials. Even our junior ball team lost through an umpire's mistake in Oshawa last year, and Oshawa won the Ontario title."

* * * * * *

WHILE WE'RE snorting our wrath at blind or crooked officials, the lanky snooker shark is blasting the pink ball into oblivion and then tapping the black off the table with a fine cut. We dig up and cough up sourly with the later thought that maybe we did too much talking and not enough concentrating in a close game. And that maybe our rival had been prodding us along in this direction. So we coldly declined another game and decided to at least get something back by filling a few paragraphs with a rambling discourse that will never knock sports followers out of their chairs with enthusiasm at the sound logic of a disgruntled snooker player.

ANNUAL RE-ORGANIZATION meeting of the Peterborough Baseball Club will be held tomorrow (Wednesday) evening at 7.30 o'clock in the Chamber of Commerce. It is an open session to elect officers for the coming season, appoint a manager for the Petes, handle general business and make plans for the summer. Officers, former officers, all prospective players and baseball fans in general are invited—in fact, urged to be on hand. The more the merrier. The Petes will have a good team this year in a strong C.O.B.I., and a strong slate of officers is needed. We hope several of last year's officers will return to duty this semester, along with other former officials. Players are asked to be on deck, too.

FOUR GENTS are nominated for president of the O.B.A.A. this Spring. Ernie Gibbard of Napanee, Jack Scott of Kitchener, N. A. Taylor of Delhi and Joe Walsh of Toronto. The latter is prexy now and would go back for another year but the dope is out—it was hinted in a Toronto paper the other day—that Joe will not run for office. Then why in the name of the Ritz Brother (they're funny, too) didn't he come out and say so before nominations closed? Was it a case of politics? If so, it'll hardly work as three others were nominated and it'll be a merry battle at the Oshawa convention Saturday in the morning.

KRIKOR HEKIMAN, the Human Seal who swam near Nassau recently in connection with some ski jumping, took a brief dip in Lindsay water the other day. He had a crowd of 300 but it must have been a softball crowd as he could shake 'em down for but three fish (three dollars, then), and this made him most disgruntled indeed. He plunged in, took a couple of strokes and climbed right out again. It seemed most inhuman to the Human Seal but it was merely another case of cutrate competition—a Lindsay lad having done the same stunt a week previous for no collection at all.

'Old Man' Of The Majors Still Going Strong At 44

Jess Haines Back To Hurl For The St. Louis Cards Once More

BEST YEAR IN '27

NEW YORK, March 30.—If you ever fan, are weary of reading about the brilliant deeds and bright future of such baseball youngsters as Pitcher Bob Feller of the Cleveland Indians, kindly turn your gaze to this corner of the ball pen.

You will now see a sight for sore eyes. The exhibit is Jesse Joseph Haines of the St. Louis Cardinals. And that arm that Old Jess is swinging across his chest as he lets his last one go is 43 years old!

Figure it out yourself—Jess was born in Clayton, O., July 22, 1893. And—we wouldn't believe it ourselves until we saw it in the record books—Haines was pitching big league baseball before Bob Feller was born!

Haines appeared on the mound in one game for the Cincinnati Reds in the season of 1918. The following November Feller was born. So, that's that.

Jesse Can Take It

Haines' stamina is amazing. After 21 years of steady elbowing in league, both big and little (the last 18 with the Cards) Jesse Joseph still has enough stuff left to be looked to by Manager Frankie Frisch for some victories during the impending season—and the Cardinals have pennant hopes, don't forget that.

Jesse was never the greater hurler in baseball during those long years, but he has outlasted the brilliant stars of his time, including his mightiest contemporary — Grover Cleveland Alexander.

Haines broke into baseball with Dayton, O., of the old Central league. During the next five years he pitched for Saginaw, Mich.; Detroit; Springfield, O.; Denver, Colo.; Topeka and Hutchinson, Kas.; Cincinnati; Tulsa, Okla., and Kansas City, Mo.

Kansas City was the last view of the tall timber for Jesse Joseph. He was transferred to St. Louis in a player agreement late in 1919. From that day Jesse has been a Cardinal and one of their most dependable pitchers.

For a lifetime average Jess has smoked the ball across the plate for 207 wins and 155 loses for a grand average of .572. He has pitched in more than 3,000 innings and struck out nearly 1,000 batters while walking somewhat less than 900.

Best Year in '27

Jess has been in five world series, although in one, the 1931 event, he did not participate because of a shoulder injury.

Best years for Jess were in 1923, when he won 20 games and lost 13; in 1927 when he captured 24 while losing 10, and in 1928, when he tagged 20 and lost eight.

JESSE HAINES

Only last year, at the "life begins past 40 age," old Jess came through with seven victories and five losses in 23 games.

In 192, Jess pitched the only major league no-hit, no-run game when he shut out the Boston team. It was the first time since 1876 that a St. Louis pitcher achieved that feat.

CANUCKS WIN CUP IN SOUTHEND LOOP

Defeat St. Peter's 3-2 In Final Midget Playoff To Win Championship

Canucks won the Graham-Rogers Trophy, emblematic of the midget championship of the Southend Hockey League for 1937, when they took a 3-2 verdict over St. Peter's on Lakefield ice on Saturday. It was the fifth game of their two-out-of-three series, three having ended in draws between the well-matched squads and the other having gone to Canucks by a 5-2 count.

Both teams turned in a fine performance in this final fixture, working their heads off in a keen, exciting battle. Nicholls got the first goal for Canucks with Cauley counting one later and then Nicholls sinking the winning marker. Rochetta and Carvey each tallied for the Saints, who went down fighting. Some excellent goaltending by the rival twine-guardians was dished up and every player on each side gave all he had. The teams:

St. Peter's: Goal, Basciana; defence, McDougall and Jones; centre, Rochetta; wings, Thorburn and Lynch; alternates, Thornton, Hall and Carvey.

Canucks: Goal, Cournyea; defence, Condon and Vitarelli; centre, Nicholls; wings, Cauley and Jones; alternate, Willis.

Copper Cliff Hammers Montreal Out Of Running 10-4 In Second Game

ACES BEAT HULL 1-0

Sudbury Qualifies For Final By Trouncing Dominions 6-1 — 'Peg Juniors Whip Pt. Arthur

TORONTO, March 30 (CP)—Two teams went up a notch in the West after last night's engagements that saw Winnipeg Monarchs defeat Port Arthur and the North Battleford Beavers trounce Port William to take the Western title while three teams are still going in the east. Semi-finals have been reached in the junior series.

Quebec Aces and Hull Volants will conclude a best-of-three senior round tomorrow night at Montreal and the winner will be sent against Sudbury's mighty Tigers for the Dominion championship.

Tomorrow Ottawa Rideaus will entertain Copper Cliff Redmen in the opener of Eastern Junior finals and Thursday Winnipeg Monarchs and Saskatoon Wesleys will start Western finals at Winnipeg. The two winners will come together at Ottawa or Toronto for the Memorial Cup.

Aces Barely Win

The campaign was brought to its present crucial stage by a flock of skirmishes last night. In only one case—the Hull-Quebec game—was the result close. Aces maintained their penchant for hairline decisions by outscoring Volants 1-0 in a tense affair at Quebec.

North Battleford fraught by internal trouble prior to its game with Port William at Calgary, pitched up things well enough to blast out a 7-1 triumph. The Beavers looked like the mighty machine that set down Port William 9-2 in the opener of the best-of-three-series, as opposed to the team that went down 3-2 in the second start.

Clarence Shillington, with two goals, led the way to the brilliant win. Handling Beavers from the bench was Manager Jack Abbott, who replaced Coach Frank Coulson deposed when dissension broke out after the second game. Beaver players said they stood together on Abbott's side of the quarrel and after last night's contest Coulson was among those extending congratulations.

The apparent return of harmony to the Beaver ranks seemed to spell hard sledding for what ever team among Hull, Quebec and Sudbury emerges from the East. Saskatchewan's champions set down opposition in double-quick time until they met their single snag this week. If they really are back to the proper competitive pitch they'll spell all trouble in cup finals that start April 6 at Calgary.

Sudbury Puts Dominions Out.

Sudbury qualified for its place in the final stage of the Eastern scene by trouncing Toronto Dominions 6-1 at Toronto. Mel Hill, former Sasaatoon star, rapped in three third-period goals to complete the conquest. In two previous meetings Tigers had won 4-3 at home and lost 4-3 at Toronto.

Noted for prolific goal-getting the Northern Ontario club will oppose a team that shines defensively when it enters regional finals. No matter whether Hull or Quebec comes out on top, Hull won the opener of the best-of-three round 2-1. Then a 3-2 Quebec win was thrown out. Les Brennan tallied Aces' lone goal that levelled the round in the second period last night.

Western junior finals—with the Abbott cup as the prize—should be among the winter's classics. Saskatoon's Wesleys have won the Saskatchewan championship for the fifth straight winter and the current edition is lauded as one of the best yet, starring a great attacker in Sid Abel. Monarchs, Winnipeg's Manitoba titlists, have built a smooth passing system against powerful foes.

The Monarch strength was on display again last night as the team completed its conquest of Port Arthur with an 8-0 victory. Winnipeg won the first game 5-3. Usually paced by fleet Johnny McCreedy, the winners featured Paul Rheault, who scored three times.

Redmen Rout Victorias.

Copper Cliff Redmen, an in-and-out sextet but a mighty one when under way, entered Eastern finals with Ottawa by achieving a 10-4 rout of Montreal Victorias. Slow to start Redmen were down 2-1 at the end of the first period. Then Red Hamill, Pat McReavy and Rox Hexmer, forward-line trio, began to burn on the heat. Copper Cliff led 6-4 at the end of the second frame and scored four times without a reply in the third.

Ottawa's Rideaus have come along by winning the Ottawa and District title, then subduing Amherst's good Maritime champions in inter-zone playoffs.

REDMEN SMASH VICTORIAS DOWN IN 10-4 DRUBBING

Copper Cliff Crew Come Out Of Fray With Many Injuries—Defence Aces Off

RIDEAUS NEXT

MONTREAL, March 30 (CP). — Copper Cliff Redmen, gathering more injuries as they step along the Memorial Cup path, were in the semi-finals today of the Dominion's junior hockey championships against Ottawa Rideaus.

The Redmen from Northern Ontario breezed past Montreal Victorias last night, walloping the Quebec Provincial champions 10-4 to take the best-of-three series in straight games. They won the first at Toronto 4-1.

They will meet Rideaus far from full strength, probably without two of their defence aces, Dick Perry, replacing the injured Johnny Godfrey, was taken to hospital after a hard check from Sibby Munday crashed him to the ice and brought on a possible brain concussion.

Victorias, for one period, appeared on the way to evening the series. They led 2-0 in less than eight minutes of the first period on goals by Allan Davis and Paul Brunet, while Red Hamill, Redmen's star forward, who shared in eight goals, watched from the penalty box.

A penalty to Marcel Desetle 11 minutes later enabled Copper Cliff to score their first, by Walter Euzs, and by the end of the second period they had a margin of 6-4. Perry shot and Roy Hexmer got two apiece, one of their goals and Red Hamill, Mickey Moynihan kept Victorias in the running in that period too, scoring two goals.

But as Vics pressed desperately in from then time and again and scored the third, the Redmen raced away four more. Hamill got his third, Pat McReavy another two and Shewchuck the tenth.

SUDBURY TIGERS LACE DOMINIONS FOR EASY 6-1 WIN

Ready To Meet Volants Or Aces, Says Gunning After His Second Cup

MINERS LEAD ALL WAY

By William H. Dunsday
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

TORONTO, March 30 (CP).—Sudbury Tigers are taking it easy today as they awaited a contender to come out of Quebec and challenge their right to represent the east in Dominion senior hockey finals. They entered eastern finals here last night by overwhelming Toronto Dominions 6-1.

Gunning for his second Allan Cup victory, Coach Red Stuart said he didn't care if Tigers faced Hull Volants or Quebec Aces in the next round. The teams are tied at one win each. Stuart led Halifax Wolverines to the Dominion title in 1934.

Sudbury qualified for its place in the finals.

A crowd of 8,000 fans, including some who flew from Sudbury by airplane, roared its approval of the big nickel belt club as it became evident the game Dominions were doomed to defeat. The struggle marked the end of a keenly-fought three-game series, each team having taken the nod once previously.

Coach Rugby Day and his Dominions joined the many well-wishers of the miners after the game. The Toronto Maple Leafs' defenceman said it would take "a mighty good club to stop those Tigers." He was satisfied with his team's showing and admitted that the best club won.

Jump Into Quick Lead.

The fast-travelling Tigers, who will carry Ontario's hopes for Canadian supremacy, left no doubt of their superiority. They were in front 29 seconds after the first bell on Don Grosso's smart marker and piled up their six-goal total before Dominions registered.

But it was Saskatoon's blond bomber, Mel Hill, who broke the hearts of the Toronto club. After he helped Grosso in the first goal, he drove in three markers himself in the third period. His first two goals were scored within 39 seconds early in the session.

It fell to the lot of Murphy Chamberlain to tally what proved the winning goal. He shot out of a melee in the second period to beat Goalie Mel Carey, Jules Cholette being credited with the assist. Charlie Marshall rounded out Tigers' total, scoring during Hill's spree.

ROVERS DISBAND PLAYERS GO HOME

Patrick Expresses Complete Satisfaction With Team's Showing

By George Maguire
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

NEW YORK, March 30.—(CP)—A strenuous campaign behind them, New York Rovers of the United States Eastern Amateur Hockey league disbanded today and the players entrained for their Canadian homes.

Lester Patrick, head of New York Rangers and Rovers, said he was completely satisfied with the showing the youngsters made. The team was fourth in the final league standing and has won the Hershey Cup, a consolation trophy, from Baltimore in three straight games.

At least three of the players will be promoted to Philadelphia Ramblers of the International-American League next season, it was said. Most of the others will return to play in the proposed new international circuit comprising the Eastern league and the Montreal senior group.

The team wound up its campaign with a record of 27 victories, 26 defeats and seven ties. Rovers notched 175 goals and allowed 170 in their own cage.

Foster Leads with 43.

Herb Foster of Brantford, Ont., who plays left wing for Atlantic City led the league in scoring with 43 goals and 11 assists.

Lisle Wareing of Regina, who patrols right wing for Rovers, was second with 36 markers and 14 assists. Kilby McDonald, brilliant Rover centre from Ottawa, finished fourth with 21 goals and 22 assists, while Tony Desmarais, forward from Regina, who was the third leading Rover marksman, rang up 39 points and tied for eighth with Red Sherwood, Ottawa boy who played for Pittsburgh.

Patrick plans to bring up a complete forward line from Ramblers to strengthen Rangers next season. Clint Smith, Vancouver centre, Bryan Hextall, Winnipeg, and Eddie Wares, Calgary, are the leading candidates for the National league jobs. Their vacancies will be filled by Rover boys but Patrick has not yet decided which amateurs will be chosen for the Rangers' minor league farm club.

BRITAIN TO CURB SPANIARDS AT SEA

Warships Ordered To Aid Any Of Empire's Vessels Being Molested

LONDON, March 30.—(CP Cable)—British warships are under orders to go to the assistance of any British merchant ship stopped on the high seas by either General Francisco Franco or the Spanish government.

British authorities made clear today interference with British shipping engaged in legitimate business on the high seas cannot be tolerated. As belligerent rights have been accorded to neither side in the Spanish civil war, it amounts to an act of piracy which must be resisted.

By special legislation, parliament has already made it an offence for British ships to carry war material either to Spain or to Spanish Morocco. It is therefore considered extremely unlikely that any British shipowner would engage in running war material.

In the event of being ordered to halt on the high seas by either the Spanish government or by a Franco warship, the master of a British merchant vessel will continue on his course and immediately send out notification to British warships in the neighborhood.

Shelled Off Santander

The reported shelling of the London steamship Magdalena by insurgent ships 20 miles off Santander and General Franco's warning to British shipping have again raised the issue.

The Magdalena, on her arrival at Bayonne, reported she had been shelled by insurgent ships. None of the shells hit. When she made known her identity the shelling ceased. General Franco is reported to have broadcast a warning to British vessels that they must promptly respond to signals from his warships.

The situation is complicated by the fact vessels of other nationalities are using the British flag as protection when in danger of being attacked. As such use of a neutral flag is recognised under international law it is considered advisable that British ships, whether on the high seas or in Spanish territorial waters, should make their identity known at the earliest possible moment. But the right to hold up British ships on the high seas is not recognized.

The Day That I Forget

By MARIE BLIZARD

CHAPTER 47

JANET sprinkled moth powder on her sweaters, folded her tweed skirts and her polo coat and handed them to Martha.

"I don't think I'll need these shoes either," she said, picking up her sturdy boots and looking at them with a fond farewell glance. She was packing away the things that she had worn the last enchanted weeks.

"I'll keep them right here in this closet, Janet, and they'll always be there. It isn't as though you were going far away. At least not yet."

Janet sat down in the small rocker. "Martha, sometimes I don't think I'm the same girl I used to be at all. Here I am just living for today without a thought of tomorrow. Somehow it doesn't seem right."

"It seems all right to me. What have you got to worry about?"

Janet shook her head. "Nothing and yet—I don't know. I'm insanely happy and we'll always have enough money to take care of us from the income of the trust fund. But I'm thinking of Joel without plans. The play is closing next month, on the tenth of June to be exact, and I don't know what we're going to do then. Once or twice I've started to ask Joel what he plans to do about going back to the coast but he has been so interested in getting a worm on a fishline or weeding the garden, that he hasn't heard me."

"Maybe he won't want to go back to the coast," Martha said from the closet.

"Won't want to! Of course, he will. The truth is, Martha, that Joel is not a great actor. We haven't talked about it and I don't believe that Joel actually knows he isn't, but I do. I'm glad that he will want to go back to California because it will give him a chance to make lots more money. This time I'll see that he saves lots more. Then, maybe we'll go around the world some day and do other wonderful things. We're really not old. Joel is only 36 and I'm not yet 30."

"Humph!" Martha grunted noncommittally.

"We haven't saved very much this winter. Joel was only getting half what he did on the coast and our bills have been tremendous. I'd like to sub-let the apartment and live out here for part of the summer and go to the Cape for another part of the year. Joel would love that. He's pretty fine about it. Russel had been pretty fine about everything, sending her flowers and books and writing her cheery little notes, telephoning frequently and offering his services for anything they might be put to. "Joel understands about my job. He knows that I need something to keep me occupied."

"There'll be nothing like a small Paynter to keep you occupied?" Martha contributed.

Janet didn't answer until she said, "It's almost noon, darling, and Joel will be here for lunch. I want to be all packed before he comes. He simply loathes last minute packing."

"Janet Paynter, you stop thinking of Joel and think of yourself for once."

But Janet could no more have stopped thinking of Joel and started thinking of herself than she could have changed the color of her eyes.

She was thinking of him when Russell Bede came to her and made an offer that was to be the triumph of her business life.

He told her that he had been waiting for her recovery to tell her the important news that he was opening a shop in New York, that the financial results of her work and hers had been so great that it was only fair to offer her a partnership in the New York shop and a salary of $50,000 a year to run it.

He didn't want to tender her while she was ill but he wanted her to consider it during the summer and plan to start in the autumn with the opening. He had planned an imposing four-floor shop on East Fifty-seventh street.

When Janet realized what it meant, it was what that security would mean to Joel if he were to stay in the east in the theater and not her triumph that filled her mind.

She told Russell how happy he had made her and said that she would have to talk it over with Joel.

Joel's show was closing a few days afterwhat conversation and Joel was moody. She decided to wait until he had a new show or made a professional move, before she broached the subject.

Nevertheless, she cherished the idea. The honor for Janet Paynter to have quietly carved a career on her own, to have achieved the distinction of being offered a partnership in a shop destined for great success, was a nobler accomplishment that she had ever dreamed in those far off days when she had been an assistant buyer in a department store.

How proud of her father would have been! And Martha. And Joel?

Joel who didn't believe women should have careers; Joel who had been a gigolo in a cocktail bar so that he could support his wife; Joel who had despised men who allowed their wives to earn their joint livelihood.

But.

Already she began to dread that little word, knowing the weakness of any argument she might have.

One afternoon she ordered her car and told the chauffeur to take her to Dick Hyman's office. Hyman was Joel's agent in New York.

"I'm a very curious woman, Mr. Hyman," she said with a pretty smile. "I'm wondering what you have up your sleeve for Joel. I happened to be passing and thought this would be a good time to drop in and have a little visit with you."

"I'm glad you did, Mrs. Paynter." He sighed. "I can't make that boy out any more. You may be able to put me straight."

Janet felt herself shiver. This wasn't the way Hyman had talked a few months before.

"What's the matter with him?" he shot at her.

"Suppose you tell me what you think it is?" she countered.

He shrugged his shoulders. "I might call it temperament, but it ain't! Of course, you know he's washed up in A pictures."

"Washed up!" Janet could feel herself bristle. "Why, Joel is one of the top-notch box office draws."

"Was," he corrected. "You have to face these things, Mrs. Paynter. I can get Joel a good contract in Hollywood but it ain't as good as he had. The public forgets and when the hold on the box office slips, the contract slips. But he won't even talk about a contract. He can work up again but he don't say anything when I ask him about what he wants me to do. He oughta know he can't get another play like Simon. One play was as much as his public'll take. Maybe you can talk to him."

"I'll try," she said and got up. She was completely disconcerted, too astonished and frightened to have the agent say anything more.

She didn't talk about it to Joel for several days and then, when she asked him what he wanted to do, he got up, walked over to the mantle and put his head on his arms.

"I'm washed up Janet. I don't want to go back to pictures. I don't know what I want. I only know that I'm a ham and I'm scared! Does that mean anything to you? It isn't the lesser salary I'd get on the coast, it's that I can't go back."

Bedtime Story

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY WINS THE STRIKE

"What's this? What's this?" growled the Wolf as he and the Bob Cat came close to where the Fox was looking in the little cave that held Uncle Wiggily. "Why doesn't he come out?"

"He says he isn't going to," said the Fox.

"Fancy that!" mewed the Bob Cat. "After all the trouble we went to! The idea! We find this cute little cave, put a sign on it inviting Uncle Wiggily to go in and what happens?"

"Well, he went in all right, just as we expected," said the Fox. "And we were hiding in the bushes waiting for him to go in and be caught. But now he won't come out!"

"Nonsense!" growled the Wolf. "Let me in there and I'll pull him out of the cave fast enough!"

Too Big for Cave

But the Wolf was too big to get inside the cave. So were the Fox and Bob Cat. Uncle Wiggily knew that when he made up his mind he wouldn't come out to be eaten. A clever rabbit, was Uncle Wiggily.

"Why don't you come out?" begged the Wolf trying to talk politely when he found he couldn't reach in and haul the rabbit out.

"Because I'm on a strike against you fellows," said Mr. Longears.

"What kind of a strike did you say it was?" asked the Fox.

"A sit-down strike," chuckled Mr. Longears. "I'm going to stay right in this cave, sitting down."

"But it isn't your cave," said the Bob Cat. "It's ours."

"I know that now, I didn't at first," said Uncle Wiggily, "I thought it was an adventure cave."

"It is a sort of adventure," said the Fox, "but not the kind we want. When we discovered this cave, Mr. Longears, and put up the sign inviting you to go in, we thought you would come out when we wanted you to."

"But I won't," said the rabbit. "I'm on strike and I'm going to stay sitting down until I get what I want. You can't get in to pull me out for you're all too big. I'm safe and I'm going to stay here."

He found a softer rock on which to sit and sat there, looking out at the Bad Chaps who were sliding their red tongues over their hungry teeth, giving them a sort of sleigh ride.

Then the Fox, the Wolf and the Bob Cat talked together in whispers. "Is there a back way to the cave so one of us could get in and make him come out?" asked the Bob Cat.

"No," said the Fox. "There isn't. We'll have to wait until he gives up his sit-down strike."

What He Wanted

"Let's ask him what he wants to stop it," said the Wolf, so they asked Mr. Longears and he said:

"First of all I want you to get me something to eat. All sit-down strikers must eat. There are greens growing in the woods now. All three of you go get me some food and then I'll tell you what I'll do to end this strike," said Uncle Wiggily.

"That seems fair enough," said the Fox. The other Bad Chaps said the same thing. Then, being very foolish, they all went away to gather in the woods some food for the sit-down striker.

The moment the Bad Chaps were gone, Uncle Wiggily hopped out of the cave. He took a soft piece of stone and wrote on the sign:

"The sit-down strike is over! I've gone home."

Then Mr. Longears hopped safely to his bungalow. And when the Bad Chaps reached the cave again with some early green leaves they were so angry at being fooled they threw stones at themselves.

And if the lace curtain doesn't call itself a Swiss cheese because it has so many holes, I'll tell you more about Uncle Wiggily's kite.

Blind Judge Picks Liars With Ease

DETROIT, March 29 (C.P.). — Common Pleas Judge Ned H. Smith finds blindness no handicap and persons who enter his court room here with thoughts of circumventing justice by prevarication are doomed to disappointment.

Judge Smith is said by his associates to have such good hearing that he can tell by the inflection of a voice whether a person is telling the truth.

Last week a witness in an accident case narrated a colorful story. Suddenly the Judge accused the man of lying. Persistent questioning brought an admission from the witness that he had been telling an untruth. He admitted to Judge Smith he had not been near the accident.

Court attaches said Judge Smith had discovered the man was falsifying by the tone of his voice. They were convinced the inflection could not have been discerned by a person of ordinary hearing.

HASTINGS

SURPRISE PARTY IS JOLLY AFFAIR

Mr. And Mrs. Walter Warner Receive Many Gifts From Friends

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, March 30.—A very jolly evening was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Warner in honor of the eleventh anniversary of their wedding. Seventy invitations had been extended to relatives and friends in Hastings, Campbellford, Warkworth and Havelock, by those who planned the social affair as a complete surprise to Mrs. Warner.

Mr. and Mrs. Warner had been entertained by her mother, Mrs. Elmer Sherwin, at the tea hour, and when they had returned to their home, much to Mrs. Warner's surprise over forty friends, including her grandfather, Mr. James Hicks, of Campbellford, had already assembled. Messrs. Donald Beamish and Phillip Ford had been engaged to furnish music for the dancing which proved an enjoyable pastime. Euchre was a fascinating game for some of the older guests. The guests did not come empty handed but brought a liberal supply of good things to eat and some suitable gifts, including money, for the guests of honor, who thanked one and all for the surprise party planned for them. Before leaving for their homes everyone extended best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Warner (formerly Vera Sherwin) and their little daughters Doreen, Irene and Ruth.

Women's Association

Mrs. W. Way offered her home for Thursday's regular meeting of Trinity United Women's Association, when fifteen members were present, and the president, Miss Mae Ruycke, presiding. The program was in charge of the group convenor, Mrs. H. Oliver, and included the reading of the Scripture appropriate for Easter, by Mrs. A. M. Brooks; readings by Mrs. H. Orr and Mrs. H. Edwards and a beautiful solo "Nearer to Thee" by Mrs. W. Tate. A coronation tea was planned to be held shortly after the coronation. Committees were formed and many suggestions offered.

A congregational Easter Party will be held on Wednesday evening, March 31, in St. George's Anglican basement, so that the members of the congregation may become better acquainted and meet their rector, Rev. Wm. Stocks and Mrs. Stocks, and enjoy the program in charge of the A.Y.P.A.

Held Social Evening

The young ladies of the Percy Women's Institute who have just finished the Short Course under the direction of their leaders, Mrs. Wm. Herriot and Mrs. Wilbert Hoar, planned a social evening at the home of Mrs. Wm. Herriot on Friday evening. The evening was a pleasant one for everyone present, as games were enjoyed and two presentations were made to their leaders, who have worked so faithfully towards the work. Mrs. Herriot received a beautiful silver casserole and Mrs. Hoar a silver cake plate as tokens of appreciation from their class.

Personals

Mrs. S. Spooner and daughter Betty spent Easter week with relatives in Toronto.

Colorful Schooner 'Girl Pat' In U.S. Custody

Pictured on the Delaware River at Philadelphia, Pa., is the Girl Pat, the Grimsby (Eng.), fishing trawler that left her port a year ago and never returned, writing colorful maritime history all over the face of the seven seas. There's more mystery attached to her, for the Girl Pat is in custody of the U.S. coast-guard, members of which remain silent as to why and wherefore.

JANETVILLE

SUPPER FOLLOWED BY GOOD PROGRAM

Play Is Feature Of Successful Affair By Janetville W. A.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

JANETVILLE, March 30. — The oyster supper sponsored by the Women's Association of the United Church which was postponed from March 17th on account of stormy weather, was held in the church on Wednesday evening and was a decided success in every way despite the fact that the weather again turned stormy and the roads were unfavorable.

The supper, served in the Sunday School rooms, which were appropriately decorated in a color scheme of green and white, was all that could be desired, and consisted of generous servings of oysters, followed by every known variety of tarts, cake and pie.

Rev. H. C. Wolfraim, pastor of the church, acted in the capacity of chairman, in his usual genial manner for the following program:

Quartette, "The Dear Little Shamrock," and encore, by four boys: Harry Wolfraim, Harold Crawford, Douglas and Billie Armstrong.

Duet, "School Days," and encore, "Put on your old grey bonnet," by Ralph and Anne Robinson, aged four and three.

Guitar selection and encore — Harold Bradburn.

Vocal solo, "The Big Black Bear," and encore, by Helen Wolfraim, with Helen Deyell dressed as a realistic bear.

Mouth organ and banjo selection —Percy Hamilton.

Quartette, "The Grandfather Clock" and encore, "When Irish Eyes are Smiling."

Duet and encore—Ralph and Annie Robinson.

Guitar number—Harold Bradburn.

Vocal duet, "When you wore a Tulip," by the "Two Helens," and encore, "Annie Rooney."

Banjo selection—F. Hamilton.

The last number was a one-hour play, "How the Story Grew," a farce comedy by eight ladies of the association, namely, Mrs. Charles Deyell, Mrs. Oswald McGill, Mrs S. E. Bradburn, Mrs. Orvine McGill, Mrs. R. J. Burns, Mrs. W. Leslie, Miss Olive Jackett and Mrs. M. Armstrong.

The play was very capably directed by Mrs. (Rev.) Wolfraim.

Rev. Mr. Wolfraim and Mrs. E. A. Bradburn, president of the W.A., extended a hearty vote of thanks to all who had contributed toward the success of the evening. The proceeds amounted to almost forty-five dollars.

Girl Flier Claims New Solo Record, Hoists Gas Up On Fish Line 40 Times

VENTURA, Calif., March 30 (AP). —Evelyn Hudson, 28-year-old stenographer, claimed a special world record today for women's solo endurance flying—19 hours, 57 minutes, 18 1-3 seconds.

"I'd still be going, if I had more gas," said the Glendale miss, who took her light monoplane aloft Easter morning and landed it early today.

Forty times, she used a fishing line to hoister her fuel up in gallon quantities yesterday. A broken pully prevented her from loading enough to last the night.

Jack M. Miller, district representative of the U.S. National Aeronautical Association, said no endurance record currently exists for women flying planes of less than 1,000 pounds.

BAN FROM ITALY NEWS TO TRIBUNE

New York Paper Expresses Faith In Its Rome Correspondent

NEW YORK, March 30 (A.P.). — Grafton Wilcox, managing editor of the New York Herald-Tribune, issued the following statement in connection with a Rome despatch the newspaper had been banned from Italy for an indefinite period:

"The New York Herald-Tribune has no direct information relating to the Associated Press report from Rome that it as been banned from Italy. This newspaper has faith in the integrity and ability of its Rome correspondent, Mr. John T. Whitaker, whose recent despatches have attracted attention because of their frank presentation of developments relating to the Spanish and Balkan situations.

"Mr. Whitaker has long been known to the Italian Foreign Office. He was the first American newspaper correspondent admitted to Eritrea at the outset of the Italo-Ethiopian War and recently accompanied Premier Mussolini on his trip to Libya."

Hockey Fans Got off Train On Viaduct

Inquest Held Into Death Of James J. Platt On Hockey Special

NO BLAME PLACED

Thomas Starr Believed To Be Only Eye-Witness Describes Accident

PORT HOPE, March 31. — Two outer vestibule doors of the Peterborough special hockey train returning from Oshawa March 19 found have been opened by passengers, C.N.R. trainmen testified at the inquest here Tuesday night into the death of James J. Platt of Peterborough who was instantly killed in a fall of 20 feet from the railway viaduct when the train stopped about five minutes before switching onto the line to the northern city.

The jury's verdict simply affirmed that James J. Platt came to his death about 12.30 a.m. March 20 at Port Hope as a result of losing his balance and falling from the C.N.R. viaduct, east of the station, to the ground below, a distance of 20 feet, thereby causing a fracture of the base of the skull and internal hemorrhage.

The presiding coroner, Dr. F. W. Diamond, was assisted by Crown Attorney Fred D. Boggs, K.C., Cobourg, and the jurors were: A. E. Pulford, foreman; Horace Groome, Ernest Wells, Chas. Roberts, James Reynolds, Harry Mitchell, W. C. Williamson and M. G. Hancock.

Saw Platt Fall

Thomas Starr, Peterborough, said he was not acquainted with the deceased James J. Platt.

"When the train stopped at Port Hope some of us got up to walk through the coaches," Mr. Starr said. "Several men went out the door of our coach. When I reached the last step I stopped to look out. The train was on the viaduct, partly on and partly off. I saw what looked in the dark like a cinder path, and also what I took to be a trestle. I noticed a form just ahead called out, 'Be careful boys it's getting narrow.' The next thing I heard a form from the form just ahead of me, 'I'm going,' and he toppled over the embankment. I learned afterwards that it was Mr. Platt. I think he had taken one step on the trestle. I noticed the glow of a cigarette as he fell over, and I heard the thud as the body struck the road. I was on the step of the coach."

Conductor's Evidence

J. Taverner, Lindsay, conductor of the hockey special, explained that the train was east bound and had arrived in Port Hope on the south main line, and then switch on to the viaduct to back down onto the north main line to Peterborough. Part of the train was on the viaduct about five minutes. Mr. Taverner said he did not hear about the accident until the train was backing "over on to the Peterborough division." Somebody told him a man had fallen off the viaduct. When the conductor grabbed the place where the body was lying, two police officers were already there.

"Did the passengers know that the train was going over the viaduct?" Col. Boggs asked.

"I don't think anything was said about that," Mr. Taverner replied. "We were on the viaduct just while the brakeman was opening the switches."

Answering another question about instructions to passengers before the train reached Port Hope, Mr. Taverner said the only instructions were given to those passengers who were getting off at the town.

They were told to remain seated

The veteran politician and newspaperman from Brockville, Ont., will be the guest of honor at a private dinner tendered tonight by Senator Cairine Wilson.

George P. Graham's political life started back in 1898 when he was elected to the Ontario Legislature for Brockville. Urges Relief By Improving Rural Schools

Renfrew Liberal Suggests Million a Year Be Spent For Five Years

MANY POOR BUILDINGS

OTTAWA, March 31 (C.P.). — Improvement of rural schools as an unemployment relief measure was urged in the House of Commons today by Dr. J. J. McCann (Lib-Renfrew South) as the 1937 Relief Bill was considered in committee of the whole.

Many rural schools were in a dilapidated condition, said Dr. McCann, and local authorities had no money to improve them. If the Government would appropriate a sum of money for rural school rehabilitation it would provide much employment throughout the country and also improve the accommodation for the children.

Scattering employment throughout the country in this way would ease the tension of the cities and check the drift of unemployed from the country to the urban centres where they were becoming a serious burden on the taxpayers.

The Bill authorizing agreements with provinces for grants-in-aid of direct relief work received second reading without debate, but ran into a long discussion in committee.

Five-Year Plan

Dr. McCann urged the Government to initiate a five-year plan, spending $1,000,000 a year on the reconstruction of rural school. He also recommended a continued program of road building to open up the northern mining areas.

C.C.F. Leader J. S. Woodsworth agreed the suggested program for reconstruction of rural schools was a good one, but he was not satisfied with the system being followed of passing the burden along from federal to municipal governments.

Mr. Woodsworth feared a continuation of present policies would lead to unrest and he asked why the Government did not take steps to avoid trouble now rather than to build up reinforced police organization to redress anticipated evils that could be prevented. The Government had the old system of waiting for something to happen and "passing the buck," said Mr. Woodsworth.

Grades Are To Replace All Classes

Old Conception Of High School As Prelude To University To Be Abandoned

START THIS FALL

Matriculation Standard Done —Stress English, Health Education

TORONTO, March 31 (C.P.). — Ontario's educational system is stated for an overhauling which the Department of Education hopes will better equip youth for places in business and industry.

Hon. Dr. L. J. Simpson, Ontario Minister of Education, announced the proposed changes last night when he addressed the Ontario Educational Association annual sessions. The old conception of a High School as a prelude to university must be abandoned, he said.

Next fall, it is hoped, will see the start of the new system under which the secondary school curricula is revised with the matriculation standard abolished. Stress will be laid on teaching of English and health education.

Shopwork and manual training for boys and domestic science for girls will have prominent places. Latin no longer will be a compulsory subject, taught only to those wishing it for university careers.

The Minister emphasized the new course was being presented in tentative form only. It is not to become effective in final form "until it has been tried in practice and has received the critical scrutiny of those whose opinions are of greatest value."

Choice Of Four Courses.

After a year under the new system students will have choice of one of these four courses: A general course somewhat similar to the present matriculation course leading to university matriculation; a general course aimed at employment in industry, agriculture or art; a household arts course, highly specialized, chiefly for girls; a commercial course, for those entering business.

Dr. Simpson announced abandonment of lower, middle and upper school class systems. Numbering of grades will start in public schools and carried from grade nine to grade 13 in high schools. Grade 13 will be equivalent to the present upper school with a greater selective course.

The aim was to provide in a single system of secondary school education "courses of study which will meet the requirements of the universities on the one hand and on the other provide an adequate training for boys and girls whose formal education proceeds no further," said the minister.

First year subjects will be com-

OLD SOCIAL SECURITY

BETHEL, Alaska, March 31—(AP)—Social security is centuries old to the primitive Eskimos of remote Nunivak Island. They provide for their aged and needy through "gift festivals" a noted German scientist, Dr. Hans Himmelherber, disclosed today, after a five months study of the natives.

In contrast, other tribes—particularly on the Labrador coast—frequently leave their old members to die in lonely places, observers have reported.

44-Hour Week, Same Pay Announced At Westclox

Largest Staff In Company's History Will Be Affected By Change

THREE-YEAR PROGRAM

Reduction of hours to a 44-hour week with pay increases which will enable employees to equal or exceed their present earnings in the shorter week, was announced as the Western Clock Company by J. H. Vernor, general manager, Tuesday afternoon. The change from the 47-hour week at present in effect will be made on April 26.

The largest staff in the history of the company's 17 years' business here, 470 men and women, will be effected by the revision. In taking the step, the company is merely trying to follow the general tendency throughout industry to reduce working hours and increase wages, Mr. Vernor said.

Statement Issued.

A statement to the press by Mr. Vernor follows:

"The Western Clock Company Limited now adopts a 44-hour week instead of its former standard of 47 hours.

"In order to avoid any interference with earnings of employees, hourly piece and premium rates will be raised to compensate for the reduced time worked.

"The advance applies to all hourly rates and most of the incentive rates.

"During the depression a 10 percent general cut had to be made and certain adjustments in individual rates were also made at the same time. The 10 percent cut was restored early in 1936 and in addition a bonus equal to two weeks' pay was given last December, as at that time plans were not completed for making such a change as this.

"The present adjustment of hours worked means actually an increase in wages as hours will be reduced by 6.4 percent while most of the hourly, piece and premium rates will be increased from 7 percent to 10 percent.

"The factory will work 8 hours daily with 4 hours Saturday morning, making a 44-hour week.

"The Company has provided non-contributory group insurance ever

STUDIO UNDER HAMMER

Birthplace of Canada's Great Vimy Ridge War Memorial To Be Sold.

LONDON, March 31. — (CP) — Birthplace of Canada's great Vimy Ridge war memorial, 16 Maida Vale, is to be sold. Unless a sentimental private buyer steps in the big studio where Walter Allward toiled for 12 years over the designs for the memorial will go under the auctioneer's hammer in April.

The Canadian government bought the property because of its large studio, used in the 80's by Sir Alfred Gilbert, British sculptor. The purpose for which Canada bought the premises having been fulfilled, the sale was ordered.

Toronto Controller Opposes Recent Police Drive Against Sunday Sales

TORONTO, March 31—(CP)—Ralph Day, vice-chairman of Toronto Board of Control, yesterday opposed the recent police drive against Sunday sales in drug stores of tobacco, cigarettes and candies. He favored a move by city council to seek repeal of the 93-year-old Victorian Sunday observance law under which prosecutions have been made against Sunday sellers and purchasers.

Woman Reaches 105 May Ease Smoking

Fort Qu'Appelle, Sask., Mar. 31. NOW that she is 105 years old, Mrs. John Asham, widow of the well-known Chief John Asham, is wondering if it would not be wise to cut down on smoking.

Auberie Rocan, authority on Indian lore, who for [illegible] has been the Indians' "white [illegible]," counsellor and friend, called on the grand old lady after her recent birthday anniversary. She made tea for him and was very chatty. Throughout the conversation she smoked her pipe incessantly, puffing great clouds of smoke out into the room. Her favorite smoking mixture is a manufactured tobacco mixed with an equal quantity of kinnikinick or the bark of the red willow.

Mrs. Asham has all her faculties, but admits her eyesight is not as good as it was. She blames smoking for this and is considering occasional pipefuls half hours.

1,000 Italians Land At Ceuta

Colonial Troop Move Seen As Start Of Serious Drive Against Plotters In Morocco

CASABLANCA, French Morocco, March 31 (A.P.). — Usually reliable sources to-day said 1,000 "Italian overseas colonial troops" had landed at Ceuta, Spanish Morocco, apparently as a precautionary measure because of a seemingly "serious" movement against the insurgent administration there.

The Italian troops were distributed throughout Spanish Morocco, the reports said.

Efforts to confirm the advices, which came from several sources, were hindered by the fact that telephonic communication with Tetuan, capital of Spanish Morocco, was cut for the second time in 24 hours.

One traveller who reached Casablanca to-day said diplomatic circles in Tetuan believed the situation was serious.

The insurgent regime maintained such a strict censorship that confirmation was impossible, he said.

In one quarter it was reported the "Italian colonials" had come from Italian-conquered Ethiopia, but whether they were Italians or native troops was not clear.

(The semi-official Spanish news organization, Agence Espagne, reported at Tangier, in the Moroccan international zone, that a plot against General Franco in Spanish Morocco had been crushed with the execution of 50 men and the arrest of 1,100 officers, soldiers and civilians.)

CASE DISMISSED

Cadi Rule, Daughters Do Not Have to Support Able-bodied Father.

HAMILTON, Ont., March 30 (C.P.). — A father who sought maintenance from his daughters appeared before Magistrate H. A. Ourtidge to-day, but failed in his attempts to obtain their support.

"I have grave doubts that the Parents' Maintenance Act was ever meant to cover a case of this kind," Magistrate Ourtidge commented, dismissing the charge laid against Louise and Elsie Karchinski, by their father, Albert Karchinski.

"I do not think this able-bodied man at the age of 46 can claim to be destitute as required by law," the court continued. "He does not come within the meaning of the word as explained in the dictionary."

Wheat Fears Boosting Cost British Bread

Flour Jumps Six Times In 22 Days As World Famine Hinted

HIGHEST SINCE 1918

LONDON, March 31 (CP Cable)—Fear of a world wheat shortage rapidly is pushing up the price of bread in Britain.

London flour millers yesterday announced the sixth successive increase in the standard grade of flour in 22 days. The new figure of 45 shillings sixpence per 280 lbs. already is six shillings higher than the price ruling March 7. This is increased a further sixpence by the wheat quota.

The price of 44 shillings announced March 11 justified an increase in the cost of bread a fortnight later by a half penny to 9½ pence per quarter loaf. This is the highest level since 1918 and the price of wheat is approaching a level where a 10-penny loaf would be justified.

Wheat futures in the Liverpool corn exchange yesterday rose to 10 shillings 2¾ pence per cental—the highest value in nine years. The price has risen 15 pence in a month.

Keen interest in wheat dealings recently has been ascribed to the possibility of the world wheat reserve dwindling to a minimum. But the Daily Express today prints on its front page the story of an "Astonishing Gamble" based on rumors of a world wheat famine which, the paper says, "shrewd observers do not anticipate."

"Informed observers," the Express added, "suspect a ramp and know there is enough wheat and some to spare to fill world demand until the new harvests, and with increased prices it is expected there will be much sown and a heavy harvest."

Japanese Army Heads Force Dissolution Of Parliament

Unrest To Climax In General Election Within Next Thirty Days

NAME 466 MEMBERS

TOKYO, March 31. —(AP)— The Japanese army, charging leaders of the political parties with obstructing "vital" laws for national defence, forced the dissolution of Parliament today.

The dissolution was ordered by Emperor Hirohito on the advice of Premier Senjuro Hayashi and made a general election mandatory within 30 days.

The new crisis arose suddenly with the stormy 70th session of the diet due for only a few more hours of normal life.

Realizing there was no chance of pushing through the bills they considered vital, the army leaders, in cooperation with the navy, brought pressure to bear on the premier to advise the Emperor to order dissolution.

The demand was presented to Hayashi by General Sugiyama, minister of war, and Admiral Mitsumasa Yonai, minister of the Navy.

The government announced the new election would be called April 30 to choose 466 members for a new House of Representatives.

A continued state of unrest was expected to last throughout the month's campaign stirred by political leaders' charges that a Fascist-inclined military clique was attempting to dominate the government.

Blue Law Campaign Bounces On Toronto

CAMPAIGN in Toronto against the sale of tobacco on Sunday is to be stopped at once because of adverse publicity in the United States, Mayor W. D. Robbins said today.

United States tourists were intending giving Toronto a wide berth because they had been told they could not even buy tobacco on Sunday in Canada, let alone enjoy a day's fishing, Mayor Robbins said he had been informed.

PROBE SARNIA FIRES

Laidlaw Lumber Yards Threatened By Series of Mysterious Fires.

Sarnia, Ont., March 31.—(CP)—A deputy fire marshal was expected here to-day to investigate the latest of a series of mysterious waterfront fires. Request for an inquiry was made to the Provincial Fire Marshal's office by Fire Chief John Anderson. Several pieces of waste, apparently taken from journal boxes of railway freight cars, were found last night after fire mixed blame broke out in and near the Laidlaw Becker, Ltd., lumber yards. Two of the fires were quickly extinguished but one in a pile of ties caused at least several hundred dollars damage. Later at a point farther north on the water front, a stable was destroyed.

Company Refuses Meet C.I.O. Envoy, Men Insist Upon It

Auto Workers' Union Sets Nine a.m. Thursday As Deadline For Parley—Or Walkout

MAYOR TAKES HAND

Want Time-And-Half Pay For Overtime And Eight-Hour Day

OSHAWA, Ont., March 31 (CP)—About 800 employees in the Oshawa plant of General Motors of Canada will be called out on strike tomorrow unless the company agrees to deal with a committee including Hugh Thompson, organizer for the committee for industrial organization.

"There will be a walkout if the committee insists on admitting Thompson to the conference," said J. B. Highfield, plant superintendent, who declared the company would not deal with a representative of the C.I.O.

Oshawa local of the United Automobile Workers of America set nine a.m. tomorrow as the deadline for acceptance of their demand that General Motors officials meet a committee of the union, including Thompson.

First Around C.I.O.

The dispute was believed the first in Canada to revolve around the C.I.O., headed in the United States by John L. Lewis.

General Motors officials said they were prepared to negotiate with a committee of the union if Thompson took no part in the conference. A general union meeting last night, however, voted that Thompson must be a member of the bargaining committee.

Demands for time-and-a-half overtime pay and an eight-hour day will be made should a conference be arranged. Union leaders said an immediate decision was necessary because the plant's peak production would be passed in a few weeks.

Mayor Alex Hall said he addressed the union members at their closed meeting last night, advising them to reconsider the situation before calling a strike. He was confident a settlement could be reached.

Tariff Raised On Furniture; Cut, Car Parts

Reductions Also Affect Certain Types Of Hats—Retroactive To Feb. 25

RESULT OF INQUIRY

OTTAWA, March 31.— (CP)— Following recommendations of the Tariff Board, Finance Minister Dunning to-day announced an upward revision in the tariff on furniture and cuts in the tariff on several items in the automotive schedules. Reductions will also be made on certain types of hats. The changes will be retroactive to the day the budget was brought in, February 25.

When the extensive changes were made in automobile tariffs a year ago, the Tariff Board was instructed to study how the changes worked out and recommend further changes if desirable this year.

Under the changes proposed by Mr. Dunning and made public today in the votes and proceedings of the House of Commons, many automobile parts formerly dutiable are placed on the free list both under the British preference and intermediate tariff applicable to the United States. On other parts the British preference is made free and the intermediate considerably reduced.

U. S. Main Competitor.

The increased tariff on furniture also follows the recommendation of the Tariff Board. The chief competition of Canadian firms for the Canadian market comes from the United States.

When the trade agreement with the United States came into effect on January 1, 1936, the protection enjoyed by Canadian manufacturers of furniture against American importations was cut from 45 per cent. to 30 per cent. less 10 per cent. or actually 27 per cent. (The extra 10 per cent. arises out of provisions of the Canada-France treaty.)

The Board recommended this be increased to 37½ per cent. less 10 per cent. or a net duty of 33¾ per cent. The changes Mr. Dunning announced to-day make provision for this increase. The Board in its recommendation proposed the increase be considered only as temporary, suggesting it be reviewed after two years.

Woman Watched Watchman While Hubby Burgled Plant

Forced To Steal She Tells Court—So Hard Up Had To Give Baby Away

UNABLE TO BUY MILK

WHITBY, Ont. March 31.—(CP).—Mrs. Thomas Peck admitted at the trial of her husband yesterday on a charge of stealing leather from a tannery here that she had assisted in the theft by keeping a watch on the night watchman.

"I'd have stolen, too," she said, as she told a story of hardship and of burning their baby over to her parents because she had been unable to obtain milk. "He did it because he was so hard up.

"It is amazing that a man would drag his wife into a situation like this and the Crown must necessarily consider the new aspect that has come out this afternoon," said Crown Attorney Gordon Conant, asking for a week's remand before sentence is passed. Peck, aged 34, said he made a foolish mistake" in taking his wife to watch the night watchman at the plant.

Woodsworth Denounces Anti-Communist Bill In Quebec—May Be Referred To Courts

OTTAWA, March 31 (CP).—Unremitting warfare against Communism, Fascism and all subversive elements has been declared by Justice Minister Ernest Lapointe, but not by use of "guns or jail sentences." Education and the propagation of the right kind of information of the people, coupled with elimination of causes of unrest and the administration of equal justice and charity to all would be the Minister's methods.

In the House of Commons yesterday Mr. Lapointe reviewed his expression of hostility to Communism and suggested the formation of a league of Canadian citizens organized to combat subversive movements and to maintain Canada as a democratic state.

Mr. Lapointe was replying to comments of C.C.F. Leader James S. Woodsworth, who criticized the Minister for his declaration last week of the illegality of sit-down strikes in Canada. Mr. Woodsworth also called attention to what he considered unsound actions of the Quebec Government in respect to Communist activities and Labor.

The C.C.F. leader suggested the Minister's declaration could not be dissociated with the riot in Sarnia early in March when a sit-down strike was attempted. Mr. Lapointe denied this, and declared he knew nothing of the Sarnia affair other than what had been in the newspapers.

An interim supply measure was passed through all stages yesterday placing one-sixth of the 1937-38 estimate at the disposal of the Government to start the fiscal year which opens tomorrow. Further supplementary estimates were passed and some minor legislation disposed of.

Welcomes Euler Home

An intimate touch was given proceedings when Conservative Leader Bennett welcomed hom the Minister of Trade and Commerce, Hon. W. D. Euler, who since he last sat in the House has visited Russia and several other European countries and more recently the Antipodes on trade missions.

In his reply Mr. Euler observed that on his trip to Australia he had covered the ground traversed by Mr. Bennett a few weeks earlier and paid tribute to the opposition leader for the fine impression he had made upon the people of those countries and the good influence he had been for Canada in those Dominions.

The discussion between Mr. Woodsworth and Mr. Lapointe was feature of the day's proceedings.

The C.C.F. leader said Mr. Lapointe had declared the sit-down strike illegal in Canada and if he felt free to interpret the law on that matter he should make a declaration on the Quebec legislation.

GERMANY WEIGHS ITALIAN WARRIOR

Watch His Fighting In Spain With Alliance At Stake—Opinion Never High

LONDON, March 31.—(CP Havas)—Value of Italian troops is being carefully weighed by Germany military experts, following the course of events in Spain, The Manchester Guardian declared to-day.

"The movements of the Italians in Spain are being followed very closely by German observers, for Italy is regarded as a possible future ally," the Liberal newspaper declared. "The German experts' opinion of the Italian (as a soldier) was always exceedingly low. Even the old Austrian soldier ranked higher in German eyes."

The Guardian asserted the German general staff and air ministry have been giving particular attention to the Spanish war from both technical and strategic points of view. According to The Guardian, they have reached the following conclusions:

"German anti-aircraft artillery has been put through a thorough test in Spain, and according to the German view has been satisfactory.

"German airplanes have not stood the tests so well. German experts hold that Russian planes are superior both in the quality of material and in build.

"Other German experts and some non-German experts with them believe that the German planes are the best, but that German pilots have shown themselves inferior to the Russians.

"There seems to be general unanimity with regard to the value of German tanks. The German fleet in Spanish waters has disappointed the German naval command."

The Guardian concluded with the statement that the defence of Madrid has convinced the German General Staff that a strongly fortified city or country under conditions of modern warfare is likely to be unassailable.

FILMS INCREASE RUN ON LIBRARY

New York Finds Movies Stimulate Interest In Book Versions

NEW YORK, March 31—(CP)—Instead of competing with books, movies are stimulating children's interest in them, says Anne Carrel Moore, superintendent of the public library's work here with children.

For instance, "The Last of the Mohicans," she says, is having a tremendous run in the 45 branches of the library. "Boys who have seen the film come to the library to read the book and see how much alike they are. Almost without exception, they say the book has the picture beaten. "Anthony Adverse" is their latest request—but it is not printed. Children who see "Beloved Enemy" are curious to know more about the turbulent life in Ireland during the days it pictures.

News of the week in the movies arouses their interest in current affairs—and they become newspaper conscious.

Plot Crushed Grab Morocco From Franco

110 Executed In Ceuta Sunday After 400 Suspects Rounded Up

100 OFFICERS INVOLVED

TANGIER, Moroccan International Zone, March 31.—(AP)—A widespread counter-revolutionary plot to seize Spanish Morocco, birthplace of the Spanish civil war, from insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco was reported today to have been crushed.

Insurgent authorities of the North African protectorate, striking at the conspirators with unexpected swiftness, were reported by the semi-official Valencia news agency, Agency Espagne, to have summarily executed 30 men and arrested 1,100 officers, soldiers and civilians in Tetuan.

(Advices received by the Continental Daily Mail in Paris said 110 executions had been carried out in Ceuta Sunday. The men who were shot in two groups—50 at one time, 60 at another — were reported to have been part of 400 suspects rounded up there.)

More than 100 high-ranking officers, most of them belonging to the air forces, were said to have been implicated in the plot which was seemingly well laid in all parts of Spanish Morocco and the southern tip of European Spain.

The revolt, which was nipped only a few days before the conspirators were ready to strike, was said to have been scheduled for April 2.

Tip Given By Officer.

The plot, the Spanish News Agency dispatches said, was disclosed by an officer of the Italian air force stationed at Melilla.

The first move of the counter-revolution was to have been the arrest of Colonel Juan Beigebeder Yatenza, the insurgent High Commissioner, and his staff.

Then, throughout next week-end, the revolters' position would have been consolidated through seizure of railroad stations and public services throughout the colony.

(The Daily Mail reports said the conspirators planned to raise the flag of the Madrid-Valencia government, while a squad of 50 pilots seized the planes of the insurgent airports and bombed all military centres, including the official headquarters at Tetuan.)

Reports reaching here said the basic reason for the plot against the Franco regime was dissatisfaction with the conduct of the war, de-

WEDDINGS

BRAHANEY—O'CONNOR.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 31. — A pretty wedding was solemnized in St. Mary's church at nine o'clock Tuesday morning when Catherine Anne, youngest daughter of Mrs. Ellen O'Connor and the late Patrick O'Connor of Seymour township, became the bride of Owen A. Brahaney, only son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Brahaney, of Campbellford.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother Edmund, was becomingly attired in a white satin gown cut on princess lines, with long flowing train and carried a bouquet of white cala lillies. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Gordon Curtiss of Amherstburg, wearing a charming powder blue lace dress with an over jacket with large full sleeves and matching accessories and while the groom's sister, Miss Winnifred Brahaney, Detroit, who wore a dress cut on similar lines in a delicate shade of peach, was her only other attendant.

The groom was assisted by Mr. Ernest Auger of Seymour township, while Mr. Gordon Curtiss of Amherstburg, was usher. Miss Bernice Clarke played the organ, while a children's choir rendered Easter music during the singing of the nuptial mass by the Rev. Father McAuley, who was assisted by Father Ferguson of Warkworth.

The bride's two small nephews, George and James Bilboy, were the altar boys for the occasion.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's mother, who received the guests, attired in a beautiful gown of Coronation blue, wearing a corsage of red roses. Sixty guests assembled in the dining room which was tastefully decorated with spring flowers, while pink and white tapers in silver candlesticks were placed on the table which was centred by the wedding cake.

After an extended honeymoon vacation the couple will return to reside in Seymour township.

Ladies Fight Moustaches

Brand Them Barrier To Romance—Say Garden The Spot For Shrubbery

LIKE KISSING A BROOM

HOLLYWOOD, March 31—(AP)—The minute a hair stylist proclaimed that moustaches were coming back, Martha Raye exploded: "If women like moustaches, why did the moustache cup disappear? I'm making a hill-billy picture and a couple of times I've come within a whisker of resigning."

Said Dorothy Lamour:

"Grandma had one and kissing him was like falling face down on a broom."

Fred Fredericks, hair stylist for a noted make-up artist started it all by saying moustaches of the small, neat variety were just a bit of all right—mentioning Clark Gable, Jack Oakie, William Powell, Dick Powell and Michael Whalen.

"A moustache, properly used, is an effective 'dress' by emphasizing or softening the lines of the face. You can mould a man's face with it, bring out his good features, disguise those not so good.

"A moustache is a personality-shaper."

Maybe so. But hark:—

Marsha Hunt—"How can you get romantic necking a bristle?"

Marlene Dietrich—"My early childhood on the Continent taught me that moustaches are a handicap."

CARVING AT HOME DIFFERENT THING

Ottawa Dissection Expert Asks For Bigger Platters On Dinner Table

OTTAWA, March 31.—(CP)—P. A. Taverner, Dominion ornithologist who has dissected countless birds in his 25 years here, admits he is no better at the head of the table carving the roasted fowl for family consumption, than the next fellow.

"If my wife would let me pick up the bird and feel by the feel where the joints are, I could do a much neater job, but oddly enough she won't," he says.

Mr. Taverner's method is to cut off the leg and wing of one side first, and then slice through that breast before he removed the leg and wing of the other side. This is not for any weighty ornithological reason, but simply because an uncut side makes a nicer looking cold supper than a hacked carcass.

The noted ornithologist says that like any other "table carver" he nears of it, if he spills gravy on the table or allows the bird to slip off the platter.

He complains, however, that all women will choose a small platter in preference for the bigger one that would make the whole carving business much easier.

$25 Reward will be paid by the mfrs. of LLOYD'S THYMOLATED CORN SALVE for any corn or callous THEY cannot remove with this wonderful new scientific preparation for CORNS OR CALLOUSES. It de-sensitises and relieves pain with first application. For sale at Elliott's Drug Store, Phone 15; Paynes' Drug Store, Phone 146; McDermid and Jury, Phone 102.

Just Between Us Women

A Daily Chat With Examiner Neighbors, Conducted by Roberta

SO he died for his faith, that is fine,
More than most of us do.
But say, can you add to that line
That he lived for it too?
That his death be more witness, at least
As a martyr to truth,
Did his life do the same in the past,
From the days of his youth?

—Ernest Crosby.

Dear Friends:

So many of us say we are willing to die for our faith, but did you ever try living for it, putting up with the slurs and contemptuous looks you refused to do something your conscience would not allow you to do?

So many seem to think that death is horrible, that it makes up for many things which are committed while we live and breathe, but I do not think so. It is much easier to make one grand gesture, than endure a lifetime of little hurts and denials, Mr. Crosby goes on to say:

It is easy to die, men have died
From bravado, passion, or pride,
Was it harder for him?

It is the same in everyday human and leave all the little things unlife. Someone will do one big thing done, then think they should get a lot of praise, when all the little things left undone are crying to high heaven about his slackness, the little cruelties, the sting of little words, the hurt of neglect, and no large gesture can counteract these.

Which reminds me of a woman I used to know, who would use sarcasm as a weapon, who would say the cruelest things, belittling and stabbing you, knowing that, as you were a guest in her house, you could not say what you felt without an ungodly row, and letting you go to bed at night with all these words to keep you company through the long night, then when you came down in the morning you would find her doing something for you, like a bit of sewing or pressing a dress.

She thought that by doing this she took all the sting out of the words she had uttered, but she never was so badly mistaken. The only thing she did do, was to make you bite back the words you meant to say, and add some more resentment to what you already had. Then she wondered why people could not bear her, why she was not invited places, and why everyone refused to let her help them.

But to live—every day to live out
All the truth that he dream!
While his friends met his conduct
With storm!
And the world with contempt.

This same person (who lives over one thousand miles from here) used to mock one of her neighbors for being a little heavy. She called her "fat Mrs. So and So," and I said one day, "aren't you afraid that all this will come back on you?" and she tossed her head and said if she ever got stout, she would diet and get her weight down.

But, about two years after she got married she was heavier than the one she had called fat. It takes more steady effort to live decently, to play the game fairly, to live your belief in God, to keep bitterness from your speech, than it does to do one big act like dying. Dying at best does not take long, but living against odds and trying to do your part day after day for years, that takes some doing. Mr. Crosby goes on in the final verse:

Was it thus that he plodded ahead,
Never turning aside?
Then we'll talk of the life that he lived.
Never mind how he died.

So forget all about dying. Your time will come soon enough, but in the meantime do your part every day, not waiting to do one big thing to square everything off, for you may never get the chance. We have more or less a choice in the way we live, but which of us can say the way we will die? Many is the one who has been told he could not survive a shock, has stood many of them, and likely when life looks good their will be taken out of it. You think if your heart were broken you could not survive it, but many of us know that the pieces come together somehow and we go on. More later.

Your Friend,
ROBERTA.

A Government Cannot Do It

Parliament discussed unemployment, but it was pretty much by way of the relief channel. Mr. Heaps asked the Minister of Labor if he could indicate some long-range policy of dealing with unemployment, as he considered public works and expansion of foreign trade as things which lacked permanence.

And that is so. A works programme may be extensive, but it comes to an end and the men who were working there go back to where they were; they are again unemployed. Expansion of foreign trade is better, but again it has its limitations. Expanding foreign trade is something which all nations are seeking to do; it means that each nation wants some other nation to purchase more of its goods. It works on the theory that other nations have more buying power than the home nation.

Denton Massey, M.P. for a Toronto riding, said there would be 200,000 boys and girls reaching the age of 16 this year and a large percentage would be seeking employment. He claimed a spirit of hopelessness possessed youth because the government had failed to do anything for this particular aspect of the unemployment situation. Just what should be done Mr. Massey did not say.

This paper doubts whether the present government at Ottawa, or any government elsewhere can solve unemployment. It has not been done yet. So far, with all our effort and with all our investigating we have been able to devise ways and means for dealing with the effects of unemployment, That is all.

The situation is better than it was, and it shows evidence of continuing in that direction, but governments have not brought about the improvement. There is more courage and confidence in the business world today and that helps. There are many industries which have returned to normal production and operation, and that has helped. If governments would or could come to the point where they ceased taking so much from business in the way of taxation that would also help. But a government as such cannot cure unemployment. Of that we are certain.

A National Habit

In Parliamentary Debates of March 24 Hon. Charles Dunning is reported as answering a question relative to the cost to the country of the Royal Commission investigating the textile industries. It was appointed January 27, 1936.

The commission is still operating and the total cost up to March 19, 1937, had been $142,394.52.

In the same issue was more information about the Royal Commission on Anthracite Coal. It was anticipated this would cost $15,000, but the amount has been brought up to $23,500.

Something should be done to the individual who suggests we have another commission. As a rule a commission is only a fact-finding body, and in the regular civil service of the government there are many men quite capable of asking questions and securing information. The man who first invented interest has a lot for which he should answer; the man who first thought of a commission with these we would place the gentleman who first thought of appointing a commission.

That's How It's Done

Dr. Edith Gordon, medical adviser for women at the University of Toronto, says she has discovered a perfect young woman. For fifteen years she has been examining the girls who come to college, and this year for the first time she encountered the first perfect specimen. There is no need to get excited for Dr. Gordon refuses to say who the young lady is. How does she proceed with the search for a perfect specimen of young womanhood We quote:

"Sometimes their backs are too long or too short, sometimes they have too long a neck or too short a neck, sometimes their thighs are too long or too short."

That sounds plain enough. Almost too plain. There's something about it not far removed from the terms they used to use on the Tenth Concession when they were about to buy or sell cattle. A dairy cow would be condemned if she were too thick in the neck, while in a beef animal a sturdy neck was as necessary as a straight back.

This lady doctor in Toronto has started an interesting sort of discussion. Young men and eligible bachelors may yet go about their business with a chart and tape line before making a selection.

Who Will Pay the Increase

H B. Cowan of Peterborough, Secretary of the Canadian Chamber of Agriculture, sent a letter to Howard B. Chase of Montreal, secretary of the Union of Locomotive Engineers, dealing with the efforts of railway workers to have their wages restored to full strength. Mr. Cowan makes it plain that farmers have every sympathy with railway workers in efforts to better their position, but he could not help but wonder what effect the increased wages would have upon farmers in general.

Restoration of wage cuts means $14,000,000 annually, and farmers as a class have to depend on railways for the long hauls of their produce, especially western grain. It may be Mr. Cowan was wondering how long it would be before the raising of this added 14 millions would be passed along to farmers in the rates they would be asked to pay for shipping. Hon. Nelson Monteith, a former Minister of Agriculture, discussed that point with the Examiner several days ago in regard to the increased price of steel. He was certain it would be reflected in a higher schedule for agricultural implements, and it would be only a matter of time until that increase would find its way to the farmer.

It would be interesting to know just where that added 14 millions is going to be secured. If the Railway Board decides there shall be no increase in traffic rates then the amount will have to come from the present revenue of the two roads, and business will have to show a much greater pick-up than it has registered so far in order to make this possible.

If rates remain stationary then the C.P.R. will have to allow its shareholders to absorb the increase; it will come out of their dividends. In the case of the C.N.R. the amount will doubtless be added to the deficit and the government will pay it out of the revenue of the country, and revenue is raised by taxation. And taxation falls on farmers as it does on other people.

Not a High Hat Mayor

From the Chatham News we clipped this:

> The Mayor of Peterborough is to wear a gown and a high hat. That will be something else for the unemployed to criticize—specially the "high hat" idea, which many of them claim has been popular for some time.

Now before any trouble develops let us have this made right. It shows how it is possible to add two and two together and make five. The suggestion was made that as a method of marking the Coronation the Mayor of this city should be presented with a chain similar to ones used in the old land, also a robe of office and a cocked hat, but the idea has never gone beyond the stage of a suggestion, and at no time was the high hat business included in the collection of decoration.

It might be well to tell the Chatham News man that the Mayor of Peterborough is not of the "high hat" variety. He comes from Zorra and the habit and custom and general outlook of Zorra is still upon him. We believe it might be correct to state he eats oatmeal for breakfast for he is a Macdonald with a slight accent on the first syllable. Kindly folk may place a chain about his neck and drape a robe of office on his frame, but they will not be able to make a "high hat" man out of a Macdonald from Zorra.

No Reason For Alarm

How many people have some physical defect? It looks as though the rate would be high. Dr. J. T. Phair, chief medical officer of health for Ontario, told the Ontario Educational Association that 3,100 students seeking admission to teacher training schools were examined, and it was found that two-thirds of them suffered from some physical defect. Looks too as though the examinations had been thoroughly made even to the use of X-ray.

Students who intend going through for teachers are no stronger and no weaker than any other class of young people. They are just average, so it is safe to assume that the remainder of young people of that age would show similar proportion in physical defects.

We doubt whether there is anything to be alarmed about in that finding. There are not a large number in any gathering who could pass as perfect. There are plenty of folk doing a day's work who know well enough there is something wrong with them, but they get along better today than would have been the case a few years ago. The anaemic person can be treated, so can the diabetic. Glasses can remedy defective eyesight and the dentist can put his finger on the tooth which is causing infection. If it is thought advisable the surgeon can take a number of sections from the human body and put the individual together again. The expert shoe man can attend to fallen arches and corns, bunions and ingrown toenails will respond to treatment.

So there is nothing to worry about because two-thirds of prospective teachers were found to have some sort of physical defect. They may need a little patching up but there are learned and capable people today who can attend to that.

Doing What Is Needed

His Excellency Lord Tweedsmuir has not been long in Canada, but he observes keenly and well. When he addressed educationalists in Toronto he took occasion to refer to the work done by the Frontier College. It is well he did so. This is a school which has no particular building; it has no team in the rugby finals; it has no designated fraternity house, and yet it exists in spots and places and locations where its work is much needed.

There is something of a challenge in asking a college graduate to accept a post where he will have to work as a laborer in a construction camp, or take his place in some relief post where men of all sizes and nationalities congregate. His business is to carry his teaching on there and to act as a good Canadian should act

The commendation which comes regarding this work is not in the form of parchments which can be framed. It comes in such letters as this:

"Very many thanks for my teacher, H. J. Dunlop. He taught me four months English language. I am glad for that school."

That letter was written by S. Gregoruk, a Pole who lives and works at Cichel, a coal mining centre in British Columbia. For a man in his location to learn to speak the English language means a great deal. He is no longer a foreigner who understands nothing unless it be spoken or printed in his own language. S. Gregoruk is now in touch with the world about him.

Peter Cherneski, from a camp in Manitoba, wrote to say:

"I have been going for night school every night, and I pick on quite a bit. I was very poor on arithmetic, grammar and on business letters, but now I seem to pin in my mind quite a bit. I think if I would keep on going another month I would be pretty well off."

There were 316 campmen who wrote such letters during 1936. Frontier College may not be a visible thing as far as brick, stone and campus goes, but it is real and active, serving people who need training and instruction.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Social credit put Premier Aberhart into office—and the lack of it may drive him back into private life.

Acting Mayor Gough of Halifax has recently had letters addressed to him at Halifax, U.S.A. and Halifax, Newfoundland. Apparently what the Nova Scotian city needs is a good press agent.

A Toronto inspector of detectives was slightly injured when hit by a slowly moving automobile. We imagine it would take a detective to find a car in Toronto that was moving slowly.

Niagara Falls is inclined to believe there is a certain amount of bad luck attached to the number 13. The city's thirteenth bill from the Hydro is a debit of over $20,000.

Hon. Norman Rogers says there are 56,000 more Canadians at work than a year ago. We are not sure whether or not this figure includes those who happen to be out on strike.

Walter Hagen, professional golfer, has been divorced by his wife on the grounds of desertion. There are many golf widows but Mrs. Hagen has been the first to do anything about it.

Washington proposes to take a census of the unemployed which will cost $15,000,000. We have a suspicion that counting the unemployed will still leave them in that condition

Whoever started the old motto about youth being served had no idea how Lionel Conacher would lead the Montreal Maroons to victory over the Boston Bruins.

Car accidents during the first eleven months of last year killed 649 persons and injured 7864 more—and yet our only solution of the problem seems to be to increase the speed limit both on city streets and the open highway.

The Saskatchewan girl who walked over snow-covered hills on Easter Sunday clad only in a bathing suit must have been very much surprised when the news photographers wanted to take her picture.

A new story says alarm clocks will call Britishers from their beds at daybreak on Coronation Day. It will probably be found that thousands of them will be up all the night before trying to find a place from which to view the procession.

COUSIN EZRA

(By A. H. R.)

¶ When it came Easter time this year, my Cousin Ezra looked so queer, folk stopped and looked at him; for Ezra bought himself a suit, that looked like fancy limb and root, from shoulder to the shin.

¶ My Cousin picked it from a book, it makes him look much like a crook, and it is far too gay; for it has checks of black and white, and added to this Easter sight, some red and blue would stray.

¶ My cousin's rather odd that way, he always sends his cash away, he dotes on catalogues; in distant folk he scents no snare, thinks they know best what he should wear, when he picks Easter togs.

¶ His wife said in that giddy coat, he looked much like a billy goat, she says the shoulder sags; she said he seemed to have the air, of fakir at the country fair, or one who played the nags.

¶ And Ezra's kind of puzzled too, he scarce knows just what he should do, he's touchy on his clothes; he knows the lads all turn and grin, and adults roll their eyes on him, most everywhere he goes.

¶ He cannot send his gay suit back, and ask the people for his jack, so he'll just roar and groan; some day before he's old and dead, it may yet trickle through his head—it pays to buy at home.

Our Statesmen At Their Labors

(Parliamentary Debates)

NAVY ON THE WAY

Mr. MacNEIL: Would the minister indicate when these destroyers will be commissioned in the Canadian Naval Service?

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): Oh, they have been commissioned since some date early in March, and they are now on their way to Canadian shores. I believe that yesterday they were in Barbados.

Mr. DOUGLAS: Could the minister tell us how old these destroyers are, and what they cost when originally built by the British admiralty?

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): They are a little over four years old. They were completed in 1933 at a cost of $1,394,900 each.

Mr. MacNEIL: Are they classified as obsolete by the British naval service?

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): No, they are absolutely modern and in first-class condition.

Mr. MacNEIL: What refitting was necessary before their despatch to Canada?

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): Just a general observation of their condition as regards engines and other equipment, in the dockyards in England.

FEED HUNGRY CATTLE

Mr. DUNNING: Under feed and fodder expended under Governor General's warrants—this is up to March 23, and my right hon. friend will understand, of course, that expenditure is going on continually—Mr. BENNETT: I go.

Mr. DUNNING: Manitoba, $200,000; Saskatchewan, $2,700,000; Alberta, $3,800,000; that is for feed and fodder. Under direct relief: Manitoba, $300,000; Saskatchewan, $4,500,000; Alberta, $2,500,000.

Mr. BENNETT: Does that mean that that much money has actually passed the comptroller?

Mr. DUNNING: That money was actually disbursed up to March 23. I could give the totals.

Mr. BENNETT: No, that is all right.

Mr. POULIOT: Alberta was not forgotten.

Mr. BENNETT: By what method was the fodder and feed purchased?

Mr. GARDINER: The method under which it is distributed?

Mr. BENNETT: No, purchased.

Mr. GARDINER: The provincial government made the actual purchases of the feed and fodder.

Mr. BENNETT: In all the three provinces?

Mr. GARDINER: Yes, in all the three provinces.

ANOTHER COMMISSION?

On the orders of the day:

Mr. R. A. PELLETIER (Peace River): Before the orders of the day are called I should like to address a question to the Prime Minister. On February 16 last the Prime Minister made the following announcement to the house:

. . . we propose to appoint a royal commission of inquiry to investigate the whole system of taxation in the dominion.

Will the Prime Minister be good-enough to say whether the members of this commission have already been selected, and if so, who they are?

Right Hon. W. L. MACKENZIE KING (Prime Minister): I might answer in the one word "No" the question whether the members have been appointed. They have not. I might say to the hon. members, however, that the government have been giving very careful consideration to the personnel and the terms of reference of the commission. My hon. friend will realize that it is not a matter of merely deciding upon whom the government would wish to have serve on the commission; it is necessary to ascertain whether the persons desired are available. This takes a little time, and I am afraid that until after prorogation it will not be possible to settle finally either the personnel or the terms of reference. It is one of a number of matters that will perhaps have to be more carefully considered once we are through with the business of the house.

REPLACING MONEY

Mr. BENNETT: I do not recall to replace money, taken from unforeseen expenditures, by a vote of this kind.

Mr. ROGERS: Possibly I was at fault in using that language. Actually the money was taken from unforeseen contingencies to meet the additional cost of the commission while the inquiry was proceeding.

Mr. BENNETT: This money is to reimburse unforeseen expenditures which have been accounted for by a return made at the opening of parliament.

Mr. ROGERS: Yes. The notation I have is that the $8,500 is required to replace the amounts obtained from the vote for unforeseen expenses.

Mr. BENNETT: The point is that the minister has no right to "replace" it. Unforeseen expenses mean just such expenses as were paid from that vote for this particular purpose; therefore the payment was regularly made, and the report submitted to the house as indicated. This cannot be to replace that money.

Mr. ROGERS: In view of the right hon. gentleman's observation perhaps it would be better to allow the item to stand. The information before me is that this $8,500 is for the purpose of replacing the amount taken from unforeseen expenses, and if that is not correct it ought to be rectified.

Mr. BENNETT: It would be only a matter of properly wording the item, because it is not proper to replace the money if it is validly and legally taken from unforeseen.

Mr. MACKENZIE KING: We might pass the item on the understanding that the wording will be looked into.

Item agreed to.

MENACE OF PAROLED MEN

(Chatham News)

It is disturbing to note in reports of Supreme Court proceedings in various parts of this Province that persons charged with criminal offenses are people who have been allowed out on parole from penal institutions. It is quite apparent that closer supervision over parole is needed in this Province.

ASSURANCE

"Don't be alarmed, my man. He won't hurt you."

—Rumorist.

It's a Big Industry Now.

(From the New York Times.)

UP AND when any Irish government has the temerity to end the sweepstakes, it will create something akin to a national crisis, since running sweeps has become one of the Free State's most important industries.

In the amount of direct employment it now gives, the Sweeps Trust is second only to the famous Guinness Brewery, and in the popular mind here it possesses almost the same degree of permanency. Dublin without its thrice yearly sweepstakes has become almost as unthinkable as Dublin without its well known stout.

When the Cosgrave regime gave legal sanction back in 1930 for running the first sweep for the hospitals the prize fund was less than £800,000 and only a few hundred persons were employed in running the lottery.

The success of the venture startled even the sweep's own promoters. The prize fund soared to almost £3,000,000 in 1932, and today it is seldom below £1,500,000. As millions began to roll in, the payroll increased accordingly. Today an average of 8,000 people are permanently employed. The last few weeks before each sweep, this number rises above 4,000.

In hard cash, the Grand National, the Derby and the Cambridgeshire sweeps of 1936 brought almost $5,000,000 to Dublin, irrespective of the money for the hospitals. Salaries alone paid out for these three sweeps totalled $2,037,025. Draw expenses, including pageantry displays, cost $132,350. Stationery and printing cost $353,795. The Free State exchequer received $2,332,805 from three draws by way of stamp duty. Actually, the Free State levies no income tax on the Hospitals Trust Corporation, but charges stamp duty which, although below what income tax assessments would yield, is nevertheless a windfall to the treasury, and affords some relief to taxpayers.

Direct payments revealed by the balance sheet do not indicate, however, the full extent of monetary benefits brought to the Free State by the sweeps. Papermakers, printers, stationers, dressmakers, artists, hotel keepers, auditors, post office, telegraph and cable companies, dry goods stores, state radio service—to mention but few interests—all reap extensive business.

It is true that Dublin gets more than the lion's share of all this revenue, but when the Hospitals Commission proceeds with its plans to improve hospitals throughout the country and release some millions of pounds at present "frozen," rural Ireland will benefit from the extensive building program.

Charity Not the Remedy.

(From the Kitchener Record.)

THERE is a well-to-do gentleman in New York who fills his pockets with dimes every Saturday and sets out to indulge in a quaint and peculiar hobby.

He goes to some likely street corner and stands there, waiting for the down-and-outs, the vagrants and the no'er-do-wells to shuffle past. As they pass he shells out his dimes, one to each man, dipping deep into his pocket until the supply is gone.

He doesn't care what his charges do with their dimes—whether they spend them for a flophouse bed, a cup of coffee, or a sandwich. It's giving that interests him; and, as he says the dimes "at least make them happy."

That is probably true enough. When a man has nothing at all, it doesn't take much to lift his spirits a bit; a shiny dime in the palm of the hand brings a momentary glow, and, since happiness is none too plentiful in any walk of life, it is hard to begrudge this dime-giver his unusual hobby.

But without reflection in the least on the motives of this kind-hearted New Yorker, it ought to be remarked that the brother-can-you-spare-a-dime method of dealing with abject poverty isn't nearly enough these days.

A great deal of nonsense has been written and spoken about the evils of "the system" that plunges men into poverty. Much of it is the veriest soapbox claptrap. But when all the hokum has been cleared away, the fact does remain that we live in a world which somehow produces poverty as well as riches, misery as well as happiness, bleak despair as well as bright hope.

It is as clear as daylight that ordinary "relief"—whether in the form of private charity or government dole—doesn't change matters much. It is virtually necessary, to be sure, but it is only a cushion to break a man's fall, not a railing to keep him from falling in the first place.

If charity is to be made really effective, we must find some way of applying it ahead of time. We must beat poverty to the punch. We must worry about the victim of poverty before he becomes a victim of poverty.

That is a large order. We shan't find the answer overnight. But we can make a good start by at least realizing that this is what our problem really is.

The Only Effective Cure

(From the Chatham News.)

THINGS have reached a critical stage surely, when automobile drivers have become so reckless that even scientists are busy trying to produce inventions which will save motorists from their own indiscretions.

For instance, the papers reported the other day that a Minnesota scientist had devised a new kind of iron-block pavement which would prevent auto accidents by giving automatic warnings to careless drivers.

Certain embossed designs on the iron blocks would give off a comfortable hum when a motorist's tires passed over them. But if the driver got too close to the edge of the road, or ventured over on the wrong side, this hum would immediately rise to a shrill screech. This would assail the driver's eardrums, bring him to his wits, and induce him to get over where he belonged without delay.

Apparently, the time seems to be near, when all automobile drivers must be regarded as fools who need to be protected from their own recklessness. Any ordinary motorist who sees the common sense that all individuals are supposed to have, knows when he is driving on the wrong side of the road. And yet, because thousands of people are killed as a result of the lack of common sense on the part of some drivers, even fancy pavements have to be constructed to warn them when they are making false moves. Apparently, everything connected with motoring must be made fool-proof, in order to save lives.

We doubt if the new pavement would improve matters even if it were placed in common use. The motorist who will not observe the stop signs, the warnings at railway crossings, the danger signals at sharp curves, is not likely to pay much attention to a screeching pavement. There is only one cure for the reckless motorist—to deprive him of his right to drive.

BACKWARD SPRING.

(Kitchener Record)

WEATHER prophets who predicted a mild, open winter are naturally elated over their success at long-range forecasting. It was to be expected that one or more of them would come forward and say: "I told you so." Among them we find the Port Stanley prognosticator who isn't afraid of spoiling a perfect record by telling us what to expect in the line of weather for the next few months. Basing his predictions on Nature's mood at the time of the vernal equinox the Port Stanley sage says we are in for a backward spring. However, he adds a more cheerful note by promising the kind of June weather that will make up for the spring disappointments.

Were it not for the fact that the best of weather prophets frequently err in their long-range predictions, the outlook would be somewhat gloomy for April and May. However, we are optimistic enough to look for the April showers that will again bring May flowers.

In this business of forestalling the weather, one man's guess is usually as good as the next one's. We will stick to our old "reliable" method of gauging the weather by the behavior of the elements on the last Friday of the month which is "guaranteed" to govern the weather of the following month.

To The Editor

A PROTEST

Editor Examiner:

Sir: Now that the decks are cleared for direct action against Separate Schools (by elimination as in Manitoba or by starvation) we are faced with the fact that the proposed system of one national public school will have to have religion left out of its curriculum altogether. That will no doubt please a large active and aggressive part of the people, but the value of the Christian religion in the formation of character is so important at the formative age that without it we must continue to have the "jazz age in religion" to which President Cody so scathingly refers and a youth invited to form its own standard of conduct. The issue before the people is "Are you in favor of the Christian religion or are you in favor of modernism which ignores a personal God and supernaturalism altogether?" The R.C. Separate School question is thus likely to react upon the Protestant faith to so dangerous an extent that at least 200,000 of the Protestant children in public schools will be turned out of our proposed "national" public schools to be added to the list of juvenile criminals which now heads the annals of all crime. I protest against Modernism as a communistic system which would deprive us of a supernatural sanction and as a great author has just said: "is setting itself to crush all religion."

FAMILIAR NAMES.

(New York Times)

ENGLAND is the place where a man can be born, live most of his life, and die most overnight, but by and large England is the place which uses up its public men with least speed. It is the country where most of the names in the news are long familiar names. Austen Chamberlain is eulogized by Lloyd George, who was Chancellor of the Exchequer thirty years ago. If and when Stanley Baldwin leaves office he will be succeeded by Neville Chamberlain, brother of Austen and son of Joseph Chamberlain of the Jameson Raid and the Boer War forty years ago. In the navy debates we see intervening one Winston Churchill, who was First Lord of the Admiralty when the World War came. Except possibly in its smaller communities, nothing like this is to seen on the Continent, where there have been so many clean sweeps. Even in France the outstanding names are post-war.

A Government Cannot Do It

Parliament discussed unemployment, but it was pretty much by way of the relief channel. Mr. Heaps asked the Minister of Labor if he could indicate some long-range policy of dealing with unemployment, as he considered public works and expansion of foreign trade as things which lacked permanence.

And that is so. A works programme may be extensive, but it comes to an end and the men who were working there go back to where they were; they are again unemployed. Expansion of foreign trade is better, but again it has its limitations. Expanding foreign trade is something which all nations are seeking to do; it means that each nation wants some other nation to purchase more of its goods. It works on the theory that other nations have more buying power than the home nation.

Denton Massey, M.P. for a Toronto riding, said there would be 200,000 boys and girls reaching the age of 16 this year and a large percentage would be seeking employment. He claimed a spirit of hopelessness possessed youth because the government had failed to do anything for this particular aspect of the unemployment situation. Just what should be done Mr. Massey did not say.

This paper doubts whether the present government at Ottawa, or any government elsewhere can solve unemployment. It has not been done yet. So far, with all our effort and with all our investigating we have been able to devise ways and means for dealing with the effects of unemployment. That is all.

The situation is better than it was, and it shows evidence of continuing in that direction, but governments have not brought about the improvement. There is more courage and confidence in the business world today and that helps. There are many industries which have returned to normal production and operation, and that has helped. If governments would or could come to the point where they ceased taking so much from business in the way of taxation that would also help. But a government as such cannot cure unemployment. Of that we are certain.

A National Habit

In Parliamentary Debates of March 24 Hon. Charles Dunning is reported as answering a question relative to the cost to the country of the Royal Commission investigating the textile industries. It was appointed January 27, 1936.

The commission is still operating and the total cost up to March 19, 1937, had been $142,396.52.

In the same issue was more information about the Royal Commission on Anthracite Coal. It was anticipated this would cost $15,000, but the amount has been brought up to $23,500.

Something should be done to the individual who suggests we have another commission. As a rule a commission is only a fact-finding body, and in the regular civil service of the government there are many men quite capable of asking questions and securing information. The man who first invented interest has a lot for which he should answer; the man who first thought of a tariff is in the same position, and along with these we would place the gentleman who first thought of appointing a commission.

That's How It's Done

Dr. Edith Gordon, medical adviser for women at the University of Toronto, says she has discovered a perfect young woman. For fifteen years she has been examining the girls who come to college, and this year for the first time she encountered the first perfect specimen. There is no need to get excited for Dr. Gordon refuses to say who the young lady is. How does she proceed with the search for a perfect specimen of young womanhood We quote:

> "Sometimes their backs are too long or too short, sometimes they have too long a neck or too short a neck, sometimes their thighs are too long or too short."

That sounds plain enough. Almost too plain. There's something about it not far removed from the terms they used to use on the Tenth Concession when they were about to buy or sell cattle. A dairy cow would be condemned if she were too thick in the neck, while in a beef animal a sturdy neck was as necessary as a straight back.

This lady doctor in Toronto has started an interesting sort of discussion. Young men and eligible bachelors may yet go about their business with a chart and tape line before making a selection.

Who Will Pay the Increase

H. B. Cowan of Peterborough, Secretary of the Canadian Chamber of Agriculture, sent a letter to Howard B. Chase of Montreal, secretary of the Union of Locomotive Engineers, dealing with the efforts of railway workers to have their wages restored to full strength. Mr. Cowan makes it plain that farmers have every sympathy with railway workers in efforts to better their position, but he could not help but wonder what effect the increased wages would have upon farmers in general.

Restoration of wage cuts means $14,000,000 annually, and farmers as a class have to depend on railways for the long hauls of their produce, especially western grain. It may be Mr. Cowan was wondering how long it would be before the raising of this added 14 millions would be passed along to farmers in the rates they would be asked to pay for shipping. Hon. Nelson Monteith, a former Minister of Agriculture, discussed that point with the Examiner several days ago in regard to the increased price of steel. He was certain it would be reflected in a higher schedule for agricultural implements, and it would be only a matter of time until that increase would find its way to the farmer.

It would be interesting to know just where that added 14 millions is going to be secured. If the Railway Board decides there shall be no increase in traffic rates then the amount will have to come from the present revenue of the two roads, and business will have to show a much greater pick-up than it has registered so far in order to make this possible.

If rates remain stationary then the C.P.R. will have to allow its shareholders to absorb the increase; it will come out of their dividends. In the case of the C.N.R. the amount will doubtless be added to the deficit and the government will pay it out of the revenue of the country, and revenue is raised by taxation. And taxation falls on farmers as it does on other people.

Not a High Hat Mayor

From the Chatham News we clipped this:

> The Mayor of Peterborough is to wear a gown and a high hat. That will be something else for the unemployed to criticize—specially the "high hat" idea, which many of them claim has been popular for some time.

Now before any trouble develops let us have this made right. It shows how it is possible to add two and two together and make five. The suggestion was made that as a method of marking the Coronation the Mayor of this city should be presented with a chain similar to ones used in the old land, also a robe of office and a cocked hat, but the idea has never gone beyond the stage of a suggestion, and at no time was the high hat business included in the collection of decoration.

It might be well to tell the Chatham News man that the Mayor of Peterborough is not of the "high hat" variety. He comes from Zorra and the habit and custom and general outlook of Zorra is still upon him. We believe it might be correct to state he eats oatmeal for breakfast for he is a Macdonald with a slight accent on the first syllable. Kindly folk may place a chain about his neck and drape a robe of office on his frame, but they will not be able to make a "high hat" man out of a Macdonald from Zorra.

No Reason For Alarm

How many people have some physical defect? It looks as though the rate would be high. Dr. J. T. Phair, chief medical officer of health for Ontario, told the Ontario Educational Association that 3,100 students seeking admission to teacher training schools were examined, and it was found that two-thirds of them suffered from some physical defect. Looks too as though the examinations had been thoroughly made even to the use of X-ray.

Students who intend going through for teachers are no stronger and no weaker than any other class of young people. They are just average, so it is safe to assume that the remainder of young people of that age would show similar proportion in physical defects.

We doubt whether there is anything to be alarmed about in that finding. There are not a large number in any gathering who could pass as perfect. There are plenty of folk doing a day's work who know well enough there is something wrong with them, but they get along better today than would have been the case a few years ago. The anaemic person can be treated, so can the diabetic. Glasses can remedy defective eyesight and the dentist can put his finger on the tooth which is causing infection. If it is thought advisable the surgeon can take a number of sections from the human body and put the individual together again. The expert shoe man can attend to fallen arches and corns, bunions and ingrown toenails will respond to treatment.

So there is nothing to worry about because two-thirds of prospective teachers were found to have some sort of physical defect. They may need a little patching up but there are learned and capable people today who can attend to that.

Doing What Is Needed

His Excellency Lord Tweedsmuir has not been long in Canada, but he observes keenly and well. When he addressed educationalists in Toronto he took occasion to refer to the work done by the Frontier College. It is well he did so. This is a school which has no particular building; it has no team in the rugby finals; it has no designated fraternity house, and yet it exists in spots and places and locations where its work is much needed.

There is something of a challenge in asking a college graduate to accept a post where he will have to work as a laborer in a construction camp, or take his place in some relief post where men of all sizes and nationalities congregate. His business is to carry his teaching on there and to act as a good Canadian should act.

The commendation which comes regarding this work is not in the form of parchments which can be framed. It comes in such letters as this:

> "Very many thanks for my teacher, H. J. Dunlop. He taught me four months English language. I am glad for that school."

That letter was written by S. Gregoruk, a Pole who lives and works at Cichel, a coal mining centre in British Columbia. For a man in his location to learn to speak the English language means a great deal. He is no longer a foreigner who understands nothing unless it be spoken or printed in his own language. S. Gregoruk is now in touch with the world about him.

Peter Cherneski, from a camp in Manitoba, wrote to say:

> "I have been going for night school every night, and I pick on quite a bit. I was very poor on arithmetic, grammar and on business letters, but now I seem to pin in my mind quite a bit. I think if I would keep on going another month I would be pretty well off."

There were 316 campmen who wrote such letters during 1936. Frontier College may not be a visible thing as far as brick, stone and campus goes, but it is real and active, serving people who need training and instruction.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Social credit put Premier Aberhart into office—and the lack of it may drive him back into private life.

Acting Mayor Gough of Halifax has recently had letters addressed to him at Halifax, U.S.A. and Halifax, Newfoundland. Apparently what the Nova Scotian city needs is a good press agent.

A Toronto inspector of detectives was slightly injured when hit by a slowly moving automobile. We imagine it would take a detective to find a car in Toronto that was moving slowly.

Niagara Falls is inclined to believe there is a certain amount of bad luck attached to the number 13. The city's thirteenth bill from the Hydro is a debit of over $20,000.

Hon. Norman Rogers says there are 56,000 more Canadians at work than a year ago. We are not sure whether or not this figure includes those who happen to be out on strike.

Walter Hagen, professional golfer, has been divorced by his wife on the grounds of desertion. There are many golf widows but Mrs. Hagen has been the first to do anything about it.

Washington proposes to take a census of the unemployed which will cost $15,000,000. We have a suspicion that counting the unemployed will still leave them in that condition.

Whoever started the old motto about youth being served had no idea how Lionel Conacher would lead the Montreal Maroons to victory over the Boston Bruins.

Car accidents during the first eleven months of last year killed 449 persons and injured 7864 more—and yet our only solution of the problem seems to be to increase the speed limit both on city streets and the open highway.

The Saskatchewan girl who walked over snow-covered hills on Easter Sunday clad only in a bathing suit must have been very much surprised when the news photographers wanted to take her picture.

A new story says alarm clocks will call Britishers from their beds at daybreak on Coronation Day. It will probably be found that thousands of them will be up all the night before trying to find a place from which to view the procession.

COUSIN EZRA

(By S. H. K.)

¶ When it came Easter time this year, my Cousin Ezra looked so queer, folk stopped and looked at him; for Ezra bought himself a suit, that looked like fancy limb and root, from shoulder to the shin.

¶ My Cousin picked it from a book, it makes him look much like a crook, and it is far too gay; for it has checks of black and white, and added to this Easter sight, some red and blue would stray.

¶ My cousin's rather odd that way, he always sends his cash away, he dotes on catalogues; in distant folk he scents no snare, thinks they know best what he should wear, when he picks Easter togs.

¶ His wife said in that giddy coat, he looked much like a billy goat, she says the shoulder sags; she said he seemed to have the air, of fakir at the country fair, or one who played the nags.

¶ And Ezra's kind of puzzled too, he scarce knows just what he should do, he's touchy on his clothes; he knows the lads all turn and grin, and adults roll their eyes on him, most everywhere he goes.

¶ He cannot send his gay suit back, and ask the people for his jack, so he'll just roar and groan; some day before he's old and dead, it may yet trickle through his head—it pays to buy at home.

Our Statesmen At Their Labors

(Parliamentary Debates)

NAVY ON THE WAY

Mr. MacNEIL: Would the minister indicate when these destroyers will be commissioned in the Canadian Naval Service?

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): Oh, they have been commissioned since some date early in March, and they are now on their way to Canadian shores. I believe that yesterday they were in Barbados.

Mr. DOUGLAS: Could the minister tell us how old these destroyers are, and what they cost when originally built by the British admiralty?

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): They are a little over four years old. They were completed in 1932 at a cost of $1,584,300 each.

Mr. MacNEIL: Are they classified as obsolete by the British naval service?

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): No, they are absolutely modern and in first-class condition.

Mr. MacNEIL: What refitting was necessary before their despatch to Canada?

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): Just a general observation of their condition as regards engines and other equipment, in the dockyards in England.

FEED HUNGRY CATTLE

Mr. DUNNING: Under feed and fodder expended under Governor General's warrants—this is up to March 23, and my right hon. friend will understand, of course, that expenditure is going on continuously—

Mr. BENNETT: I see.

Mr. DUNNING: Manitoba, $200,000; Saskatchewan, $2,700,000; Alberta, $1,800,000; that is for feed and fodder. Under direct relief: Manitoba, $800,000; Saskatchewan, $4,500,000; Alberta, $2,800,000.

Mr. BENNETT: Does that mean that that much money has actually passed the comptroller?

Mr. DUNNING: That money was actually disbursed up to March 23. I could give the totals.

Mr. BENNETT: No, that is all right.

Mr. POULIOT: Alberta was not forgotten.

Mr. BENNETT: By what method was the fodder and feed purchased?

Mr. GARDINER: The method under which it is distributed?

Mr. BENNETT: No, purchased.

Mr. GARDINER: The provincial government made the actual purchases of the feed and fodder.

Mr. BENNETT: In all the three provinces?

Mr. GARDINER: Yes, in all the three provinces.

ANOTHER COMMISSION?

On the orders of the day:

Mr. R. A. PELLETIER (Peace River): Before the orders of the day are called I should like to address a question to the Prime Minister. On February 16 last the Prime Minister made the following announcement to the house:

> . . . we propose to appoint a royal commission of inquiry to investigate the whole system of taxation in the dominion.

Will the Prime Minister be good enough to say whether the members of this commission have already been selected, and if so, who they are?

Right Hon. W. L. MACKENZIE KING (Prime Minister): I might answer in the one word "No" the question whether the members have been appointed. They have not. I might say to the hon. members, however, that the government have been giving very careful consideration to the personnel and the terms of reference of the commission. My hon. friend will realize that it is not a matter of merely deciding upon whom the government would wish to have serve on the commission; it is necessary to ascertain whether the persons desired are available. This takes a little time, and I am afraid that until after prorogation it will not be possible to settle finally either the personnel or the terms of reference. It is one of a number of matters that will perhaps have to be more carefully considered once we are through with the business of the house.

REPLACING MONEY

Mr. BENNETT: It is not usual to replace money, taken from unforeseen expenditures, by a vote of this kind.

Mr. ROGERS: Possibly I was at fault in using that language. Actually the money was taken from unforeseen contingencies to meet the additional cost of the commission while the inquiry was proceeding.

Mr. BENNETT: This money is to reimburse unforeseen expenditures which have been accounted for by a return made at the opening of parliament.

Mr. ROGERS: Yes. The notation I have is that the $8,300 is required to replace the amount obtained from the vote for unforeseen expenses.

Mr. BENNETT: The point is that the minister has no right to "replace" it. Unforeseen expenses mean just such expenses as were paid from that vote for this particular purpose; therefore the payment was regularly made, and the report submitted to the house so indicated. This cannot be to replace that money.

Mr. ROGERS: In view of the right hon. gentleman's observation perhaps it would be better to allow the item to stand. The information before me is that this $8,300 is for the purpose of replacing the amount taken from unforeseen expenses, and if that is not correct it ought to be rectified.

Mr. BENNETT: It would be only a matter of properly wording the item, because it is not proper to replace the money if it is validly and legally taken from unforeseen.

Mr. MACKENZIE KING: We might pass the item on the understanding that the wording will be looked into.

Item agreed to.

MENACE OF PAROLED MEN

It is disturbing to note in reports of Supreme Court proceedings in various parts of this Province that persons charged with schoolmal offenses are people who have been allowed out on parole from penal institutions. It is quite apparent that closer supervision over parole is needed in this Province.

It's a Big Industry Now.

(From the New York Times.)

Ireland has the temerity to end the sweepstakes, it will create something akin to a national crisis, since running sweeps has become one of the Free State's most important industries.

In the amount of direct employment it now gives, the Sweeps Trust is second only to the famous Guinness Brewery, and in the popular mind here it possesses almost the same degree of permanency. Dublin without its thrice yearly sweepstakes has become almost as unthinkable as Dublin without its well known stout.

When the Cosgrave regime gave legal sanction back in 1930 for running the first sweep for the hospitals, the prize fund was less than £500,000 and only a few hundred persons were employed in running the lottery.

The success of the venture startled even the sweep's own promoters. The prize fund soared to almost £2,000,000 in 1932, and today it is seldom below £1,500,000. As millions began to roll in, the payroll increased accordingly. Today an average of 3,000 people are permanently employed. The last few weeks before each sweep, this number rises above 4,000.

In hard cash, the Grand National, the Derby and the Cambridgeshire sweeps of 1936 brought almost $5,000,000 to Dublin, irrespective of the money for the hospitals. Salaries alone paid out for these three sweeps totalled $3,067,035. Draw expenses, including pageantry displays, cost $122,235. Stationery and printing cost $353,735. The Free State exchequer received $2,232,685 from three draws by way of stamp duty. Actually, the Free State levies no income tax on the Hospitals Trust Corporation, but charges stamp duty which, although below what income tax assessments would yield, is nevertheless a windfall to the treasury, and affords some relief to taxpayers.

Direct payments revealed by the balance sheet do not indicate, however, the full extent of monetary benefits brought to the Free State by the sweeps. Papermakers, printers, stationers, dressmakers, artists, hotel keepers, auditors, post office, telegraph and cable companies, dry goods stores, state radio service—to mention but few interests—all reap extensive business.

It is true that Dublin gets more than the lion's share of all this revenue, but when the Hospitals Commission proceeds with its plans to improve hospitals throughout the country and release some millions of pounds at present "frozen," rural Ireland will benefit from the extensive building program.

Charity Not the Remedy.

(From the Kitchener Record.)

THERE is a well-to-do gentleman in New York who fills his pockets with dimes every Saturday and sets out to indulge in a quaint and peculiar hobby.

He goes to some likely street corner and stands there, waiting for the down-and-outs, the vagrants and the ne'er-do-wells to shuffle past. As they pass he shells out his dimes, one to each man, dipping deep into his pocket until the supply is gone.

He doesn't care what his charges do with their dimes—whether they spend them for a flophouse bed, a cup of coffee, or a sandwich. It's giving that interests him, and, as he says the dimes "at least make them happy."

That is probably true enough. When a man has nothing at all, it doesn't take much to lift his spirits a bit; a shiny dime in the palm of the hand brings a momentary glow, and, since happiness is none too plentiful in any walk of life, it is hard to begrudge this dime-giver his unusual hobby.

But without reflection in the least on the motives of this kind-hearted New Yorker, it ought to be remarked that the brother-can-you-spare-a-dime method of dealing with abject poverty isn't nearly enough these days.

A great deal of nonsense has been written and spoken about the evils of "the system" that plunges men into poverty. Much of it is the veriest soapbox claptrap. But when all the hokum has been cleared away, the fact does remain that we live in a world which somehow produces poverty as well as riches, misery as well as happiness, bleak despair as well as bright hope.

It is as clear as daylight that ordinary "relief"—whether in the form of private charity or government dole—doesn't change matters much. It is virtually necessary, to be sure, but it is only a cushion to break a man's fall, not a railing to keep him from falling in the first place.

If charity is to be made really effective, we must find some way of applying it ahead of time. We must beat poverty to the punch. We must worry about the victim of poverty before he becomes a victim of poverty.

That is a large order. We shan't find the answer overnight. But we can make a good start by at least realizing that this is what our problem really is.

The Only Effective Cure

(From the Chatham News.)

THINGS have reached a critical stage surely, when automobile drivers have become so reckless that even scientists are busy trying to produce inventions which will save motorists from their own indiscretions.

For instance, the papers reported the other day that a Minnesota scientist had devised a new kind of iron-block pavement which would prevent auto accidents by giving automatic warnings to careless drivers.

Certain embossed designs on the iron blocks would give off a comfortable hum when a motorist's tires passed over them. But if the driver got too close to the edge of the road, or ventured over on the wrong side, this hum would immediately rise to a shrill screech. This would assail the driver's eardrums, bring him to his wits, and induce him to get over where he belonged without delay.

Apparently, the time seems to be near, when all automobile drivers must be regarded as fools who need to be protected from their own recklessness. Any ordinary motorist who exercises the common sense that all individuals are supposed to have, knows when he is driving on the wrong side of the road. And yet, because thousands of people are killed as a result of the lack of common sense on the part of some drivers, even fancy pavements have to be constructed to warn them when they are making false moves. Apparently, everything connected with motoring must be made fool-proof, in order to save lives.

We doubt if the new pavement would improve matters even if it were placed in common use. The motorist who will not observe the stop signs, the warnings at railway crossings, the danger signals at sharp curves, is not likely to pay much attention to a screeching pavement. There is only one cure for the reckless motorist—to deprive him of his right to drive.

BACKWARD SPRING.

(Kitchener Record)

WEATHER prophets who predicted a mild, open winter are naturally elated over their success at long-range forecasting. It was to be expected that one or more of them would come forward and say: "I told you so."

Among them we find the Port Stanley prognosticator who isn't afraid of spoiling a perfect record by telling us what to expect in the line of weather for the next few months. Basing his predictions on Nature's mood at the time of the vernal equinox the Port Stanley sage says we are in for a backward spring. However, he adds a more cheerful note by promising the kind of June weather that will make up for the spring disappointments.

Were it not for the fact that the best of weather prophets frequently err in their long-range predictions, the outlook would be somewhat gloomy for April and May. However, we are optimistic enough to look for the April showers that will again bring May flowers.

In this business of foretelling the weather, one man's guess is usually as good as the next one's. We will stick to our old "reliable" method of gauging the weather by the behavior of the elements on the last Friday of the month which is "guaranteed" to govern the weather of the following month.

To The Editor

A PROTEST

Editor Examiner:

Sir: Now that the decks are cleared for direct action against Separate Schools (by elimination as in Manitoba or by starvation) we are faced with the fact that the proposed system of one national public school will have to have religion left out of its curriculum altogether. That will no doubt please a large active and aggressive part of the people, but the value of the Christian religion in the formation of character is so important at the formative age that without it we must continue to have the "lazy age in religion" to which President Cody so scathingly refers and a youth invited to form its own standard of conduct. The issue before the people is "Are you in favor of the Christian religion or are you in favor of modernism which ignores a personal God and supernaturalism altogether?" The R.C. Separate School question is thus likely to react upon the Protestant faith to so dangerous an extent that at least 200,000 of the Protestant children in public schools will be turned out of our proposed "national" public schools to be added to the list of juvenile criminals which now heads the annals of all crime. I protest against Modernism as a communistic system which would deprive us of a supernatural sanction and as a great author has just said: "is setting itself to crush all religion."

FAMILIAR NAMES.

(New York Times)

ENGLAND is the place where a King-Emperor may abdicate almost overnight, but by and large England is the place which ties up its public men with least egad. It is the country where most of the names in the news are long familiar names. Austen Chamberlain is eulogized by Lloyd George, who was Chancellor of the Exchequer thirty years ago. If and when Stanley Baldwin leaves office he will be succeeded by Neville Chamberlain, brother of Austen and son of Joseph Chamberlain of the Jameson Raid and the Boer War forty years ago. In the navy debates we see intervening one Winston Churchill, who was First Lord of the Admiralty when the World War came. Foreign trouble in the smaller countries, nothing like this is so seen on the Continent, where there have been so many clean sweeps. Even in France the outstanding names are post-war.

ORGANIZATION FOR PRINCIPALS IS SANCTIONED

Believe High School Heads Should Have Voice In Changing Educational System

URGE MODEST AMBITIONS

TORONTO, March 31 (C.P.). — An organization for High School principals, outside the bounds of the Ontario Educational Association and the Secondary School Teachers' Federation, was approved in principle by the High School principals' section of the O.E.A. to-day.

Three regional meetings to lay plans for the organization will be held this fall.

Principal E. A. Miller, London Central Collegiate, reporting for a committee considering the organization, said the High School principals should have some voice in changes to be made in the educational system. It was time things proposed changes and another to put them into effect.

Principal Overholt, Brantford Collegiate and Vocational School, said he favored another organization as long as it was outside O.E.A. bounds. The O.E.A. is so segmented now, he said, delegates spend most of their time looking for section meetings.

Twenty years from now the students who have expressed the most modest ambitions will have gone furthest, was the opinion expressed by Principal E. T. Hodgins, Woodstock Collegiate Institute, in a paper on "Educational Guidance of Students in Secondary Schools."

Students who aim too high show a disinclination to tackle the immediate tasks, said Mr. Hodgins.

Principal Overholt said there was a "social problem" connected with the selection of courses. Mary Jones wants to take the same academic course as the girl next door though not suited for it.

"The social element creeps in and get it out if you can," he said. "I don't know how to eliminate it. If anybody does I wish they'd tell me."

Examinations, tending to become an end in themselves, often dull a student's literary appreciation, said H. W. Jameson, Stamford Collegiate Institute, in a paper on "departmental examinations and diplomas."

Mr. Jameson thought abolition of examination fees tended to encourage laziness "though it may have been politically expedient to eliminate fees."

Principal Girdwood of Barrie declared the greatest incentive to laziness, especially in upper school work, is allowing examinations to be taken over a term of years as the student pleases.

ONTARIO NURSES RALLY 450 STRONG

Membership Drive Passes 3,000 Mark—Ethel Cryderman Again President

LONDON, Ont., March 31—(CP). —"To make Dominion registration a reality, group action on the part of the Provinces is necessary," said Miss Ethel Cryderman, president of the Registered Nurses' Association of Ontario, at the annual convention here to-day.

Some 450 nurses from various points in the Province have assembled for the three-day session during which the consideration of Dominion registration will be one of the outstanding features.

Realization of the proposed step of Dominion registration "depends on the unanimity of purpose of the nurses in Canada," the president said. Active membership, corporate action and an informed public are the requisites in the progress of the nursing profession.

The numerical forces of the Provincial group has been increased by 633 over this time last year. The drive for new members which began in January has passed the 3,000 mark.

"Our goal, however, cannot be reached unless accompanying an active membership, there is a unanimity of purpose. A solidarity of purpose gives real force to our activities and without this type of strength, progression is definitely retarded," the speaker continued.

Through the pressure exerted by the Canadian Nurses' Association, a survey of nursing education in Canada was made and a new curriculum proposed. "It is too soon to evaluate fully the results of the efforts of the Canadian Nurses' Association in respect to nursing education.

"At present a question of vital interest to our group is Dominion registration of nurses. On two occasions, the Canadian Nurses' Association has endorsed the principle of Dominion registration."

Nominations presented by Miss Dorothy Percy show that Miss Cryderman is the only nominee for the presidency; Miss Constance Brewster of Hamilton, for the vice-presidency; Miss Jean Church of Ottawa for the second vice-presidency vice-president, Percy McCallum, Windsor; secretary, E. A. Brown, Kingsville.

Urban teachers section — President, Miss Mabel Carpenter, Gananoque; vice-president, P. O. Nelson, Owen Sound; secretary, D. G. Anderson, Toronto.

Primary section—President, Miss Mary O. Smith, Toronto; vice-president, Miss Helen Moody, Toronto; secretary, Miss Hazel Phenix, Toronto.

Classical section—President, H. E. Orr, Upper Canada College; vice-president, H. E. Tracy, Queen's University; secretary, J. F. Guenther, Hamilton.

EMERGENCY CREW PLANNED FOR AIR ATTACK DANGER

Auxiliary Firemen and Stations With Organized Patrols to Combat Raids

NEED 200,000 MEN

LONDON.

Two hundred thousand physically fit auxiliary firemen will be required for an emergency organization which was announced in the House of Commons by Sir John Simon, home secretary, to meet the danger of incendiary attack from the air.

Detailed proposals for the organization and equipment of fire brigade services have been submitted to all local authorities for their guidance, and include:

Auxiliary fire stations at suitable points throughout each fire brigade district. Each station to be equipped with high-power fire-fighting appliances and pumping units for dealing with serious fires and for relaying emergency supplies of water. A system of patrols in sufficient number to keep every street under frequent observation, and these to be equipped with light trailer pumps, light portable pumps or hand appliances, and provided with cars or light vans for drawing or carrying the pumps and conveying the crew with hose and other equipment.

The duty of the patrols would be to ensure that any fire which might break out was promptly attacked, and where necessary to summon heavier appliances from the fire stations. The patrols would be equipped with light trailer pumps and have appliances and provided with light cars or vans.

In addition to the mobile patrols provision is made for the establishment of fire-posts equipped with hand appliances at points where they could be usefully employed.

Ex-firemen and ex-policemen, it is suggested, would be particularly valuable, if still able-bodied, for the service. Auxiliary firemen would be recruited either on a whole-time basis as additional members of the brigade or in a part-time capacity. The age limits proposed are 25 to 50. The men must be British subjects of good character and mentally and physically fit.

20,000 Men for London

At fire stations and auxiliary fire stations watch-room attendants, telephonists, and staff for various other duties would be required, also fitters and electricians for repair work.

There would also be work for many drivers of lorries, vans and cars, and cyclists—motor and pedal—would be needed for the maintenance of communications if the telephone service should be interrupted or overburdened.

It is pointed out that it will take about three months to train a man to become an efficient fire fighter, assuming that he is able to devote two or three hours at a time in week night training to the task. A minimum recruitment for the scheme would be 100,000 men.

A modern large aeroplane, it is stated, can carry up to 1,000 small incendiary bombs. With the prospect of these causing a large number of fires, at least 20,000 men would be required as auxiliary fire fighters in London alone.

The fire pickets would need only elementary instruction in fire fighting.

It is suggested that streets should be classified in three groups—ranging from Class A, with munition and aeroplane stores, factories, docks, railway depots and oil depots, to Class C, with residential and small shop properties.

CLAIM NUDE MOTORIST TERRORIZING WOMEN

Reported Active in Three Rural Districts

Chichester.—Police of three districts are searching for a naked motorist who has been terrorizing young women in the rural district between Chichester and Portsmouth.

The man has been seen by at least six women, who have reported the matter to the police. He has been seen at Funtington, near Chichester, where one of the women took the number of his car.

Police investigations, however, revealed that the number was a fictitious one.

The latest report was from a young woman shop assistant of Emsworth, who says that the naked motorist tried to persuade her to get into the car.

The man has also been seen on a hill near Portsmouth, and the police there have joined with the Hants constabulary and the West Sussex police in their hunt for the culprit.

"MARRIAGE CREDITS" INCREASED BIRTH-RATE

Germany's Labor Market Lost 700,000 Workless Girls by System

Berlin.—Three and a half years ago a German law was passed granting "marriage credits" to young couples. Since then more than 700,000 of these "marriage credits," averaging $200 each and totalling $150,000,000, have been issued. In the future it is planned to grant approximately 15,000 credits each year.

The results of this measure are being investigated by State Secretary Fritz Reinhardt from the economic rather than the social angle.

A summary of the results now published show that:

The German labor markets have been relieved of 700,000 workless girls.

Additional re-employment for 150,000 persons in the furniture trade and the general home outfit industries.

An increase in tax revenues owing to the general increase of turnover, private incomes and general consumption.

A permanent rise in the demand for household necessities.

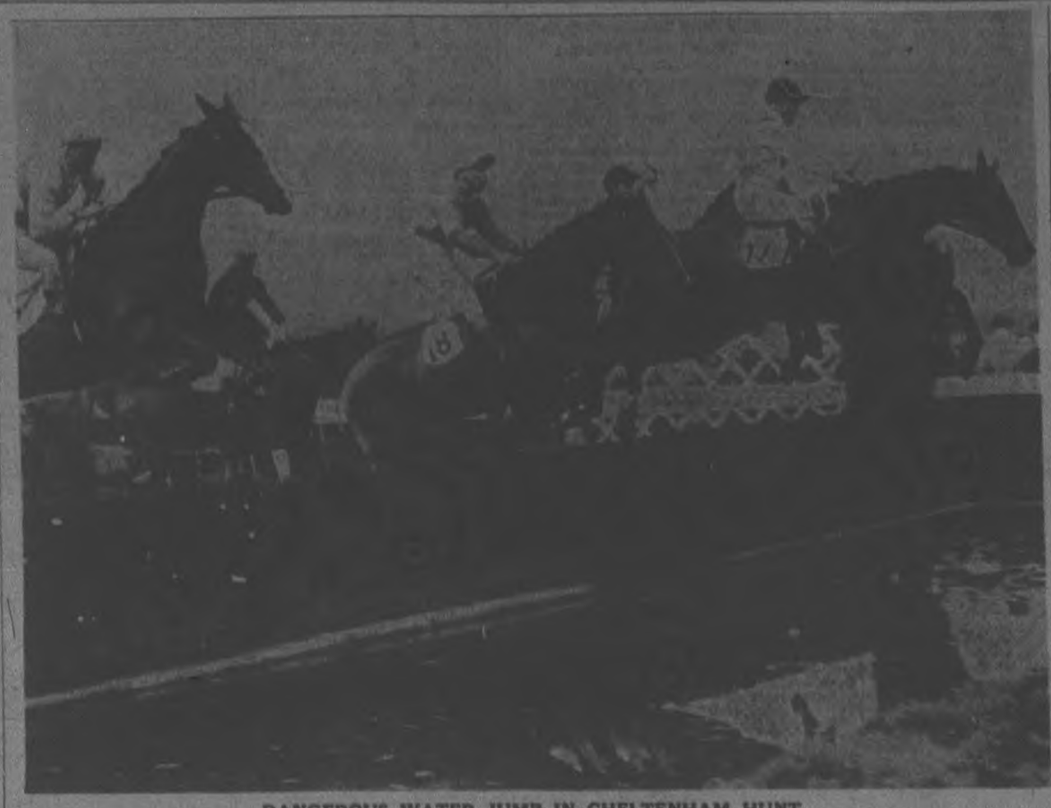
A considerable increase in the number of marriages—and most important from the political point of view—an increase in children.

About 500,000 babies were born to 700,000 families founded under the "marriage credit" system.

These credits are given free of interest, and are to be "sunk" at the rate of 1 per cent. per month.

Every child born has the automatic effect of cancelling 25 per cent. of the debt.

The "marriage credit" is financed by increased income taxes on the unmarried. As in Italy, there is a "bachelor's tax" in Germany.



DANGEROUS WATER JUMP IN CHELTENHAM HUNT

PROTEST LARGER FAMILIES TO BE 'CANNON FODDER'

But Citizenship Council Passes Resolution Urging Check on Declining Population

TO START CAMPAIGN

LONDON.

Despite protests that bigger families only meant "cannon fodder" for the next war, the national council for equal citizenship meeting in London passed a resolution urging a campaign to check the declining population.

To encourage larger families, Mrs. E. M. Hubback, who moved the resolution on behalf of the executive committee, advocated—

Family allowances: Such an increase in social services as would make the economic position of people with children at least as favorable as that of those without; and a more adequate maternity service.

Mrs. Hubback said that families of eight or ten children were not wanted, but they must look ahead, and it mattered very much what was going to happen in 30 years time.

"It is not a question of bribing people to have children," she said, "but at present we are penalizing people if they do.

"I want to remove the joke about having a large family, for if a couple do have a large family today they are laughed at."

Mrs. N. Shackleton, Liverpool, said that schools should bring home to girls their responsibilities as future citizens and educate them to expect a good standard of conditions for their children.

Mrs. Helena Normanton, London, said she felt that this resolution, together with the whole agenda of the conference, was in line with what Hitler and Mussolini wanted.

It reminded her of the little rhyme about Mussolini, which ran:

"Women of Italy, arise,
For you must produce
More children, said Il Duce."

"I think all these prophecies about what is going to happen as a result of the decline in the birth rate are very exaggerated," she added.

"Why worry about what is going to happen in 1955? Let us worry about what is happening now!

"We don't want it to get out that this country stands for the wholesale supply of cannon fodder."

AMERICAN VISITOR ROBBED IN ENGLAND

Burglar Takes Jewel Case Valued at $12,500

Hampstead.—A cat burglar who recently scaled a 50-foot stackpipe at the back of a house in Elsworthy Rd., Hampstead, silently broke a leaded window, crept into a bedroom where Mrs. H. Gardner, an American visitor, was sleeping and stole a case of jewels worth $12,500.

Then he walked out through the front door without disturbing the household.

"Although there was a dog in the kitchen and a staff of servants, no one heard a sound," said a member of the household.

"When Mrs. Gardner went to bed she put her jewelry in her case and placed this in a drawer only a few feet from her bed. Yet she heard no sound."

The raid brings cat burglars' hauls in nine days to $30,000.

AGA KHAN'S HOST CHARGED WITH FRAUD

Allegedly Uttered Forged Bill of Lading for Copra Shipment

Nairobi, Kenya.—Host of the Aga Khan on his recent East African tour, Esmail Hasmani appeared in the Dar-es-Salaam, Tanganyika, court on a $250,000 fraud charge.

Police had hunted him for eight days all over East Africa, using aeroplanes, cars and radio — and he was eventually found hiding in Dar-es-Salaam itself.

The prosecutor said the charge was of uttering a forged bill of lading for a shipment of copra.

Other similar charges were likely to be made, the sum involved exceeding $1,000,000.

Dar-es-Salaam banks and traders are in a ferment over the case, which has come with the same kind of shock that the Hatry crash caused in London.

The Aga Khan, on hearing the news, has ordered his local followers to return all presents made by the accused man.

Esmail Hasmani, an Indian merchant still in his twenties, had the reputation of being immensely wealthy and owned several aeroplanes.

TRIBUNAL TRIES MAN FOR WORKING SUNDAYS

Church's Attempt to Stop Sailings Fails So Stewart Ordered to Quit

Applecross (Ross-shire).—Charged with breaking the Sabbath Day by working as a steward in a boat which sails on Sundays, Malcolm Campbell, aged 30, of this lonely little village, appeared before the session of the Applecross Free Presbyterian Church of Scotland.

The tribunal, of which his own father was a member, asked him either to give up his job or to declare to his employers a conscientious objection to working on Sundays; they gave him time to consider the matter.

His case is on a par with that of the Provost of Dornoch, who some two years ago was suspended from the same church for holding a Christmas party in his home.

Mr. Campbell has been a steward for several years on the MacBrayne steamer Loch Nevis, which runs a mail, passenger and cargo service between the Kyle of Lochalsh and Stornoway, on the Island of Lewis.

The church has frequently objected to the sailing of the Loch Nevis from Stornoway late on Sunday evenings, suggesting she should leave after midnight struck, but the owners pointed out they must make mainland connections with train services.

Following the failure of negotiations the church at Applecross has now taken action against Mr. Campbell.

EDWARD SOUVENIRS SAID STILL MADE

Whispered Many Manufacturers Turning Out Extra Copies to Meet Demand

London.—Less than three months ago British manufacturers who had been caught by the abdication with great stocks of King Edward VIII Coronation souvenirs were talking dejectedly of the crippling losses they would have to bear.

Now the majority of them are smiling happily. The demand for King Edward souvenirs from all parts of the world has been greater than anybody dared to forecast.

Though inquiries on the point are generally received with discreet coughs and with the suggestion that it would be better not to mention it, the truth is that thousands of souvenirs bearing the ex-King's head and with such wording as "Crowned May 12, 1937," have been turned out since the abdication.

The readiness of the public here, in many parts of the Empire and in the United States to buy Edward VIII. souvenirs has, in fact, already conferred a scarcity-value on some of them.

GETS TEN-YEAR SENTENCE DESPITE NOT GUILTY PLEA

Court Says Accused Acted in "American Gangster Fashion" During Hold-Up

MAN SHOT IN LEG

Sentence of ten years' penal servitude was passed at the Old Bailey on George Wilson, 42, who was said to have behaved in "American gangster fashion" in a Peckham pawnbroker's shop.

He thanked the recorder, Sir Holman Gregory, K.C., for "a very fair trial," but declared he was innocent.

Christmas Humphreys, prosecuting, said on New Year's Day, Wilson, with a mask covering the lower part of his face, entered the shop of John Macklin, in Peckham, and producing a revolver, said "Stick 'em up."

Macklin told him to clear out, and he then fired the revolver several times.

With the gun still smoking in his hand he vaulted over the counter, and took some money from the till.

When Macklin pluckily attacked him with an umbrella, Wilson fired again, shooting him in the leg.

Nineteen days later Wilson was arrested at Limehouse, and he was picked out by the pawnbroker's assistant at an identification parade.

Wilson, in evidence, said that on the day of the robbery he was at Manchester trying to find a boat to take him to the east. He had spent 12 years in Syria and Palestine.

While giving his evidence he spoke a few sentences in Arabic, and frequently drew his right index finger down the side of his face as though making some secret sign.

The recorder said the evidence had disclosed that Wilson was a very dangerous member of society.

LADY MAGISTRATES ANGRY

London.—Women magistrates are angry because the law regards two of them as of less value than two men so far as juvenile courts are concerned.

For ordinary courts, two men or two women, or one of each, constitute a quorum for the transaction of court business.

But for the juvenile courts two men can make a quorum, but not two women. And the women say that it is in these courts that they are of the most service.

LITTER-BOX LETTER LEADS TO ARREST

Note From Girl Causes Conviction of Laborer Despite Not Guilty Plea

Middlesex.—A love letter found in the litter box of a restaurant kitchen led to a man's conviction at Middlesex sessions.

It was alleged that he stole a quantity of wines, beer, chocolates, and cigarettes.

The letter was from a girl at Maidstone. It said: "I still love you, darling," and ended: "Doris, to my own darling Tom."

Fingerprints found on a cocktail shaker corresponded with those of Jones. The premises were in considerable disorder, and glasses and bottles were left about as if several people had made themselves at home.

Jones pleaded not guilty. He said that his jacket had been stolen before the burglary and must have been used by the person who committed it.

He was stated to have a number of previous convictions, and was sentenced to 12 months' imprisonment.

POISON-PEN LETTERS DISTURB MINING TOWN

An Anonymous Letter-Writer Causes Distress

Stonehouse, Lancashire.—Police, post-office officials and, indeed, most of the community in this little mining town are taking part in a search for a writer of "poison pen" letters.

The existence of this anonymous letter-writer was revealed to a cinema audience when the manager, speaking through a microphone told of his distress at letters he had received purporting to give information about members of his staff.

To supplement the efforts of the police and post-office, the miners and their wives are making investigations of their own. Some of them are acting as self-appointed pickets at the post boxes.

BRIEF STORIES GATHERED FROM ALL CORNERS OF THE WORLD

KRUGER SOVEREIGNS PROVED MERE PELLETS

Appeal Judge Terms Conspiracy Attempt "Conjuring Trick"

Plymouth.—"This was one of the cleverest conjuring tricks I have ever heard of," said Mr. Justice Goddard at the hearing of appeals of Hyman Kurasch, 52, and Jack Carter, 62, who, it was alleged, were concerned in a conspiracy to rob a Plymouth doctor of $11,500, were ineffective.

The men were convicted at Plymouth of conspiracy and larceny. Kurasch receiving a sentence of five years' and Carter one of three years' penal servitude.

The allegation was that Carter and another man, Wildman, told Dr. Bradlaw, of Devonport, that they had about 2,000 Kruger sovereigns which had been smuggled from Germany as cement pellets.

One of those pellets was shown to the doctor, who agreed to pay £2,300 for the "consignment."

The men arrived with a bag containing some of the pellets.

Dr. Bradshaw handed over $2,300, which was apparently put into a red handkerchief, placed in a bag, and locked in the doctor's safe.

The men went off to get the rest of the "sovereigns," but did not return.

Later, Dr. Bradlaw discovered that the handkerchief contained sheets of newspaper.

B.B.C. BAND LOSES CASE

Hearing Costs $10,000 But Only $50 Awarded

Belfast.—After an eight-day hearing, involving costs estimated at $10,000, the jury in the B.B.C. brass band libel action in the Ulster high court here awarded $50 damages to Lieut. C. W. Geary, director of music to the Royal Artillery, Woolwich, against F. Godfrey Brown, music director of the B.B.C. at Belfast.

WALKS INTO SEA TO END LIFE AFTER RIOTOUS LIVING

"At End of Tether," Accused Wrote, Explaining Theft of $2,945

"POLITE TO THE END"

London.—"I am now at the end of my tether. My life a fraud. I have let down my friends who have trusted me so much. The lies I have told have been legion."

This passage occurred in a letter read at Marlborough St. police court, when James Henry Thornburn, 38, cashier, was charged with obtaining £589 ($2,945) by false pretences from William Graham, a tailor.

The letter, which was stated to have been received by Mr. Graham, read:

"Is "Polite to the End"

"I will be polite to the end. When you receive this I shall be in the water somewhere far away from London.

"There is no South Africa, no New Zealand—(Thornburn was alleged to have stated that he was doing trade with those countries)—no goods, and no hotel business such as I told you about. I have just used your money for living.

"You are hit financially, but I shall break my wife's heart and probably kill her. My dear lad—a good lad—I fear he will be broken-hearted.

"I enjoyed too good a life—not being able to break it off. Once fallen it went on. I was living at the rate of £2,000 ($10,000) or more a year.

Entertained Extensively

"I have entertained largely—the opera, theatres, dinners, best hotels, then the last two years—good holidays, a silver wedding tour, Urwin's 21st birthday celebrations, and very heavy expenses.

"There is a wasted life. I have done it myself."

Vincent Evans, prosecuting, asked that the charge should be altered to one of inducing Mr. Graham to sign his name to a cheque, and said that there were other charges involving much larger sums.

Mr. Evans added that Thornburn had been arrested at Blackpool, where, it was alleged, he had walked into the sea, apparently to commit suicide.

Thornburn was remanded.

"STAY-IN STRIKE" STAGED BY MONKS

Admittance to Monastery Refused Leaders

Cairo.—The Egyptian government recently ordered the Governor of Assiut to attack the Coptic monastery at Deir-el-Moharrak with a force of 300 policemen.

A "stay-in-strike" has been in progress at the monastery for several months.

A number of monks, dissatisfied with their abbot, who had issued orders limiting surrounding villages "out of bounds," have taken possession of the place and refused to admit leaders of their church of the civil authorities until the abbot is dismissed.

The Bishop of Senabou headed a peace-making deputation in January, but the monks would not admit him.

The Coptic patriarch, Yoannes XIX, appealed to the government and orders for immediate assault were given.

The police are to try to avoid bloodshed, but, if attacked by the monks, are to retaliate and capture the monastery at all costs.

The building, which was strengthened not long ago at a cost of $350,000, is like a fortress. It is surrounded by a 15-foot wall, with massive wood and steel doors.

As the well is within the wall and the cellars are known to have been well stocked with food it could withstand a siege for some time.

FRANCE TO MODERNIZE JUSTICE FOR JUVENILES

Doctor and Psychiatrist Will Aid Magistrate in Fixing Treatment

Paris.—Special courts for juvenile delinquents, and reform schools instead of jails—institutions long known in Paris—will soon be introduced throughout all France.

This was announced here by Minister of Justice Marc Rucart, who, having just completed the suppression of Devil's Island, is now devoting himself to this new criminal reform measure.

Rucart's plan, which is an improvement even on the present Parisian system, is as follows:

When a youth is arrested for a misdemeanor he will be conducted before three persons: a magistrate, to determine the seriousness of his crime; a doctor, to examine his physical condition; and a psychiatrist, to see if he is mentally sound.

The building in which he will be examined, it is stated, will be more of a clinic than a court, and Rucart is at present framing a bill which would provide for the erection of 16 of these centres in the large cities throughout the country.

Several eminent lawyers are also framing modification of the justice code which would authorize the commissioning of children's experts as magistrates for the juvenile courts.

NEW PEACE PACT PLANNED

Czech Government Seeks Pact With Bulgaria

Prague.—With Bulgaria and Jugoslavia leading the way with their "eternal friendship pact," the Czech government may within short time seek negotiations with Bulgaria for the same end. Roumania is rumored to have intentions to this effect, so that in the event of these negotiations being fruitful, all three members of the Little Entente, Czechoslovakia, Roumania and Jugoslavia, would be linked to Bulgaria by "eternal" bonds of friendship.

SKIING, STUDENT DIES AS AVALANCHE STARTS

Companion Escapes Death But Sees Childhood Friend Trapped

Innsbruck, Austrian Tyrol.—A few seconds after being photographed by his friend, 24-year-old London medical student Ernest Edward Frye was swept away by an avalanche and killed.

Frye and Cecil Coleman, aged 30, of Walm Lane, Cricklewood, had set out from the Samoar Hut, 6,000 feet up in the Detztaler Alps, near here. Frye shouted "Stop where you are!" and dashed down the slope on his skis as he saw the avalanche coming.

Coleman, who was missed by about nine feet, heard him shout "Watch where I am!" before he was overwhelmed.

Tourists and guides, who saw the accident from the Samoar Hut, rushed up with shovels and pickaxes and, after half an hour, found Frye under 15 feet of snow. He had died of suffocation.

Coleman owed his life to the fact that he had stopped to replace the camera in his rucksack while Frye went ahead. He and Frye were childhood friends.

COMPLETES SENTENCE ON MURDER CHARGE

Carnforth, Lancashire. — Twelve years after being sentenced to death for the murder of a policeman, William Crossley will pay a brief visit to the homes here of his brother and sister, before picking up the threads of his new life.

Crossley, then aged 19, with a confederate, Edward Naggarty, was sentenced at Staffordshire assizes in February, 1925. Their appeal against the death penalty was dismissed, but a few days before the date fixed for their execution their sentences were commuted to penal servitude for life.

Beth Crossley's parents died while their son was in Parkhurst prison.

GIANT NEW "LIGHT" ORGAN IN PARIS OPERA HOUSE

President Lebrun Officiates as Reconstructed Theatre Reopens

EXTRA LARGE STAGE

Paris.—A "light" organ on a vast semi-circular panorama 85 feet high, and 20 tons in weight is one of the many wonderful new features of the Paris Opera house, reopened recently in the presence of the president, M. Lebrun.

The opera house, which is still one of the finest stage theatres in the world, has been entirely renovated and largely reconstructed since it was closed after the fire last September.

More than 700 workmen have been working for eight months to restore the latest stage machinery and equipment, and also to clean and redecorate the huge auditorium and public rooms.

More than 3,000 miles of wires and electric cables have been installed, while no less than 600,000 square feet of walls and ceilings have been repainted.

The huge panorama which has been installed is made of steel, covered with asbestos and sheets of mica, and will reflect the sound into the auditorium without causing an echo. Divided into two parts, the panorama can be hoisted up rapidly by an electric crane.

All lighting effects will be automatically controlled by an electrician with a special observation post opposite the prompter.

Here he will be able to order the sun to set and cause soft moonlight to flood the "sky" behind the stage, which is so large that a moderate-sized theatre could be placed upon it.

FROZEN ON HOOF

Cawnpore, India—Hundreds of cattle were reported frozen to death following a hailstorm that also caused considerable property damages in villages near here.

'MADEMOISELLE ZIZI' PUZZLING PROBLEM

Mysterious Woman Puzzles 'Parisians' by Habits

Paris.—A mysterious woman in strange dress, who for several months has sat silent and motionless for the best part of the day in the busy Place de la Concorde, is rapidly becoming one of the most famous figures in Paris.

Nicknamed "Mademoiselle Zizi" by the bus and taxicab drivers who pass close by her all day in an unending stream, she presents a queer and inexplicable problem.

Since early last September she has taken her place every day at precisely the same hour, wearing the same costume. This is a Basque beret, an apple-green coat, a check skirt, and socks.

She takes up her position at 9.30 a.m. and remains till 12. At 2.30 p.m. she is back again and then remains till 8. If it rains she puts up her umbrella. If curious people try to talk to her she gets up with great dignity and, walking to the embankment, looks down at the Seine until they are gone.

To every question put to her she merely smiles and then gets up and goes to the embankment parapet.

ARMY OFFICERS SENTENCED

Chatham.—Sentences on two army officers who appeared before courts martial at Chatham last month on charges alleging improper conduct against boys were published recently.

Captain J. L. H. Chase, of the Royal Engineers, has been sentenced to three years' penal servitude and to be cashiered.

Captain Henry Thomas Lloyd Loftus-Tottenham, also of the Royal Engineers, has been sentenced to be cashiered and to be imprisoned with hard labor for 18 months.

CAIRO'S HOLY CARPET BORNE TO MECCA

Cairo.—Camels, their heads dyed with henna, long-robed musicians playing reed pipes, Egyptian soldiers marching to "Men of Harlech" —these followed the Mahmal, symbol of state, borne on a specially chosen camel, through the winding streets of Cairo recently.

They took with them in 14 sections of long stretchers the great covering of black brocade, the $30,000 Kiswa, or Holy Carpet.

This was carried to Mecca, where it was placed on the Kaaba, the 30-foot square stone building in the courtyard of the Great Mosque.

For 700 years a Kiswa had gone annually to Mecca from Cairo. For a year it lay on the Kaaba and was replaced by the new Kiswa while the old was cut into pieces and sold to pilgrims.

Ten years ago the Wahabis of Arabia, strictly religious, considered the Mahmal—in shape like a howdah—too ornate.

They disliked the military band accompanying the procession. Stones were thrown and firing began. King Ibn Saud galloped up and intervened to restore order.

But the matter was not amicably settled and since 1926 no Holy Carpet has gone to Mecca. This year the trouble has been discussed and settled.

HOCKEY FANS OPENED DOORS JURY IS TOLD

until the train reached the down town station.

Witness said he went through to the rear platform. None of the vestibule doors was open as he passed them.

"Who could open the outer doors of the vestibule?" Col. Boggs enquired.

"I suppose some of the passengers opened them," Mr. Taverner said. "They could do so probably as easy as a trainman could, but they are not supposed to open them."

Col. Boggs—Do you know how the vestibule doors became open?

Mr. Taverner—No I do not.

He said the train crew was at normal strength, himself, two brakemen, and the engineer and fireman.

Saw Doors Closed

Richard Willis, Lindsay, said he was the rear end brakeman on the hockey train. "When we arrived at Port Hope I got off and threw the switches to let the train onto the Peterborough line. I went through the last four coaches about ten minutes before we arrived in Port Hope. The vestibules were closed. I don't know who opened them, but it wouldn't be difficult for passengers to open them. I think the train was on the viaduct about four minutes, or five at the outside. When the train passed me at the switch I noticed that the outside vestibule doors between the last and second last coaches were open."

Earl Harvey, Port Hope, night constable, said he arrived at the scene of the accident shortly before 1 a.m. The body of Mr. Platt was about six feet from the base of the stone abutment of the viaduct, and was lying on its side, the feet doubled up. Platt had fallen off the south side of the bridge.

Multiple Injuries

Dr. H. A. Benson, Port Hope, testified that he examined the body at the place where Platt had fallen and later at the undertaking rooms. I found a fracture at the base of the skull, the collarbone and all the ribs on the right side were broken, and also the neck of the left femur. Death was caused by the fracture of the skull and internal hemmorhage. The man was dead when I examined him first."

Dr. Diamond—Was there anything to indicate that the man had been drinking?

Dr. Benson—I didn't notice any signs of drinking.

Dr. Diamond—Any odor?

Dr. Benson—No.

John Platt, 485½ Bolivar street, Peterborough, son of the deceased, said that the last time he saw his father alive was when they were coming out of the door of the rink at Oshawa. He said his father was a healthy man. He had never heard of his father being subject to dizzy spells.

John Campbell and John Markle, two Port Hope youths, said they were at the main line C.N.R. station when a brakeman told them about the accident. They drove down to the foot of the viaduct and found the body where it had fallen.

John Ashmore, Peterborough, related that he had noticed two vestibule doors open after the train backed up. He was on the rear platform of the last coach but did not get out on the viaduct.

The Royal Road To The Coronation

His first year at Osborne; in 1913 he was a midshipman (RIGHT)

THE carefree days of boyhood ended abruptly for Prince Albert when he was 13 years of age. Son of a father who loved the sea and who had graduated from the naval ranks with honors, Albert too was destined for a naval career that was to start at the bottom rung of the ladder.

In 1909, home surroundings gave way to the naval atmosphere of the training college at Osborne where the first principles of British seamanship were instilled into the eager mind of the prince. For seven years he was to follow the path that is trod by every up-and-coming naval man who would become part and parcel of his majesty's fleet, for the first two years at Osborne, then at Dartmouth, and later aboard ship.

There was no distinction for the royal cadet. The same strict discipline that every other naval cadet must learn was his lot, and the same demands of mental and physical energy were made. But Albert was a willing and anxious student. For the years he spent in naval training centres his ambition in life was to become an efficient naval officer. Today's pictures depict the present king in these stages of his life, both at Osborne when he had graduated to midshipman's rank.

In 1912 Albert passed from Dartmouth to the cadet ship Cumberland, which in January 1913 began a training cruise which carried the young prince on an extended tour during which he visited Canadian and Newfoundland ports as well as the West Indies.

The engineering side of naval life, of paramount importance in modern sea tactics, absorbed the prince, but eager though he was to work he was even more eager to play. A "thorough good sort" was the way his shipmates classed him, and when physical demands forced him to give up the sea career he had started, the navy was as regretful as the prince.

WAR UPON REDS FASCISTS IS AIM

Under the Quebec bill, he claimed, all the Bibles in Quebec could be seized and destroyed and all the churches padlocked. The Bible contained passages which could be construed as tending to promote Communism within the meaning of the law. No teaching of history, economics or literature would be possible without the universities and schools being padlocked.

"I agree that hatred will not eliminate Communism," said Mr. Lapointe. "I wonder if many members of this House have read the recent encyclical of Pope Pius XI on Communism. He indicated that justice and charity were the two best agencies with which to combat Communism.

"I believe that is so. All Canadian citizens should unite to preach the true doctrine. I have been thinking about this matter for some time and if I find support for the idea I should like to organize a league of Canadian citizens for the purpose of spreading education throughout the length and breadth of Canada.

Preserve Democracy

"All democratic people, the laborer and the employer, the churchman and public man should join hands in helping to spread the right kind of education throughout Canada.

"The purpose of this organization would be, to preserve the democratic state in Canada;

"To combat Communism and Fascism and to counteract the reactionary activities of all subversive and revolutionary forces which seek to overthrow the democratic state by force and violence;

"To guard the religious heritage of Canada from the protagonists of foreig nand atheist doctrines and to assist the state in every lawful way to the end that Canada may remain a place of safety, that the welfare of her citizens and their wives and children be guarded and that peace order and good government may be maintained in our Dominion."

"Peace, order and good government?" interrupted Opposition Leader Bennett.

"By this government," continued Mr. Lapointe. "I think such a method would be more effective than the use of guns, prisons and other arbitrary methods.

"I am quite willing to try to get such an organization started in Canada and I hope my friend (Mr. Woodsworth) will join in fighting against that which he protests. Those who believe in order, religion and liberty make the best bulwark against Communism. They are more effective than prisons."

He was unable to gather, Mr. Lapointe said, whether or not Mr. Woodsworth favored the sit-down strike policy. Such procedure was illegal. "I said that last week and I say it again. I could not say otherwise," he declared. He had no knowledge of the Sarnia foundry strike which was necessarily a provincial matter, and his recent statement in the House had no relation to that happening.

Mr. Woodsworth had questioned the existence of a legal course for correcting grievances. The Industrial Disputes Act of Canada had for many years benefited both labor and employer in matters of this kind, Mr. Lapointe remarked.

Only a few days ago there had been a striking instance of the use of legitimate means of settling disputes.

Feather in Rogers' Cap.

"I refer," the Minister continued, "to the momentous threat of a railway strike involving all Canada. It has just been settled by negotiation without men resorting to sit-down strikes or listening to agitators. It is a great feather in the cap of the Minister of Labor (Hon. Norman Rogers.) Those are the legitimate means I had in mind when I spoke the other day."

With respect to arrest of clothing workers in Quebec, also mentioned by Mr. Woodsworth, the laws were administered by the province, and if those arrested were not guilty as charged the courts would accord them justice. It was not for him to interfere or pass judgment. He was not as free as was the C.C.F. leader to pass judgment upon the actions of the Provincial Government.

As he knew of the padlock legislation in Quebec was what he read in the newspapers. He had not seen it and had no official knowledge of it.

"Here it is," interjected Mr. Woodsworth, holding up a bill.

"When the bill comes to me it will be through the customary official channels and not through the member for Winnipeg North Centre," Mr. Lapointe retorted.

Provincial legislation reached the Dominion Government through the Governor-General and it was the duty of the Minister of Justice to review it.

Wants Nothing of Communism.

He had never concealed his attitude toward Communists, the minister said. "I am absolutely opposed to everything they teach," he declared. "I am against them from every point of view, moral, religious and everything else."

In a country like Canada, Mr. Lapointe said, where all but a very few were opposed to Communism, the best way to fight it was by removing causes of discontent.

"We should try," said the minister, "to have justice meted out to all equally. The poor and the rich, the humble the same as those who are powerful.

"If Communism is bad it must be fought with something that is better. Hatred will not eliminate Communism."

The minister opposed making "martyrs" of Communists by sending them to jail.

"Who had heard of Tim Buck before he went to jail?" he asked.

Nevertheless, the laws had to be observed and violators would be prosecuted.

Mr. Lapointe said he would prefer to destroy Communists' arguments rather than to drive them into "cellar conspiracies."

It was strange that proposals to enlarge the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and strengthen Canada's defence forces had aroused so much opposition among Communists and those associated with them. He [illegible] men in all secondary schools, including English, history, civics, geography, health, writing, mathematics, elementary science, French, business practice, shop work or household science and music and art.

GRADES GOING REPLACE CLASSES

Better Chance for Girls.

He explained introduction of household science was to give girls opportunity to obtain knowledge and skill they would require in later years as, with rare exceptions, they were not learning this science in the home.

After the first year it will be up to the pupil to choose his courses. Pupils will have the chance of learning Latin and modern languages and may also continue manual work or household science. English, social sciences and health will continue to be stressed in third and fourth years with pupils enabled to study mathematics, modern languages, music and art.

Dr. Simpson said at the end of two years intermediate certificates will be given pupils not wishing to carry on while secondary school graduation diplomas, replacing present matriculation certificates, will be given at the fouth year.

In grade 13 one subject will be compulsory, he said. That will be health education. A student will be able to return for a second year to this grade if he desires to learn other courses.

Students now enrolled would complete their courses under the present system but the minister said he hoped the revised curricula would be introduced in practice next fall at secondary schools.

More Character-Building

More education along spiritual lines was the great need of today, G. A. Wheable, London, Ont., schools superintendent, told the inspectors' division. Greater share of religious and character-building education was necessary to fight the increasing crime among children.

W. J. Cunningham, Simcoe county representative at the county council section, suggested municipalities assume full responsibility for schools with the government taking over hospitalization costs so secondary and public schools would be independent of government grants.

Hon. Paul Leduc, Ontario Minister of Mines, told the separate school section, separate schools were here to stay. He told of the struggle of trustees to operate the schools without "frills" but he believed pupils came forth "as good citizens as pupils from other schools."

Joseph Bowyer, in his presidential address to the separate school section urged a fight against materialism and Communism by instilling in children Christian fundamentals but C. J. Driscoll of Sarnia considered education of adults as important in combatting these inroads as Christian teaching in elementary schools. Politicians and businessmen, he said, must be taught to help the youth of the day.

Politicians may be good Christians at home, but as soon as they take their seats in the legislatures they worship another god—party-politics, said Mr. Driscoll.

Communism An Illusion

"It's not much wonder that young men are driven to Communism," declared Mr. Driscoll. "It holds out some hope for them—I agree with the president that it's an illusion—but they don't see that after looking at 'No help wanted' signs for months on end.

Democracy was at stake, he maintained. What were governments doing to remedy the situation? "I'm not a Communist. I don't lean that way," he assured the visiting trustees. "But I've seen so many of our young men aimlessly searching for jobs.

President Bouvier remarked the separate school legislation, repealed at the last Ontario legislature session, "fell short of our expectations." The legislation amended school law to set reapportioning corporation taxes among separate and public schools.

E. P. Donohue, Kitchener, said Toronto had become the Communist centre of the Dominion. He called on the O.E.A. members to "stand shoulder to shoulder against these subversive elements."

Dr. C. I. Christie, principal of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, told the public school department lack of home training was largely responsible for the Ontario Reformatory riots Jan. 17. He said children often went to school hungry because mothers remained in bed after staying up most of the night.

Restoration of the annual schedule of increase for normal and model school teachers was announced by Dr. Duncan McArthur, Deputy Minister of Education. These were suspended in 1931 and he expressed the hope restoration would mean return also of adequate salaries.

W. J. Salter of St. Catharines was chosen president of the O.E.A. for the coming year with Dr. G. C. McNab, Guelph, vice-president.

It was the opinion of those in attendance that such an event will be a very large undertaking and that to be a success it must be well organized. It was decided to insert an advertisement in this week's local paper asking the citizens to forward any useful information or suggestions concerning the Old Boys' Reunion to the secretary, Miss K. Anderson.

The committee will hold their next meeting on Tuesday, April 6th, at 7.30 p.m. in the council chamber.

lay in paying salaries and discontent over the conduct of Germans in Spanish Morocco.

Guns Opposite Gibraltar.

(Apparently because of the revolt across the Straits of Gibraltar, insurgents were reported last night to have mounted four large-calibre coast defence guns of German make between Algeciras and Tarifa on the mainland.

The guns, replaced if the centre of the area on the mainland where mass executions had been reported in connection with the Moroccan plot, were believed to have been rushed into position to repel a possible invasion from Spanish Morocco had the authorities not been successful in crushing the conspiracy. The guns were trained out across the straits and toward Gibraltar.

(Insurgent authorities at Tetuan, in telephone conversations with Casablanca French Morocco denied there had been any revolt there. The officials merely laughed when asked what trouble there had been in Tetuan, although they gave no explanation of a several hours' interruption in communications which had strengthened reports of the uprising).

PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, CANADA, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 31, 1937

'The Missing Miss Missing'

ARAPHOE, Neb.—This might be titled "the missing Miss Missing." Police Chief Joe Brening reported Miss Alfreida Missing, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Missing, was missing from her home here. Miss Missing was first missed when she failed to attend school yesterday, Brening said.

Robbed 30 Times In Two Years

MEMPHIS—Police knew the address all right when Walter Dunphy telephoned there had been a holdup at Vaughn's Service Station. They had been there before—30 times in two years. "They took not only all the boss' money but $3.28 of mine and a box of candy," said Dunphy.

Vancouver's Mayor Wears Chain Of Office And Robes

Peterboro' Committee Seeks Information From Western City

ADDS DIGNITY TO OFFICE

The citizen's committee in charge of plans for Peterborough's observance of the Coronation of their Majesties King George VI and Queen Elizabeth has received word from Acting Mayor John Bennett of Vancouver bearing on the proposal of Alderman James Dutton that a chain of office and robes be presented to the mayor of this city to commemorate the Coronation.

Having in mind the fact that Vancouver's chief magistrate is one of the few mayor's in the Dominion who dons regalia and special civic insignia, the committee here sought information relative to the cost of Alderman Dutton's proposal.

In writing on behalf of Mayor George C. Miller during his absence in Ottawa where he was attending the Dominion Conference of Mayors, the Acting Mayor of that city, writes in part as follows:

"Vancouver's mayoral chain was purchased some time prior to 1912. It was made in Vancouver by Henry Birks and Sons, and while I have not been able to ascertain the exact cost, it was in the neighborhood of $3,500.

"The mayor's robe is of black corded silk with purple and black velvet facings for trimmings and is lined with gold satin. With it is worn a black corded silk cocked hat with nickel trimmings on one side.

Robes and Hat Cost $350

"The robe and hat was purchased by ex-Mayor McGeer last year at a cost of about $350. Mr. McGeer is quite a big man but the robes fit our present mayor very well, and, unless the incumbent of the office were particularly small, would fit almost any man.

"The full regalia of office was first worn on the occasion of the council meeting when the Right Honorable the Lord Mayor of London, on behalf of the Corporation of the City of London, presented to the Mayor of the City of Vancouver a replica of the mace of that city.

"I may say that the mace is also used at all formal meetings of the council, and the mayor dons his robes and chain of office. The mace-bearer and sergeant-at-arms who carries the mace (about 5 feet 11 inches long and weighing about 35 pounds), precedes the mayor on these occasions.

"I trust that this is all the information you require, and I would appreciate knowing if the council of Peterborough decides to follow our practice. We have found that it adds considerably to the dignity of our council meetings.

"Further in respect to the mayor's chain of office, the names of all the mayors of our city are engraved on the back of the various medallions."

1,609 PERSONS ON RELIEF.

Peterborough's relief records show that the number of families receiving assistance last month was 402, as compared with the largest number of 789 families in March, 1933. The number of persons had declined during the same period from 3,618 to 1,609.

BEWDLEY STIRS AGAIN.

Bewdley is beginning to stir with new life again as the ice in Rice Lake is taking on a whitish color that precedes the approaching return of the long season of blue water. Trappers at the west end of the lake are busy, and the resort owners are preparing for a campaign of painting and other forms of clean-up.

LITTLE FOR SALE.

There was a time when Peterborough used to have a very fair market on Wednesdays. Today all that was to be seen for sale on the open market was a load of hay and a truckload of wood.

TRAPPING HAMPERED.

Stories from around the district in the areas where trapping usually flourishes at this season indicate that the trappers are having a difficult time owing to the fact that the rivers and lakes are still icebound. At Rice Lake the ice is so solid that motor cars are still being driven over it.

THREE NOTED SPEAKERS.

Under the auspices of the W.E.A. three noted speakers are being brought to Peterborough on Sunday evening, April 4. The meeting is to be held in the Collegiate Auditorium and the speakers are to be J. S. CRASHED A PAY ROLL.

One of Peterborough's factories recently took on a young go-getter who was determined to grab himself a job in the city. As the story goes, he was employed on a farm, and on setting forth to crash some manufacturer's gate, he was told that if he failed his job on the land would be held open for him. At a local employment office he barged into the front of the line, and put up such a glowing application that he was hired with the executive's words: "If you're as good a worker as you are in telling us about it, you can consider yourself hired."

The picture was taken just prior to the banquet, which preceded a splendid program of entertainment and a presentation to Mr. Smith.

BONUS CHEQUES GIVEN EMPLOYEES OF QUAKER OATS

10.65 Per Cent. 1933 Earnings Being Returned To Employees

FIRST PAYMENT MADE

The Quaker Oats Company joined the good-time bonus parade of Peterborough industries by handing their 700 employees substantial bonus checks Tuesday. Each check represented the first of two installments which will total for each employee 10.65 per cent of his earnings during 1936.

Salaried workers were included with time workers in the scheme. The bonus is regarded as "partnership earnings" by the company. The local concern to tender a general Quaker Oats Company is the fourth bonus in recent months.

A bulletin distributed to each employee under the date of March 30, signed by John Stuart of Chicago, read in part as follows:

"When our Accounting Department put together all the facts and figures for 1936 we found the earnings for the year better than we thought they would be when I talked to or wrote to you. This means that the rate of the wage bonus from the 1936 earnings is bigger than we expected. It is 10.65 per cent. You will remember that I told you we were sure the rate would be 9 per cent and hoped it might be a little more. We know the increase will please you, so we are pleased."

Good Year For Company.

"1936 was a good earning year for our Company and because it was a good year I want to repeat what I said to you. Our Company's earnings will vary from year to year. Different things affect our earnings that we cannot control. When general business is good, competition is usually less difficult and profits are better. Many competitive problems of this kind that most of us do not think of affect our possible earnings. I make this statement to you again because I want you to thoroughly understand the plan and realize that the rate of wage bonus which fixes the amount you receive will go up and down from year to year with the earnings of the Company. This we cannot avoid. The same variation would be true if each one of us were operating a little business of his own.

"The check which is enclosed represents one-half of your first year's partnership earnings in your company. It carries to you and yours the best wishes of all your associates in the Quaker family and the hope of your Directors and Officers that nothing will happen through legislation or otherwise that will prevent the continuance of this partnership interest."

PEDESTRIAN KILLED

Known Hit-and-Run Driver Responsible for Death of Gravenhurst Man

BRAVENHURST, Ont., March 31 (CP)—Edward "Sandy" McDonald was killed a few yards from his home Monday night by an unknown motorist, presumably driving uptown motorist, presumably driving uptown and the moment he set foot on the highway collided with a truck or car and was thrown violently to the side of the road. He lay for nearly half an hour before discovered unconscious by young men. Before he died at his home, McDonald regained semi-consciousness for a few minutes, but was unable to give any information regarding the accident.

Men Of Murray Street Church Addressed By Rev. W. Hodgson

Brotherhood Movement Is Described By Toronto Clergyman

WORK IS COMMENDED

Rev. W. E. Hodgson of Temple Baptist Church, Toronto, was the speaker at the men's banquet in Murray Street Baptist Church on Tuesday evening. He spoke in connection with the Brotherhood movement, which is becoming a larger factor in many of the churches in the province. In his church at Toronto, where he has served for 30 years, he recalled that at the time of the war there were 80 men in the Brotherhood and 57 of them had enlisted for service. Of these 23 were killed in action, and a number of others were unfit for service when they returned, so it had taken some time to recover.

"The glory of ordinary things is what I want to discuss for a time," said Mr. Hodgson. "I stood on the street in Toronto with a friend and we watched hundreds of cars as they came and went, but when one large and gorgeous car pulled up we noticed that particularly. We look at the large and towering buildings and overlook all the pleasant and comfortable places which are smaller. There are many things of the common kind which God has made beautiful, and He has put a lot of honor and glory in the ordinary things.

"We will take Andrew as an example of an ordinary man, and he is mentioned only three times. When he found the Master the first thing he did was to go and get his brother Simon Peter. That is, he went home to do something about it, and that is the place for us to start. If we are not right at home then there is something wrong with us. That is the first place for our religion to become operative; it stands ahead of our activity in the church or any other place. So this ordinary Andrew was right at the start because he went home to bring his brother to Christ. The second place is where the multitude followed the Master and He desired to feed the people. Then it was Andrew again who had made the acquaintance of the lad who had the few loaves and fishes. He was probably the pioneer in boys' work, for he had found that boy. The third mention of Andrew is when Greeks came seeking Jesus. That was an important moment for the Greeks were from a land outside of where the Master had been working. Philip told Andrew of the visitors and again with assurance Andrew found the Master.

"Andrew's life was not spectacular, but it was a life of service. He was a man who was mentioned only three times went at once and took the visitors to the Master. They were strangers and Andrew was the man to look after them, and any pastor would like to have an Andrew in his congregation to do that sort of work."

Mr. Hodgson commended the work of the Brotherhood, and explained the way in which it had been organized and used in his church. Mr. I. F. Kipp, editor of the Canadian Baptist, who accompanied Mr. Hodgson, also spoke briefly. The speakers were introduced by Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe and a vote of thanks was moved by A. R. Kennedy.

J. C. Ellis was chairman for the evening. W. C. Shiner offered congratulations to the church hockey teams for their work during the season and on the excellent showing they had made. Miss Trudie Pearsons delighted with a vocal number and kindly responded with an encore. The men's quartette was heard to advantage in several selections and the orchestra added to the attractiveness of the evening.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Thursday, April 1

SPLENDID PROSPECTS for gain, advancement and the preferment of those in power and standing are presaged from the very beneficial configuration of the luminaries. This applies especially to those in employment, who are urged to seek honors, promotion or increase.

Those whose birthday it is are assured of a year of promotion, increase, favors or dignities, either from employers or those in high places. These should be approached with confidence in connection with major ambitions, but impulsive, rash or hasty judgments might complicate or defeat the issues.

A child born on this day may be talented, quick-witted and probably impetuous, but ambitious and popular in high places. It may be subtle and shrewd but should excel in employment where it is given recognition and authority.

EUCHRE AND DANCE HELD AT LAKEFIELD

Annual Affair Under Auspices Of Fire Department Scores Success

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LAKEFIELD, March 31. — The euchre drive and dance sponsored yearly by the Lakefield Fire Brigade was held according to custom on Easter Monday evening, in the Memorial Hall. The party was one of the most successful which has been held by the firemen, who are noted for the spirit of good fellowship which pervades social gatherings sponsored by them. The early part of the evening was devoted to cards, thirty-eight tables of euchre being played. The prizes were won as follows:

Ladies' first prize, Mrs. David Darling; ladies' consolation, Mrs. Clare Chittick; gentleman's first prize, Ray Pearson; gentleman's consolation, D. H. Webster.

After the serving of dainty refreshments, Rex Wilson's Orchestra provided music for dancing until the early hours of the morning.

A good crowd of people from Lakefield and vicinity turned out to support the firemen. Chief A. H. Clark told The Examiner that he was pleased to see so many middle-aged persons out, and said if appearances went anything they were enjoying themselves as well as contributing towards making the evening a most enjoyable one. Messrs. T. Simpson, L. Saltaling, W. Hamblin, and J. Allen were on the committee in charge of arrangements.

TWO WOMEN RESCUED.

BRANTFORD, Ont., March 30 (C.P.). — Rescue from a smoke-filled house in Onondaga by members of the local Fire Department undoubtedly saved the lives of Miss Muriel Middlemiss, Kapuskasing, and Mrs. E. A. Middlemiss, Brantford.

Fire broke out in the basement of the house owned by Mrs. Middlemiss. The blaze was caused by an extension electric cord running against the wood partition separating the furnace room from the rest of the cellar.

worthwhile as it will stabilize earnings."

Mr. Vernor revealed also that a beginning is now being made on a three-year program of renovation of the factory's production equipment. During the three years many units of machinery now considered obsolete will be replaced by new equipment at a total cost in the neighborhood of $150,000. About $50,000 will be spent this year.

BELL EMPLOYEES HONOR E. D. SMITH IS LEAVING CITY

Welcome Is Extended Donald Cameron Who Assumes New Position

PRESENTATION MADE

At a gathering of over fifty Bell Telephone employees of the district plant staff and the commercial and traffic departments, which includes Peterborough, Lindsay, Cobourg, Campbellford, Port Hope and Hastings, Edward D. Smith, district plant superintendent, was on Tuesday evening tendered a banquet and presentation to mark his pending transfer to Toronto suburban district.

A rousing reception was also accorded to his successor, Donald Cameron, plant superintendent of those in the Toronto Suburban District who is to assume his duties here on Thursday of this week.

Mr. Seymour Presides

Reginald P. Seymour, chairman of the Employees Representatives presided at the function held at Empress Hotel, and following a splendid program of entertainment presented under the direction of Dick Lush as master of ceremonies, extended a welcome to all present and expressed gratification at the large turnout in honor of Mr. Smith and his successor.

Speaking on behalf of the commercial department, H. H. P. Johnston, district manager declared that during his two years of service in Peterborough district Mr. Smith had always upheld the highest traditions of the company. While he was sorry to see him leave, he voiced the hope that Mr. Smith would go forward with continued success in his new appointment. To Mr. Cameron he extended greetings and assured him of the closest cooperation of his department in the position he is about to fill here.

F. B. Boswell, district traffic manager, who came to Peterborough at the same time as Mr. Smith almost two years ago, referred to the spirit of cooperation and harmony prevailing among each of the various departments in the district, and endorsed the sentiments so ably expressed by Mr. Johnston. He hoped that both Mr. Smith and Mr. Cameron would find complete satisfaction in their respective appointments.

Makes Presentation

An address accompanying the presentation of a pen and pencil desk set that was made to Mr. Smith as a token of the esteem and affection in which he is held by his colleagues, was read by T. A. McDonald.

The address expressed the good wishes of the entire gathering for Mr. Smith's future success and congratulated him on his new appointment while regretting his removal from the district.

In response Mr. Smith commented on his brief period of service in Peterborough district as having been most pleasant, and he acknowledged the splendid cooperation he had received from the employees of the commercial, traffic and construction departments. "All of you cooperated with me to the fullest extent," he said, "and I know I am going to miss the fellowship I have enjoyed with the district staffs."

He briefly introduced Mr. Cameron as his successor, and speaking from his experience of a lengthy friendship declared, "You will find him as I have always found him, a good sport and a good fellow to work with."

Mr. Cameron Replies

Mr. Cameron who before becoming plant superintendent of the Toronto suburban district, was stated to have been on the Western Ontario division of the company, thanked the committee in charge of the gathering for the opportunity of having been present to do honor to his old friend, Mr. Smith. He further acknowledged the warm welcome that had been accorded to himself, which he remarked had given him the opportunity to meet the "boys" collectively.

Among those present who was called on from the chair was T. J. Tuley of Lindsay, former manager of the Bell Telephone Company in that town and now retired.

The entertainment provided by a dozen amateur artists, all entertainers in their own particular field, was by no means the least enjoyable feature of the splendid program. The majority of the performers were children, whose ages ranged from seven to twelve years. They were as follows: Marion Downer, 10, pianist; Sylvia Duignan and Irwin Parnell, both 12 years, step dancers and singers; Joan Reid, 11, sketch, "Dear Old Town"; Shirley Garner, 7, and Kenneth Simmons, 8, step dancers and singers; Jean Miller, 11, of Lakefield, step dances and songs; Ross Grubb, 7, concertina selections; Vinette Brothers, violin and guitar instrumental numbers; Miss Queenie Hope, mezzo-soprano; Bob McKinlay, impersonator of animals and birds, etc. Jack Marshall was the accompanist, while Mr. Lush as master of ceremonies introduced Thelma Buller and Miss Isobel Duffie as tap dancing instructresses who had trained several of the children.

SEVEN TRENTON MEN QUIT JOBS

Town Refuses Relief But Holds Places Open—Had Kicked On Food

TRENTON, Ont., March 31 (C.P.)—Mayor H. A. Cory said to-day seven Trenton men who quit highway jobs and returned home "were off relief, but could return to their positions" if they wanted.

Trenton Town Council refused the men and their families return to the relief rolls. A spokesman for the workers said the men were fed improperly and sleeping arrangements were unfit.

Several letters were shown Council by Trenton Relief Investigator M. Teotesu, allegedly from men in the camp, claiming they were quite satisfied with arrangements. Two Government inspections gave the camp a clean bill.

Potteries which had about $500,000 worth of King Edward souvenirs when he abdicated have disposed of hundreds of them to help swell the coffers of the Women's Voluntary Service in Britain.

Four Young Ladies Receive Habit At Mount St. Joseph

Rt. Rev. Monsignor McColl Of Lindsay Officiates At Reception

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY

The chapel at Mount St. Joseph was the scene of a beautiful and most impressive ceremony this Wednesday morning. Numerous relatives and friends, at an early hour assembled to witness the reception of the religious habit in which four young ladies participated. At nine o'clock, the postulants in bridal attire, each with an attendant in white gilt, advanced reverently towards the altar which had been artistically decorated for the occasion with Easter lilies, roses, and carnations.

In the absence of His Excellency, Most Reverend Denis O'Connor, D.D., Right Reverend Monsignor McColl, V.G., pastor of Lindsay, celebrated the Mass, and officiated at the ceremony of reception. He was assisted by Rev. V. Corkery, chancellor, and Rev. V. J. Masterson, D.D. There were also present in the sanctuary Rev. V. G. McFadden, P.P., Downeyville, Rev. J. J. McCarthy, P.P., Norwood, Rev. J. J. Garvey, P.P. Lakefield, Rev. C. Mooney, Rev. E. Grant, Rev. C. Begley, Rev. J. Walsh, of Peterborough.

At the conclusion of the Mass, the Rev. J. Moore, S.J., Toronto, who had conducted the Eight Day Retreat for the Postulants and other members of the Community, addressed the candidates and their friends in a most inspiring sermon. He stressed the importance of supernatural things, and of serving God by developing the talents He has given us.

The following young ladies received the Habit: Miss Norene Derouin, Bigger, Sask., who will be known in religion as Sister M. St. Norbert; Miss Nellie Martin, Clandonald, Alberta, Sr. M. Aidan; Miss Marie Rumieka, Viking, Alberta, Sr. Stephanie; Miss Madeline Kennedy, North Bay, Ont., Sr. M. St. Hugh.

The little girls in attendance were: Margaret Amyot, Margaret and Dorothy Doran, Bertille and Rita Fanning, Teresa Houlihan, Isabelle Runs, Rosanne Monahan.

The Rambling REPORTERS

MOTORING MANNERS

He was a smart youth who was taking an assorted group of people home after an Easter Sunday morning service at church. Shooting along at a good speed, he said: "Watch this woman jump!" She was an elderly lady. Making an unexpected left turn in front of her as she entered the road-crossing, he tooted his horn loudly. He was right. She jumped. He smiled broadly.—C.L.M.

CROWS GUN-SHY.

Crows in this district are exceedingly gun-shy, Frank Millard who has been amusing himself on afternoon crow-shooting expeditions during the past couple of weeks, reports.

"The strange part of it is you can drive up within a few yards of a flock of crows if you are in a car or on a bicycle," he states. "If you have no gun or stick in your hand, you can get pretty close to them on foot. But try and get into range if you have a gun. They're up and away before you get nearer than 100 yards. They sure know a gun when they see one."

Despite the wariness of the crows, the youthful huntsman has been bagging fair numbers of them, much to the pleasure of the farmers in the North Monaghan district.—C.P.R.

KEEPS THROAT WARM.

With a heavy growth of beard that made him appear to be at least forty years older than he claimed to be, a transient who said he was Jack Brown, 42, of Sudbury, hopped off a freight train here on Tuesday afternoon for a brief stay. A patrolby arresting figure of a man in his tattered coat and shabby cap, Brown, who described himself as a victim of the depression, presented the appearance of an old man as he shuffled across the Market Square with a milk bottle full of steaming hot tea, with which he sought to revive his drooping spirits after an arduous ride on the rods. In his vain wanderings up and down the province Brown said he generally makes use of the trains. He told a reporter he wears a beard to keep his throat warm and to protect him from the formidable weather conditions he often encounters in the winter months as he roams around in box car conveyances.

2 FALSE ALARMS WITHIN ONE HOUR

No Trace Of Miscreants Could Be Found At Either Place

Twice within little more than an hour on Tuesday night, the City Fire Department turned out at full strength to answer to false alarms from box telegraphs located at widely separated points of the city.

The first phoney alarm at 10.51 p.m. was from Box 21 at Brock and George Street, while the second rang in at 12.34 a.m. from Bethune and Perry Streets. No trace of the miscreants responsible for the two futile runs which the Brigade made, was found.

Chief George Gimblett calls to the attention of the general public that there is a reward of $50 offered by the City Council for anyone giving information that will lead to the arrest and conviction of persons tampering with fire alarm boxes or otherwise ringing false alarms of any nature.

He warns also that the person convicted of such an offence is liable to a fine not exceeding $50, or imprisonment.

At 8.49 a.m. on Wednesday the Brigade responded to a call from St. Peter's School, where sparks from a chimney ignited a section of the roof causing damage estimated at $15.00.

QUEBEC AND HULL TO DECIDE ISSUE MONTREAL ARENA

Winners Will Play Sudbury With Next Round In Calgary's Rarified Atmosphere

BEAVERS WAITING

TORONTO, March 31.—(CP)—Dominion hockey fans have become more conscious of the amateurs this spring than at any time in recent years. Professional playoffs have occupied most of the stage in other seasons but this time the simonpures and their directors are stealing a few scenes.

Perhaps not realizing their success, leaders in the senior and junior races are making a pretty fair show of the battle down the home stretch. Arguments are flying thick and fast and many an addict of the pro game has begun to realize there's something else important going on.

It all started months ago when senior finals were awarded to Calgary. That opened controversy regarding the effect the rarefied air of the foothills would have on the Eastern seekers of the Allan Cup. The prairies are without a professional league and Montreal is the only Eastern city represented in the money playoffs now, so the choruses in the amateur festival have rained volume.

Too Many Other Snags

Members of Quebec Aces and Hull Volants—and team managers—have been too busy to worry about whether the Calgary atmosphere would be a handicap. Throughout their Eastern semi-finals other controversy has raged today it seemed certain they'd decide the round at Montreal tonight before a big crowd, the winner meeting Sudbury for the right to go West.

A Quebec goal that won the second game was disputed and the contest was thrown out and replayed. Aces coming through again to tie the series. The Quebec management threatened legal steps to prevent the final game being played at Montreal but the argument over the locale cooled off at an Ottawa meeting last night. Meanwhile wide interest had been created in tonight's conflict.

The West is disconcerted because its champions, North Battleford Beavers, will have to wait a while for the Eastern winners. There is no chance cup finals will start April 6 as scheduled. Beavers will stick around Calgary where they won the Western laurels. Many of the players have had nose-bleeds and are anxious to become fully acclimatized.

Some Highlights

If Sudbury Tigers and Hull Volants meet in Eastern finals, the Chioleite brothers will face one another. Jules plays for Tigers, Albert for Volants.

Second game of the Copper Cliff-Ottawa round will be played at Toronto Saturday. Originally scheduled for Friday, it was moved back when officials were apprised of the Canadian welterweight boxing title fight at Toronto that night, involving Gordon Wallace and Sammy Luftspring.

Before Quebec officials agreed to stage tonight's game at Montreal, Past President George Dudley of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association said the contest would go on at Montreal or Volants would be awarded the round.

North Battleford's mighty brigade will practise at Okotoks, 25 miles south of Calgary, the next few days. The Spring Horse Show starts in Calgary's arena Saturday.

Goalie Ken Davis, Defenceman Vic Myles and Forwards Davey Duchak and Cam Burke are former Moose Jaw junior hockey and football stars. Duchak has been assigned the task of coaching the forwards the rest of the way.

While both Saskatoon and Winnipeg have well-rounded attacks, two forwards will bear special attention tonight. They're Syd Abel of Wesleys and John McCreedt of Monarchs, Rideaus will have to keep close tab on Copper Cliff's Red Hamill at Ottawa.

SPORTS DAY by DAY

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

A MANAGER, coach or steamboat pilot—whatever you want to call the field general of the Petes in the C.O.B.L. this summer—will likely be appointed tonight at the annual meeting of the senior ball club. It will be held at 7.30 in the Chamber of Commerce and open to everyone interested, officers, players and fans. They'll elect officers and make plans for the coming season and it should be quite an interesting soap-box session. Just who will be handed the managerial reins and the buggy whip deponent knoweth not—though he hath his suspicions! Club officers are highly important beings but, like hillside blooms, they are born to blush unseen, so far as the general public is concerned. Theirs the work, the grief and maybe a bit of satisfaction in a labor of love, but the players and coach cop the spotlight when ye summer rolls around. 'Twas ever thus.

* * * * * * *

QUITE A procession of pilots of the Petes passes in memory since the C.O.B.L. and the O.B.A.A. entered into wedlock just after the war. Jake Solomon was the best of the oldtime skippers and Knotty Lee of the later coaches here. But well-known baseball men like Max Swanston, Art Primeau, Al Heckman and Shiner Johnston, also managed the local seniors and did it well—depending on the material they had to work with, since we have always maintained good players are more important than a good coach. The ideal situation of course is to have good players and a good coach. However, more again about the 1937 manager of the Prides of Peterborough.

* * * * * * *

IN THE April issue of Maclean's magazine, there is an interesting item concerning Shag Shaughnessy and Knotty Lee—two oldtime pro ball coaches. It was back around 1920 in the Michigan-Ontario loop when Shag was handling Hamilton and Knotty had Brantford. The Hams that year were a husky bunch of hard sluggers but as slow afoot as a lady in hoop skirts. On the other mitt, the Lee squad were fight hitters but a smart, fast team that took chances on the bases, beat out bunts, stretched hits, etc. They liked a fast track and, moving into Hamilton for a series, they were tickled at the dry weather.

* * * * * * *

ALAS, NEXT day they trotted out on a muddy, heavy diamond where the hard-hitting Hamiltons banged out baseHits and won handily while the light Brantford boys were bogged down hopelessly. Knotty swore a blue streak and accused Shag of having the fire department out the previous night with a hose to soak the dry field. The teams then went to Brantford and those big Hams couldn't hit the balls out of the infield. It developed later that the canny Knotty had a bunch of baseballs on ice the night before and tossed the frozen pellets out everytime Hamilton was at bat. An iced ball has as much life as a sponge, so the Lee lads were avenged. Knotty and Shag? Oh, a couple of nice chaps but they'd cut their best friend's throat in a ball game!

* * * * * * *

TWO LOCAL coaches we've known and liked to listen to were Knotty of baseball fame and Frank Buckland, hockey mentor. Both knew their stuff and would talk readily, not only to the newspapers—though they did knew the value of publicity for sports—but to anyone interested. Lee would rave about baseball by the hour and Buckland never got tired of talking hockey. The year 'round in both cases, they'd reminisce, tell of inside tricks, point out past mistakes and plan future campaigns. They lived and breathed those games — baseball for Knotty and the puck game for Frank. Such sincerity holds the admiration of players under them and acts as a spark-plug, too.

* * * * * * *

AND IN a rhyming mood we submit: Oh, the south winds do blow and ball players ditto, they move with the trade winds of spring tra la; they go with the show to where there is dough, and no one can do a darn thing tra la! It's the gypsy in us. Latest move out of the C.O.B.L. is young Lefty Bishop of Niagara to Welland—his fourth move in five years, and they say there is still mail trying to catch up with him. Bishop is a good player as a heaver, outfielder and .300 clouter. The Gobbards have lost a few of their '36 roster but have managed to pick up the odd player here and there. As who in the C.O.B.L. hasn't? Ah, yes, indeed.

* * * * * * *

WHILST THE Norvos were knocking over Niagara Falls, 10-4, yester gloaming, the Barrie Colts copped a 7-3 amirk right in Guelph and still look to us like the 1937 junior "B" champs. Sunny Morgenson says: "Barrie Colts have a certain swing to their play that is crowd-pleasing all the way. They have one of our better junior goaltenders in Grunt Goring, who plays his shots like a shortstop on a busy day, Jones and Dyie on the defence know all the answers offensively and defensively. And Bowen at centre ice is a pocket edition of Martin Barry of Detroit Red Wings; need more be said?" No, that will do—we saw the team play, too.

* * * * * * *

LADIES BASKETBALL League final playoffs commence this Friday night at eight o'clock in the Y.W. gym. Junior game between St. John's and C.G.E. is first, followed by the senior struggle betwixt C.G.E. and Westclox girls. Both series are best two out of three, admission is only a dime and a big crowd is expected on hand Friday eve. Last night in a sudden-death semi-final for the junior section, St. John's pulled out a 13-11 win over Westclox. It was a real sudden-death game and a thriller all the way with the Saints just gaining the nod in the dying minutes of play. They turned in a whale of a smart performance and the gallant young Clockmakers did not submit to elimination without a grand battle. Finals should be the tops.

* * * * * * *

UP AND down Sports' Rialto: Canadiens are making a great comeback on home ice and may beat the Red Wings on Thursday . . . Maroons go to N'Yawk to tackle Rangers tomorrow e'en, too; we still like Maroons for Lord Stanley's cup . . . Hershey B'ars took three out of four games over Sea Gulls to win the U.S. Amateur Loop puck title . . . Leafs and Boston are after Hank Goldup, ex-Kingston junior star now with Norvos . . . Quite a few local men expect to take in the O.B.A.A. convention in Oshawa this weekend . . . When do the men basketeers start their playoffs? . . . Oshawa is one of four surviving juvenile O.H.A. squads . . . Plans for a special hockey train from Belleville to the Falls for the intermediate "B" final fell through . . . In gals' basketball last p.m. the Clockmakers came wound up at the short-but-ran-down-end the end . . . Ernie Gibbard may withdraw his name as candidate for proxy of the O.B.A.A. . . . And do you realize that our Colts are the only squad to pronounce Barrie this year? . . . As we feel another spring poem (?) coming on, let's call it a day.

ST. JOHN'S WIN OVER WESTCLOX

Pull Out 13-11 Junior Girls' Cage Decision To Advance Into Finals

St. John's eliminated Westclox, 13-11, last evening in the Y.W. gym to move into the junior finals of the Ladies' Basketball League. The teams were tied for second place as the schedule finished and last night's game was a sudden-death affair to break the deadlock. The Saints will now meet C.G.E. in the two-out-of-three final series, starting at eight o'clock Friday night in the Y.W.C.A.

Both squads turned in a grand performance last evening battling hard from start to finish. The issue was decidedly in doubt till the last minute of play between the well-matched teams. Play was fast, exciting and marked with some close checking at times. Westclox lost a player via the four-foul route and several on each side drew three personals. The winners cashed in on but three of nine chances in free throws and Westclox could get but one in 11 times. J. Mellwain led St. John's with five points as B. Castle and M. Snowden got four each. For Westclox, A. Flynn led with six while J. Crowe and P. Davis had two each and D. Dawson one. The teams:

St. John's: E. Craig, J. Coleman, J. Mellwain, I. Gynane, B. Castle, M. Snowden, A. Bowler, E. Clark, G. Varley, I. Young, H. Maxwell, E. Maxwell.

Westclox: J. Crowe, A. Walsh, D. Dawson, P. Davis, N. Pamment, S. Florence, A. Flynn, L. McNaughton.

At The Baseball Training Camps

GULFPORT, Miss., March 31 (AP)—Manager Bill Terry still figures Tommy Thevenow will provide considerable reserve defensive strength for New York Giants' infield in spite of his poor showing in exhibition baseball games. "We haven't been playing on smooth infields and that has accounted for some of the misplays," Bill points out.

TAMPA, Fla.—Although Manager Burleigh Grimes figures Catcher "Blimp" Phelps would be better off if he reduced his weight below the current 205 pounds, he isn't worried about the Brooklyn receiving department. "It's as good as the last Brooklyn pennant winners had back in 1920," Grimes maintains.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — Joe DiMaggio, who came to New York Yankees last year with a dead pan and no desire to be friendly, is a different ball player this year. Success as a major leaguer and the assurance that comes with it have ripened the pride of Little Italy into one of the camp's most sociable players.

One of the outstanding stars of the second Sudbury Tigers-Toronto Dominions game in their Allan Cup play-downs, in which the Dominions evened the series, was Roy Conacher, younger brother of Charlie Conacher of Toronto Maple Leafs. He scored three of his team's four goals when they set back the Tigers by a scored 4-2. Roy ABOVE, plays left wing for

Strong Copper Cliff Reds Heady Contenders For Cup

Junior Miners' Hockey Talent Comes From Many Parts Of Ontario

LINEUP OF STARS

By Central Press Canadian

SUDBURY, Ont., March 31.—One of the strongest junior amateur hockey teams ever to come out of Northern Ontario is the Copper Cliff Redmen. From their showing in defeating the highly rated St. Mike's college team of Toronto and the bad beating they handed the Montreal Victorias in junior playoffs, they seem to have better than an even chance to take the Memorial Cup to the mining town.

They did not meet much strong opposition in their league games in the Nickel Belt Hockey league and so nobody could determine how strong they really were. Since entering the Memorial Cup playdowns they have shown what they can actually do when up against strong opposition.

Their first string line of Roy Heximer, Pat McReavy and "Red" Hamill are about the best junior line to play in these parts for many years. Heximer who hails from Niagara Falls Ont. is a fast, clever and tricky right-winger and always dangerous when close in. The great playmaker of the line, McReavy, is also fast and tricky and was well up with the leading scorers of the Nickel Belt league. He acquired his hockey in Owen Sound and at St. Michael's College in Toronto. Hamill, the fiery-haired left-winger of this sensational line is fast and shifty and just plain dynamite around the opposition's goal. He came to Copper Cliff by way of South Porcupine.

Strong Defence

Backing up this superb front line is an air-tight defence of Jack Shewchuck and Jim Perry. This couple refuse to be tricked by oncoming forwards and so the result is very few attacks on Goalie Albright. Shewchuck hails from Brantford, Ontario, and packs plenty of punch behind his stiff, jolting body-checks. He was also well up with the scorers of the N.O.H.A. junior hockey race. Although only 18 years of age he weighs 190 pounds of hard muscle. His defence partner, Jim Perry, also packs a severe wallop when an opposing player hits the defence. Perry, who comes from Toronto, really goes to town when the going is hard. He is 19 years of age and weighs 190 pounds.

The Redmen's goalie, Mervyn Albright, is only 17 years old but can stack up with the rest of them.

JOHNNY O'FLAHERTY

One of the outstanding right-wingers for the Dominion Brewers of the Toronto Mercantile league is Johnny O'Flaherty. Dominions have entered the Allan Cup playdowns and Johnny is considered one of the best on the team. He led the league in scoring this season and is being watched closely by National Hockey league scouts, especially by Toronto Maple Leafs.

He has shown remarkable improvement this year but with a team of stars in front of him he doesn't have to worry much about blocking flying pucks—very few reach his citadel.

The team is composed of outstanding hockey talent from many points of Ontario and is coached by one of the most colorful and talkative junior coaches in Canada, Max Silverman.

TOILERS TO MARK TERRIBLE CRASH

Only One Survivor Of Famous Winnipeg Team Still Active

WINNIPEG, March 31 (CP).—The old guard will drink a toast tonight to Mike Shea and Joe Dedds, who died on a cold morning four years ago down in Kansas, where an airplane crash didn't kill the spirit of Winnipeg Toilers, one of Canada's great basketball teams.

Mike and Joe died when the plane came down in a ploughed field near Neodesha, Kas. The machine was carrying the Toilers, Canadian champions, home from an international series in Tulsa, Okla. The others scrapped home later, one by one as they were released from a hospital.

Tonight they will sit somewhat grimly around a dinner table and talk of Mike and Joe, first-string forwards, the team's best scorers in those days. Sunday they will attend a memorial service at First Presbyterian Church.

Toilers were broken in the crash, but those who lived love the feel of a basketball as much as ever. They're still at it, those Toilers, though the old gang will never win the Canadian championship again. Joe Dedds' brother Bruce is the only crash survivor still playing with the Toiler 'A' team.

But Al Silverthorne, Ian Woolley and Lauder Phillips tap the ball around for the 'B' team. Four years ago this morning there was little hope Silverthorne or Woolley would recover. Andy Brown coaches the 'B' team now and Hugh Penwarden is a member of the club.

The old guard will be together again tonight at the annual table with George Wilson, manager of the 1933 team, and Allan C. Samson, club president, also crash survivors. Wilson and Samson still hold their positions—the Toiler spirit lives.

Toilers remember, too, that this is the sixth anniversary of another plane crash, and they may drink a second toast—to Knute Rockne, famous Notre Dame football coach. Rockne and seven others were killed when their machine came down near Bazaar, Kas.

CANADIENS TAKE FOURTH TANGLE SQUARE SERIES

Habitants' Second 3-1 Win In Row Brings Switch In Betting Odds

CUDE IS BRILLIANT

MONTREAL, March 31 (CP) — The underdog of yesterday became the favorite of today as the surprising Montreal Canadiens had an edge in the betting for the first time in their combined National Hockey League championship-Stanley Cup semi-final playoff against Detroit Red Wings.

Opportunists offensively, great defensively, Canadiens scored their second straight 3-1 victory over Wings last night to even the series at two games each and pave the way for the possible making of hockey history Thursday night.

Then, if the Flying Frenchmen can again cheer they will be the first team to win the National League championship after dropping the first two games. They lost twice at Detroit, 4-0 and 3-1.

Norm Smith, the Vezina Trophy goaltender who suffered an arm injury Saturday night, definitely was out of the fifth game. That, and the amazing fighting spirit of the Canadiens, was one of the main reasons for the switch in betting odds.

The world-champion Wings missed Pudgy Norm last night. Not because his substitute, Earl Robertson of the minor-league Pittsburgh Hornets, played badly, but because Canadiens Wilf Cude was brilliant. And Smith was needed to balance the edge Cude gave the Frenchmen.

2 Goals In 13 Minutes

Canadiens shot two goals past Robertson in the first 13 minutes, by Tex Blake and Paul Haynes, and got a third from Joffre Desilets late in the second period after Syd Howe had cut the early margin in half with a solo effort.

They never were threatened seriously in the final 20 minutes. The forwards checked ceaselessly. The defencemen, especially the great Babe Siebert and Walter Buswell, were rocklike, and Cude was in great form.

Cude, perhaps, saved the game in the second period. Once Johnny Sorrell smashed at him from close up, another time Pete Kelly had him cold from 10-foot range. But both times the tousle-haired Welshman managed either to stop or deflect the puck.

Canadiens' defence made but one mistake all night—on Howe's goal. Siebert had been given his first rest, and Buswell and Bill McKenzie were protecting Cude. Howe worked past Buswell, then McKenzie, before shooting a rising shot high into the net. Siebert played most of the game after that, and there were no more mistakes.

The big defenceman also assisted on two of the goals. He teamed with Lepine on Blake's and with Haynes on Desilets' goal. Johnny Gagnon provided the passout for Haynes' tally.

Detroit— Goal, Robertson; defense, Goodfellow and Bowman; centre, Barry; wings, Lewis and H. Kilrea; subs, Gallagher, McDonald, Howe, W. Kilrea, Pollock, Pailliver, Brimsek, Kelly and Mackie.

Lonely Boy Friend Serenades Sweetheart Inmate in Minneapolis Jail

MINNEAPOLIS, March 31—(CP)—"Ohhhh, Rosie! Ohhhh, Rosie!"

It was a plaintive male voice calling in the night near the Minneapolis Women's workhouse. Somebody, too, had been shining a flashlight on the workhouse windows.

Perturbed, police asked Rosie, an inmate, what it was all about.

"Oh, that's the boy-friend," explained Rosie. "I guess he's lonely."

LEGISLATOR ONCE WRESTLED WORLD CHAMPION GOTCH

A. L. Blue, Social Credit Member, Has Notable Athletic Record

WON 136 MATCHES

EDMONTON, March 31—(CP)—In the limelight with his recent attacks in the Legislature on the government of Premier Aberhart for failing to adopt promptly Social Credit legislation, A. L. Blue, Social Credit member for Ribstone, was once a wrestling champion, and in 1907 met Frank Gotch, then world's title-holder.

He was 26 when he met Gotch at Harrington, Washington. "I stayed with him 22 minutes," he said. "The people called for a re-match and he threw me in 12 seconds. I weighed 188 to Gotch's 204, but managed to take care of myself pretty well."

He has not participated in competitive sports for 20 years, but is still lean and hard and walks with the easy spring of the athlete. "Twenty-eight years on the farm is responsible for that," he said smilingly.

Born in Berg, Nebraska, Oct. 19, 1881, he passed through public and high schools and graduated from Platt Military Academy in 1899 with a good scholastic rating and as his school's all-round star athlete. He won the amateur wrestling championship of Nebraska.

After marrying he moved to Washington state to a homestead. "And that's where my wrestling came into the picture. The land on which we had settled was not very fertile; so, with a young and growing family, I looked for some means with which to augment my earnings.

"I found it in the squared circle. . . . I had always had a fondness for wrestling and learned the rudiments early. Turning professional, I engaged in 142 matches and lost but six."

In 1909 Mr. Blue moved to his Alberta farm between Rosyth and Hughenden, and has tilled the soil there ever since.

"And just in case you might forget to ask me," he said to a reporter, "I have 11 children and 25 grandchildren."

Adams Praises Kilrea's Work

Jubilant over two straight defeats of Montreal Canadiens, the Detroit Red Wings manager, Jack Adams, congratulates Hec. Kilrea on his fine showing. Due to an injury to Larry Aurie, of Detroit, Kilrea was moved up to fill his position on the first string line. Kilrea (RIGHT), scored two of his team's goals in the first game at Detroit.

BARRIE TROUNCES GUELPH LEAFS 7-3

Colts Pile Up Early Lead To Win Second Home Game In Series

MIDLAND, March 31 (Special) — Guelph Maple Leafs dropped a 7-3 decision to the Barrie Colts here last night in the second of the Colts' home games to be played on local ice in the Junior "B" O.H.A. round-robin series.

Barrie piled up an early lead on the stellar playing of Dyte and Jones on the Colts' defence, while Elson (Grunt) Goring was sensational in his protection of the winners' net. The Barrie junior first-baseman played baseball all night with the puck as he held off the excellent marksmen comprising the Leafs' forward lines.

For Guelph, Heslop in the net was too nervous to be highly effective, but the forward line of Russell, Mason and Enns was far superior to any combination offered by the winners. This trio was particularly unfortunate not to score at least four more tallies in the final period.

Rush, Collingwood player, who is wearing a Guelph uniform this season, was removed from the losers' line-up for the third period after serving nine minutes of the second period in the penalty box.

Barrie—Goal, Goring; defence, Dyte and Jones; centre, Bowen; wings, Scott and Long; subs, Brock, Leigh, Walker, Livingston; sub goal, Leuce.

Guelph—Goal, Heslop; defence, Rush and Enns; centre, Murdock; wings, Hewer and Feimbiener; subs, Mowat, Wickham, Russell, Mason.

Referee—Norman Lamport, Toronto.

First Period.

1—Barrie: Jones 30
2—Barrie: Long from Dyte 17.14
Penalties — Feimbeiner, Walker, Dyte.

RAMBLERS TAKE INDIANS BY 3 TO 1

Two Injuries Leaves Outfit In Bad Shape For Remainder Of Series

NEW YORK, March 31—(AP)—Although they're under-dogs, the second-place Springfield Indians and Pittsburgh Hornets evidently don't intend to give up to the dole-berried International-American Hocker League playoffs.

Pittsburgh, trailing 1-2 in the five-game Western Division series, gets a chance to square accounts to-night when it takes on the top-flight Syracuse Stars at Pittsburgh. And according to all indications Springfield will put up a lively battle on its home rink tomorrow to avenge last night's 3-1 licking by the Philadelphia Ramblers.

So far in the Western Division series each team has won its home games by decisive scores. The Hornets will have that advantage to-night, but they'll be handicapped otherwise. Their regular goalie, Earl Robertson, was recalled by Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League after the last play-off games and Jimmy Franks, young Detroit sub-goalie, will replace him. Whether or not the series will go to the five-game limit appears to depend upon Franks' ability to hold off the Stars, highest scoring club in the league.

Ramblers Show Class

Philadelphia, which nearly made a runaway race of the regular season Eastern campaign, demonstrated its strength to 5,000 home fans in the opening game of the second-round series last night. Scoring twice in the late minutes of the opening period of a rough brushing game, the Ramblers built up a 3-0 lead before Jim Wilson relieved the lone Springfield point just before the final horn. Bob Kirk and Cliff Barton scored the first two Philadelphia goals and Clint Smith added third, while five Indian forwards were gaining the net and Goalie Benny Grant had left his cage in an effort to stop the charging forward.

The same left the Ramblers in bad shape for the remaining games of the two-out-three series, however. Bert Connolly, veteran forward, suffered a broken rib in a first period tangle with Joe McGoldrick and Irving Frew, while Captain Danny Cox and Bryan Hextall received minor injuries.

NEW YORK, March 31 (A.P.) — Nobody can make heads or tails of the current heavyweight situation . . . "Is the Berlin fight with Max Schmeling still on?" . . . "I think so."

St. Louis writers may have been letting Paul Dean down lightly when they wrote: "His performance was anything but inspiring" . . . VOCATIONALS WIN OVER FALLS 10-4

Taylor Scores Five Goals For Toronto Outfit In Junior B Round Robin

TORONTO, March 31. — Like father, like son.

Perhaps a few of the old-timers thought of that last night as they watched young Johnny Taylor whip home five goals in his Northern Vocational School teams 10 to 4 victory over Niagara Falls. Some of them may have seen Taylor's parent, the famous Cyclone, do that same trick several times.

It was at the Gardens that this goal-scoring party of Taylor's took place, and, in an Ontario Hockey Association Junior B semi-final series. His front line mate, Hank Goldup, the lanky ex-Kingston boy, had five points to his credit, too, made up of one goal and four assists.

Mr. Taylor Goes to Town.

Outskated and outplayed by a big margin in the last second period which saw five goals go into the Falls net without reply, the Cataracts were hopelessly beaten, but came back in the third period to grab two markers and bring the score to an 8-4 level before Mr. Taylor broke loose again for two more counters. The count at the end of the first frame was 3-3.

With the teams deadlocked early in the second period Nicholson of Vocational took a pot shot at goal and the red light flashed. It appeared from the vantage point of the writer that the puck had struck flat on the outside of the goal post. Falls players protested vehemently, but Referee Paul upheld the goal-judge.

A Vocational Fault.

Such a goal it was that turned the tide in favor of the Toronto team and they never looked back. It was the first string Vocational line of Herbie Carnegie, shifty little colored centreman; Taylor and Goldup that carried the punch for the locals. One fault with this trio, their natural ability and all considered, is that they fail to pass the rubber around enough when one or the other is in a goal-scoring position. As a unit they comprise one of the best junior lines in the Province, but would be so much better if they'd forget their goal-scoring averages. Hogan and Cowan together with Nicholson played good hockey for the winners and Murray with two goals, Hardison, Farrell and Greenwood performed effectively for the losers. The Falls boys, most of them, big and rangy youngsters, lacked organization to their play, but on the whole were a credit to the city they represent.

Northern Vocational — Goal, Finlay; defence, Cowan and Hogan; centre, Carnegie; wings, Goldup and Taylor; alternates, Welsman, Mann, Williams, Nicholson, Spanner.

The Day That I Forget

By MARIE BLIZARD

CHAPTER 48

JANET PAYNTER regarded her husband silently for a few minutes. She thought: I've seen him register every expression on the screen but I've never seen such utter dejection in a figure in my life. He looks as though all the spirit had gone out of him.

Later she would be happy to realize that she was not going back to California but those moments were not for herself. She wanted to coddle his head on her lap and pat him as though he were a child. Instead she said quite matter-of-factly:

"You don't mean it, Joel. You may mean that you don't want to go back to the coast but you don't mean that you're scared. How could you be? Of what?"

He straightened but his shoulders drooped. "Of myself. I've been trying to get a plan for the new season for these last two months. There isn't a manager in New York who will have me."

"I don't believe it," she said staunchly.

"I know it's true. And I know why. I can't act, Janet. I'm a tremendous joke on myself. I know theater. I was born with a love for it. You used to call it 'technique' and it made me angry. I said it was 'art'. Well, it's both but I was on the wrong end of it and I'm coming out nowhere. About Hollywood, well, I never did like it. I liked the prolonged picnic and the easy money but I'm not a youngster any more and I don't want to spend my life cutting up before a camera, holding some gal's hand just to make money. Every inch of my spirit rebels against going back to it."

"Then, we won't. Let's forget that you even have the chance."

"The chance isn't very good, Janet. When you're an actor, you get used to looking in a mirror at your stock in trade. My stock isn't very high."

"Joel Paynter!"

He smiled at her, twisting his mouth in a wry grin.

"Is it, honey? You know what the camera does as well as I do. I've put on 15 pounds since we came east. I can lose that but I can't lose the lines in my face. The camera will pick them up. Do you suppose a casting director will fall over himself to offer me a romantic lead with my hair beginning to turn gray?"

"Stop talking as though you were Methuselah!"

"I don't want to be a young character actor, Janet. And I'll be damned if I'm going to dye my hair. I'll be an insurance salesman first. I'll save some remnant of my pride!"

Joel's pride. Joel's pride. It was beginning to hammer at her memory. Of course she should have known. She should have remembered that it was the strongest thing in him. How could she, who had made so many compromises for it, have forgotten? She had vowed that she would always protect it.

"There's the money angle," Joel was saying. "How do you suppose I feel about that? What have you got to show for all those years? I feel like a worm, Jan."

Janet said, "We're $125,000 in a trust fund and an income of $6,000 a year which is not my idea of being poverty stricken."

He laughed mirthlessly. "That'll pay the rent on this place."

Russell Bede had offered her $25,000 a year!

That was the moment to tell Joel but Scotch caution and more held the words back. Joel's pride again.

"The money is not important, dear," she said. "The important thing is to find something for you that you want to do. You'll be a success at anything that you want. I know it."

"You're a little sweetheart," he said.

"And we've the little theater at Grannis."

He laughed gaily then. "And another $1,500 a year? It would be a theater!" The laughter died out of his face. "Darling, isn't it that a man should find his greatest disillusionment in the only thing he knows. Well, we won't talk it over any more. I'll find something. Don't you worry your pretty head."

Tell Janet not to worry? Tell her not to breathe. See her standing by him, suffering because he suffered, planning, thinking, her mind going in circles to find the way out for him.

But never, never expect her now to tell him that her star had risen as his descended. Never expect her to tell Joel Paynter that she had been offered the thing that Russell Bede offered her. Save his pride. Be the wife he wants and be content. For Joel, with his pride, was Joel complete and all she ever wanted.

There must be another way out. Janet prayed and her prayers were answered.

Three was Mary Carleton's unanswered letter in her desk.

In the stillness of the night when Joel was sleeping, Janet went through her letters and re-read it.

"We won't let you down," Mary had written. "We owe you the chance you gave us. But if you can find a way to let us out of our contract, we would like to stay in Florida. The Orange Box (that's the name of our theater) has been doing beautifully. Leslie ran legitimate shows all through the winter and now we are showing movies. He joins me in all that I say, that we will find a manager and come north if you wish it. But I would like to stay here because we've bought a little home."

There was more, but in that one paragraph was the answer.

The next day she said to Joel, "Joel, please don't laugh at my suggestion. It's just an idea. I've been thinking and thinking about something. It's this: Isn't there big money in being a theatrical producer?"

"You bet there is, if you know anything about it."

"But you do! Oh, Joel, your theater technique, your unfailing good judgment! If you had a season to prove what you could do selecting plays, casting and directing, I'll bet you could make Broadway sit up and take notice. If you were to prove what you can do, there'd be lots of money offered to you to produce in New York!"

The light came back to Joel's eyes. "Janet! What an idea! But how could I prove that? Woman, you've had a brilliant idea."

"What about your own theater in Grannis? There's your opportunity. It will be opening the fourth of next month and Leslie Carelton is all too anxious to get out of it."

"That little theater!" Joel laughed but Janet smiled patiently. And thankfully.

The conductor knocked at the drawing room door. "South Station!" he called. The train had arrived at Boston. Here they were to change for the train to the Cape—and the little theater in Grannis.

Joel Paynter stabbed himself with a pin with which he was attempting to fasten gardenias to the collar of Janet's coat.

"There may not be any more of these for a while, Jan. I guess it'll be hard for you to do without things. I guess I've spoiled you for a lot of things."

"Spoiled me, how?" Janet hid her face in the perfumed depths of her corsage.

"Well, with big parties, servants and all that kind of thing." He tilted her face up until her eyes met his and he spoke earnestly. "Those aren't the real things, Jan. Also, there's something else."

Janet waited.

"You see, honey, it's really my fault. When we were married, I told you I didn't want a wife. I said I wanted you to be my sweetheart. Well, you've lived up to your part of the bargain, but from now on I'd like to change the script. I want a wife. I mean I want you to share my work on an equal basis. I want a little place for you to take care of and maybe a couple of youngsters."

Janet's eyes widened with the effort to keep the smallness out of them.

He patted her back awkwardly. I'm a funny woman, she thought, to be thrilled by a little back patting when I've had so much beautiful love making. Some day he'll call me Old Lady and I'll die of happiness.

Joel was still speaking. "When we look back over it, Jan, it's been a lot of fun and now that it's gone we'll have it to remember and after a while you'll see it my way and take my word for it. Being a wife won't be so bad."

"Joel," she said solemnly, "I'll try hard."

Bedtime Story

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S KITE

"Don't tear that, Nurse Jane!" Don't tear it!" cried Uncle Wiggily.

"Don't tear what?" asked the muskrat lady housekeeper who was opening some bundles the grocery dog had just brought in.

sheet of brown paper," went on Mr.

"Please don't tear that nice, large Longears. "Let me have it. I am going to make a kite."

"Make a kite?" asked Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy.

"Yes, if you please," answered Uncle Wiggily. "That is a fine, large, tough paper. I don't often get one as fine. It will make a wonderful kite."

"But why do you want to make a kite?" asked Nurse Jane.

"Because if I don't make it today it may be too late tomorrow," answered Mr. Longears. "You see this is the last day of March. We have strong winds in March, just right for kites. Tomorrow will be April 1, and you know what happens then."

She Winks

"Oh, yes, I know," laughed Nurse Jane, winking one eye at Uncle Wiggily and thinking he understood, "Tomorrow is——"

"A day for April showers," said Mr. Longears, begging Nurse Jane's pardon for interrupting her. "I can't very well fly a kite in the rain so I'll make one and fly it this last day of March."

"Ain right," spoke Miss Fuzzy, giving the rabbit gentleman the large sheet of grocery paper. "But are April showers the only thing to happen tomorrow, Mr. Longears?"

"Why, yes, of course. What else would happen?" he asked.

"Oh, my goodness!" chuckled Nurse Jane as she put away the groceries. "He doesn't remember tomorrow is April Fool. Ha! Ha!"

Whether Mr. Longears thought or didn't think about April Fool, I am not allowed to tell you. Just then he was thinking about making a kite. He was very clever at making kites and flying them. He was like Chinese gentlemen who, no matter how old they get, like to fly kites in their own land.

Uncle Wiggily took some sticks and tied them together in the shape of a cross. He would call it that. He bent the ends of the sticks and then he bent the short arm of the cross in the shape of a bow.

"I'm going to make a kite without a tail," said Uncle Wiggily. "I suppose I might call it my Guineapig Kite," he laughed as he thought of those cute little animals who have no tails.

Out He Goes

On the cross-shaped frame made of sticks and strings, Uncle Wiggily pasted the sheet of paper Nurse Jane had given him. He waited for it to dry and then he tied a long string on his kite and hopped out to fly it in the last March wind.

Uncle Wiggily hopped out the back door with his kite for he didn't want his wife to see him. She didn't like him to fly kites at his age. When he told her old Chinese gentlemen flew kites she said:

"It will be all right when you turn into a Chinese rabbit, but not before, Wiggy, my dear." So that's why Mr. Longears had to sneak out with the kite he had made.

Soon he was in the fields with it, all alone. The March wind was blowing hard. In a moment the kite soared into the air. Uncle Wiggily let the string run out. Soon there was no more left. The wind blew harder. The kite went higher. It was a large, strong kite and, before Mr. Longears knew what was happening he was lifted off his paws and carried up into the air by the kite that went blowing along faster and faster.

"Oh, my goodness!" exclaimed the funny uncle. "This IS an adventure!"

And if the salt shaker doesn't put pepper in the coffee instead of molasses, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's April Fool.

ONE FOLL CLOSING HOUR?

OTTAWA — The committee of commons on elections and franchise yesterday left over for final discussion the proposal that polls close at the same time in all parts of Canada.

The present law closes the election polls at 6 p.m. local time, which means Nova Scotia polls close four hours earlier than those of British Columbia and three hours before those of Alberta.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If bile flow is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and go". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c

Deserting Husband Takes Interest When He Hears Of Coming Baby

LONDON, March 31—(CP)—Summoned by his wife to a matrimonial court, a Brixton man declared: "I admit I deserted her and I don't want to go back to her." Turning to the wife, the magistrate inquired: "Do you think you will be able to carry on with your job as a waitress after your child is born?"

Before the wife could answer, her husband eargerly interjected: "Wait a moment. What's all this about a baby? This is the first I have heard of it."

"I only learned about it this week," said the wife. "Do you want a month to think this out—we don't want to break up the home if we can help it," suggested the magistrate. "Yes," was the husband's ready response.

SUBMITS CHINESE SUPPORT REFORMS

Woman Member Offers Minority Report On Sale Of Girls' Problem

LONDON, March 31.—(CP)—Commissioners investigating the plight of the mui tsai girls in Hong Kong and Malaya brought in a report showing a sharp division of opinion on what should be done to relieve the situation. Mui tsai are girls sold by their parents to strangers.

Miss R. Picton-Tubervill brought in a minority report in which she declared: "It is dangerous to say a thing is contrary to Chinese custom and when convenient leave it comfortably at that." She said there were currents of socially-progressive opinion among the Chinese which would ensure eager support of any efforts for the welfare of Chinese children.

She proposed an ordinance, on the lines of the protective codes for English children, to prevent the exploitation for private gain of all girl children in Hong Kong and Malaya under 12.

Mr. Wilfred Woods, former financial secretary to the government of Ceylon, and C. A. Willis, formerly of Sudan, political service, agreed new laws would probably defeat the object of ending the custom. Further legislation to abolish so deeply-rooted a custom would be resented by the Chinese as unwarranted interference, and prejudice the abolition of the practice, they said.

EASY MIND, WORK BRING LONG LIFE

Celebrates 100th Birthday, Says Large Family Brings Contentment

REGINA, March 31. — (CP) — "Hard work, a large family and a contented mind" is the magic formula for those anxious to live a century, said Mrs. Henry G. Zeller as she celebrated her 100th anniversary here.

Born near Waterloo, Ontario, in 1837, Mrs. Zeigler never went to school, but instead was put to work as a weaver when six years old. And it was only two years ago that she first hired a maid to help her with the house work.

She has survived all but five of her four sons and five daughters, and although she has lost the sight of one eye she is still able to see well with the other. After rearing her children she adopted three more.

Her only reported ailment is a slight touch of rheumatism in her hands and knees, but she is confident that this will be gone in the spring and allow her once more to attend to her well kept flower garden.

During the Great Jamboree at Delhi, India, Chief Scout Baden-Powell reviewed 5,000 Boy Scouts representing 250,000 of their comrades in all parts of the country.

HAD RHEUMATIC PAINS FOR 25 YEARS

His Arms Were Becoming Useless

It was about 25 years ago that rheumatism first marked down this sufferer; and finally the day came when he could hardly lift his arms. But he found relief—here in his letter he tells the whole story:—

"About 25 years ago I first experienced slight muscular rheumatism in my arms and shoulders. A few years later lumbago also attacked me. They gradually got worse until the pain got acute in both arms and legs. I could not lift a spurful of water with my arm extended straight out. About 12 months ago I bought a bottle of Kruschen Salts and by the time it was finished I was agreeably surprised at a slight improvement. I bought another one, and when that was finished all the pain had disappeared, and has never appeared since."—T. R.

The pains and stiffness of rheumatism are frequently caused by deposits of uric acid in the muscles and joints. The numerous salts in Kruschen assist in stimulating liver activity, and help them to eliminate this excess uric acid.

Threatened Strike Oshawa G.M. Plant Delayed 24 Hours

Opening Of Settlement Negotiations Is Set For Friday At Today's Meet

COMPANY WINS POINT

Refuses To Deal With C. I. O. Envoy—Thompson Will Only Advise Union Delegates

TORONTO, April 1.— (CP). — A threatened strike action by General Motors of Canada workers at Oshawa was delayed 24 hours another 24 hours to-day when arrangements were completed at a conference here for opening of settlement negotiations to-morrow morning.

The company, adamant in its refusal to bargain with a John L. Lewis lieutenant representing the committee for industrial organization, won its point. Hugh Thompson, C.I.O. organizer, agreed not to participate in to-morrow's negotiations.

Instead, Thompson will act as an adviser to the committee of the Automotive Workers' Union which will meet in the office of Hon. David A. Croll, Ontario Labor Minister, to-morrow with General Motors officials.

Seeking a 40-hour week, time-and-a-half overtime pay and concessions to the Union, more than 4,000 workers were ready to walk out at nine o'clock this morning when Mr. Croll and Louis Fine, Ontario Industrial Standards Officer, arranged for to-day's meeting.

The conference, lasting three and a half hours, was between the new government representatives, Thompson and Col. Vance Charpell, Director of Industrial and Public Relations for General Motors.

Hugh Thompson, of Detroit, representing the United Automobile Workers, a division of the Committee for Industrial Organization, is the highest contention between the union and the company, he and Manager Hirschfield agreed to settle all other matters.

Speaking after the conference, Thompson said: "I told the men last night the company had accepted the union in principle and that it objected only to me," Thompson said. "I suggested they go ahead without me but they insisted I represent them at the negotiations."

RESCUES CHILD FROM DROWNING

Fred Markwick Saves Unknown Youngster Who Had Broken Through Ice

Only quick action on the part of Fred Markwick, caretaker of the city dump at the foot of Simcoe street averted a tragedy this afternoon when an unknown small boy broke through the ice at the extreme end of the dump and would have drowned had not Mr. Markwick promptly plunged in and rescued the lad.

The hero of the episode told The Examiner that he had warned the boy and his companions away from the spot shortly before. He was fortunately close at hand when the youngster fell into the water and was able to get hold of him before he sank. Otherwise there would have been little chance as the river bed where the lad slipped in is encumbered with parts of old cars and other junk that would have made his rescue most difficult.

"This was the second child I have pulled out there in the last few weeks," said Mr. Markwick. "It is a dangerous spot for children and parents should be warned to keep their boys and girls away from it."

NORTH BAY MAN FATALLY BURNED

Fireman Breaking In, Find Aged Victim Lying On Floor

NORTH BAY, Ont., April 1—(CP) George H. Rigby, 79, alone in his son-in-law's house when fire started last night, died early today in hospital from burns. The aged man was found lying on the floor when firemen broke into the house.

Apparently starting in the living room where Rigby was sitting, the fire damaged the interior of the house, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Waddington, their three children and Mrs. Waddington's father.

When she returned from shopping Mrs. Waddington was burned about the face when she tried to enter the house. She telephoned an alarm to the fire department from a neighbor's home.

No Drastic Tax Boost For Britain

Threepence Increase In Income Levy Likely To Be Major Item

37 MILLION SURPLUS

LONDON, April 1 (CP Cable) — The British taxpayer is resigning himself to another threepence on the income tax when Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, submits his sixth budget to the House of Commons on April 20. But drastic increases in taxation are improbable.

On the whole the nation's balance sheet for the financial year which closed yesterday was greeted with something like a sigh of relief. Increased expenditure for armaments brought a budget deficit for the first time in four years. But this deficit of £5,597,000 was more than twice offset by £13,127,000 used for debt redemption. On balance, therefore, there is a surplus of £7,530,000 ($37,650,000) in ordinary revenue over ordinary expenditure.

Record For The Times

The Times editorially describes the £7,530,000 surplus as "a magnificent achievement in a year when revenue had to bear the full cost of the first full year of intensive rearmament and continued expansion of the social services without the aid of borrowing."

"But it must not be thought that because the immediate prospect is reassuring," the Times adds, "that later any indefinite prospect of absorbing one quarter of the national income in taxation should be regarded with complacency.

"This country may have far less financial need than others to strain every nerve in putting an end to the devastating competition in armaments. Its resources and its credit have been shown once again to be equal to all calls upon them in this regard without any abatement of simultaneous efforts to improve social conditions still further.

"Nevertheless, both morally and materially the British public would heave a sigh of relief if this madness could pass from the world, and through the national accounts reflect unequivocal determination to be strong in the cause of peace they also show the measure of relief which stable condition would bring."

USED TOY PISTOL

WINDSOR, Ont., April 1.—(CP)—Picked from a police lineup by the holdup victim, Edmund Herbert, 30, confessed to police today to armed robbery of the T. Eaton Company order office here Saturday. Hebert was identified as the gunman by Miss Annie Dickens, 24, Windsor, office clerk victim of the robbery.

Herbert and his 16-year-old wife, Daisy, were arrested early today as they played cards with friends. Both were asked to explain possession of a quantity of new clothing, considered a suspicious circumstance because parents of both husband and wife are relief recipients.

The couple told police the clothing was purchased from proceeds of gambling by Herbert but 15 minutes after being identified the youth detailed a confession to police.

Miss Dickens was about to close the office Saturday when the bandit walked in and said he had called to pick up some parcels. Other employees were in a back room, one of them working an adding machine which served to cover conversation.

Threatened, With Death

Miss Dickens was commanded to silence and threatened with death if she attempted to give an alarm. Armed with a revolver, the robber forced Miss Dickens to crouch on the floor while he removed $113 in cash and several cheques from a drawer, then fled.

Inspector Duncan Macnab said Hebert would be arraigned tomorrow on a charge of robbery while armed.

Coronation Day Holiday By Ottawa Proclamation

State Secretary Expects It Will Be Generally Observed Through Dominion

PRACTICE IN 1902 AND 1911

OTTAWA, April 1—(CP).—Coronation Day has been made a public holiday by proclamation, State Secretary Rinfret declared to-day in the House of Commons in answer to questions by T. L. Church (Cons., Toronto-Broadview).

"Since the proclamation makes May 12 a public holiday within the meaning of the Bills of Exchange Act and the Civil Service Act," Mr. Rinfret said, "it will be a bank and civil service holiday, and no doubt will be generally observed throughout Canada."

Religious services had been requested either on May 12 or the preceding Sunday to commemorate the occasion.

"The Government notified the Provincial governments of the intention to proclaim May 12 as a public holiday," said the minister, "and suggested that the Provincial government might advise the municipalities that the celebration in each community be organized as may be most appropriate to local conditions.

"This is in accordance with practice followed on the occasions of the coronations of King Edward VII. 1902, and King George V. 1911, and the Silver Jubilee of King George V. 1935.

"The defence forces have been requested to co-operate with local authorities in celebrations so far as may be practicable.

"Salutes will be fired on Coronation Day at the regular saluting stations and at all Provincial capitals. Arrangements will be made for appropriate decoration of public buildings," Mr. Rinfret added.

THE 13TH CAR

Last Coach on a 13-Car Train Jumps the Track.

TORONTO, April 1.—(CP).— It was the 13th car of a 13-car train left the tracks last night and Canadian National Railways officials admitted it was lucky that's how it happened.

The mishap occurred near Oakville when the Sarnia-to-Toronto train was derailed.

"The fact that it was the 13th car was lucky for us," a C.N.R. official said. "As it was the last car all we had to do was cut it off and go ahead. Equipment was sent to pick the car back on the tracks a couple of hours later."

COSTLY HOSPITAL

STRATFORD, Ont., April 1. — (CP).—Since the city built the Isolation Hospital in 1922 the institution has cost the taxpayers more than $150,000, Mayor F. E. Henry said to-day after inquiries he has made regarding the building, he is anxious to have turned over to the General Hospital as return overcrowding in the General Hospital.

"And there is not a patient in the Isolation Hospital to-day," the Mayor said. "For that matter, seldom are any patients in the Isolation Hospital."

Mountain Climbing Ruled Out For Duke

St. Wolfgang, Austria, April 1.

THE Duke of Windsor was warned today by veteran Alpinists to refrain from any attempt to climb 9,000-foot Dachstein Mountain at present because of the danger of avalanches.

The Duke saw one such snowslide yesterday a mile away while driving over the dangerous mountain roads near Hallstadt in the Austrian Lake region where he has established temporary residence.

Trio Receive 5-Year Terms

No Heroes In Jail Judge Admonishes Ringleader Of Burglar Gang

HAMILTON, Ont., April 1 (CP).— Five years in penitentiary each were the terms given today to three young men who figured in cases of breaking, entering and theft in the past two months. They were Joseph Long, 22, and Lorne Burns, 20, found guilty in the Cloke and Son safe robbery and other thefts, and Clark Hopkins, 24, who wore his grandmother's rubber boots to rob the plant of the National Sewer Pipe Co.

Mr. Justice Jeffrey was censorious in his warning to Long.

"You made up your mind to follow a career of crime, and have consistently done so down to the present," the Justice said. "It is so silly for a boy or a young man like you to imagine himself a hero. There was also your attitude around the jail. There are no heroes in our jails. Those who are sentenced don't break the law—that is a silly misnomer. They break themselves against the law. You have been a menace to society as a boy and now as a young man. You are still a young man, but the reformatory is no place for you. You have done no honest work."

Burns had pleaded guilty to the Cloke and Son safe robbery, the Bright Winery safe robbery and the McDonald electric safe job, and also admitted the Martin clothes break-up where a paper warehouse was robbed. Long was convicted of receiving in the Cloke theft.

ENGAGEMENT BROKEN

Niece Of Queen Elizabeth Breaks Engagement of 4 Years' Standing.

LONDON, April 1. (AP). — Rose Cecilia Bowes-Lyon, niece of Queen Elizabeth, and Kenneth Ian MacRae Kemp-Welch, son of the late Judge Edward Harrington, announced today they had broken their engagement of four years' standing. The announcement gave no reason for the decision not to wed.

8-Hour Shift Gaining Favor Among Nurses

Peterborough One Of 5 Centres In Favor Of Adopting Measure In Hospitals

5 CITIES NOW TRYING IT

LONDON, Ont., April 1 (C.P.) — To date there are only five cities, including London, where the private duty group service an eight-hour hospital basis, Peterborough, St. Marie, St. Thomas, Toronto and Simcoe are the others. This report was given to-day at the meeting of the private duty section of the Registered Nurses' Association of Toronto in session here.

The meeting was divided into three groups, the Nurse Education Section, the Private Duty Section, and the Public Health Section.

Miss Marion Lindsay of Montreal, B.S. of C. convenor of the Curriculum Committee, C.N.A., was the special speaker of the afternoon, who spoke on "A Study of the Proposed Curriculum fo Schools of Nursing in Canada."

The account of the Private Duty Section further revealed that five other centres, Peterborough, Hamilton General, Belleville, St. Catharines, and Kingston, have voted in favor of the measure and the dates of adoption is in the near future. Ottawa, Windsor, and Barrie will vote on it soon. Stratford is the only city where the vote has turned down the movement.

Making More Jobs.

That the eight-hour duty has greatly assisted in relieving unemployment and promoting the distribution of work is the belief of the nurses. The plan is becoming increasingly popular with the private duty group.

The committee appointed Miss Freda Fell of Toronto as convenor of an Education Committee to study

Vag In Stabbing Wielded Knife To Escape From "Tight Spot"

Says Fight Ensued On Accused Hostess Of Robbing Him

TRACED BY COAT

CHATHAM, Ont., April 1.—(CP) —Mike Dorchoral, 37, Czechoslovakian, arrested by city police yesterday on suspicion of being implicated in the stabbing of Norman Johnson, 24-year-old Chatham Indian during a fracas in an east end dwelling Easter Sunday has told police he wielded his knife to get out of a "tight spot." Chief of Police Findlay Low said today.

Dorchoral was formally charged with vagrancy before Magistrate Arnold yesterday and was remanded until Wednesday. It has not been decided what charge will be preferred against him as a result of his important statement to the authorities.

Meanwhile, the authorities have in custody Bertha Robinson, 22, and Lavina Palmer, 28, who live in one of the apartments where the fracas occurred. They are being held on vagrancy charges.

Four or five families live in the building, Chief Low said. In one of the apartments a party was held Saturday night, at which there was singing and dancing with Johnson playing his guitar.

The Wrong Tune.

Dorchoral, according to his statement to police, had been accompanying Johnson on the guitar when the latter struck up a tune which displeased him. He thereupon struck Johnson with his knife, he told police.

Provincial Survey Shows Costs, Lists Lighter Generally

Sault Leads Way With Roll Pared From 7,630 Last May To 1,400 Now

TORONTO, April 1 (C.P.) — A new fiscal year opened to-day for Treasury Departments of Ontario Governments with rising hopes that the menace of depression days—unemployment relief—would cause administrative financiers less annoyance than in many years. There were undeniable signs of improved times.

Most Ontario cities are two years or more away from the peak of the depression, figured on the twin bases of relief cost and the number on relief rolls, a Canadian Press survey shows. All down the line, the burden will be lighter in the new fiscal year.

Perhaps showing the way to every city in the run back to jobs-for-everyone days, Sault Ste. Marie has 1,400 persons receiving relief, compared with 7,630 last May. Cost has dropped to an estimated $140,000. It was as high as $339,532 in 1933 when the average number on relief was 6,573.

Later than several other cities, the Sault will cut able-bodied single men off relief May 1. The same step was taken to-day by London, St. Catharines and Peterborough. Others will fall into line without delay, Kitchener on April 11 and St. Thomas and Orillia on April 15.

Cash Drain Drops Sharply.

Sudbury's council has predicted better times by estimating relief cost of 1937 as $110,000. Last year it was $147,000 and in 1933, $392,852. Individuals on the rolls have dropped from a 1933 high of 4,940 to a February, 1937, total of 1,495.

Timmins expects to bring 1937 cost of relief below $100,000—it was $153,978, in 1934 when 1,600 relief cases were recorded. Last month there were 1,038.

The manner in which relief rolls are shortening in Windsor suggests to city officials that the council will be able to keep within its budget of $2,300,000, of which the municipality pays 25 per cent and the Ontario government the balance. Windsor's relief-roll peak was 1932 when about 32,000 names were down. The total now is 15,704.

London had 4,210 fewer recipients in February than when relief lists were at the peak in March, 1933, with 11,453. Low point last year was August when the list dropped to 6,618. Welfare Administrator Frank McKay predicted a low in August this year of 4,500.

Cost in London reached a high of $616,549 in 1933 when jobless work projects were charged against direct relief. Expenditure for direct relief this year is estimated at $354,896. The city will pay $122,896.

In St. Catharines those on relief have dropped from a high of 5,219 in November, 1933, to 3,324 this month. Cost reached its peak in 1933

Autonomous Rule Comes For Indians

Left Wing Congress Party Balks And Holds Anti-British Demonstration

NO SERIOUS TROUBLE

BOMBAY, April 1.—(CP)—Autonomous government came to the provinces of British India today.

The left-wing Congress Party, refusing to form ministries in the six provinces in which it holds legislative majorities, carried out anti-British demonstrations in Bombay and Calcutta and other large centers. There were no serious disorders.

With the Congress party adamant in its refusal to cooperate so long as the provincial governors are vested with special safeguarding powers, minority administrations were formed in Bombay, Madras, Bihar, Orissa and the Central province. In the united provinces, also dominated by the Congress party, a minority government was being formed.

In the remaining five of the 11 provinces of British India, Bengal and Assam, Punjab and the northwest frontier—moderate parties won majorities in the recent elections, and governments ready to cooperate with the British authorities are being set up.

FORCED 'STOPOVER'

Transient Stops As Free Lodger, Remanded for Week As Vagrant

CHATHAM, Ont., April 1.—(CP) — After spending the night in the cells at police headquarters where he booked as a tramp, Hanlan A. Wright, 58, of Harrow, found himself charged today as vagrant. He was remanded to jail for a week.

On leaving the police station today, it is alleged Wright went to the sanitary lunch which supplies meals to tramps on police tickets, and ordered breakfast. Wright, however, had no ticket, and when the proprietor asked payment, he merely said, "charge it to the police." He was detained until an officer arrived.

Present Medical Knowledge Able To Add 10 Years On Life

In 80 Years Men's Span Has Jumped From 38 To 61—Women's 40 To 60 Years

HEART WORST WEAKNESS

WASHINGTON, April 1—(AP).— The average length of human life could be stretched another 10 years, Dr. Thomas Parran said to-day, if advantage were taken of available medical knowledge.

Dr. Parran, surgeon general of the United States Public Health Service, said that in the last 30 years the average length of life of men has increased from 38 to 61 years and of women from 40 to 61 years.

"I feel confident another 10 years could be added to the life expectancy," he said, "entirely aside from the possibility of discovering an effective preventive for cancer or major heart diseases."

Diseases of the heart cause more deaths than any other affliction of mankind, he explained, the death rate being more than double that of cancer.

While no effective general treatment is available, he said, many cases are being successfully treated and the youth of life prolonged.

BEATTY HOLIDAYING

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va., April 1.—(AP).—Sir Edward Beatty of Montreal, president and board chairman of the Canadian Pacific Railway, arrived at this Virginia seashore resort to-day for a week's stay. He told interviewers "business conditions in Canada are slowly but surely improving."

Dies In West

Dr. J. J. Hampton of Bethany received word today of the death of his daughter, Mrs. George Preston, at Wabasca, Alta., formerly Ruth Hamilton. She was mentioned prominently in despatches last Spring as the heroine of the fire which destroyed the Anglican outpost hospital at Aklavik, N.W.T. After the burning of the hospital, Miss Hamilton returned to her home in Bethany and was married last August.

Queen Will Shoot All Wandering Dogs

Quebec, April 1—(CP)

THE Legislature talked of dogs today, and enacted a law giving municipalities the right to appoint an officer to shoot unmuzzled dogs running at large.

Laurent Barre, veteran farmer member for Rouville, sponsored the measure, which received third reading and was sent to the upper House. He declared dogs constituted a source of considerable damage to sheep herders and live-stock breeders.

LOSES FOUR TEETH IN CAR ACCIDENT

Nine-Year-Old Shirley Abernethy Hurt As Machine Strikes Culvert

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, April 1. — When a car driven by Russell Abernethy, Sebastopol street struck an abutment in the road east of Norham, 18 miles south of Campbellford, his little daughter Shirley aged 9 who was riding in the front seat with him was thrown against the dash board of the car and had four teeth knocked out by the force of the impact, besides receiving other minor bruises.

Abernethy was returning to town at the time the accident happened and apparently his attention was momentarily diverted as the car swerved into the side of the road striking the cement facing of a culvert bringing the car to a sudden stop that wrenched the child from the seat and bent the frame and steering equipment.

Vote Supply Of 3 Months For Alberta

Reports Aberhart About To Resign Denied After Caucus

LASTS ALL NIGHT

Plan For Board Of Five To Choose Social Credit Commission Is Shelved

By George Finlay
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

EDMONTON, April 1 (C.P.). — Reports current here last night that Premier Aberhart of Alberta might resign were denied early to-day as a prolonged caucus of Social Credit members ended. "The Premier has not resigned," said a Government supporter after the caucus.

The caucus, during most of which Mr. Aberhart and his Cabinet were in conference in the Premier's office, came after the Legislature in afternoon session adopted unanimously the interim budget providing the Government with $6,147,075 for public services for a three-months period, April 1 to June 30.

Royal Assent was given the measure by Lieutenant-Governor J. C. Bowen shortly before the House adjourned until to-day.

A motion on the order paper in the name of Provincial Treasurer Solon Low to provide for appointment of a board of five members whose duty it would be to select a Social Credit Commission was not considered yesterday.

The Government seeks adoption of its Social Credit legislation after which it plans to adjourn the Legislature for from six to 10 weeks to permit the administration to put its program in operation. No announcement was made following the long caucus.

NEW SCHOOL PLAN DRAWS CRITICISM

Greatest Propaganda For Private Enterprises In Our Day Says Prof. Sissons

TORONTO, April 1 — (C.P.). — Four days of studying Ontario's school problems will be brought to a close to-day by delegates to the Ontario Educational Association convention.

From kindergarten to college, questions relating to education were probed during the sessions which last night frowned on proposals for a new constitution.

W. J. Dunlop, chairman of the committee on Constitution, presented the suggestions for the change to keep the constitution in line with the association's rapid development.

When the report suggested abolition of the supervising and training department, the delegates balked. The committee favored splitting this department into several units in the elementary school section. Delegates voted to have the new executive reconsider the proposals and present them at next year's meeting.

Professor C. B. Sissons of Victoria College, Toronto, objected to the Ontario Government's changed secondary school curricula. It was the greatest piece of propaganda for private schools "in our day," he told the delegates. His main objection was removal of Latin from first year courses.

Dr. George P. Rogers explained, as chief inspector of secondary schools he believed the idea was to keep pupils from becoming involved in study of languages when they were not suited and did not wish to take such course. In their second year, if they wished, Latin was on the study lists.

TOUR RUMOR DENIED

Tour of Dominions Not Planned by King George and Queen Elizabeth.

LONDON, April 1 (C.P. Cable).— It was officially announced last night that a report the King and Queen had cancelled arrangements for a tour of some of the Dominions was without foundation. No tour had been planned, it was stated. Denial was also made that the Duke and Duchess of Kent would undertake such a journey.

The statement added: "Since the accession of King Edward VIII. the possibility of such a tour has not come up for consideration."

14 Pigs In Sedan Give Officer Jolt

Goderich, April 1

WHEN it comes to putting passenger automobiles to practical use, versatility of the farmers of this section knows no bounds.

In recent weeks James Sterling, horse buyer, transported a colt in his coach. In another case a pony was driven 149 miles snugly nestled in the rumble seat of a coupe; but it remained for Traffic Officer Callander to provide the biggest surprise yet. His olfactory senses led him to investigate whimpering unseen passengers in the rear of an ancient seven-passenger sedan. It contained fourteen small pigs, running loose on the hoof. He ordered the farmer to drive on without so much as taking his name or number.

Urge Reserve Of 300 Police R.C.M.P. Staff

Bill Presented To Give Government Control Over Manufacture, Trade In War Supplies

RELIEF ACT ADVANCES

OTTAWA, April 1 (CP)—Control by governor-in-council of all manufacture and traffic in war munitions and supplies in Canada and creation of a reserve force for the Royal Canadian Mounted Police were provided in two measures which featured yesterday's varied menu in the House of Commons.

Members labored through morning, afternoon and evening sittings and in addition to introduction of the two important government measures passed some $10,000,000 in public works estimates, spent several hours debating the relief bill without making any progress and had a brief debate on the trans-Canada airways legislation which was not advanced.

Chief Justice Sir Lyman Duff visited the Senate as administrator in the absence of the governor-general and gave assent to 35 measures which had passed both Houses.

Justice Minister Lapointe met with some opposition from C.C.F. members when he moved the resolution preceding legislation authorizing a reserve force for the R.C.M.P. A. A. Heaps, Winnipeg North, T. C. Douglas, Weyburn, and C. G. MacNeil, Vancouver North, urged that if the force needed reinforcements new constables be appointed in the usual way.

The measure proposes a reserve of 300 men who will be available for training for a maximum of three months a year, who may be called upon to act with the regular force in an emergency. They would also provide a source for recruits to the permanent force.

Control Of War Supplies

Revenue Minister Ilsley brought in an amendment to the customs act which would place with the government power to control by license and permit manufacture and traffic in every type of material or goods used in warfare.

Similar legislation was on the statutes previously but its power was doubtful and the amendment would place the government's power beyond question. Both measures received first reading and promise to be subjects of major debate at future sessions.

Criticism of the government came from all parts of the opposition when Labor Minister Rogers was piloting his 1937 relief measure in committee of the whole and no progress was made. Members advanced numerous suggestions for works and other forms of employment programs.

Dr. J. J. McCann (Lib. Renfrew South) suggested the government initiate a five-year plan, spending $1,000,000 a year toward reconstruction of rural schoolhouses throughout the Dominion at places where the need was greatest.

Canadian Painting Going To South Africa

In the first important purchase of Canadian art works by a public gallery since 1926, the National Gallery of South Africa, Capetown, has purchased five Canadian paintings. The pictures purchased formed part of the group assembled by the National Gallery of Canada and placed on exhibition at the Empire Exhibition held in Johannesburg, and later transferred to Capetown. The paintings are: 'Connecticut River", a water color by Mrs. Peter Haworth, Toronto; "Winter in Quebec," by A. Y. Jackson, Toronto; 'Little Haven, Nova Scotia," by Arthur Lismer, A.R.C.A., Toronto; "The Long Barn," by George D. Pepper, formerly of Ottawa, but now on the staff of the Ontario College of Arts, Toronto, and "Cranberry Lake," by Franklin Carmichael, A.R.C.A, Toronto. PRAISES SHOWER ON SEN. GRAHAM

Loved By The Women At Large Says Senator Iva Fallis In Commons

OTTAWA, April 1 (C.P.). — Congratulations from all shades of political opinion in both Houses of Parliament were showered yesterday on Senator George P. Graham, who celebrated his 78th birthday.

Two large baskets of roses were on his desk when he entered the Upper House. Senator Cairine Wilson (Lib. Ottawa) was applauded from both sides of the House as she rose to pay tribute to the "best-loved Canadian citizen."

From the Opposition side Senator Iva Fallis (Cons., Peterborough) joined in extending congratulations on behalf of Conservative women. "For," she said, "Senator Graham is loved by the women at large."

The veteran Brockville, Ont., politician and newspaperman, express-ed his thanks. He said he looked back with pleasure on his long life of public service and hoped to be spared for many years to come.

Senator Cairine Wilson gave a private dinner for him at night.

Robbers Get $150 At Gunpoint From Dorchester Storekeeper

Police Watch All Roads In District Following Raid By "Foreigners"

BRANTFORD CAR LICENSE

LONDON, Ont., April 1 (C.P.). — Two armed bandits who robbed W. W. Wallis, Dorchester Village storekeeper, of $150 were the object of police search in this district to-day. All highways and side roads were under police surveillance.

The hold-up occurred last night as Wallis prepared to close his shop at the nearby village. The men, described as foreigners, entered the shop while the proprietor was in the rear living quarters. When Wallis appeared the men ordered him to "hand over the money." One man produced a revolver.

"When they threatened to shoot, I reached into the cash drawer and handed over the money without delay," Wallis said.

After snatching the money the thugs left the store and entered an automobile which was waiting with the engine going. The car had license markers of a Brantford issue, police said.

REBELS ADVANCE ON BILBAO FRONT

Capture Several Villages In First Blow Of Long Heralded Offensive

VITORIA, Spain, April 1.—(AP)—The insurgent northern army smashed through government lines on the Bilbao front today, capturing several hamlets in the initial thrusts of their long-awaited offensive.

The insurgent drive broke through entrenchments northeast of Villarreal, 10 miles north of Vitoria and only 22 miles south of Bilbao, seat of the Basque government on the Bay of Biscay.

The government first line of defence was taken by surprise, the insurgent commanders reported, and the enemy troops were routed throughout the sector.

General Franco's troops occupied a small fortress in the centre of the salient and a whole system of connecting trenches. Using that as a base they spread their advance through several small villages near by.

Here's the Modern Way to Help
END A COLD Quicker

The 3-Minute VapoRub Massage

Massage VapoRub briskly on the throat, chest and back (between and below the shoulder blades). Then spread it thick over the chest and cover with warmed cloth.

Almost before you finish rubbing, VapoRub starts to bring relief two ways at once—two direct ways:

1. Through the Skin. VapoRub acts direct through the skin like a poultice or plaster.

2. Medicated Vapors. At the same time, its medicated vapors, released by body heat, are breathed in for hours—about 10 times a minute—direct to the irritated air-passages of the nose, throat and chest. This combined poultice-and-vapor action loosens phlegm—relieves irritation—helps break congestion.

During the night, VapoRub keeps right on working. Often, by morning the worst of the cold is over.

Avoids Risk of Stomach Upsets
This safe, external treatment cannot possibly upset the stomach, as constant internal "dosing" is so apt to do. It can be used freely, as often as needed, even on the youngest child.

Now White—Stainless
Thanks to a new process, VapoRub now comes to you in white stainless form. Only the color is removed; it is the same VapoRub—the same formula and the same effective double action.

TRAIN FISHERMEN AS NAVAL RESERVE DUFF'S PROPOSAL

Tells Senate Canada's Coastal Defence Is Far Too Inadequate

SIX MONTHS' TRAINING

OTTAWA, April 1 (CP). — The Senate today was expected to continue debate on a naval-defence resolution that yesterday brought from William Duff (Lib., Antigonish-Guysboro) a seven-point program for a fisherman reserve to bolster the nation's coastal defences.

Senator Duff, called the "Admiral on the Hill" during his long service as a House member before his elevation to the Red Chamber, subscribed Canada's Atlantic and Pacific coast defences were "absolutely inadequate" and held "we should go as far as we possibly can in bolstering up the coastline defences."

He said the immediate step should be establishment of a Canadian naval reserve composed of fishermen who could follow their vocation six months of the year and train for naval service the remaining six months.

The senator, speaking on the motion of his Conservative colleague, C. C. Ballantyne of Montreal, declared Canada should build up her own coastal defences and then, because of the Monroe doctrine, look to the United States for help in case of emergency rather than to the United Kingdom.

"We should be all one country here from the Gulf of Mexico to Hudson Bay," he declared, adding: "The greatest mistake ever made on this continent was the Boston tea party. Canada and the United States should help one another."

RECREATION CLUB REVIEWS YEAR

J. H. Moore Is Elected President—Other Officers Named —Reports Given

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, April 1. — The annual meeting of the Canadian Pacific Recreation Club, Havelock, was held in the club room on Monday evening at 8 p.m., with President W. W. Hill occupying the chair. A good number of members were in attendance.

The secretary-treasurer presented the financial statement for the past year. Disbursement equalled receipts for the year, so the club commences the new financial year with nothing on either side of the ledger. On motion of Mr. L. Hagerman and Mr. D. Brennan the report was accepted and the officers commended for the way the finances were handled throughout the year.

The report of the membership committee showing that while considerably larger than the previous year, it was still not up to the expectations, and the incoming committee will make every effort to increase the membership for the coming year.

The tennis court committee reported no headway made in regard to putting a new top dressing on the tennis courts. This will engage their attention this year.

The lawn bowling committee reported a very successful season last year. The members formed a town league with inter-rink competition each Thursday evening. They were also represented in the Trent Valley Bowling League. Individual rinks also represented the club at a number of tournaments throughout the district. The ladies' division of lawn bowling section, formed last year for the first time, had a very successful season also, and with more experience gained in their first year, hope to have a splendid season this year.

The Christmas cheer committee were sorry to report they were unable, due to lack of funds, to carry on with any of their usual Christmas festivities. This was regretted by all officers and members, but all hoped that by the time next Christmas has come along, the club will be in a position to continue their usual good work.

By-laws Adopted

Mr. L. Hagerman, chairman of the committee on constitution and by-laws, read a set of by-laws as drafted by the committee and, on motion of D. R. Brennan and James Hooper these were adopted. Sufficient copies to be procured for the membership, and one copy to be posted in the club room.

The club room committee reported in connection with the work they had carried on throughout the past year. The building was painted on the outside and some decorating done on the inside and the room has been kept in a clean and tidy condition by the members. On motion of Mr. Roche and Mr. Brennan, the secretary was instructed to write Mr. Beck, superintendent, and Mr. Trudeau, B. and B. Master, conveying the appreciation of the members for their assistance in maintaining the club room and property in their present fine condition.

It was brought to the notice of the members present that Mr. Beck, their division superintendent, had suffered the loss of his father recently and on motion of Mr. Gordon and Mr. Hagerman, the secretary was instructed to write conveying the sympathy of the members in his loss.

YOUTHS FREED ON PROBATION

Trio In Jail Since St. Patrick's Night Dance, For Taking Car

LONDON, Ont. April 1—(CP)—Probation was granted a quartet of Biddulph township youths today, after they confessed various shares to what police say was a celebration with some High school girls after a St. Patrick's Day dance.

Ernest McCarty, 19, admitted breaking into the Lucan High school and taking an automobile belonging to Hugo McFalls without the owner's permission.

Malachy Laverty, 20, also confessed breaking into the school house, while Kenneth Grenhill, 16, and Morris Cobleigh, 16, pleaded guilty to charges of taking McFalls' car.

All but Cobleigh have been in the county jail since they were arrested by Provincial Constable E. J. MacMillan 12 days ago.

In releasing the three older boys, County Magistrate C. W. Hawkshaw set out, as terms of probation, that they report alternate Saturday nights for six months to police at Lucan; that they find the inside door keys of the school which the Magistrate said were thrown away, and return them to the trustees, and that they make restitution for damage done at the school.

Magistrate Hawkshaw insisted that the trio make the restitution themselves, and not their parents.

On Solid Ground

Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, made a good speech in the House of Commons. He was dealing with efforts and means for resisting the encroachment of fascism and communism in this country. There is little said now about fighting socialism and the reason may well be that in all our forms of government there is so much of socialism that it would be folly to denounce it longer.

Communism is different. It holds to the common ownership of the means of production and of the goods produced. Under it there would be no private property, and goods would be made for use and not for profit. So far it is not much different to socialism, but communism does not recognize a central governing body such as parliament. Instead there would be a federation of small groups for the control of social democracy. It distrusts what we call the state and desires its overthrow. It is not new, but is very old, and prior to the world war little was heard of it. What they have in Russia may be referred to by some as communism, but according to strict interpretation of theory it is not communism because a communist state could not tolerate a dictator.

Fascism is a form of government which had its start in Italy in 1919 and the reason for its start was to provide an organization to combat extreme socialism. At its inception and under the guidance of Musolini it first met opposition with force, but the need for that has passed, as there is no opposition today. In practical operation it is a form of government under the direction and dictation of one man.

Mr. Lapointe does not believe communism or fascism can be successfully met with force. His own method would be:

"I am a strong believer in the British way of administering justice. I believe in the majesty and the equality of the law. I believe the vast majority of the people of Canada are resolutely opposed to communism, and the best way to fight it is to eliminate the causes of discontent, to mete out justice and fair play to everyone, the poor and the rich, the humble and the powerful; to eliminate grievances and abuses which have come into our system. If communism is a bad idea it must be fought with something which is an improvement on communism. If communists offer something which is wrong, we must offer something which is right. It is not hatred which will eliminate communism. Who ever heard of Tim Buck before he was put in the penitentiary? I prefer to destroy the arguments of the communist by using better arguments, by showing the people the arguments of the communist are false."

In taking that attitude Mr. Lapointe is not only partly right, but he is entirely right. He does not intend to stand by and allow communists or fascists to employ illegal means or threats in this country, nor does he place much faith in the passing of new laws to combat communism or fascism. He believes the cure is in showing that we have or can have something better. If we have not got it today then we must proceed to secure it. The best defence of any good system of government is the system itself. A faulty system cannot be made good by saying that it is good and from that firm basis Mr. Lapointe would work.

Not Always the Case

Dr. G. I. Christie, president of the Ontario Agricultural College, told members of the public schools department of the Ontario Educational Association that riots in Guelph Reformatory were due to lack of home training rather than conditions in the Reformatory. At one point he irreported as having said:

"Those boys never would have been sent to jail in the first place if conditions at home had been right."

That statement would have to be qualified and toned down a good deal before it could be accepted. In its present form it is defective for the simple reason that boys from splendid homes have been sent to jail.

We can think of No. 1. When the father died it was found his money had been pretty well dissipated and the family was actually not provided for, and the money had been used trying to settle affairs of a son. That son came from a good home, the parents were splendid people and so were the other children, but that one son served three sentences.

No. 2 is the son of a minister who never made a large salary, but sacrificed a great deal to educate his sons. The younger son had access to the church building, and his first offence was to steal the collection when he had occasion to know it had been left in the church on a Sunday evening. That was covered up because the father out of his meagre funds made good the shortage. Three months later he was in county jail. We do not believe a boy could have had a better home.

No. 3 is a young man who started out with every promise of success in a business way. His home was that of honest God-fearing parents. Several years ago he went to penitentiary in Michigan for trying to operate a get-rich-quick scheme.

Looking at it the other way, there have been some remarkable people come from homes from which nothing much might have been expected. We do not believe it is correct to say that good homes, Christian homes, will unfailingly turn out good sons or good daughters, and we say that because it is possible to recall so many instances of where the reverse has been the case.

Does Not Seem Right

A man from Fenelon Falls appeared in court at Lindsay, and the charge against him was that he had beaten his wife. Deails of injuries were recited in court:

A cut under the left jaw which required stitches.

An abrasion of the head.

Temple bruises and both eyes blackened.

Shoulder, arm and chest abrasions

The Crown Attorney regarded it as "about the most brutal case of wife beating I have run across."

The husband said he had been drinking "what was supposed to be gin," and disclaimed any knowledge of what had taken place. And it is quite reasonable to believe what he said was true enough. He was given two years' suspended sentence, and that looks entirely out of keeping with the size of the offence. There is no sense of proportion in it.

The fact that a man is drunk is not considered cause for holding him unaccountable for what he does when he is in that condition. If a man is driving a car when drunk he receives no special consideration. He is fined and often sent to jail, although he may have done no injury.

Looking over that stated list of known injuries which this man inflicted on his wife it is difficult to believe that the court could overlook them in their entirety and say that a two years' suspended sentence would be sufficient to square the account. A suspended sentence means nothing at all unless there is a second offence, and a wife beater is about the last in the class of those who have any right to expect leniency in court.

Learning From Egypt

You may have a good enough article, perhaps a slendid one, but it is necessary to sell it, and the sure way to sell it is to advertise it.

That refers to any line of business.

Egypt has a number of remarkably good attractions for the tourist trade of the world, rich in historic interest, amazing to the mind of the engineer and attractive to the inquisitive.

But the Egyptian government finds it is losing the tourist trade of other years, so it has entered upon a policy of propulsion. It may be she had reached the stage where a degree of aloofness has entered her system and she dislikes doing her clinging on the public road. The young ladies who are courted by being taken for a ride on the back seat of a motorcycle in this land will never be bounced off for the faster the machine goes the more closely do they cling—to the driver.

Spiritual Development

G. A. Wheable, superintendent of schools in London, Ont., talked to the inspectors' division of the Ontario Educational Association in Toronto. He was not so much concerned about new methods for inspectors as he was with the future of the pupils. Mr. Wheable put it this way: "Today's great need is not more cultural education but more education along spiritual lines. Civilization will collapse unless the spiritual growth catches up with the material."

Material growth has been visibly abundant. Within recent years the buildings in which the pupils and teachers work have been made greater; more modern and more sanitary. There has been a degree of religious instruction as well in memory work and class reading, but Mr. Wheable realizes that spiritual growth is necessary. There has been a great deal said and written within recent years about success, and much of it is based on material success. We have mistakenly regarded a man as a success if he made a great deal of money, and we have seldom stopped to analyze the process by which he made it. It is quite likely and altogether probable that the mind of the school pupil would be impressed by this standard.

It is well to have a man stand up and say plainly we have to place more stress on spiritual worth.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Professor Christie told an O.E.A. group that home is a mould in which lives are shaped. The trouble seems to be to keep people long enough in the mould.

American women are competing at New York for the cooking championship of the United States. There is a competition that a lot of folk would be glad of the opportunity of judging.

Roller skating on city streets is adding a new traffic danger. Most of the youthful exponents of the art are unskilful and that fact thrusts a responsibility upon motorists to drive carefully.

Our sympathies are extended to the speakers who are taking part in the North Renfrew Federal by-election campaign. They must find it a difficult task to get anything to argue about.

There is one thing the teachers in attendance at the Ontario Educational Association are agreed upon and that is that the pay of Ontario teachers should be raised.

We find it hard to believe that there will be any sit-down strikes among Ontario High School students over the announcement that Latin is no longer to be a compulsory subject.

Premier Aberhart is out of his difficulties for the time being. All he has to do now is to make social credit work so the people can start in spending their basic dividends.

The fact that thousands of Japanese greeted Prince Chichibu at Vancouver will serve to show Eastern Canadians how the Pacific Coast has been invaded by the folk from the Orient.

Stress is to be laid on the teaching of English in Ontario's high schools. This is probably a move in self defence against the influence of the radio and screen comedians.

The Quebec Legislature has awarded a farmer $500 because his house was shot in a gun battle between a fugitive murderer and the police. There are then some cases in which the innocent bystander does not get all the worst of it.

Demands for window box plants for Coronation decoration purposes are so great that London florists cannot fill all the orders. We had an idea that all the windows had been rented to prospective spectators of the procession.

Toronto Maple Leafs are practising hockey for next season already and probably some of their critics will say that judging by their performance during the recent campaign this is about the time they should start.

Wheat has been climbing back to the 1929 level and a good crop this year should help bring the western farmer back to something like normal prosperity. He has earned it by the fortitude with which he has faced heart-breaking conditions for years.

The intermediate A championship of the Ontario Rural Hockey Association has been awarded to Point Albino in the Niagara peninsula and right now we venture the opinion that there is a place the National Hockey League scouts never knew was on the map.

BUSY DAY

(By A. R. K.)

¶ When it comes round this time of year, I always get to feeling queer, I sometimes grab the rake: I know the ground is yet too hard, but I must start and clean the yard, my holdings are at stake.

¶ I think I'll putter there a bit, and make things look more neat and fit, old truck I'll take away; and just when I am starting in, and figuring where I should begin, along comes Neighbor A.

¶ He says I'm doing exactly right, he thinks he'll start this very night, and plan his garden too; and then we talk and gossip some, and I don't get much raking done, till Neighbor A is through.

¶ And then I start in like I should, and feel I'm getting on quite good, some progress I can see; and then I hear a sudden shout, he wants to know what I'm about, and it is Neighbor B.

¶ He is a friendly sort of jay, I see him nearly every day, he's been to pay his rent; he talks about where ducats go, and what he pays for so and so, and he can't save a cent.

¶ And Neighbor C has fixed his hack, he's got it painted blue and black, it glitters in the sun; so then I talk with him a bit, and find it's time for me to quit—and I've got nothing done.

Our Statesmen At Their Labors

(Parliamentary Debates)

MUST HAVE FACTS

On schedule IV.

Mr. BENNETT: This schedule includes the vegetable oil items. I did not take part in the discussion the other day and I desire to make only one observation. It seems to me to be extremely difficult to understand just what can be accomplished by a reference to the tariff board in view of the fact that the agreement is completed before the reference could be made.

Mr. DUNNING: They can ascertain the facts.

Mr. BENNETT: What facts?

Mr. DUNNING: I can assure my right hon. friend that the situation is most complicated. I am desirous of having a report from the tariff board upon which I can rely with respect to statements of fact, rather than having to rely upon statements made by either side of what is a very deep-rooted difference of opinion as between the interested parties.

Mr. BENNETT: I appreciate the minister's view and I agree with him as to the undesirability of endeavouring to arrive at a judgment on partially complete statements. My difficulty is understanding what the tariff board can do that will affect this matter, in view of the fact that we have provided already by this agreement for a ten per cent preference.

Mr. DUNNING: A minimum preference of ten per cent.

Mr. BENNETT: There does not seem to be any dispute as to certain facts. One undisputed fact is that the importations last year amounted to 20,000,000 pounds. This is a tremendous increase over any figure we have ever had before. The increase is so great as to warrant the conclusion, to put it mildly, that to wait until the next session of parliament for any action would appear to be creating a somewhat serious situation from the standpoint of Canada. These importations totalled 125,000 tons, which struck me as being a tremendous quantity. Any facts which may be ascertained by the tariff board would not modify that essential fact.

Mr. DUNNING: As in the case of steel, but to a lesser degree, the price factor in connection with these vegetable oils must be considered. It may sound remote, but as a matter of fact the glycerine content has made many of these oils valuable for war purposes. The need for vital chemicals has been such as to affect the price structure of these commodities. I do not say that this will be a determining factor but it may have the effect of changing the bearing in the immediate future.

Mr. BENNETT: Prices certainly have gone up during the last few months or even weeks.

Mr. DUNNING: I have been forced to rely upon the advice of one side or the other of a controversy in connection with which I am bound to say that both sides have made extreme statements. I am not referring to the sides as represented in this house, but to those presented by the business interests of this country. I refer notably to the baking interests, as representing the consumers, and the animal fat producers, as representing the producers, supported to a degree by certain other elements including the National Dairy Council. Extraordinary statements have been made and I do not think we should dogmatize about what is to happen in the near future. I can only venture to say—I am again basing my statement upon the advice of one side only—that the price factor has been such as to prevent forward ordering to anything like the degree that it took place last year.

Mr. BENNETT: In other words, the imports will be lessened.

Mr. DUNNING: That is what is represented to me.

Mr. BENNETT: I certainly appreciate the difficulty the minister faces in dealing with this or any other item so completely affected by war conditions, using those words as indicating a state of mind on the part of many people rather than an actual condition. I represent a locality which is interested in vegetable oils and I bring the matter to the attention of the minister at this time because I did not participate in the discussion the other day. If a report is received from the board, we have no power to deal with it by executive action.

Mr. DUNNING: By agreement only.

Mr. BENNETT: I was not in the country, but I read some newspaper clippings which indicated that quite a bit of evidence had been given with respect to the matter here in Canada.

Mr. DUNNING: Yes.

Mr. BENNETT: But the inquiry was adjourned, as I understand.

Mr. DUNNING: That is right.

Mr. BENNETT: And there is nothing to indicate that any inquiries have been prosecuted outside of this country. Presumably it does involve some inquiries beyond Canada altogether.

Mr. DUNNING: I would not definitely say so.

Mr. BENNETT: When the minister spoke about the complexity of it as indicated to him by the chairman of the board, I was wondering whether or not the question of subsidiary interests that might be affected was included. Soap makers, for instance, are interested.

Mr. DUNNING: I can assure my right hon. friend that if he had been in the country he would have been inundated with representations by soap makers and bakers and—

Mr. BENNETT: Candlestick makers.

Mr. DUNNING: Yes.

Mr. BENNETT: The immediate pressure appeared to be, judging from what I read, from the soap makers.

Mr. DUNNING: And the bakers and the laundrymen, but strongest from the bakers.

The Habit of Trees.

(From the Chatham News.)

SETTING a good example to Canadians who have control of crown lands of which evergreen trees are the natural crop, at Washington, we are told, the government forests are coming more and more to be regarded as "timber farms" and the methods of foresters are the methods of scientific farmers. That is to say, they want to know how well their crops are doing, and by what methods they can produce the most wood in the least time.

One observational experiment has furnished interesting information on the rates of growing pines left standing as seed trees, after an area has been logged off.

These trees showed an average growth, after the clearing nearly twice as great as for the same length of time before it. The observations extended over a period of fifteen years, and showed that in general the greatest acceleration in growth came during the last five years of that period.

This piece of information is extremely interesting and important; because, while in the natural mixed forest of evergreen and deciduous trees it takes two-thirds of a century to develop a white pine, to be at its best for the production of lumber, in groves suitable distances from one another, so as to secure the sloughing of the lower limbs and the forcing of the trunks to grow upward in the persistent effort to reach the open air above. Every one is familiar with the difference between two pines; one grown in the open with branches down close to the ground, and the other grown in a clump of neighbors, all of which are racing upward with it in a struggle for air and light.

There are in the lumbered-over districts between the Nipissing lake and its river outlet to the north, and the Severn and Trent River systems on the south, many millions of acres of pre-Cambrian lands that are not well fitted for agriculture. Why should not these exhausted "timber limits" be replanted with the two most valuable of Canadian resinous trees—the white pine and the white spruce—on selected deep-soil spots, cleared of deciduous trees, and the plants be left there to fight their way up with one another in the struggle for existence that would fit them for use in later years as a source of supply of lumber and wood pulp?

The Man To Be Fooled.

(From the Montreal Star.)

WHY should there be a separate Canadian National Railways account at all?

The country owns the railway outright—worse luck! It is in reality a branch of government. Why pretend to keep a separate account for this branch of our Government?

We do not do it for any other branch of government except as to expenditures. No one knows or can trace where the dollar comes from that pays for the new post office building. We just raise all our revenue in lump sums, pour them into the Federal Treasury, and then dip into the treasury for what is needed to run the various departments. When the dipper hits the bottom, we go to the money-lenders—for about eighty-five million dollars' worth this year.

Why not do the same for the Canadian National Railways?

There is just one reason. The wisdom of public ownership of public utilities is a question under debate. Many sincere thinkers insist that the public should own and operate all public utilities. Other thinkers, just as sincere, insist that, while this may be possible and advisable under certain circumstances, it is not advisable under the circumstances existing in Canada today.

The Canadian National Railways is a great experiment in this field. It is possible the greatest in the world. It is certainly the greatest in Canada. Hence it is vitally important for the people of Canada to know how it is coming out.

That is why we keep a separate account for the C.N.R. We want to know, not only what money it spends, but how it is earned, how its earnings compare with its expenditures, what deficits, if any, it suffers from, whether in a word it is profitable or unprofitable.

The man who wants a separate account is the taxpayer. The apologists for the present bill, which—to quote Mr. Bennett—"jiggles" with the accounts of this great experiment, try to tell us that it will present a more attractive picture to the possible investor. This is nonsense! The investor is an expert in financial "setups," or he hires experts to analyse them for him. He will readily discover just what is being hidden by eliminating the Government accounts. Where it is hidden beyond his scrutiny, he will "suspect the worst."

No, the man to be fooled—the only man to be fooled—is the taxpayer.

The Needle and Dishpan.

(From the Woodstock Sentinel-Review.)

"EXIT" meetings are being conducted in Vermont, a contemporary states, for the purpose of instructing members of the fair sex in the art of looking after mechanical troubles in the home, such as adjustments to plumbing, electrical fixtures, and so on. That may be all right if Vermont young women have the proper grounding in those things which ordinarily are expected of housewives and domestic help. Canadian girls are not up on their A B C's in this respect, according to Miss Maud McIntyre, general secretary of Woodstock Y.W.C.A., who addressed the Rotary Club on Monday. From experiences in the "Y" employment bureau and at camps, she has arrived at the conclusion that astonishingly few Canadian girls know how to wash dishes properly, and that the showing in regard to mending stockings is even worse. Girls do not wish to learn the practical things of life, the speaker said.

This comment is cited here with some satisfaction, because in a Dorothy Dix article a while back we noted a statement that young men enter upon the matrimonial state with virtually no preparation for it. "Every girl," according to the article, "has been looking forward to getting married ever since she climbed out of her kiddie coop, and is more or less prepared for it, while every man has thought that somehow he was going to escape it, and it takes him unawares."

If this long preparation on the part of young women does not include efficiency in dish-washing and sock-darning, it must be that they hope to marry someone who is able to provide servants to do those things. Obviously that will not be so in a majority of instances, so there seems to be a short-coming on the part of mothers, who neglect to see that their girls serve an adequate apprenticeship in kitchen and sewing-room. The great diversity of recreation and social affairs absorbing the time and energy of the present generation may explain why this is not more generally done, but it can hardly be a satisfactory substitute when the time comes for a young woman to take charge of a household.

WATER FIRST NEED.

(Farmer's Advocate)

WHEN young men set out to purchase farms, or when anyone, for that matter, is purchasing farm property, there are many things to remember, but there is nothing so all important and so vital as an adequate water supply. The character of the soil and fertility, buildings, location and the character of the neighborhood are all serious matters to consider, but if there is a scarcity of good water at any season of the year, the farm live stock and the farm family are exposed to discomfort, suffering and financial loss. The texture and the fertility of the soil may be improved, buildings may be repaired, distance may be almost eliminated by motor travel, but if there is an inadequate supply of water on the farm the owner is handcuffed from the start.

A running stream on a live stock farm is a real asset. A flowing well at or near the buildings is invaluable. The boring well or the drilled well is usually dependable, but one cannot trust very much to a surface well particularly in a dry season.

Quantity or volume of water is not the only consideration. Even underground streams are sometimes contaminated and polluted water is dangerous. Plenty of good water is essential to the well-being of man, animals and plants. Anyone purchasing a piece of land on which to make a home should consider first and foremost that great essential of all life—water.

HELPING THE TAXPAYERS.

(St. Thomas Times-Journal)

THE system of making government grants in aid of municipal taxes which the Ontario Government has inaugurated is not a new one. It has been practiced by the British Government for years in the case of distressed municipalities where the communities largely depend on specific types of industry which have been hard hit. This year, under the plan of helping distressed areas the Government grants have been substantially increased. A report in a Scottish paper recently reveals for example, that the county of Aberdeen will receive the equivalent of 3d cents for every 9d of municipal taxation. Banffshire, where the herring fishermen have suffered acutely, no less than 7d cents, Moray and Nairn 2d cents and Kincardine 2½ cents.

These sums can either be used in direct reduction of taxes or to carry out social schemes without increasing them. Needed schools and other services will be provided, and altogether the relief afforded will greatly help the taxpayers.

WHAT REALLY COUNTS.

(Canadian Business, Montreal)

THAT little fountain of common sense, The Printed Word, published by J. C. Johnston and his colleagues in public relations work, always has something interesting to say about the employer-worker angle. The foundation of good public relations, says the last issue, is good employee relations. If a company has 1,000 employees and they begin to mutter because they do not like the boss, or think their wages are too low or because they fear they may lose their jobs through no fault of their own, trouble is in store for that company, trouble which may not be wiped for a generation. There is hardly a human being who is not believed by at least four other people. When 5,000 people begin to talk, the bad news is heard near and far. Contented employees mean that a company's public relations problem is half-solved.

A PITIABLE FIGURE.

(Ottawa Journal)

HENRY JAMES once wrote that without fair play and sportsmanship democracy could not function. We seem to have come to a stage in the politics of this Province where that truth has been lost sight of; where there is little or no concern for the amenities and dignities of public life, complete disregard for decorum and good manners, and seemingly no understanding of what government and democracy are about.

The Legislature of Ontario this year has cut a pitiable figure; has made itself into a justification of every ignorant scoffer at politics and politicians, an encouragement for every proponent of Fascism or Bolshevism. When it has not been pitiable, it has been preposterous. That incident of the Union Jack draped over Leopold Macaulay's vacant chair—where else could it have happened outside the Legislature of Ontario? Truly, we should hate to hear the comment of a civilized British public man on that. The comment of Stanley Baldwin, for instance.

NORTH MONAGHAN HOUSE DAMAGED

City Fire Department Answers Call To Fight Dwelling Fire

A fire which threatened total destruction to the home of D. Dolan at the corner of Chester and McKellar streets in North Monaghan township was checked by the Peterborough Fire Department Wednesday. Damage was confined to $500.

A spark from a nearby chimney is believed to have started the fire on the roof. Mayor George Macdonald ordered the Peterborough firemen to lend their aid and they found roof and attic of the two-storey brick structure a roaring inferno on arrival.

A ninety-minute battle was required to subdue the flames. Under direction of Chief George Gimblett, the firemen used a 650-foot hose to pump water from the river to the scene. A chemical line was also used.

The house is owned by William Sargent.

el to visit one of the families at the Duke street address, and, on going there Saturday night, apparently went to the wrong door. He was invited inside. He alleged he was invited into one of the rooms of Lavina Palmer, and remained with her sometime. As he was about to leave, he claims he discovered his money—about $7—was missing. He accused the woman of the theft.

It was then, according to the statement, police said that Lavina Palmer called out to Johnson who was in another room. He alleges that Johnson struck him and knocked him down twice. Believing that he was in a tight place, and that the only way he could defend himself was with a knife, he whipped out his jackknife and fought his way out.

After the stabbing, Doroloral fled, leaving his overcoat, suit coat, and hat. The man's name was not known to any of the people present at the party except as Mike. In the man's suit was a cleaner's mark and police traced his name through this.

Perfectly Formed Co-ed Is Found But Her Identity Is Kept Secret

TORONTO, April 1 — Like to meet the perfectly formed woman? Well, just go up to the University. Somewhere on the campus there is a co-ed, name unknown, the first fifteen years to meet the requirements of a perfect figure sought by Dr. Edith Gordon, medical adviser for women, University of Toronto.

Dr. Gordon, who examines co-eds for physical education, yesterday told the physical education section of the O.E.A., about her discovery. But she firmly refused to reveal the perfect co-ed's identity.

"I have been examining students for fifteen years, and each year I live in hope of meeting the perfect woman," she said the group during a demonstration how to examine an individual for posture. "This year I met her. Sometimes their backs are too long or too short, sometimes they have too long a neck or too short a neck, sometimes their thighs are too long or too short. And when you find a perfect one, it is as great a thrill as when you find a beautiful piece of statuary—only more so, because it is living."

OUST OUR ENEMIES IS STALIN'S CALL

Regarded As Virtual Death Sentence For Hundreds Jailed As Counter-Revolutionaries

MOSCOW, April 1 (AP)—Joseph Stalin called upon Russia today for "merciless" extermination of all Bolshevist enemies in what was interpreted as a virtual death sentence for hundreds jailed as counter-revolutionaries.

The demand of the Soviet leader, made in the Kremlin March 5 before the central committee of the Communist Party, was published today.

"I think it is clear," Stalin declared, "that the present wreckers and diversionists — no matter whether they have masked themselves under the flag of Trotskyism or Bukharinism—have lost their influence in the workers' movement and have become simply an unprincipled and idealless band of professional wreckers, diversionists, spies and murderers."

Pays 45 Cents For "April Fool"

The short open season on April fool jokes came and went to-day and Peterborough citizens had their usual annual variety of chuckles.

A local newspaper man was chagrined to pay 45 cents for a collect telegram only to open it and find the message, "Hello sucker," and the signature of one of his friends in Montreal. He promptly wrapped up a brick and despatched it collect to the joke-ster pal.

Local fox farms got their usual April fool run of telephone calls from naive persons asking for "Mr. Foxe." And the Police Department again found it necessary to explain to innocent telephone inquiries that no "Mr. Cops" was to be found at the police station number, 123.

It was all in fun and it's all over for another year. Jockeasters can now retire to think up some new gags for April 1, 1938.

IN all my wanderings round this world of care,
In all my griefs—and God has given my share—
I still had hopes my latest hours to crown,
Amidst these humble bowers to lay me down.

—Goldsmith.

Dear Friends:

When I hear people talk of wishing to live long, my mind goes back over the years, when I with my two children were all in the one room with three beds and a cot and in one of the beds was an old lady of about sixty with a broken hip which would not mend.

She had been alone for so long that it was a relief even to have three desperately sick people in the same room with her, for the days were so long, so long. She did not mind the cries of sick babies, nor the constant attention they had to get day and night, for it gave her something to think about and take an interest in.

She was entirely alone in the world, and after I had been given permission to get up and nurse my children, I used to have long talks with her, while the children were quiet, which wasn't long, for they were really very ill indeed.

She couldn't understand why this should have come upon her, for she had been hard working, virtuous, saving, and now here she was with all her savings used up in this sickness, with no prospect of ever being able to walk again, and now she was being cared for by charity, and God help us, it is a nasty, bitter draught to swallow.

My heart was wrung by the slow, hopeless tears which ran down her cheeks as she told me her story. The worst thing of all was, that the nurses were tired of waiting on her, and were not overly kind. (Nurses can be like that at times although the majority are lovely people).

Every last thing had been taken away from her by life. Her husband, her children, her parents and all relatives. Her home, the bit of ground she loved so much had been all swallowed up by this sickness, all her bits of furniture, and the whole thing made my heart sore for her.

And all she had was contained in a small chocolate box which someone had given her the previous Christmas. Then one day, the matron, who was a sour sort of person, came along and asked what she had in that box, and she, poor soul, showed her small treasures. A card which had robins on it, and reminded her of Spring. A small silk handkerchief, a pencil, a letter from her husband, written when he had got some sense, a string of beads he had given her before they were married, and that darned prude of a matron handled them as if they would give her the plague, and told the nurse to take them all down to the furnace.

I put my ear in and said that these were all the poor soul had in the world, that she had a lot of pleasure in looking at them every so often, while the old lady cried and begged her not to take them away from her. But they were taken away, and I spent the rest of the day comforting the poor soul.

I told the matron that I hoped some day she would be in the same condition as the old lady and get the same treatment, but was told very coldly to mind my own business. The only thing I could do was to get another nice box sent up, with a few little trinkets in to comfort her. And one day she said to me, "Will you do something for me?" And when I said I would, she asked if I would pray to God to take her out of it all, for life had become insupportable.

So I prayed earnestly for just that, and when we went home after two weeks, and myself and children still too sick to go back and see her, God was merciful and took her home one night in her sleep, and I thanked Him for it. So think of this poor lady when you are inclined to grouch too much about your troubles, for it really happened, and if it happened to her who had tried her best, it could happen to any of us, so give thanks for what you have.

Your Friend,
ROBERTA.

ROSENEATH

FAITHFUL WORKER HONORED BY Y.P.U.

Pen And Pencil Set Is Presented To Fred. Lewis

(Examiner Correspondence.)

ROSENEATH, April 1. — There were two interesting features on the program at the meeting of the Y.P.U. on Monday night, a presentation and a debate. Fred Lewis, a faithful worker in the society, who is leaving the community to assume a new position at Holloway, was presented with a pen and pencil set. Miss Jessie Smith made the presentation and Ray Bradshaw read an address conveying the appreciation of the members, also their good wishes for a successful future. Rev. L. W. Scott also spoke briefly commending Mr. Lewis on his stand in regard to spiritual things. Mr. Lewis, although completely surprised, made suitable reply.

The other feature was a debate: "Resolved, That the youth from the city have better advantages than the youth from the country." The affirmative was upheld by Fred Lewis, assisted by Miss Rosella Taylor. The negative was supported by Ray Bradshaw, assisted by Mrs. Robins. The judges' decision was rendered in favor of the negative. Miss Jessie Smith sang a solo, "My Country."

Mrs. E. Blodgett, vice-president, presided, and Miss Irene Brown acted as secretary pro tem in the absence of the secretary and assistant. Miss Brown was later appointed assistant owing to the removal of the member holding this office. The meeting for the coming week will be held in the church on Monday evening at 7.45, with Mrs. C. Sandercock, missionary convenor, in charge.

What Is Correct?

What is the proper way to eat French-fried potatoes?

French-fried potatoes are eaten with a fork. They are part of the meat course, and should be eaten as such. Generally speaking, no greasy, drippy or sticky foods should ever be eaten with the fingers.

Who receives with the bride and groom at the wedding reception?

There is great latitude; the bride and groom may receive alone, or the receiving line may include the bridesmaids and the parents of both bride and groom. Often the bride's mother and the groom's mother and father receive at the door, while the bride, groom and bridesmaids receive in another group.

When is it correct for a woman to shake hands with a man?

It is the woman's place, if she wants to, to offer her hand when a man is introduced to her. As a matter of fact, she usually merely says, "How do you do." Of course, no courteous woman would ever refuse to take an offered hand.

Colorful and Amusing Prints Used for Frocks

SMART UNDER SEPARATE COAT

Silk crepe shirtwaist frock in "Russian newspaper" print in bright reds, greens, blues and white; black Persian swagger coat; green calf, shoulderstrap bag; black felt fedora hat with braided silk tulle brim edge.

* * * * *

By LISBETH

Soft feminine clothes, often in silk, are the decree of fashion this post-Easter season.

Silk prints are the big news just now, and seldom has there been a season with such a variety of type and color, ranging from tiny and most amusing or racy geometric patterns to the largest and splashiest of florals. Seldom, too, have the colors been more gorgeous. The coronation lends itself to color, with deep royal reds, blues and purples.

One of the unusual prints is used on the frock illustrated. The dress is a silk crepe shirtwaist model in a "Russian newspaper" design, using vivid reds, greens, blue and white. The belt and ball buttons are bright red. The skirt is done in alternating groups of pleats and plain panels.

Worn over it is a smart spring three-quarter swagger coat of black Persian lamb with tuxedo closing and broad shoulders—a garment that will be worn more or less all season and until snow flies in the autumn.

Red, Green Tulle

The black felt fedora has red and green silk tulle braided around the brim and forming a soft veil in the back.

Notice the new Schiaparelli shoulder-strap bag of green calf looped over the shoulder.

Slim redingote coats in princess lines are slenderizing and sometimes the skirt of the redingote is slit so that the printed silk skirt shows when one walks.

Monotone silks are registering in one-piece spring frocks. Heavy silk sheers are smart in dark colors, especially with lingerie touches of white at neck and sleeves. The perennial black has new charm in silk faille with crisp touches of white pique.

Tiered skirts look new, whether they are in wide minaret treatment or in close, narrow folds which do not break the slim line of the skirt.

YES, THIS FOOD ENDS YOUR CONSTIPATION

Look out for those half-sick days, when you feel listless, headachy, out-of-sorts. Your trouble may be constipation. The real cause of common constipation is too little "bulk" in meals. Your system misses its regular exercise.

Get this needed "bulk" in a delicious cereal: Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Within the body, its "bulk" absorbs moisture, forms a soft mass, gently sponges out the system.

Why keep on feeling bad when you can feel good? Millions of people use ALL-BRAN. Tests prove it's safe and effective. ALL-BRAN is guaranteed. Try it a week. If not satisfactory, your money will be refunded by the Kellogg Company.

Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. Serve as a cereal, with milk or cream, or cook into recipes. Remember, ALL-BRAN also supplies vitamin B and iron.

Certainly you'd rather eat a food than take pills and drugs. Buy ALL-BRAN at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in London.

COMMUNITY HEALTH

A Column Conducted by the Department of Public Health, Peterborough, in the Interests of Peterborough Citizens.

"VACCINATION AGAINST SMALLPOX"

Recently a large number of children in the public and separate schools were vaccinated. It was not because of any smallpox in the community that vaccination was recommended—in fact we have had none here for several years. But the Department of Health believes prevention is better than cure and the time to prevent smallpox among our people is before any cases occur. When a disease is absent from a community for some time it is easily forgotten and any effort on the part of the man on the street to keep it absent is neglected. The result is many unprotected children who would be easy victims if it were introduced. Vaccination is therefore recommended for all children and unvaccinated adults.

Vaccination is a simple, harmless operation. Vaccine lymph is introduced into a superficial scration on the upper arm. In a few days time a blister appears which gradually changes into a scab. When healed, the scab falls off leaving a small scarred area and the patient is immune to smallpox.

If the blister is broken or the scab knocked off there is the danger of germs from outside entering the raw area and causing infection. The vaccination mark then becomes an ulcer and must be treated as such. In ordinary cases no special treatment is necessary and the vaccination will heal itself.

For the benefit of those whose cently, we repeat the following directions children have been vaccinated given to separate school children:

Care Following Vaccination

The ordinary "take" of a vaccination should not cause a severe reaction. A few cases have mild reactions such as a sore, red arm and mild fever or headache. The chief danger is infection due to breaking the blister which forms, or later knocking off the scab leaving a raw area into which germs may enter. The following information will help you in avoiding any severe results:

Keep the vaccinated area dry, cool and clean.

Bathing need not be omitted nor any ordinary activity but care should be taken not to soften the crust with water or moisture.

Avoid unnecessary use of the arm.

Vaccine blisters should not be opened.

Avoid damage by clothing or any other form of irritation.

Do not anoint or treat blisters in any way.

Do not use shields or pads of any kind as they act as a poultice and favour softening and breaking down of the blister.

No dressing is necessary as long as the blister remains intact.

If broken, a small square of dry sterilized gauze 3" x 3" may be strapped over the area, care being taken not to place adhesive tape over the vaccination mark. This gauze should be changed daily if there is much oozing and the area washed with sterile water. In changing dressings avoid touching the vaccine wound. If there is little oozing and the dressing is clean it need be changed but a few times.

If you are doubtful as to the course you should follow, consult your own doctor.

Wife Preservers

Garments likely to stretch while drying may be hung suspended in a bag made of cheesecloth. This allows the breeze to dry the garment without strain on any of its parts.

SALLY'S SALLIES

Many people weigh friendships with less care than they would weigh a few cents worth of groceries.

Premier King To Open New Chelsea Bridge

LONDON, April 1—(CP).—W. L. Mackenzie King, Canada's Prime Minister, who will be here for the Coronation, has accepted an invitation to open the new $3,500,000 Chelsea Bridge on May 6.

The bridge is of steel construction, 700 feet long, 65 feet wide and has four traffic lanes and two pedestrian paths. It is of suspension type.

One approach of the bridge is near the grounds of the historical Royal Chelsea Hospital and the structure extends to Battersea on the other side of the Thames.

The bridge replaces the old Chelsea Bridge, the last toll structure in London. Built in 1858 the toll bridge was made a free passage in 1879.

PROVINCIAL CHECK REVEALS COSTS

at $455,000. The 1937 estimate is $353,919.

1,500 Less on Guelph Rolls

Guelph has reduced relief rolls by more than 1,500 persons in the last two years—from 3,834 to 2,365. Relief payments ran to $135,000 in 1935 and are estimated not to exceed $80,000 this year.

At the end of February this year Stratford had 1,667 on relief, a decrease of more than 400 in one year and more than 700 in two years. The 1937 estimate of cost is $151,870 compared with the biggest bill of $239,532 in 1935.

Relief Committee Chairman James Stewart attributed improvement at Stratford to improved employment conditions in industry and on farms and to road work. "More than 90 per cent. of those on relief are willing to work if they get the chance," he said.

Improvement in Galt has been steady since last Spring. Galt had close to 3,000 on relief in 1931. Now it has 760. Cost has dropped from $140,544 to an estimated $65,000 and city officials say that amount will not be required.

Hamilton paid as high as $2,405,129 to alleviate unemployment distress. That was in 1934. It expects that direct relief costs will reach $1,313,000 this year. Heads of families dependent on the relief department have dwindled from a total of 8,089 in 1934 to 3,970.

Within two years Belleville's situation has improved nearly 50 per cent. There are 1,206 on relief today compared with 2,129 in February, 1935. The city expects to care for recipients with $75,000 this year. It required $122,564 in 1935.

$29,000 Saving.

Peterborough had as many as 3,619 on the rolls in March, 1933. Relief expenditure that year was $174,269. The city council has appropriated $145,000 for this year to look after a greatly reduced number.

Owen Sound's relief lists dwindled with 926 receiving help at March 31 this year compares with 1,450 at the same time last year. Owen Sound on May 1 will discontinue relief to all able-bodied men. During the winter of 1934-35 there were 2,500 persons receiving relief with expenditures at $146,000, but probably not $75,000 will be spent in 1937.

The first quarter of 1937 shows Kitchener's relief costs down about 20 per cent compared with the same period in 1936 and the number on relief is 2,771 compared with 3,506. Last year $379,116 was spent with 1933 the peak year at $392,722.

West) declared that people of his city had contemplated a tax strike because of the great burdens they had been called upon to bear due to many thousands of people who had come to the city in the last few years. They had been lured there, he thought, possibly by the hope of Social Credit dividends and had become charges on the municipality. The city was not likely, he said, to get any reasonable share of federal relief money granted the province.

Arms Regulation

The provision for arms control is contained in a new section 390 replacing the former section which dealt with the same subjects in a general way. The new section specifically authorizes the government to:

Require permits from exporters or transporters of such materials and prescribe fees, regulations and conditions under which permits may be obtained;

Prohibit, restrict or control export to any destination, import or transport in transitwise or internal trade;

License persons manufacturing, exporting or importing;

Publish information and statistics on export, import or manufacture.

Goods imported or exported contrary to regulations made under the Act may be seized and forfeited. Persons permitting or causing export or import are liable to a fine of not less than $50 or imprisonment for not more than a year and not less than a month, or both fine and imprisonment, if the value of the goods is less than $200.

If the value is more than $200 the penalty will be a fine of not less than $200 and not more than $1,000, imprisonment for not less than one year and not more than four years or both fine and imprisonment.

1916 Act To Be Revised.

The House gave first reading to a bill amending the Business Profits War Tax Act.

The latter statute was enacted in 1916 but so far as the imposition of the business profits tax was concerned, it expired in 1920. In the revised statutes of 1927, however, it was noted as "spent," or outdated, which might preclude action to collect taxes payable during the years 1916 to 1920.

The amendment, Mr. Ilsley explained, would revive the 1916 Act and change it so that any action desired in the future would be valid. The old statute is amended by submitting the procedure for appeals from assessment provided in the Income War Tax Act for the more expensive procedure set out in the Business Profits War Tax Act.

Besides the important provision dealing with war materials, Mr. Ilsley proposed a number of lesser amendments to the Customs Act clearing up certain doubtful points. Some had to do with the imposition of values for duty, particularly with reference to fruits and vegetables.

OSHAWA PLANT DELAYED STRIKE

ference with the Minister of Labor and the company.

Want Detroit Terms.

"We want the company to sign the Detroit agreement, the same agreement General Motors signed in Detroit with its workers," said Thompson.

"That agreement provides for acceptance of the United Automobile Workers' Union, establishment of a 40-hour week with time and one-half for overtime, adoption of the principle of seniority whereby men hold their jobs according to their length of service so that the last man laid off is the first man rehired, and establishment of a grievance committee."

Manager Highfield agreed the company had accepted one suggestion of the union, establishment of a shop steward system whereby groups of 15 workers selected a steward to represent them in representations to the management.

This system is part of the "Detroit agreement," the union has asked the company to accept.

"We will not continue the shop steward system," Manager Highfield said. "It has led to abuses and intimidation."

Highfield repeated he was adamant in his refusal to consider Organizer Thompson as a representative of General Motors workers, although he said the company's representative would meet him at the conference requested by the Department of Labor.

"We will not deal with any person, not an employee, who pretends to put forward the claims of our employees," he said.

Abide by Wage Laws

Asked regarding the "Detroit agreement" proposal of a 40-hour week and time and one half for overtime work, Manager Highfield said:

"As soon as the Ontario Department of Labor decided what shall constitute a full week, 40 hours or 50 hours, we will pay time and one half for all overtime above that. At present, the department has no ruling. We have been working a 45-hour week on ordinary schedules and a 50-hour week at rush periods, with no overtime."

General Motors has always recognized the principle of seniority regarding employees, Highfield said.

"The longer a man works for us, the longer he will continue to work for us, provided he can and is willing to work," he said, declaring the last man laid off in slack times is the first re-engaged when business improves.

Highfield contradicted an assertion by Organizer Thompson that men with 20 and more years' service with General Motors here were without employment, while men with shorter terms of service were working.

"When a man gives the best years of his life to a company, that company owes him something," Thompson said. "We are not accepting into the union any automobile workers not now working, but we have agreed to present the just claims of men with long service records who have not had jobs with the company for several years.

Thompson was asked whether the union was trying to hurry the strike while production was at its height and before its usual tapering off in April. He declared the union was in no hurry, and said it had locals in the three Ontario plants of General Motors—Oshawa, Windsor and St. Catharines.

OBITUARY

J. W. CARLETON

TWEED, April 1.—The very sudden death of John Waterhouse Carleton of Moneymoore, on Monday, came as a shock to the community. He had been on a visit to his son, Dr. Edmund A. Carleton at Stirling. While attending a funeral service in the Anglican church, he was seized with a heart attack and immediately passed to his reward.

Of Irish parentage, he was born seventy-one years ago at Moneymoore on the farm he still owned at his death, being the eldest surviving son of the late Robert and Eleanor Carleton. He spent his entire life in that district, where he followed the vocation of farming. A man of sterling qualities he was a staunch Conservative and in religion a member of the Anglican church.

At the time of his death he was a member of Rungerford Conservative Association and also of the East Hastings Liberal-Conservative Association. Fraternally, the late Mr. Carleton was a member of Tweed Lodge, A.F. & A.M. No. 239.

His wife, formerly Isabel Dafoe, predeceased him five years ago. Surviving to mourn his passing are a brother, Edmund M. Carleton of Toronto, two daughters, Mrs. Wilfred Fisher of Tweed, and Mrs. Arthur Bates of Roslin; and four sons, Dr. Edmund Carleton of Stirling, R. Clarence Carleton of Thomasburg, Dr. Harry O. Carleton of Norwood, and John D. Carleton of Detroit, Mich.

JAMES EDINGTON

ROSENEATH, April 1.—The funeral service for the late James Edington who passed away in Toronto on March 27 was held on Tuesday afternoon March 30 in Centenary United Church.

Mr. Edington was 87 years of age, and was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Edington, pioneer settlers of Alnwick Township.

He was for many years a successful farmer in the west end of the township. In later years he retired and went to live in Toronto, living there the remainder of his life.

Surviving are three sons, Albert of Alnwick Township, Thomas of Western Canada, and James of Toronto, and three daughters, Mrs. R. Wellwood, and Mrs. N. Lean of Alnwick and Mrs. C. Sweet of Burnley.

The service was conducted by Rev. L. W. Scott. Interment was made at Centenary Cemetery.

SUMMER COTTAGE BURNS AT MADOC

Furnishings, Boat And Motor Are Also Lost By Charles Johnston

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MADOC, April 1.—Early Wednesday morning about four o'clock, a passing motorist investigating a blaze gave the alarm that the summer cottage owned and recently built by Mr. Charles Johnson was on fire.

Mr. Johnson and Mr. Frank Frank Dafoe, who owns the adjoining cottage, rushed to the lake but found the fire had made such progress that the cottage was completely destroyed and none of the furniture or furnishings were saved. The cottage contained also expensive awnings, ad a boat with outboard motor. The loss is only partly covered by insurance.

Social And Moral Reforms Held By Wrong Conceptions

Dr. C. V. McLean Addresses Regular Meeting Of Peterboro W.C.T.U.

LAW ENFORCEMENT

A fairly good representative gathering was in attendance Wednesday afternoon at the first spring meeting of the local W.C.T.U. held in the Y.W.C.A. green room. In the absence of the president, Mrs. G. E. Tyler, the meeting was presided over by Mrs. E. E. Lord.

The guest speaker, Rev. Dr. C. V. McLean, brought a very worth-while message to the women of the union.

"Various forms of social and moral reform are being held up," declared Dr. McLean, "because of wrong conceptions held by many people." These conceptions he classed under three headings. The first deals with a conception of "law". One idea holds that law is of Divine origin coming from the hand of Moses. Other people think of law as something they may—or may not obey. Others again, regard it as the will of a dictator. It is of great importance to the temperance people to see that the true conception of law on this temperance question is placed before the public.

Law Enforcement.

The second conception deals with the enforcement of law. Some expect the police force to look after this. In reality, public opinion should enforce law. Quoting Stanley Baldwin, the speaker said that every man, woman and child should help to enforce law.

The third conception is "What constitutes a good life." To some it means excitement or riches, but the true ideal is of culture. It is the duty of temperance people to constantly present culture as the "good life" by precept and example. They must also show that law and its enforcement hold an important place in the "good life."

A brief business session followed—when the sincere thanks of the ladies for Dr. McLean's fine message was voiced by Mrs. Wand and heartily endorsed by all present.

President Is Leaving.

Regrets were also expressed at the removal of the beloved president, who leaves shortly to reside in Woodstock.

Several letters of thanks and appreciation were read by the secretary from members who had been remembered during illness, with letters and flowers.

A vote of thanks was also tendered E. W. Glover, who so beautifully executed the illuminated frontispiece of the hymnary presented to Mrs. Tyler by the Union. Announcement was made of the W.C.T.U. county convention which is to be held in Peterborough early in June.

The meeting was brought to a conclusion by the singing of a hymn and the Scripture benediction repeated in unison.

For Friday, April 2

A very likely and interesting day is forecast from the predominant planetary configurations, with much stirring in business as well as in purely private affairs. The latter may call for some restraint and the exercise of circumspect conduct, lest there be unfortunate entanglements with the opposite sex.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a lively and possibly eventful year, with important news influencing the affairs. Grave concern about an elder may cause postponement of cherished plans, but all relating to writings, publications or new contracts are under promising planetary influences.

A child born on this day may be active, versatile, mentally brilliant, as well as studious, serious and profound. And while having tendencies to a life of seclusion, it may also be ardent, impulsive and fond of social pleasures and romance.

UNEMPLOYED HEAR C.I.O. ORGANIZER

Status Of Capital And Labor Said 75 Years Behind In Canada

The fighting spirit of John L. Lewis was praised and the principles behind his Committee for Industrial Organization were commended by Mak. Sargent, local textile organizer, in an address to the Peterborough Workers' and Unemployed Association last evening.

Trade unionism was born out of the miserable conditions of the past century, he declared. He said capitalism has only one motive—profit—and collective bargaining through unionism is the only weapon labor has against this motive.

Mr. Sargent considered the status of capital and labor relations in Canada 75 years behind those of most other countries of the world. He stressed that the power of labor is in organization and urged that all unemployed as well as employed organize and handle their problems collectively.

Workers in Peterborough could organize almost 4,000-strong this year, he declared in conclusion. Better conditions for the workers here and business as a whole would immediately result, he said.

CUSTOMS RETURNS ARE UP $400,000

Total Surpasses Past Fifteen Years Except Years 1929-1930

Peterborough customs returns for the fiscal year which ended Wednesday reached a new post-depression high with the total $1,464,275.87, Collector W. M. Lang announced this morning. A measure of Peterborough's economic recovery, the total surpasses all in the past fifteen years except the 1929-1930 figure, $1,944,074.60.

The annual figure represented a gain of more than $400,000 over the fiscal year 1935-1936 which saw a total collection of $1,043,842.71 at this port. Collections in 1934-1935 were $934,361.22. The low depression level was experienced in 1933-1934 with a collection total of $842,646.47.

Collections for March this year again showed a substantial gain over March last year. The total was $135,043.86 as compared with $87,438.06. The total included $80,891.81 excise tax collections, $48,143.80 import duty collections, $100 excise duty collections and sundry collections totalling $108.25.

THE Royal Road TO THE CORONATION

The Prince aboard the Collingwood (right), and as a Naval Officer in 1917.

BACK from the Cumberland cruise, Prince Albert was gazetted midshipman and in September 1913, he joined H.M.S. Collingwood. No rumble of war was then apparent, nor yet the following year when the great fleet exercises were held off Portsmouth.

But only a few weeks later the blow fell; Britain was at war. Midshipman Prince Albert was still a man of the ranks, known aboard as Mr. Johnson, still doing his job with his brother officers with no recognition of his Royal lineage asked or given. His father, King George V., visited the Collingwood once, to greet his son only as a midshipman along with his fellow ratings. But appendicitis which had worried the Prince for some time finally halted his naval career. But a hospital. It was February, 1915, before he rejoined his squadron, only to be again forced ashore by recurrent attacks of the illness that finally halted his naval career. But before his sailing days were over, His Royal Highness was to feel the baptism of fire that a ship of the line earned at the mighty Battle of Jutland.

The Collingwood was not hit during the most shrouded battle in 1916, but she was engaged with more than one German warship and for his calm and courage under fire, Prince Albert was mentioned in despatches. He served in a fore gun-turret of the Collingwood during the entire engagement and his coolness was remarked upon by officers and men alike. But illness was again besetting him, diagnosed at last as a severe duodenal ulcer and an immediate operation was ordered.

Prince Albert ardently hoped to return to the Navy after his convalescence, but it was not to be. Weakened by the operation and the long fight against his illness, it was considered better for the Prince to terminate his career afloat. To-day's pictures shows His Majesty before he regretfully accepted that decision.

Police Force Is To Receive Part Of Salary Cut Restored

Appointment Of Two New Constables Left Over Until Judge Smoke Returns

TWO TAG DAYS

Announcement was made at the monthly meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners on Wednesday afternoon that members of the City Police Force are to receive partial restoration of pay cuts effected during depression years. Made retroactive to March 1, the increases will approximate a 6 per cent restoration for each member of the force.

Estimates of the Department for the current year were increased from $35,700 to $39,830 and in addition to providing for restoring a part of the pay cut the budget allows for appointment of two extra officers to bring the strength up from thirteen to fifteen members.

Under the new schedule a total of $31,700 will be spent in salaries this year (not taking into consideration the additional men to be engaged), as compared with a payroll of $30,900 last year, it was stated.

Mayor George A. Macdonald expressed the strong opinion that extra men are needed on the force in order that the city, and particularly outlying sections of it, shall be properly policed.

Viewing with disapproval the new legislation that will raise the motor speed limit to 50 miles an hour on highways throughout the province, and to 30 miles an hour in all cities and towns in Ontario, His Worship forecast that the police would find additional traffic problems on their hands as a result.

In the absence from the city of His Honor Judge Sinclair L. Smoke, chairman of the Commission Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., was named as chairman pro tem.

He urged that the matter of the two new appointments to the police force stand in abeyance until the return to the city of Judge Smoke when possibly a special meeting will be called to deal with the matter. The suggestion was acted upon and the matter was allowed to stand over for the time being.

Permission was granted to the local branch of the Humane Society to hold a tag day on April 17 and also to the Salvation Army to hold a tag day in connection with "Self Denial Week" on May 15.

NEW CORONATION STAMP

OTTAWA, April 1.— (CP)— A three-cent Coronation stamp bearing the portraits of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth will be placed on sale May 12, two days before the ceremonies at Westminster Abbey, Postmaster General J. C. Elliott announced to-day.

The stamps will be double-sized and red in color. Only the one denomination of the commemorative stamp will be printed, but on the same day the four, five and eight cent regular stamp issue with the head of King George will go on sale. The one, two and three cent of the regular issue were being sold throughout Canada for the first time to-day.

30 CHILDREN GIVEN ENJOYABLE TREAT

Taken To a Show And Later To Dinner In Empress Hotel

Thirty children—fifteen from the Children's Shelter and the other half from St. Vincent's Orphanage were given an enjoyable treat on Wednesday as the guests of the management of Peterborough Bus Lines.

In one of the company's buses that was placed at their disposal, the children journeyed to the Regent Theatre and at the matinee performance saw "Penrod and Sam" and "Two Wise Maids"—a couple of pictures admirably suited for children.

After the show the happy throng of children sat down to supper at the Empress Hotel, before being driven home again. Laurie Mitchell, manager of Peterborough Bus Lines was in charge of all the arrangements in connection with the outing.

Unemployed Hear

City Streets Are Covered With Dust Board Is Urged To Put Men To Work

The Board of Works gentlemen have a clean-up job on their hands, a hangover from the winter of little snow and much ice, and a broom brigade will start to work at once to sweep up the accumulated dust. Alderman Sinks remarked to-day that this work would be mentioned at the Board's meeting to-night.

"We spent far more money than usual on sanding the streets and sidewalks during the winter that is now past," the chairman said, "and one result is a heavy cleaning job on our hands. Sidewalks and even the city have to be swept, especially in the centre ward. If time had been heavy Spring rains they would have helped, but I suppose there is no other way than to get the brooms out."

One business man told The Examiner to-day that every night when he went home his face felt as dirty as he had been at a threshing and he thought that if the men were to scrape the Board of Works might try the old daytime sweeper or purchase a street flusher.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

Jabs and Jottings as Picked Up By an Examiner Reporter.

AT THE EMPRESS.

Among the guests at the Empress Hotel are Mr. and Mrs. R. Smith, Hamilton; R. G. Beatty, Buffalo, N.Y.; Stuart Donald, Owen Sound; J. J. Rutherford, Fergus, and Frank Webster, Brantford.

EATING THE BUDS.

R. T. Mounsell informs The Examiner that the sparrows have developed a liking for the young buds on the maple trees and lilac bushes, and that a number of trees in his neighborhood have been stripped by the feathered marauders.

MARKING EXAMINATIONS.

Collegiate Institute teachers who have not been in attendance at the Ontario Educational Association's sessions in Toronto have been busy marking examination papers so that the Easter holidays are not as much of a sinecure as might be expected.

ROBINS ARE BACK.

The arrival of April today brought warmer weather and also the return on apparently a considerable scale of the cheerful red-breasted robins. From various sections of the city today the arrival of these harbingers of spring has been reported to The Examiner.

MAGISTRATE'S COURT.

When he pleaded guilty before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., this (Thursday) morning a transient who said he was George Nolan of Kitchener was remanded a week for sentence on a charge of vagrancy and begging.

BANK CLEARINGS.

A small decrease in the bank clearings reported from Peterborough Clearing House was revealed for the month of March as compared with the same month a year ago. Clearings for March this year totalled $2,867,360, while for March last year they were $2,809,234.

CLOSED ON SUNDAY

Effective immediately, the reading room at the Public Library will remain closed Sunday afternoons for the summer period. Librarian F. M. Dela Fosse announced today. The Sunday afternoon privileges will be resumed in November.

FIRST MAIN STREET NEST

Bird calls high over the city Wednesday night announced that first migrant robins have not returned alone. And a main street variety is a month ahead of the season with a nest of eggs in the Roy Studio window.

ESTIMATING ON HOUSES

A carpenter told The Examiner today that he was figuring on four houses for citizens who are considering building this season. They wanted estimates of the cost. "I might get all of them, and again probably only one of them might be built, but the prospects are encouraging," the contractor said.

A VETERAN TRAPPER.

There is evidently no old age pension system when it comes to trapping. Madden Howard, well-known Hiawatha Indian, was in town today to take out a trapper's license in readiness for another campaign against the Rice Lake muskrats. He is 77 years of age, but that fact has not dulled his enthusiasm for the annual trapping operations.

A DOUBLE ANNIVERSARY.

Two members of the city police department today marked milestones in their respective records of service as guardians of the law. Detective-Sergeant William Meagher, who was appointed on April 1, 1908, entered upon his thirtieth year of service, while Constable Gordon T. Puffer, J.P., appointed April 1, 1921, entered on his seventeenth year of service.

NEW STAMPS ON SALE.

The new issue of Canadian postage stamps was on sale at the Peterborough postoffice this morning. The stamps are of the one, two and three cent denomination, bearing the effigy of His Majesty King George VI. The one cent stamp is green in color, the two cent ones are brown and the three cent issue red.

OPEN TWELFTH STORE.

The shoe firm of R. Neill Limited has opened a twelfth unit in its chain of shoe stores in Timmins, Ontario. The new store is being managed by M. L. Strathrook, formerly of Midland, and is doing a trade in miners' footwear supplies as well as the regular Neill shoe lines. Besides the 12 stores, the Neill firm has two associate stores in the Province.

CLOTHES LINES STRIPPED.

Police are investigating further clothes-line robberies reported from the north-end of the city. Thieves seem to be concentrating on the Water Street district north of London Street at the present time. Several lines have been stripped recently of all garments, no choice being made between men's, women's and children's wear.

KIWANIS NOTES

Sixteen members of the local Kiwanis Club and their wives visited Lindsay this week to celebrate with the club of that town their fifteenth anniversary. At their luncheon meeting at Empress Hotel on Friday the Peterborough Kivanians are to be addressed by the Hon. O. M. Gordon, K.C. As guest speaker Mr. Gordon is to speak on the subject of "Social Legislation."

Not Coming Down, He's Going Up.

With One Hind Leg Crippled and Too Big To Be Carried, This Large Newfoundland Dog Takes This Unique Way of Going Up Steps.

SOME people who have a touch of lumbago or sciatica or some such thing have trouble going up stairs. Nig is a Newfoundland dog and his street address is 268 Maitland. His daily rounds consist of following some of the boys from the neighborhood to school and coming home again, growing at the milkman and looking for a good deal to eat. The season for burying bones is about to start and that will add to his occupations.

A few weeks ago one of his hind legs went haywire. On the level it was all right, and going down steps or stairs was easy, but going up was different. When he got down the steps and wanted to come up he whined and that meant he had to be carried up. Not being of the lap dog type that service was grudgingly performed, and Nig came to the conclusion he would have to attend to his own climbing. Which he did.

Perhaps dogs don't know much and perhaps they do. Nig changed his tactics and started with his hind legs first on the bottom step and shoved himself up with his good front ones. A good many people said it couldn't be done, but it has been done a good many times.

Yesterday was a big day for Nig. There was an item in The Examiner about the dog that went up steps in reverse gear; then it appeared in The Globe and Mail; next The Toronto Telegram wired for a picture, and press photographers began to arrive from a good many quarters. The Examiner photographer worked on him, so did Fred Roy's studio, and The Star man came along in the evening to take a flash light.

On each and every occasion Nig went out for them and proceeded to climb the steps in reverse gear. He had a good trick and he was going to work it for all it was worth, so they clicked by day and flashed by night. In the picture shown here Nig is about at the top of the steps at the back of the house.

Whether he knows what it was all about is something on which folk can speculate. Probably he would figure out that if a dog found it easier to go up steps or stairs that way it was pretty much his own business. Just when his fan mail will start to come he does not know and says he does not care.

Electrical Department Shows Net Profit Of $31,666 In 1936

Gain Of Over $9,000 Is Shown Over Net Profit Of 1935 By Utilities

MORE POWER USED

A net profit of $31,666.02 for the Electrical Department of the Utilities Commission in 1936 was indicated in the annual balance sheet presented the Commission Wednesday afternoon. Consumption of power in all categories advanced during the year to show a gain of more than $9,000 over the net profit of $22,633.69 for 1935.

Total revenue for 1936 was $238,709.79 as against total expenses of $207,316.74 for an operating profit of $30,943.05. Reflecting most directly the increased use of power here during the year, the revenue figure represented an advance over that of 1935, $217,601.93. The total expense figure also represented an advance over the 1935 figure of $295,058.34 due principally to the purchase of an increased amount of power from the H.E.P.C. during the year.

Domestic lighting revenue for 1936 totalled $136,150.84, a gain of $5,813.62 over the previous year despite the virtual abandonment of the service charge. At $71,979.57, commercial lighting revenue was up $3,336.02 over 1935. Commercial power revenue totalled $102,843.94, an advance of $6,902.24 over the previous year. Revenue from street lighting was $21,894.70, an advance of $292.36.

Total assets at the year end were $1,306,036.09. Liabilities totalled $558,875.96, reserves totalled $500,617.46 and the total surplus was $448,744.61.

The Rambling REPORTERS

LOST IN TORONTO.

Three members of the Hall of Wisdom fraternity took a pleasure trip to Toronto on Wednesday, and all went well until they started for home. But somehow they got all turned around. First they found themselves in Parkdale and then they took a delightful drive through Rosedale. The winding streets are very nice in the daytime, but at night the trio found them rather tiring. However, after more than an hour they got on the right street and found the Kingston Road.—C.

Anxiously Awaiting Spring Rainfall In Western Area

Below Normal Precipitation Reported From Prairie Provinces During Winter

NEED HEAVY RAINFALL

TORONTO, April 1 — (C.P.). — Prairie farmers are casting apprehensive glances at weather forecasts. Reports from the great grain-producing belt indicate the need of heavy rains to promote growth of the 1937 crop following a winter that has been notable for a dearth of moisture in all districts except northern Alberta.

Precipitation has been below normal in the three prairie provinces. Dominion Meteorological Office statistics, covering the period Aug. 1-Feb. 28, show the average decrease below the normal in Alberta was four per cent. In Manitoba the average decrease was 14 per cent while Saskatchewan made the poorest showing with a deficiency of 20 per cent.

The great southern area of Saskatchewan, arid spot of the west, faces the spring with particularly little moisture in the soil. In the southwest the record shows precipitation was 32 per cent below normal, the southeastern section being almost as bad with a loss of 27 per cent.

Lack of rain in the autumn was the chief reason for the prairies' poor showing. Over the entire Saskatchewan area and in large portions of Alberta and Manitoba ridge deficits were shaked up in August and September which were not made up by subsequent snowfalls.

Only in northern Alberta where there was an increase above normal of five per cent and in the south of the province where the precipitation was normal did moisture conditions measure up to the average over a period of years.

During March comparatively little snow has fallen in the three provinces to brighten the winter outlook. Southern Alberta, however, will derive great benefit from a heavy fall in the middle of the month.

Conditions In Provinces

Analysis of the records shows that in northern Alberta the precipitation was above normal in every month except August and February. In central sections of the province, January was the only month to show an increase and October and November had the largest decline. Excesses occurred in October, December and January in southern Alberta. In December considerably more than twice the normal amount of precipitation was reported.

Throughout northern Saskatchewan increases were noted in four months but, due to the poor showing in the months of August and November, a slight drop below normal was indicated for the entire period. In the southwest, moderate to large deficiencies occurred in all months except December and January. Reports from southeastern Saskatchewan practically duplicated those from the area to the west except that the February decrease was only slightly below normal.

In western Manitoba minus signs were shown for August, October, November and January with increases in the other months. Throughout the eastern section small excesses occurred in August and September while the precipitation in February was 29 per cent above normal. Other months showed deficiencies.

Riot Victim

Mouth and terror in his eyes, an injured gendarme, one of the hundred of so struck by flying missiles in the Leftist-Fascist riot at Clichy, France, recently, is shown awaiting his turn for first aid. Five persons were shot to death and an unknown number suffered bruised heads as the result of the disorder that followed when Leftists stormed a Fascist meeting.

EASTER SERVICES HELD AT WARSAW

Festival Is Observed By Large Congregations And Special Music

(Examiner Correspondence.)

WARSAW, April 1.—Rev. J. W. Wilkinson officiated at Communion services at Bethel, Zion and Warsaw on Easter Sunday. Four new communicants were received at Bethel and three at Zion.

In Warsaw United Church the young people's choir led in the service of praise. Their special selections were "My Christ Has Arisen" and "The Lesson From the Lillies." Mr. Wilkinson prefixed his sermon by reading John Oxenham's "The Sanctuary," and "The Sacrament of Food."

The Baptist people held their Easter service at Mr. Archie Tedford's home.

The Anglicans had no Easter service. Services will probably be held on and after the first Sunday in April. It will be definitely known after Thursday evening.

The Presbyterian service was well attended on Sunday evening. Rev. Mr. Preston conducted the service touching on the Easter season. The full choir assisted by Mr. Hector Munro, gave two Easter anthems.

CALEDONIA MINE DEATH EXPLAINED

Victim Caught In Slide While Sealing Down Rock On Roof

CALEDONIA, Ont., April 1 (CP) —Inquest into the death of Allan Robinson, 38, in an accident in the gypsum mines here yesterday, has been postponed until April 7, Coroner Dr. A. E. Russell said today.

John Grinyer, injured in the mishap, rested at his home today. Dr. R. Maw, Caledonia, attending physician, will give him a thorough examination later. He suffered severe shoulder and body bruises and a crushed hand.

The accident, second in the history of the mine, occurred while the men were drilling and sealing down rock from the roof of the mine to make the workings safe for other workmen. About half a ton of rock fell on them.

Both were experienced miners. Robinson had been with the company 16 years, including two years as foreman in charge of underground operations at Lynbrook Mine, and was described by L. V. Robinson, general superintendent, as "one of the most careful men in the whole mine."

He was born in Indiana and lived in the Caledonia and York district all his life except while overseas with the Haldimand 114th Battalion in the Great War. Besides his widow, he is survived by one son and four daughters, all of Caledonia.

Police Progress in New York Mystery Murders

NEW YORK, April 1—(AP). — After questioning three men for more than four hours, District Attorney William C. Dodge announced to-day that police "have a definite suspect" in the triple Easter Sunday murder of art model Veronica "Ronnie" Cledeon; her mother, and a roomer, Frank Byrnes.

His statement followed lengthy questioning of Joseph Cledeon, the father; Robert Fowler, 25, whose marriage to "Ronnie" at 16 was quickly annulled; and George (French) Guerat, 48-year-old unemployed chauffeur and former roomer.

Artificial flower production in Czechoslovakia jumped 35 per cent. last year.

Kidney Acids Rob Your Rest

Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They toss and turn—lie awake and count sheep. Often they blame it on "nerves" when it may be their kidneys. Healthy kidneys filter poisons from the blood. If they are faulty and fail, poisons stay in the system and sleeplessness, headaches, backache often follow. If you don't sleep well, try Dodd's Kidney Pills—for half a century the favorite remedy.

RIVETLESS BOATS BUILT AT DETROIT

Welding System Ends Overlapping Plates — Special Stacks And Spars

DETROIT, April 1 — (C.P.). — First rivetless boats ever built for the Great Lakes, two canal barges are under construction at suburban River Rouge by the Great Lakes Engineering Company for the Ford Motor Company. According to shipbuilders, they sound a death knell to a picturesque figure—the shipyard riveter.

With all pieces of steel welded together they are solid one-piece boats without a seam such as the overlapping plate and rivet constructions caused. Twin ships the barges will run between Detroit and the Atlantic coast by way of the New York shin canal and the Hudson River. They are 300 feet in length, largest barges ever built for this traffic.

With the new method of construction has come a new shipbuilding technique. No longer does the weather figure greatly in building schedules as most of the ship is actually built in the shops. Plates are cut there not with old time shears and drills, but with flame cutters. They burn a cut through the half-inch plate at a speed of a foot a minute.

Most of the ship is put together in the shop. The plates are welded together and entire sections hoisted into place by cranes, to be welded into place.

To enable the ships to run under the low bridge over the canal, the pilot house, stack and spars either collapse or sink into the deck in special wells. The distance from water line to the highest part will be only 15 feet.

OWENBROOK

COMMUNICANTS SET NEW RECORD

Easter Service At St. Andrew's Anglican Church Largely Attended

(Examiner Correspondence.)

OWENBROOK, April 1.—St. Andrew's Church was compelely filled on Sunday evening for the Easter service, the number of communicants creating a record for this outlying station of the mission of Apsley. A number of visitors attended the service from Coe Hill. An interesting feature was the inauguration of a vested choir of fifteen voices trained by Mrs John Mace, who was also instrumental in securing the choir vestments from clerical friends in the states, as well as providing altar candlesticks and the processional cross. The choir cans were made by Mrs. George Woodbeck.

LACK OF AIR, FOOD DEATH TO CANCER

Finding Held Step To Understanding Chemical Changes In Body Regulating The Disease

By Stephen J. McDonough
(Associated Press Science Writer)

WASHINGTON, April 1 (AP) — Lack of air and food will cause the death of some areas of cancerous growths, a government medical scientist said today, as surely as a person will die if deprived of those necessities of life.

Discussing cancer research work of the National Institute of Health, Dr. Carl Voegtlin, medical director, declared oxygen and blood are necessary in the process of building up within cells the proteins which are one of the principal constituents of all tissue.

Recent experiments have shown that when either normal or malignant tissue is kept outside the body and deprived of oxygen the enzymes —chemical substances in the tissue which break down complex material into simpler ones—digested the tissues in much the same manner as the stomach breaks down food and digests it.

This finding, Dr. Voegtlin said, helps to explain why parts of a tumor die. When oxygen was provided the tissue, on the other hand, the enzymes acted in the opposite way and helped to build up proteins instead of destroying them.

The lack of a blood supply to the tissues to feed them also causes parts of a cancer to die, he added.

"This finding is merely a step toward understanding the fundamental chemical changes in the body which regulate cancerous growth," he said. "It is not a practical method for treating cancer."

Nine Miners Killed In Blast

Worn by their efforts to locate bodies of their comrades in the bowels of this mine near Dubois, Penn, rescue workers emerge from the shaft for a rest period. Nine men were killed, some of them would-be rescuers, when an explosion shattered mine tunnels far below the surface. Company and state officials began investigations into the disaster. The crew clambering from the pit were sent in to seek victim's of the blast.

DIFFERENCE MAKES BRITON, AMERICAN VERY GOOD FRIENDS

Tweedsmuir Gives U.S. Press Interview With Roosevelt Tossing in Side-Remarks

ROUND OF CEREMONIES

WASHINGTON, April 1 (A.P.)—Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor-General of Canada, told a group of Canadian, American, and foreign correspondents to-day the British and the Americans were "very good friends" because they were different from each other.

"Do you think Americans and the English are alike?" a woman reporter asked.

"Thank God," Lord Tweedsmuir replied with a smile, "they are very different, and that is why we are such very good friends."

The press conference was held in President Roosevelt's office in the executive mansion. Lord Tweedsmuir stood in full dress ceremonial uniform beside the President who sat at his desk and frequently interrupted the questioning with side remarks.

Lord Tweedsmuir explained his dress by saying he had a round of ceremonies to attend and it was not his normal attire. He wore a dark blue uniform with white stripes, braid and epaulets. A sword hung at his side. Seven medals overlapped each other in a long line on his tight-fitting coat.

The Governor-General volunteers that since he had no politics he could not discuss world affairs nor relations between Canada and the United States.

An Old Newsman.

Newspaper men and women at the White House were invited into the President's office to meet Lord Tweedsmuir.

The President, after the press filed by and shook the hand of the Governor-General, introduced him as an old newspaperman, and as such asked he be treated gently.

Lord Tweedsmuir was attached to the British General Staff as a Lieutenant-Colonel in 1916 and later was Chief Information Officer under the Prime Minister during the War.

He asked if any of the "Old Brigade" of war correspondents was present. Stephen T. Early, former newspaperman and now secretary to the President, was the only one to speak up and say "present."

The Governor-General said it was his first press conference for many years since such meetings were not customary in Canada where correspondents are received privately.

He said he had the privilege of meeting journalists three times in a week in Europe during the War and "again and again took my life into my hands" by relating incidents in confidence which, he added, were never broken.

Genuine Friendship

NEW YORK, March 31—(CP)—In an editorial to "A Welcome Visitor," The New York Herald Tribune to-day said the warmth of the reception Lord Tweedsmuir will have at the White House correctly mirrors the friendly feeling of the American people for Canadians.

"We feel that he is one of ours," said the editorial in recalling that "John Buchan was a boy from the Scottish border, who as a man held minor government posts with distinction, but acquired his real fame through what he wrote." It continued:

"He is not the technical head of the Canadian Government, but he nevertheless comes in the name of the Canadian nation. This means, to Americans, that he represents that country which is closer in thought and in heart to the United States than is any other nation. In fact, as he will learn if he does not yet know it, Canadians do not foreigners to Americans. We have had our misunderstandings and occasionally riled each other. But because these petty quarrels we are close friends."

Gibson alleged Anderson knocked down Myrtle Cook and that when he was assisting her to arise, Anderson kicked him on the jaw. Anderson denied the allegations.

OLD SEAL-HUNTER RECALLS THRILLS OF FORMER DAYS

Charlottetown Man Describes Sealing Trade Of Sixty Years Ago

HAS HAD ENOUGH

CHARLOTTETOWN, April 1 (CP)—William Case, city night watchman, nearing his 80th year, recalls his youthful days in his native Newfoundland when he sailed out of Little Harbor, Laporte Bay, for the sealing grounds at the age of 17.

Mr. Case said he had "no thrilling experiences outside of a ducking now and then," but remembered with ease his days of 60 years ago when, as a member of a crew of 10 or 12 aboard one of about 20 schooners, he hunted seals along the south coast of the Ancient Colony.

"Sometimes we sighted the seals when a day out; sometimes it would take two or three days or a week. We started out about the 10th of March and returned the middle or the last of April. The seals were found on the ice floating down from Anticosti," he said.

The schooners were all sheathed on the outside with two and one-half inch hardwood and kneed inside to prevent crushing by ice.

"Our usual catch was from 500 to 1,500 in each vessel. We took supplies on board for two months. When we could reach them on the ice cakes, a blow on the snout with a club did the trick. We shot them in open water and fished them out with gaffs at the end of the clubs."

Two men, "one the gunner and the other his mate," operated from small boats, so light they could be hauled over the ice, and would go a mile or two from the mother vessel, said the veteran seal-hunter.

Afraid of Snowstorms

"We didn't usually have fogs, but if we saw a snowstorm coming we hurried back to the schooner as fast as we could. If the storm overtook us and we missed sight of the vessel, we were guided to her by the fog horn."

The seals were skinned on the ice. "A rip with the knife and in a jiffy the pelt would be taken off and the carcass left for the birds. Some of the old hoods would make at us, but we could dodge them as they always moved in a straight line, and then the club or gun would soon fix them."

When the kill was over, the skins were landed at St. John's.

"These were taken to the big oil plants, where the blubber or fat was scraped from the skins, piled into chutes which ran along the whole side of the building and the oil drawn off from taps and run into casks. The skins were salted and shipped to Bristol in those days."

On one of his sealing trips, two men who had drifted out to sea from Port aux Basques, were picked up by a schooner in the fleet, Mr. Case recalled. Caught in the Gulf Stream, the men had been adrift for almost a week. One was dead with his hands frozen to the oars while the other had his arms frozen as far as the elbows and lost both of them.

Although in the best of health, Mr. Case said he would not care to go back to sealing again. It was "a hard life." He came to Charlottetown about 58 years ago and has made many trips out of here to the Old Country, West Indies, Central America and other points before retiring from sea life.

More than 40 years ago he saved a young girl, Mary Pembroke of Charlottetown, from drowning in Rustico harbor when she fell out of a boat. Fishing at the time, Mr. Case jumped in after her and brought the girl ashore after battling for some time against a swift tide.

Ed. Riley Is Re-elected As President Of Ball Club

Strong Slate Of Officers Elected As Petes' Ball Club Is Re-organized

COLLINS MAY MANAGE

Eddie Riley was re-elected president of the Peterborough Baseball Club last night at a well-attended re-organization meeting in the Chamber of Commerce. About three dozen diamond enthusiasts were on hand. Officers for the year were named and various plans for the coming season outlined.

The meeting opened with President Riley in the chair. He spoke briefly of last year's struggle in the O.H.A., how the local club finished and how bright the prospects were this year for a stronger team. He thanked all who had aided in the past and then turned the chair over to Max Swanston for the election of officers. He and H. A. Cranfield were nominated for the presidency, both declining to stand, but with Mr. Riley finally being persuaded to take over the office again.

Vern Dawson was elected vice-president, Jim Dorris was returned as secretary, and Jack Condon was re-elected treasurer. The 1937 executive will consist of: H. A. Cranfield, Dr. J. C. Green, Frank Buckland, Bill Kay, Fred Ash, Bill Prindille, Bob Ross, Cec. Wolff, Ches. Mowry, Russ Kitchen, Fred Collins and W. M. Lang. Two players will be added later. Leading manufacturers are to be named as honorary officers.

Manager Discussed

It was decided to discuss possible managers for the club but to leave the final decision to the officers and executive, rather than to the open meeting. The general choice appeared to be Fred Collins, former senior baseball manager from Western Canada, now residing here.

After considerable discussion regarding the financing of the team the season opens, with a "popularity contest", a raffle and a score-card-program, all having their supporters, a committee was named to make a decision and report back to the executive. The committee will consist of: Fred Collins, chairman, Vern Dawson, Bill Kay, W. M. Lang, Bill Prindille, Ches Mowry and Frank Buckland. Merchants are warned that no authority has been given anyone so far as to canvass for advertisements for a program. The president and vice-president were appointed as delegates to the next O.B.B.A. meeting. A checkup on equipment will be made and another meeting called in the near future.

7-5 ODDS GIVEN UPON MAROONS

Madison Square Gardens Sold Out For Tonight's Battle

NEW YORK, April 1 (C.P.). — Tommy Gorman brought his Montreal Maroons to Manhattan today, completing the cast for to-night's semi-final Stanley Cup series with New York Rangers for which some 16,000 fans have long since placed their money on the line.

Fan interest was so keen that 24 hours before game time Madison Square Garden announced a sell-out, while the betting fraternity made Maroons 7 to 5 favorites on the series and an even choice to take the first game.

Rangers must wring two straight to bring another hockey play-off game—a match against either Montreal Canadiens or Detroit Red Wings—to New York. Tuesday is the last open date before a circus takes over the Garden.

But even if Rangers only win the opener, it will be a sweet victory for little Davie Kerr, guarding the blue-shirt nets. Once Kerr was a Maroon netman under Gorman, but he was only a second-stringer, something that hurt the 27-year-old Scotsman's pride. Rangers paid good money for Kerr and since then he has delivered the goods and looks forward to turning back Maroons.

GEORGE SELKIRK IS SHOWING FORM IN TRAINING CAMP

One Of The Most Improved Players Of The Ruppert Squad

IN BETTER HEALTH

NEW YORK, March 31.—(CP).—"War correspondents" report from the Florida training camp of New York Yankees that George Selkirk, one of the few Canadian-born players in Major League baseball, today is the most improved member of the Ruppert rifles.

Selkirk was born in Huntsville, Ont., but spent his youth and started his diamond career in Syracuse, N.Y. When Babe Ruth was forced by the years to put aside his history-making bat, Selkirk, then with Newark International, was given the difficult task of trying to fill the Babe's brogans. That he did is attested by the fact he was the regular fielder of the team that was good enough to lead the American League by 19½ games last season and win the world series for Colonel Jake Ruppert, beer and ball mogul.

Manager Joe McCarthy unhesitatingly named the big Canadian-American when asked which player showed the greatest improvement over last season.

The Herald-Tribune's correspondent at St. Petersburg took Selkirk aside and listened to the following: "Last year I had sinus trouble. I never felt well three days in succession. Now I feel well every day.

"I've had every experience a major leaguer can have. I've been on a pennant-winning team and in the world series. I know more about fielding and hitting. The pressure is off. I feel sure now that I'm the Yankee right-fielder. I think Joe will even let me hit against left-handers this year."

COLLEGE COACHES GIVEN A BREAK

No Longer Required To Produce Winning Team In Year Or Leave

NEW YORK, April 1. — (AP). —The college football coach who sits on the uncomfortable pinnacle of a one-year contract is rapidly passing out of the United States' sports picture. No longer is the director of college gridiron destines required, in one short season, to produce a winner or "git."

Instead, athletic directors and alumni councils are taking a more charitable view and the long-term contract, designed to give a man sufficient time to establish his own system and prove its value, is becoming the rogue from coast to coast.

The latest development in the move to give the "man behind the guns" a break is at Indiana University, where Alvin N. McMillin yesterday was signed to a 10-year contract.

Dana X. Bible this year starts a similarly lengthy term at the University of Texas, having accepted the Longhorns' lucrative offer after a long and successful career at Nebraska.

Right behind these pace-setters come a long file of colleagues in every section of the country. There are at least 15 others who, next fall, will start work under new contracts or renewals of old ones which range in length from two to five years.

Dizzing Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

THE STARTLING statement from Toronto today that Guelph's protest of Barrie for using an over-age player had resulted in an emergency meeting of the O.H.A. subcommittee and the decision to throw Barrie out of the playdowns affects the Peterborough Colts directly. A sudden-death game has been ordered, according to report, between Aurora and the locals with the winner to meet the Guelph-Norvocs' survivor in O.H.A. junior "B" finals! This will put Peterborough right back into the thick of it after apparently being eliminated two weeks ago. At such a late date—what date is it, by the way? Oh, yes, April 1st once more. Well, well, well. And so we extend to our readers heartiest wishes for a merry April Fool's Day—and anyway ye local Colts are content to sit back now and cheer the Barrie boys along!

GIRLS' BASKETBALL playoffs start tomorrow e'en at eight in the Y.W. gym. First one is between C.G.E. Juniors and St. John's, followed by Westclox vs. C.G.E. Seniors. They are first games in two-out-of-three series. Admission is but a dime and men as well as the fair fans are invited to drop in and see these struggles. There'll be plenty of fast, exciting cage action with the championships at stake—so keep this Friday p.m. open for this twin bill if you are interested in lasses' basketball.

SOME THREE dozen enthusiasts took in the senior ball meeting last p.m. and got the old ball rolling. A bunch of former officers, a number of fans and quite a gang of players were on deck. This is the '37 slate of officers: Prexy, Ed Riley; vice-president, Vern Dawson; secretary, Jim Dorris; treasurer, Jack Condon; executive: Dr. Jack Green, Ott Cranfield, Bill Kay, Frank Buckland, Bill Prindible, Fred Ash, Russ Kitchen, Bob Ross, Cec. Wolff, Ches. Mowry, Pete Lang and Fred Collins. An excellent slate of workers, we'd say. Ed. Riley's re-appointment as president was a fitting tribute to all the work he has done. He and Jim Dorris did a surprising amount of re-organization work the past several months but it's on the q.t.

NO MANAGER was definitely named but it's a brass-pipe-inch that Fred Collins—who was strongly recommended by the big gathering—will be the Petes' skipper this summer. He arrived here last summer from Western Canada to take over the district managership for an insurances firm. A huge man physically, he is in his late forties, and is a redhot ball enthusiast. He haunted Riverside Park last year and spent hours with a bunch of the players before and after games discussing the sport. He used to play out west in his youth and has in recent years managed senior teams in Banff and Calgary as well as being on an executive in Edmonton. He knows his ball and is popular with the players—the latter gang endorsing him.

* * * * * *

A FINANCIAL committee was appointed last night and the club expects to raise a good amount of dough to start the season. There is a distinct feeling of optimism regarding the Petes' team this year. Aside from Foley, all last year's players are available and there are three or four other players in town now who are likely to bolster the squad quite a bit. And we have a hunch that Fred Ash and Russ Kitchen—who were on hand at this meeting—might be persuaded to make a comeback after being out a season. Main weakness with the 1936 edition of local ballsters were at first and in the box. Both should be plugged ably this semester. Another meeting will be called soon to clean up organization business and within a few weeks the boys will be set for indoor practices.

* * * * * *

KINGSTON PONIES may use Richardson Stadium, the Queen's U. enclosed field, instead of their wide-open Fair Grounds this summer. The Oshawa GM-men will most likely be back at Alexander Park where the homers bounce by you in the outfield like golf balls hitting concrete. Napanee has a good park in Gibbard's Field and will stick with it. If Trenton Pilers come into the C.O.B.L. fold, they'll hold forth in all probability in the Belleville Exhibition Park—having no enclosed diamond of their own. And the Petes will continue on at Riverside Park, undoubtedly the best baseball field of 'em all. The locals may do some of their spring training at the Exhibition Grounds if Riverside isn't ready in time.

* * * * * *

FIRST RAFT of transfer applications will be considered by the O.B.A.A. executive this weekend. Those affecting the Central League so far include: Dean Ford, Belleville to Napanee; Walter Jeffers, Toronto to Napanee; Varn Bishop, Napanee to Welland; Vinnie Utronki, Belleville to St. Catharines; Harry Bennett, Galt to Oshawa; and Tommy Foley, Peterborough to Oshawa. Nothing yet about new guys in Kingston or Peterborough, but it won't be long.

It was sent by "Blimp" Fitzgerald of the Montreal Star, former reporter with The Examiner, and shows a subnormal and dangerous tendency in his makeup which should be curbed before he starts throwing banana peels in front of elderly ladies on the sidewalk! Birds who play April Fool stunts should be bested in urk—and a low grade of urk at that. (Voice: Look who's talking!)

LAKEFIELD WINS PUCK EXHIBITION

Take 12-4 Decision From Team Picked From Senior City League

LAKEFIELD, April 1.—The Lakefield Senior Hockey Team, Peterborough Senior City League title-holders, defeated the Westclox team 12 to 4 in an exhibition game in the Lakefield rink on Tuesday evening.

A small crowd of spectators witnessed the game.

In spite of a wide margin of goals for Lakefield, the Westclox squad —representing several Senior City teams—managed to keep the game fairly interesting until the final bell rang. Had Westclox been playing their regular goalie there might have been a different story, but they played a defence man in the net and he proved to be the weak spot of the lineup.

There seemed to be more pugilists on the ice than usual, and referee Junkin, to prevent blood-shed, had to hand out penalties several times to players who felt the urge to battle.

The lineups were as follows:

Lakefield: Goal, T. Junkin; defence, G. Charlton, L. Fallis; centre, Chittick; wings, Jewell, and Blewett; alternates, Lennox, Death, Chappell, Morin and Charlton.

Westclox: Goal, Spencely; defence, Curtin and Parnell; center, Johnston; wings, Vitarelli and Dineen; alternates, Sproat, Hunter, Creighton.

Hobby Show Results In Cage Tournaments

The leading teams yesterday continued to win in the second part of the round-robin basketball tournaments run in connection with the "Y" Hobby Show. One upset was marked when Valley's tallenders defeated the leading Taylor team. Bill Hall broke out in a scoring rash in the fifth game to get three baskets in a row. Taylor was again high scorer with Hall and Burns tied for second. The finals will be played Saturday night at 7.30 between Eric Taylor's team of Walter Dunford, Jim Ferguson, Ross Hart and Joe Stewart, and Bill Hamilton's squad of Barney Dundas, Gord Burns, Arnold Rhodes and Bill Kemp. The Junior game to be followed at 8.15 by the Intermediate finalists, while the Senior City League playoff between P.O.P. and St. Paul's is at nine o'clock Saturday night. Final tourney standing:

YOUTH RESCUES DOG

16-Year-Old Toronto Boy Plunges Into Bay to Save Drowning Canine.

TORONTO, April 1.—(CP).—Alexander MacQuish, 16, did his good deed on the eve of the Humane Society tag day, held to-day, when he plunged from a pier on the waterfront here to-day, to rescue a drowning Dalmation pup. The dog's owner, who can't swim, threw the animal was swimming for nearly an hour and was exhausted when MacQuish rescued it.

Monarchs Have Strong Squad On The Memorial Cup Road

Fast Experienced Forward Lines With Hard-Hitting Defence

AGE LIMIT SQUAD

WINNIPEG, Man., April 1.—Again there is a Winnipeg Monarch club on the trail of the Memorial Cup. The last time, two years ago, that Monarchs set out after the Dominion junior championship, they got it. According to Coach Harry Neil this year's edition is stronger by far than the team that won national honors in 1936. So if you can take his statement literally, it is merely a matter of how good is the opposition.

All but two of the Monarchs are playing their last year in junior company. With the exception of these two with another year of junior—Jack Aichison, right winger, and Zenon Farley, goaltender—the team will graduate. Farley played in the same league—the Manitoba junior south division—last year, but did not distinguish himself, as he played behind a team that stressed the attack and left the back-checking to the goalie. When Monarchs released their 1936 netminder, they took on Farley, and his ability to kick punch and swat them out has contributed in a large way to the Monarch's success this year.

Defence Good

On defence are Jack Fox, Remi Vandaele and Ted Dent. Fox is rated as the best junior defenceman in the province. Coupled with his ability to "take it," he can "dish it out" in no uncertain fashion, and is a very dangerous rusher. Jack has played defence opposite Ted Dent ever since they were both 13 years old.

Remi Vandaele will probably give opposing teams more trouble than either Fox or Dent. Remi has come along more this year than any other player on the team, and although light, he hands out one of the toughest body-checks Manitoba junior hockey has ever seen. He is not as dangerous as Fox on the offensive, but has a terrific shot that has scored quite a few goals from outside the blue line this season.

The first forward line has been freely hailed as the best junior line since the days of Mets, Kelly and Jackson, now playing pro hockey on the last St. Mike's team to win the Memorial Cup. Alf Pike, Johnny McCreedy and Dick Kowcinak have been playing on the same forward line since they were 14 years old. They have one of the flashiest and most effective passing attacks ever seen in this province, and all three finished their schedule among the scoring Big Ten.

Brilliant Forwards

Alf Pike is the centre man. Tall and rangy, he worries opposing defencemen frantic with his shift and his stick-handling. He also sports a devastating poke-check that breaks up many an enemy play before it reaches dangerous stage. Alf is also adept in the art of ragging the puck while his team is shorthanded.

Dick Kowcinak is smaller and lighter than Pike, but is just as dangerous. Also with a tricky shift that baffles defencemen. Dick has been slowed up in recent games by a sore knee. His scoring ability made him second in the division scoring this season.

Johnny McCreedy is a fine hockey player, and is also what is known among the trade as a "spot" man. He can always be depended upon to be where a pass would do the most good, and this happy faculty together with an accurate shot has lifted him up into the ranks of the best junior players in the province.

The second forward line of the Regals has been prominent in the last few games. Pete Langelle and Paul Rheault are playing their last year of junior, while Jack Atchison is playing his first, and has one more year to go.

Penalty Time-killers

Paul Rheault has been on a Memorial Cup winner before. In 1936 he played on the second string line of the Monarchs that defeated Sudbury in the Dominion final. With a hoard of experience behind him, he is one of the most polished players on the club. When the Monarchs are playing short-handed it is usually Paul and Pete Langelle that pile over the boards to backcheek a power play into the ice, and they do it well.

Atchison is the result of an extensive search to find someone to keep up with Rheault and Langelle. Last year as a juvenile, he shone, and he has been coming along so fast in the last few games that he rates almost on a par with the other two members of his line right now. He has a dangerous backhand shot that has scored almost a goal a game in the eliminations leading to the provincial championship.

HARVEY "BUSHER" JACKSON

After winning the year's all-star team award for left-wing duties, Harvey "Busher" Jackson put his name on a hockey contract with the Toronto Maple Leafs for next season. This now completes signing ceremonies for the first string line of Leafs composed of Jackson, Apps and Drillon. The latter two signed contracts effective for two seasons when they joined the club last fall.

HORNETS DEFEAT SYRACUSE STARS

Two To One Victory Deadlocks Western Playoffs At Two All

NEW YORK, April 1.—(AP). — Springfield Indians tangle with Philadelphia Ramblers on home ice to-night in an effort to duplicate the performance of Pittsburg Hornets in staying in the International-American Hockey League's playoffs.

Facing elimination if they lost, the Hornets came from behind last night to whip the favored Syracuse Stars 2-1 at Pittsburg in a battle featured by chair-throwing fans who twice forced delay in the game. The victory deadlocked the western division final playoff series at 2-all, thereby forcing it into a fifth game at Syracuse Sunday.

The Ramblers, who came close to making a runaway of the regular season Eastern division race, had little difficulty downing the Indians 3-1 in the opening game of their two-out-of-three series for the division title Tuesday, and will clinch the finalist berth with a victory to-night.

Remember When—

The Stanley Cup series between Montreal Canadiens and Seattle was called off for the season owing to an influenza epidemic in the Canadien's camp 16 years ago today. With the deciding game to be played at Seattle five "Flying Frenchmen" were taken ill and rushed to hospital.

In the Monarch's way, they have been playing four games a week for two weeks now, and might be a pushover for an inferior club if a reaction sets in.

O.H.A. LAURELS ARE CAPTURED BY BELLEVILLE

Redmen Wallop Thorold Mountaineers 5-2 To Take Final Round of INTERMEDIATE "B"

Winners Are Never Headed Through Deciding Games Of Series

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., April 1.—(CP)—Belleville Redmen captured the championship of the Intermediate "B" series of the Ontario Hockey Association here last night when they registered a 5-2 victory over Thorold Mountaineers to take the final round in straight games. Redmen were value for their win, holding an edge throughout.

The winners made good use of their scoring chances and checked back well to prevent the home forces from getting in close. On most of the occasions that came the way of the Joers, Ken Watt, Belleville goalie, proved a real obstacle. Speedy St. Louis and the Jackson brothers were the pick of the visiting crew.

Joe Colucci and Chick Turner were the only Thorold players to match strides with the new champions.

Belleville scored the only two goals of the opening period by making good use of its chances. Writting tallied the first when two-thirds of the period had expired and Will Jackson combined with his brother a minute later to extend the edge.

Mountaineers Fight Hard.

Thorold kept play in the Belleville territory for half the session and had at least a half dozen dangerous opportunities but looked weak at completing the tries.

The Redmen had the better of the second period.

Thorold kept play in the Belleville territory for half the session and had at least a half dozen dangerous opportunities but looked weak at completing the tries.

The Redmen had the better of the second period. The session was only 34 seconds old, however, when Russ put his team back in the running on a backhander from close in. Morgan took a pass from St. Louis to get a pretty counter after seven minutes of play and Redmen led 4-1.

St. Louis was hurt in the play and spent 10 minutes in the dressing room. Upon his return he went in alone to give the Easterners a 4-1 lead and they continued to dominate the play the rest of the way.

Each club scored in the final chapter, Thompson collected the second Thorold tally after seven minutes, Will Jackson putting the Redmen further in the lead after 12 minutes. The remaining play found the winners protecting their lead.

Lineups:

Thorold—Goal, McGregor; defense, Thompson and Payne; centre, Turner; wings, Russ and Colucci; alternates, Horne, W. Lounsbury, Weller, Patterson and L. Lounsbury.

Belleville—Goal, Watt; defence, Bentley and Murphy; centre, St. Louis; wings, Berridge and Morgan; alternates, W. Jackson, Ingram, Tompkins, C. Jackson and Whitton.

Windsor Collegiate Cagers Oust Falls

TORONTO, April 1 (C.P.).—Senior basketball title of the Ontario Secondary Schools Association will be at stake to-night when Windsor Kennedy Collegiate and Central Collegiate of Hamilton, survivors of the semi-final round, meet here in the final of the series.

Smothering Stamford Collegiate of Niagara Falls under a 43-19 score here last night, Kennedy earned the right to meet Central. The Hamilton squad trimbed out a 31-26 decision over Glebe Collegiate of Ottawa in the second game, to enter the final. The losers meet to-night in a consolation tilt, to be played as a curtain raiser for the title clash.

Finnigan Quits

After thirteen years in hockey ranks, Frank Finnigan, veteran Ottawa right-winger of the Toronto Maple Leafs, announced his retirement from hockey to the heads of the Toronto team. Although not a high scorer he was a valuable asset when the team was short-handed, with a special aptitude for ragging the puck and breaking up rushes with his checking ability.

REDMEN SLASH RIDEAUS DOWN BY 12-3 SCORE

Quebec Association Propose To Investigate Copper Cliff Birth Certificates

VOLANTS OUST ACES

Hull Victory By 3-2 In Fourth Game Lifts Gloom In Ottawa Area

TORONTO, April 1 (CP).—Three branches of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association had two teams each among the seven in the running for the two Dominion titles today. Only three times have both championships gone to any one division since the junior series was started and Saskatchewan, Northern Ontario and the Ottawa district are striving hard for the coveted double triumph.

There seems little chance the Ottawa district will win both the Allan and Memorial Cups, for Ottawa Rideaus face defeat in junior playdowns. But Saskatchewan is banking on North Battleford Seniors and Saskatoon Juniors, Northern Ontario on Sudbury Seniors, and Copper Cliff Juniors.

Hull Volants, Ottawa district champions, can block North Battleford and Sudbury in the way of the junior aspirants stand. Winnipeg Monarchs, Manitoba winners.

In 1919, first year the Memorial Cup was up, Hamilton Tigers and University of Toronto Schools won the country's senior and junior awards for the Ontario Hockey Association. Toronto Varsity Grads and Owen Sound Greys scored for the O.H.A. in 1927 and Winnipeg Elmwood Millionaires for the Manitoba Association in 1931.

Redmen Win Opener

Northern Ontario's chances soared last night when Copper Cliff's dynamic Redmen walloped Ottawa, 12-3 to open eastern junior finals. Gloom in the Ottawa district over that result was offset by Hull's 3-2 victory over Quebec Aces, earning Volants a place in eastern senior finals with Sudbury Tigers. Copper Cliff can end its best-of-three round with Rideaus at Toronto Saturday, while Hull and Sudbury will start a best-of-three set on dates yet to be set.

Saskatoon Wesleys and Winnipeg Monarchs will begin play on a best-of-three basis for the western junior title and the Abbott Cup tonight in Winnipeg, the winner journeying east to play Copper Cliff or Ottawa for the Memorial Cup. North Battleford Beavers wait in Calgary for the east's Allan Cup finalist, Hull or Sudbury.

While the north country was a jump ahead of the Ottawa district, outsiders today disputed Copper Cliff's right to its present spot. The Quebec Amateur Hockey Association will seek examination of birth certificates of all the Redmen, officials have announced. Ages of players Dick Perry, John Frenett, Hamill and Jack Shewchuk are questioned.

Coach Max Silverman of Redmen declared he was not worried by possibilities of investigation and that copies of the birth certificates of all his players are in the hands of W. A. Hewitt, C.A.H.A. registrar.

Copper Cliff eliminated Montreal Victorias, Quebec's representatives, before tackling Ottawa.

The flying Red team's first forward line put on one of its greatest displays of the winter for Ottawa fans, Red Hamill net five of the dozen goals and assisted in four. Centre Pat McReavy tallied three times and got three assists, and Roy Heximer accounted for two goals and two assists. Never in the running, Rideaus managed to nab a single tally in each period.

Hull scored its narrow decision over Quebec on Montreal ice, after Aces had campaigned hotly to have the game stayed at Quebec. Phil Reinhardt scored Volant's first goal and his brother Gene got the second and third. Gene's last came with less than five minutes to play on a pass from Frank Jansen. Pete Marlin and Jack O'Connell tallied in the losing cause, tying the battle up at two stages.

Hull Celebrates Wildly

The 1,500 Hull fans who attended demonstrated long after the game. To them it was a joyous culmination to a bitter war. Originally scheduled for three games, the round went to four, when Volants successfully protested Aces' win in the second. Volants won the opener 2-1; Quebec took the disputed game 3-2, and the third 1-0.

Jack Abbott, manager-coach of North Battleford's Western Senior champions, has announced Beavers will play no exhibition games while they await the Eastern winners. They'll merely drill at Calgary and Okotoks.

Frank Coulson deposed as coach of Beavers, is still in Calgary. He says he is remaining on instructions of the club executive. It was expected he would leave for home soon, however, for the Beaver leaders declared last night Coulson was through for the season after disagreeing that ended with Abbott talking over the reins.

Monarchs Again?

In 1922 and '23, when they progressed to Canadian finals, Winnipeg Monarchs stepped over Port Arthur and Saskatoon Wesley on the way. They've taken Port Arthur again and can go half-way over Wesleys to-night. Monarchs won the Memorial Cup in '23.

Teams eliminated by to-day's three Allan Cup survivors since group playoffs follows: Hull-Smith's Falls, Moncton Maroons, Quebec Aces; Sudbury-Kirkland Lake Lakeshores, Port Colborne Sailors, Toronto Dominions; North Battleford—Regina Aces, Edmonton Dominions, Port William.

The following have been put out by the four Memorial Cup survivors: Ottawa—Perth and Amherst St. Pats; Copper Cliff—Sault Ste. Marie, Timmins, Toronto St. Michael's College, Montreal Victorias; Winnipeg—Portage la Prairie, St. Boniface Seals, Port Arthur; Saskatoon—Wilcox Notre Dame, Edmonton Rangers and Trail.

BEAVERS STICKING TO TRAINING GRIND

Polish Passing Plays As Team Determines To Take Allan Cup West

CALGARY, April 1 (C.P.).—Determined to keep the Allan Cup in Western Canada by bringing it to Saskatchewan for the first time in 23 years, North Battleford Beavers made a resolute return to the training grind to-day.

Given a full day's freedom to celebrate their great comeback victory over Fort William Wanderers here on Monday, The Saskatchewan tillers went through a solid hour of scrimmaging at Okotoks yesterday to loosen stiffened muscles. Okotoks is 20 miles south of here.

Not since Regina won the Dominion title in 1914 has the trophy donated by Sir Montagu Allan of Montreal been taken to the Prairie Province, and North Battleford, survivors of internal dissensions that saw Coach Frank Coulson overthrown, figure it is the club to accomplish the feat.

Jack Abbott, successor to Coulson as coach, and no "greenhorn" at the master-minding job either, ordered his blue-and-white clad squad to skate in high gear throughout yesterday's practice.

Postponement of a scheduled trip to Banff caused Abbott to re-arrange plans for the lay-off Beavers must weather until either Sudbury Tigers or Hull Volants can win the Eastern crown and reach Calgary for the Canadian final.

Instead of going to the mountain beauty spot to-day, North Battleford will return to Okotoks for another practice during which passing plays will be polished. They will adhere to the routine of a daily practice until next Sunday when the trip to Banff will be made.

While grooming for the Allan Cup finals, Beavers will confine themselves to practices. No exhibition games with Alberta teams are contemplated. All workouts at Okotoks will be staged in the morning to avoid soft ice in case of a thaw.

ADAMS RUMORED BANKING ON SMITH IN NETS TONIGHT

Return Of Crack Detroit Goalie Will Give Wings Chance

CANADIENS ON THE BIT

MONTREAL, April 1 (CP)—There was talk in this town today of Norm Smith making a surprise appearance in Detroit Red Wings' nets tonight for the all-important Stanley Cup clash against Montreal Canadiens. But there was no confirmation.

Rumor of the return of Smith, injured in the third game of the National Hockey League titular series, bussed through hockey circles. But all attempts to reach Manager Jack Adams for confirmation or denial failed.

"Mr. Adams has left word he must not be disturbed," hotel attendants said.

Otherwise there was nothing new on the Montreal hockey front as Canadiens and Red Wings awaited the start of the fifth game with the series tied at two games apiece. The Frenchmen, who will make Stanley Cup history by winning a third straight, remained favorites—providing Smith did not play.

If the Judge Norm, Vezina Trophy winner and goaler for The Canadian Press all-star team, gets back in the game, Detroit were rated no worse than even-choice even if the goalie's left arm is not 100 per cent O.K.

Win A Precedent

For the courageous Canadiens, a victory tonight would climax a comeback in a season of comebacks. Never before has a team dropped the first two games of the league championship series and gone on to take three straight.

It's three seasons, in the playoffs of 1933-34, since Adams, who hasn't been very jolly the last few days, and his Red Wings were in such a spot. Then Wings won the first two games of the N.H.L. finals against Toronto and dropped two straight away from home.

They went back to Detroit for the fifth game and won it, 1-0 on the goaltending brilliance of Wilf Cude, the slim Welshman who will be opposing them tonight.

Standing room only signs went out at the Forum early and a capacity crowd of close to 13,000 will watch the game.

Canadiens went through a brief skating practice yesterday but Babe Siebert, their ace defenceman, didn't get on skates. The Babe was limping around on a cane because of a bruised foot, but he'll be out there for another 50-minute session when the whistle sounds. Otherwise there wasn't an injury in the Frenchmen's camp.

Calgary Girls Drop, Plan To Come East

CALGARY, April 1.— (CP) — Tommy Kelt, manager of the Calgary Grills girls' hockey team, announced the club has abandoned plans for a Canadian championship series in Eastern Canada with Preston Rivulettes.

Kelt said last night terms for the series, as laid down by the Dominion Women's Hockey Association, are "impossible."

"In retiring for the winter," he said, "The Grills are sticking to their claim that they are Western Canada champions by virtue of their tournament victory at Banff, and the team also feels that it has a moral claim on half the Canadian championship."

The Canadian Women's Hockey Association claims the Grills are not affiliated and therefore ineligible.

CHAPTER 1

THERE might have been occasions when the offices of Stuckey & Stuckey, solicitors, received the ministrations of a charwoman; but, if so, no living soul could testify to this of his own knowledge. There had been suspicions from time to time: for example, when Mr. Joseph Bells, the managing clerk, had arrived one morning in an unusually observant mood and had noticed that the squiffe foot on his desk which he somehow managed to keep clear of documents was of a slightly different shade of dinginess from what he knew to be its normal color. There was, too, ground for suspicion that the window behind Mr. Bells' office chair was letting in more light than usual; but this implied such an unthinkable supposition that he at once concluded the spring sunshine was a little stronger than usual and proceeded to draw the blind farther down.

Mr. Bells was not a lover of strong light; it made his small, almost colorless eyes blink under the powerful lenses of his steel-rimmed spectacles; there may also have been a subconscious realisation that the activities of the firm of lawyers which was housed in these dingy two rooms on the ground floor of the building known as 274a, River Street, Rotherhithe, were of the kind upon which it was not desirable that the full glare of daylight should be thrown.

The tall, thin, gloomy-looking clerk sat in his office chair one bright morning in early spring and almost fumed as he glanced at his watch, which indicated that the only other employee of the firm, the lady stenographer, was already twenty minutes late.

Presently he heard footsteps, and a girl slouched rather than walked through the office door, hung her coat and hat negligently on a dusty peg, strolled to a chair in front of a typewriter, stretched herself and yawned as one who has had insufficient sleep, and flopped into the seat with a gesture of infinite weariness. Taking from her large and ornate handbag her powderpuff and mirror, she commenced languidly to atone for any cleansing deficiencies of her toilet with a liberal coating of the face powder which, to her, was modern chemistry's greatest gift to women.

Presently:

"Miss Harringay!" He said again, a little more loudly this time and with a peremptory note.

With a shrug she swung slowly round to face the managing clerk.

"Oh, good morning, Mr. Bells," she said.

"Are you aware, Miss Harringay, that this office opens at nine o'clock and it's now twenty-three minutes past?"

She stifled another yawn.

"I'm terribly sorry," she drawled. "You see, I went out last night with such a nice boy, Mr. Bells, and we—er—well, we were rather late getting home. You know what it is, don't you?" She smiled with a lot of teeth into the elderly clerk's face.

"I'm glad to say I don't," said the man shortly. "When I was your age I spent my leisure hours in trying to improve my mind."

She tittered.

"Such a waste of time!"

He frowned.

"I beg your pardon, Miss Harringay?"

She waved a hand round the office.

"Well, look what it's brought you to!"

He turned away with a grunt. He was never at his best in verbal encounters with Elsie Harringay; it was not until ten minutes after a minor discomfiture such as this that the right, crushing rejoinder occurred to him, and then it was too late to be effective.

The girl pulled the cover from her typewriter. As she did so the telephone bell rang and she rose with a sigh and crossed to the wall where the instrument hung.

"Hullo!....Yes, this Stuckey & Stuckey. What name, please?.....Well, I can't tell you unless you give me your name.....Haven't you got a name? Well, what's your number?" Bells, hearing the telephone, rose. "Who's that?"

"One of the anonymous ones—a man."

"What did he say?"

"I'd hate to repeat it!"

The managing clerk grunted, then took the receiver and spoke into it.

"Hullo!....Who is it?....Yes, old boy; Bells speaking. The governor's not here yet....Yes, old boy. There's a warrant out for you. You'd better get out of the country, old boy. Yes, old boy. Goodbye, old boy." He replaced the receiver with precision and turned to go.

"Who's the old boy, Mr. Bells?" asked Elsie.

He turned a stern eye to the typist.

"The rule of this office, Miss Harringay, is—no names. You've been here two years and you're about as intelligent now as you were when you came. By the way," he went on, "who was it came here after I went last evening?"

"The rule of this office," mimicked Elsie, "is—no names."

Bells frowned.

"Impertinence will get you nowhere, my girl," he began.

At that moment the telephone bell rang again and he crossed to the instrument.

"Hullo!....Yes, this is Mr. Stuckey's office, Bells speaking.....Oh, yes, old boy.....Well, if I were you, old boy, I'd get out of the country.....Yes, old boy....Goodbye, old boy."

As he replaced the receiver:

"Another gentleman of England—we do find 'em!" commented Elsie Harringay. "What tie does that old boy wear, Mr. Bells?"

"Will you please speak a little more respectfully of our clients, Miss Harringay?"

"Call me Elsie," she begged, "or 'old girl'. It sounds more cosy."

She rose from her chair and strolled into the inner office, glancing casually at the big, flat-topped desk in the center of the room. On the blotting pad lay a small pile of letters placed there by the managing clerk for the attention of Mr. Charles Stuckey, the head of the firm. On the top of these was a cablegram, sent economically from America at the night-letter rate. As the girl caught sight of this she opened her eyes wide in exaggerated astonishment.

"Things are looking up, Mr. Bells, aren't they?" she called through the open doorway. "Who's the cable from? It can't be one of our old boys—they've never got any money!"

Bells looked at her disapprovingly from over the top of his steel-rimmed spectacles.

"A little less levity would be more in keeping with your position," he said sternly. "As a matter of fact, that is a communication from an eminent firm of New York solicitors with reference to one of our oldest and most valued clients."

The girl put a hand to her chin and tilted her head thoughtfully.

"Now I wonder," she pondered aloud, "would that be Slick Samuels, the bag-snatcher, or young Larry—no, it couldn't be him; he's gone down for seven for robbery with violence..."

"When you have been here a little longer you will perhaps become aware that Mr. Stuckey's clientele embraces all sorts and conditions of—er—"

"Crooks," she supplied, and returned to her desk as her employer walked into the office.

1937—UNCLE WIGGLY'S APRIL FOOL

"Nurse Jane! Nurse Jane! Quick! Look behind you," screamed Baby Bunty, the orphan rabbit, in Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow one morning the First of April.

"Goodness me, sakes alive," squeaked the muskrat lady housekeeper. Of course she looked behind. Then she said:

"I don't see anything Baby Bunty. What's the matter?"

"Don't you see your own tail? Ha! Ha!" laughed the orphan rabbit. "April Fool!"

"Oh, my goodness!" said Nurse Jane once more. Then she went on bringing in the breakfast carrot oat meal and Buster said to Jingle:

"Will you have some sugar on your carrot oat meal?"

"Yes, You mean salt!" said the little rabbit girl. So she reached for the salt shaker, thinking, of course, it was the sugar. But instead it really had salt in it. And when Jingle had salted her carrot oatmeal Buster laughed and said:

"April Fool!"

Some Fun!

Oh, such fun as there was at the breakfast table in Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow April Fool morning! Mrs. Longears picked up what she thought was an egg and it turned out to be just a shell filled with water that squirted all over her. And when Jingle gave Nurse Jane what the muskrat lady housekeeper thought was a peanut it turned out to be one made of rubber and it bounced on the floor like a jumping jack.

Then, all of a sudden, Mrs. Longears said:

"Where is Uncle Wiggily?"

"Oh, I just remember," said Nurse Jane. "He didn't come home all last night."

"Didn't he?" asked the rabbit lady wife. "You aren't April Fooling me, are you, Nurse Jane?"

"Oh, no," answered Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "Uncle Wiggily went out to fly a kite in the last March wind and he didn't come home."

"Oh, my goodness!" said Mrs. Longears. "What could have happened?"

Well, she didn't know and Nurse Jane didn't know nor did any of the children rabbits. But you children know having read the story last night. Uncle Wiggily was carried away on the string of his kite by the strong March wind.

Didn't Mind

The rabbit gentleman flew around up in the air all night. It was rather a warm night and he didn't mind, only he was worried lest his wife and children might be anxious about him.

"But I can't do anything about it," he said. "I dare not let go the kite string and drop or I might bump my pink, twinkling nose."

So he held on and flew around in the air above his bungalow.

Meanwhile, after many April Fool jokes, Mrs. Longears said:

"Children, we must find your father."

So he held on and flew around in the air above his bungalow.

Meanwhile, after many April Fool jokes, Mrs. Longears said:

"Children, we must find your father."

"Maybe he is April Fooling us and is hiding in the front room," said Baby Bunty. "You know we never open that except at Christmas."

"Look in the front room," said Mrs. Longears.

In hopped the little bunnies. Just then there was a noise in the fireplace and down into the hearth something dropped.

"Oh, it's Santa Claus!" cried Jingle.

"April Fool, my dears I'm your daddy — Uncle Wiggily!" — laughed the rabbit gentleman as he dusted off the soot. "I was carried away by my kite," he explained. "But just now the string broke and I fell down my own chimney. Isn't that a jolly April Fool?" They all said it was.

And if the potato salad will put some flowers in the rubber boot for the umbrella's birthday, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's April shower.

CHAPTER 1

THERE might have been occasions when the offices of Stuckey & Stuckey, solicitors, received the ministrations of a charwoman: but, if so, no living soul could testify to this of his own knowledge. There had been suspicions from time to time: As, for example, when Mr. Joseph Bells, the managing clerk, had arrived one morning in an unusually observant mood and had noticed that the square foot on his desk which he somehow managed to keep clear of documents was of a slightly different shade of dinginess from what he knew to be its normal color. There was, too, ground for suspicion that the window behind Mr. Bells' office chair was letting in more light than usual; but this implied such an unthinkable supposition that he at once concluded the spring sunshine was a little stronger than usual and proceeded to draw the blind farther down.

Mr. Bells was not a lover of strong light; it made his small, almost colorless eyes blink under the powerful lenses of his steel-rimmed spectacles; there may also have been a subconscious realisation that the activities of the firm of lawyers which was housed in these dingy two rooms on the ground floor of the building known as 274a, River Street, Rotherhithe, were of the kind upon which it was not desirable that the full glare of daylight should be thrown.

The tall, thin, gloomy-looking clerk sat in his office chair one bright morning in early spring and almost fumed as he glanced at his watch, which indicated that the only other employee of the firm, the lady stenographer, was already twenty minutes late.

Presently he heard footsteps, and a girl slouched rather than walked through the office door, hung her coat and hat negligently on a dusty peg, strolled to a chair in front of a typewriter, stretched herself and yawned as one who has had insufficient sleep, and flopped into the seat with a gesture of infinite weariness. Taking from sher large and ornate handbag her powderpuff and mirror, she commenced languidly to atone for any cleansing deficiencies of her toilet with a liberal coating of the face powder which, to her, was modern chemistry's greatest gift to women.

Presently:

"Miss Harringway!" called Mr. Bells.

She did not reply, being absorbed just then in retouching with her lipstick the still discernible outline of a rather wobbly Cupid's bow drawn with considerable pains the previous evening.

"Miss Harringway!" He said again, a little more loudly this time and with a peremptory note.

With a shrug she swung slowly round to face the managing clerk.

"Oh, good morning, Mr. Bells," she said.

"Are you aware, Miss Harringay, that this office opens at nine o'clock and it's now twenty-three minutes past?"

She stifled another yawn.

"I'm terribly sorry," she drawled. "You see, I went out last night with such a nice boy, Mr. Bells, and we—er—well, we were rather late getting home. You know what it is, don't you?" She smiled with a lot of teeth into the elderly clerk's face.

"I'm glad to say I don't," said the man shortly. "When I was your age I spent my leisure hours in trying to improve my mind."

She tittered.

"Such a waste of time!"

He frowned.

"I beg your pardon, Miss Harringay?"

She waved a hand round the office.

"Well, look what it's brought you to!"

He turned away with a grunt. He was never at his best in verbal encounters with Elsie Harringay; it was not until ten minutes after a minor discomfiture such as this that the right, crushing rejoinder occurred to him, and then it was too late to be effective.

"One of the anonymous ones—a man."

"What did he say?"

"I'd hate to repeat it!"

The managing clerk grunted, then took the receiver and spoke into it.

"Hullo!....Who is it?....Yes, old boy; Bells speaking. The governor's not here yet....Yes, old boy. There's a warrant out for you. You'd better get out of the country, old boy....Yes, old boy. Goodbye, old boy." He replaced the receiver with precision and turned to go.

As he replaced the receiver:

Tweed Pays Its Final Tribute To Memory Of Beloved Priest

Rev. Dean O'Riordan Laid To Rest While Citizens Mourn His Passing

WAS A FRIEND TO ALL

(Examiner correspondence.)

TWEED, April 1.—The funeral of Very Rev. Jeremiah Patrick O'Riordan, V.F., Parish Priest of Tweed, for the past nine years, was held on Monday morning at nine o'clock from St. Carthagh's Roman Catholic Church.

The sacred edifice was taxed to its utmost capacity to accommodate the vast assemblage which gathered from the village and surrounding district to pay a last tribute of respect to one who in life had been a friend. Persons of all creeds, Catholics and Protestants alike, were there. To the former the loss of a beloved priest and spiritual advisor left an aching void which time alone will fill. To the latter the loss was a friend and fellow townsman, whose cheery greetings and kindly benefactions will remain always as bright spots along the pathway of life.

The Funeral Oration

The funeral oration was delivered by Rev. Fr. Meagher of Madoc. "We are celebrating at this season the glorious resurrection of Jesus Christ when a new day was born for mankind," he said. "To the Bishops and Priests of the Roman Catholic Church have been given the authority exercised by St. Paul to carry on the work of the disciples of Jesus. Dean O'Riordan was held in high respect and affection and his magnificent record will remain with us throughout our lives. He gave up his own country to come to Canada to labour among the people. He was an outstanding member of the priesthood and the diocese of Kingston and was a vigorous worker in all fields of the church. During his 22 years in Madoc it was his duty to say Mass every Sunday, at Madoc and Queensboro, and only once in all that period did he miss. The call of duty was always with him.

Undertook Great Task

"You yourselves know what a great task he undertook when he came to Tweed—to hear confessions every Saturday night and to say Mass on Sunday. It was his destiny and his desire to die in the harness. He was always anxious for the welfare of everyone, Catholic and non-Catholic alike. He always felt with all a genuine feeling of friendliness. His hospitality was known from one end of the province to the other.

All classes and creeds were welcome at the rectory here. His advice was always sought. His unbounded charity was a household word and his liberal hand was always in his pocket to help those in need.

Dean O'Riordan's vigilance for his people was his greatest characteristic. He was a constant defender of his church and felt that everyone in it should have a high regard for its dignity. He always displayed the utmost zeal for his flock and never failed to inquire when any was absent from Mass. If any stepped into danger it was not because they had not previously been warned by Fr. O'Riordan. An exalted character for many years to come the memory of Fr. O'Riordan will remain in his parish."

co-adjutor Archbishop of Kingston, spoke a few words of sympathy to the members of the congregation.

Man Clergy Present

Funeral Mass was celebrated with Master of Ceremonies Rev. Father Leacy, Deseronto, celbrant of Mass, Rev. Fr. Eugene O'Sullivan, Deacon, Rev. Fr. J. J. Farrell, Sub-Deacon, Rev. Fr. Meehan, Picton, Acolytes, Fr. Kinlin and Fr. Feeney, Thurifer Fr. S. LeSage. Assisting the Archbishop at the throne were Dean Hanley and Rev. Fr. Foley, Cornwall, Cross Bearer, Rev. Fr. Duke Windsor's New Coat Of Arms Differs Little From One As Prince

LONDON, April 1—(CP)—The crest, shield and supporters of the Duke of Windsor's new coat of arms, approved by the King, differ little from those borne by the Duke when he was prince of Wales.

The Wales arms, which had a narrow band running across the shield with three short perpendicular extensions depending from it, a small imperial crown has been affixed to the centre extension.

It is believed to be the first time the crown has appeared on the label of the arms of a royal Duke and this departure makes the armorial bearings of the Duke resemble those of a younger son of a King of England.

It has always been the custom since the time of Edward the Black Prince for the eldest son to carry the label plan.

Another step from custom is the fact that the velvet cap, turned up with ermine, around which the coronet is worn, is not displayed on the heads of either the peasant or guardant lions.

R. B. Bennett Would Oust Maj. Murray

Should Be Fired If Pledge To Make Canada Bilingual Not Authorized

WASN'T HOWE ADMITS

Tory Leader Takes Up Query By T. L. Church Over C.B.C. Stand

OTTAWA, April 2.—(CP)—Major Gladstone Murray, general manager of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, was under fire in the House of Commons to-day for his recent "bilingualism" speech in Montreal.

Conservative Leader Bennett declared if Major Murray was not speaking with authority of the government "he should certainly be dismissed without any further delay."

Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Transport Minister Howe both stated Major Murray's statements were not authorised by the Government.

Major Gladstone Murray addressed the Canadian Club in Montreal March 22 when he was reported as saying:

"There is a very important development connected with the public service broadcasting in Canada and the whole of Canada must realise that we have two parent languages.

"We must be ready and willing, and we should be anxious, to accept the heritage of these parent languages with their storehouse of literature and history, and the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation is pledged to make Canada bilingual, to eliminate these differences of opinion."

Church Not Satisfied.

T. L. Church (Cons., Toronto Broadview) raised the question, having asked a similar question previously without receiving what he considered a satisfactory answer. On that occasion the answer was that Major Murray as having said the Corporation was "pledged" to make Canada bilingual, and asked if that was the policy of the Government.

"That question was answered the other day," said Mr. Howe.

"No, it was not answered," Mr. Bennett interjected.

"That the Government had no knowledge of the speech," Mr. Howe continued.

"That is not an answer at all," Mr. Bennett declared. "The honorable member (Mr. Church) has shown me extracts from the newspaper which, in quotation marks, is a declaration of policy by the head of the Broadcasting Corporation. Whether or not that policy is authorized by this Government is a proper question."

"It is contrary to the British North America Act," Mr. Church observed.

"With respect to the broad question as to who authorized the statement," the Prime Minister declared, "I would say that the Com-

Africa Moves To Curb Nazis

Offence For Other Than British Subjects To Join Political Or Other Bodies

PRETORIA, April 2—(CP-Reuters)—Sweeping steps against the Nazi movement in southwest Africa were taken by the South African government today.

The territory, formerly a German colony, is now governed by South Africa under mandate from the League of Nations.

A proclamation issued by the government administrative offices here prohibits all but British subjects from taking part in the activities of public bodies and political organizations in the territory.

The administrator of Southwest Africa is empowered to declare any group of persons a public body and any association of persons a political organization.

It will be an offence for persons other than British subjects to be members or employees of such bodies and British subjects must prohibit aliens from such participation when discovered.

Any persons swearing allegiance or faith to any sovereign other than King George VI., or to any government other than that of the Union of South Africa, will be guilty of an offence. Besides fines or imprisonment, or both, all such offenders will be liable to classification under the Undesirables Removal Proclamation of 1930.

Tragedy Comes At Height Of London's Morning "Rush Hour"

FIRE BREAKS OUT

Second Train Smash In City Within Past 24 Hours

LONDON, April 2 (AP).—Eight persons were killed to-day and more than 40 injured when two suburban trains, crowded with city-bound workers during London's morning "rush hour," crashed on a 60-foot-high viaduct.

One coach was badly telescoped across a live rail and burst into flames. The blaze was extinguished by hurriedly called fire fighters. The smash was one of the worst train accidents in the London area in recent years.

Some of the dazed occupants of the car swinging precariously on the viaduct crawled from the crumbled coach and along the narrow foothold to safety.

"They looked like swaying tight rope walkers," a rescue worker said.

Others refused to leave the car until ladders were run up to the bridge from the main line below.

A heavy rain beat down as stretcher after stretcher loaded with dead and injured was carried to ambulances.

"It was terrible," one survivor shuddered. "People were screaming and moaning from underneath the wreckage."

It was the second train wreck in London within 24 hours. Sixteen persons were injured in a collision of two trains north of London yesterday.

No reason for the wreck was advanced after a preliminary investigation.

Coaxes Girl From Home As The "Virgin Mary" — Orders $25,000 Throne Car

LOS ANGELES, April 2.—(AP)—John Hunt, alias "St. John the Revelator," alis "Jesus Christ," still was missing from his Beverly Hills "Heaven" today, sought on Mann Act charges involving a 17-year-old Denver girl.

The pudgy, 300-pound white follower of Father Divine, Negro religionist, is accused of transporting pretty Delight Jewett here from Colorado for immoral purposes.

U. S. District Attorney Pierson M. Hall said he was considering charges against several close associates of Hunt in Father Divine's local flock.

The last clue to Hunt's whereabout was a report by a Pasadena conch works, where a $25,000 "throne car" is under construction for him and his Negro cult leader.

Man Behind Madrid Fliers Pays A Visit To Queen City

Adventures Of French Novelist-Warrior Run Like Wildest Fiction

GOING BACK TO WAR

By Ted Farah
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

TORONTO, April 2 (C.P.).—One of the most striking figures of the Spanish Civil War arrived in Toronto last night.

He is blue-eyed, slim Andre Malraux, darling of the literary critics for his revolutionary novels and organizer of the Madrid government's air force at the outset of the Franco revolt in Spain.

Malraux, 35-year-old Frenchman, winner of the Goncourt Prize for his novel of the Chinese uprising of 1927, is regarded by many as the perfect fusion of artist and revolutionist.

He himself bombed and destroyed the insurgent airdrome at Avila. The famous Malraux squadron, without its leader, shattered the insurgent airdrome at Salamanca. Malraux was injured in a crack-up at Teruel last December. When he was released from a Valencia hospital that was without anaesthetics he decided it was high time that situation was remedied.

While his injuries were healing he made a five weeks tour of the United States. Partly as a result of his work, the League Against War and Fascism in America this week is Crawling under a tarpaulin he helped himself to a bottle, but the driver discovered the ungrateful act and turned him over to police. In Sudbury police court today he was fined $10 or 20 days in jail for illegally consuming.

No Light Role For Infantry Modern War

Spanish Strike Shows Modern Machines Only Slightly Ease Task For Man With Rifle

STILL MAJOR COG

(Editor's Note. — John Lloyd, Associated Press war correspondent in Madrid, applies the test of actual warfare to one of the most hotly debated questions among the general staffs of the world and analyzes the future of the man with the rifle in the light of his performances on Spain's proving ground of battle).

By JOHN LLOYD

MADRID, April 2 — (AP). — A widespread belief infantry is doomed to a minor part in modern warfare has been scored unfounded in the opinion of commanders of the Spanish Government forces.

Although the Spanish war has been fought on a reduced scale—estimates have indicated 400,000 men as a probable maximum in the field for both sides at any one time—it has been fought with the latest equipment, excepting only gas and bacteria.

The last word in artillery, aviation, tanks, armored combat cars and other mechanized equipment have received a thorough test in Spain, but none of it, according to a high-ranking staff officer, has relegated the man with the rifle to the background.

Must Have Infantry

No matter how potent modern equipment may be, an officer is no denying the tremendous death and destruction it has dealt, it must be supported by infantry before victory can be achieved.

The Government commanders base their opinion on a long list of engagements including the successful defensive battles of the Jarama River, south of Madrid, the rout of the insurgents at Guadalajara, northeast of the capital, and the present offensive against Cordoba in southern Spain.

In all of the battles mentioned, the action finally developed into hand-to-hand fighting after mechanized attacks had cracked resistance. This relationship between mechanized shock attacks and the cleanup infantryman armed with rifle, steel and hand grenades seems to have developed into the major principle of tactics as used in Spain.

"You can not expect to take many towns with tanks and artillery alone," one officer who has commanded units on all fronts said. "But, with these implements, resistance can be broken to the point where the infantry's task is greatly lightened."

600,000 Jobless Over U.S. Strikes

CHICAGO, April 2 (A.P.). — Strikes, work stoppages, and layoffs in United States industries affected by strikes kept more than 600,000 men and women from their jobs to-day—a new high figure in a year of unprecedented labor disputes.

Leading the way were the United Mine Workers—coal diggers whose contracts expired as committees representing the union and the producers wrangled over terms of a new agreement.

Figures for various labor disputes include:

Hard coal miners (National) 80,000.

Michigan automobile workers, 130,000.

Ohio tire makers, 11,500.

Missouri (Various), 4,000.

Wisconsin auto accessory workers, 1,500.

Even Sardines Flee From Spanish Waters

Bayonne, France, April 2.

U.S. Soft Coal Mines Closed

Strike Of 462,000 In Pay Dispute Comes With Only 30 Days' Fuel On Hand

NEW YORK, April 2.—(AP). — Whistles of hundreds of soft coal mines from Pennsylvania westward to Washington and in the south were silent to-day as the long threatened strike of the United Mine Workers of America began without fanfare.

The shutdown of the bituminous industry in which 462,000 men are employed, with the prospect of Presidential intervention if it lasts more than a few days, followed the failure of negotiations to effect a new wage agreement.

The miners' demand for time and a half for overtime proved the principal stumbling block after other barriers had been hurdled, but even as the strike became effective, hope was expressed settlement could be effected to permit resumption of operations Monday.

The industry, which in 1935 produced coal valued at $700,000,000, shut down with only 30 days' coal supply above ground, operators estimated. The bituminous industry despite inroads by cheaper fuels in recent years, is one of the U.S.' principal sources of fuel and power.

Score of States Affected.

The strike is the largest and most far-flung the country has witnessed since the U. M. W. struck for one week in September, 1935. Miners in a score of States from Pennsylvania westward to the State of Washington and southward to Alabama, are effected.

The old contract expired at midnight March 31 and without a new agreement not a wheel turned. Technically the strike started yesterday but the mines were idle as the anniversary of the eight-hour day was observed.

After conferences nearly every day since the negotiations started, Feb. 17, the miners by yesterday had

NEW STRIKE WAVE HITS G.M. PLANTS

Both Sides Charge Breaches Of Agreement—120,000 Idle In Michigan

DETROIT, April 2 (AP)—A new wave of strikes in General Motors plants in two Michigan cities led to-day to a conference between the operations head of the huge automobile producer and the president of the United Automobile Workers of America.

Only seven weeks ago today the corporation and the U.A.W.A. completed an agreement which followed the strikes that paralyzed General Motors operations during the first month and a half of the year.

That agreement provided there would be no strikes in General Motors plants in the United States until every means of settling union grievances by negotiation had been exhausted.

Steel, Copper Far Too High —Roosevelt

Sees Danger In Soaring Of Heavy Goods—Wages Not Keeping Pace

CHANGE FEDERAL POLICY

WASHINGTON, April 2.—(AP)—President Roosevelt told a press conference to-day that United States' prices of durable goods such as steel and copper were far too high. He added the time had come for the government to discourage Federal expenditures for such goods and to encourage expenditures for economy goods.

The President's lengthy informal statement on the general trend of prices was prompted by a query as to his position on future public works expenditures.

He said he told the five Democrats who called on him yesterday, to discuss the public works administration, the future Federal public works expenditures should go, not for steel bridges and other such permanent structures but for channel dredging and earthen dams.

Expenditures for the latter projects, the President said, would give a larger purchasing power for consumer goods. He added there was too great a spiral of heavy goods prices and that this, judged by past experience, constituted a danger signal.

The President said steel had increased in price about $6 a ton. He commented that this was two or three times larger than the wage increase recently approved by the industry.

He said foreign naval building also had run up production of domestic steel.

Many mines, Mr. Roosevelt said, could turn out copper for five or six cents a pound and that mines like Anaconda could make a profit at eight or nine cents, yet that commodity was selling now at 18 or 19 cents.

His conclusion was that this pushed up the price of all things into which copper enters, primarily durable goods.

Efforts of manufacturers of textile goods in Germany to increase use of their products in other countries have been successful.

Duke's New Terrier Takes A Trimming

St. Wolfgang, Austria, April 2

THE Duke of Windsor is having trouble again protecting his dog.

He returned to his lakeside retreat after a six-mile walk today just in time to rescue his new Cairn terrier, Schnooki. Two German shepherd dogs were getting the best of the small dog.

But it was an old story to the Duke, who had to send his first Cairn, Slippers, back to England after Baron de Rothschild's dogs chewed him up during the stay at Enzesfeld.

7-Ton Truck Hits Funeral Killing Three

Heavy Vehicle Crashes Car Of Mourners Passing Buggy, Then Skids Into Two More

SIX INJURED, ONE MAY DIE

OTTAWA, April 2.—(CP)—Investigation went forward today into the April Fool's Day accident near Winchester, Ont., when a seven-ton gasoline tank truck sideswiped a funeral procession and killed three men and injured six others.

The dead were Almon Summers, 59, of Winchester, his 20-year-old son, Glen and Albert E. Thoms, 53, of Ottawa, insurance appraiser for the Federal Farm Loan Board.

Glen Summers, driver of one of the three cars in the funeral procession was killed instantly. The elder Summers, suffered severe head injuries, died in a hospital here while Thoms died while enroute to Ottawa.

Leopold Surial of Outremont, Que., suffered a possible fractured skull and other injuries. He was brought to hospital here where his condition was described as serious. Joseph St. Amour, 30, of Ottawa, the truck driver, received a dislocated left hand, lacerations to the face and head and possible fractured ribs.

The others, not seriously hurt, were Mrs. Almon Summers, 55, Bernard, Ottawa, the truck driver's helper, Lyle and Arthur Summers, cousins of Glen and passengers in his car.

35 Miles From Ottawa.

The accident occured a mile from Winchester village, 35 miles south of Ottawa. The funeral procession was that of Alvin Deeks, 17, fatally injured Monday in an accident on the same highway.

DISCUSS APPOINTMENT

Appointment of a street commissioner or assistant engineer was again discussed by the Board of Works Thursday night. Alderman McIntyre said he had not changed his conviction that the city needed a street commissioner, and Mayor Macdonald declared that he was equally convinced an engineer should be engaged to assist City Engineer Parsons by taking charge of outdoor work. A special committee composed of Aldermen Sloan, McIntyre, Hamilton and Wilson and Mayor Macdonald was named to endeavor to effect a compromise by Monday night.

Finance Committee Divides On Closing Hours Of Beverage Rooms

"OVERFLOW" ROOMS

Ought To Know How Many Rooms a Hotel Can Have

Closing of the beverage rooms at 11 p.m. and the wine shop on Charlotte Street "at the earliest hour the regulations allow" was recommended to the council by the finance committee Thursday night in a resolution by Alderman Gordon, seconded by Alderman Cotton.

Uncertainty about the recent amendment of the Liquor Control Act enabling municipalities to lock the beverage rooms earlier than midnight caused a division of the committee although its sentiment was otherwise unanimous.

Mayor Macdonald said his recollection of the change permitted closing "at 10 p.m." and his amendment seconded by Alderman McIntyre that "the beverage rooms and wine shop be closed at the earliest hour provided by law" was defeated by Alderman Hamilton's vote when the committee divided evenly on the two proposals.

Those who supported the Mayor's amendment were: Aldermen Wilson, McIntyre, Hocker and Mayor Macdonald; and for the Gordon motion: Aldermen Cotton, Clover, Dutton, Gordon and Hamilton.

Alderman Juby was not present, and Alderman Sloan declared that neither idea suited him. He preferred 11 o'clock closing nightly except Saturdays when he would advance the time to 10 o'clock.

The resolution also requires that during the period of daylight saving the beverage rooms and wine shop shall follow the change in time.

Has Heard Enough.

To the statement that closing at 9 o'clock, which would be 9 p.m. to district residents not affected by summer time, would tend to encourage bootlegging, Mayor Macdonald said he had heard enough about that afternoon.

"When beverage rooms were proposed," His Worship commented in an unwontedly sharp tone, "we were told that they would eliminate bootlegging. As a matter of fact they have made more bootleggers than we ever had before."

Alderman Clover said he would like to see some distinction made be-

LYON ANNOUNCES NEW HYDRO LINE

$750,000 Madawaska Plan Will Bring Extra Power To Belleville Area

TORONTO, April 2.—(CP)— Expenditure of between $750,000 and $1,000,000 on a transmission line designed to tap some 80,000 to 120,000 horsepower as yet undeveloped on the Madawaska river has been started by the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission, Chairman T. Stewart Lyon announced here today.

The line which will carry some 110,000 volts of energy will be close to 130 miles long when completed.

"It has been designed to provide an outlet for additional power development on the Madawaska," Mr. Lyon said.

Other Hydro Commission officials said further development of power on the Madawaska and Mississippi Rivers would round out the Eastern system. The point of delivery will be in the vicinity of Belleville over the line running southwest from the

Grandma's Cold Cures Good But Grandpa's Whiskey Out

Doctors Say Mustard Plasters, Foot Baths, Goose Grease, Beef Tea All Effective

TOO MUCH ACID IN LIQUOR

SEATTLE, April 2—(AP). — Grandmother's mustard plasters, hot foot baths and goose grease go marching on, but Grandpa's cure remedy—a pint of whisky—drew frowns here to-day at a regional meeting of the American College of Surgeons.

They insisted the best prescription is to go to bed and stay there.

"Old remedies for colds haven't been greatly improved," Dr. Perry G. Goldsmith of Toronto, Ont., told the group. Instead Grandma's hot beef tea may have been evil tasting but it was sound medicine.

Dr. Wilson Johnston of Portland, Ore., said Dr. Goldsmith's Grandmother's cures were excellent, but that Grandpa's whiskey cure was harmful.

"Liquor tends to produce an acid condition in the blood stream which already has too high an acid condition," he said.

Trapper Finds Wolf More Valuable Alive

Sudbury, April 2—(CP)

A $15 bounty reward on the head of every Ontario wolf isn't high enough to make wolf-killing profitable for the trapper. Anyway, John Kalsola, trapper in Blezard township, reards the wolf more valuable alive than dead.

"Other animals coming to feed upon the unreturned parts of the wolf's kill make it a simple and profitable matter for a trapper to set traps in the vicinity of such carcasses and thereby get a good catch," Kalsola explained here.

$28,000 Fire Sweeps Through 5 Buildings Dungannon Village

Only Change Of Wind And Driving Snow Saves Loss Of Whole Hamlet

OVERHEATED PIPES

Two Stores, Garage, Hotel, House Razed—Men Aid From Four Nearby Towns

DUNGANNON, Ont., April 2. — (CP).—Flames threatening to wipe out this Huron County hamlet were halted to-day by volunteer firemen aided by a change of wind and a driving snow and sleet storm.

Known damage was placed at $28,000 after the wall of fire roared through the main section of the village of about 200 residents.

Men from nearby towns, Auburn, Blyth and Lucknow, rushed here to form a bucket brigade. After four hours of fire-fighting the outbreak was brought under control. For two hours it appeared as if the entire village would fall prey to the flames.

Structures destroyed and estimated damage were: Montgomery's general store, where the fire started, $8,000; Montgomery's house, $2,000; Robert McKenzie's hardware store, $8,000; Lorne McKenzie's garage, $7,000; Rivett's restaurant and hotel, $3,000.

Communication was cut for two hours as the telephone office was damaged by the fire. Officials later managed to install a temporary long distance arrangement, but local service was still out of operation early to-day. Hydro service was also cut off to the village.

The fire broke out on the west side of Main street and for a time the wind kept sparks from crossing the road. Then the wind changed and sparks shot high in the air and burning embers dropped on the east row of buildings. Again the wind veered and as it did a driving snow and sleet storm took the place of rain that had been falling since earlier in the night. Overheated pipes upstairs in Montgomery's store were believed cause of the conflagration.

PLANE WRECKED NEAR BANCROFT

George Stevens, Of Apsley Pinned Beneath Wing But Is Unhurt

(Examiner Correspondence.)

BANCROFT, April 2.—The owner and pilot of a small airplane narrowly escaped injury on Saturday last when the plane was wrecked on the farm of William Kennedy, a short distance from Bancroft. The plane was about to take off from the field when it came too close to a fence, the pontoons catching beneath one of the wires, thus causing the plane to suddenly turn over. For a few minutes, the owner, Mr. George Stevens, was pinned beneath the upper wing but his companion soon freed him.

Mr. Stevens had planned to have his plane on Paudash Lake, the following Sunday, but the accident prevented it. Quite a number from the village went up to the scene of the accident on Sunday afternoon.

HURLED KNIFE ROUTS GUNMEN

Half-Breed Indians Flee Rothsay Firing One Shot—Suspected In Dorchester Job

ROTHSAY, Ont., April 2 (CP)—Two men described as half-breed Indians equipped with revolvers and driving a stolen automobile were sought in an extensive man-hunt by Western Ontario police today. The men were wanted in connection with two robberies.

In attempting their second hold-up on successive nights the pair were routed by L. V. Delmage, general merchant in this Wellington County village six miles south-east of Palmerston.

The previous night the thugs held up at gun-point W. W. Wallis, general storekeeper of Dorchester, a village near London, and robbed him of $150 cash. Identity of the gunmen was established by motor markets in each case.

Delmage and Lorne Johnson were sitting in the store when the men, tall and dark, entered. They drew guns and demanded money. After manoeuvering until he reached the counter, Delmage grabbed a meat knife and hurled it at the man covering him. The bandit fired one shot which went wild then fled with his companion.

SIMPSON SUIT

Slander Case Is Set for Late in April.

LONDON, April 2 (A.P.).—Ernest Simpson's suit for slander against Mrs. Joan Sutherland has been set for hearing probably late in April.

The suit was filed in January after Mrs. Sutherland, wife of Lieut.-Col. A. H. G. Sutherland, was declared to have made the remarks at a luncheon party. It is on the civil docket.

Drought-Case Plan Full Of Originality

Regina, April 2.—(CP)

DEPARTMENT of Agriculture officials here scratched their heads in amazement at one of Saskatchewan resident's idea of a drought-cure plan.

Philip Hawkins, Maymont, Sask. sixty-seven miles northwest of Saskatoon, suggested use of camels for farm work in Western Canada drought areas.

"Why not cross trees and desert cactus to make them more drought-resistant and put a machine in rivers and lakes to send bubbles or mist into the air to blow over the land, making artificial rain?" Hawkins added.

Trans-Canada Airway Lines Begin In Fall

Howe Expects All-Year Service London To Vancouver Within Twelve Months

A 48-HOUR TRIP

OTTAWA, April 2 (CP).—Regular all-year passenger and mail air service with a flying time of about 48 hours between London and Vancouver, was the expectation voiced in the House of Commons last night by Transport Minister Howe.

Legislative authority for Canada's trans-continental air service passed through committee of the whole and stands for third reading. No opposition was offered and Conservative Leader Bennett co-operated to a considerable degree in formulating amendments accepted by the Minister.

These amendments had no relation to the principle of the measure and were designed more to strengthen its provisions.

Depending upon the ability of factories to provide machines and flying equipment, the intention is to have the Canadian main line service operating between Halifax and Vancouver by September, the Minister said.

The proposed North Atlantic air service between Ireland, Newfoundland and Montreal is expected to be in operation within 12 months, the Minister said. Canada will be a 24½ per cent. shareholder in the corporation operating that service.

Toronto will not be on the mail line of the trans-Canada service, the nearest point to that city being Scotia Junction. For the moment the corporation to be established will not operate any feeder lines, nor is it anticipated that any of the existing services to Northern Canada will be disturbed.

21 Hours Across Canada.

Five hours between Halifax and Montreal and 16 hours between Montreal and Vancouver is the anticipated time for the trans-Canada service. Imperial Airways, pioneering the Atlantic service, are understood to contemplate a 24-to-26-hour flying time.

The Canadian National Railways will underwrite the $5,000,000 capital stock of the corporation to be set up in Canada, and may dispose of 49 per cent. of this capital to other organizations interested in flying operations.

A chain of flying fields across Canada, 30 miles or less apart, with all modern means of providing weather and radio beam facilities with two-way radio telephones, are being rapidly established and are expected to be complete at the end of this year.

T. L. Church (Cons., Toronto Broadview) said Canada would regret this legislation. In his opinion the Patent Abuse Stirs Stevens To Attack It

Charges Companies Using Rights To Bar Low-Priced Goods From Canada

NEW COMBINES ACT

OTTAWA, April 2 (CP)—Patent rights on radios and electrical appliances are being abused and used as a super-tariff by patent-holders, the House of Commons heard yesterday as it considered the new combines investigation act in committee of the whole.

Slow progress was made with the bill as Conservative members objected to many details, particularly the transfer of the administration of the act from the trade and industry commission to a commissioner in the labor department.

It was Hon. H. H. Stevens (Recon. Kootenay East) who raised the question of electrical apparatus. He said companies were using their patent rights to exclude low priced goods from Canada. In some cases appliances could be brought in from the United States duty-paid and sold for 50 per cent less than Canadian prices but for the patent-holders' combine.

Because of treaty obligations it was impossible to change the patent act but provisions could be made in the new combines act for investigation of patent abuses and prosecutions under the act.

W. K. Esling (Cons. Kootenay West) described a similar situation in the radio field. A combine controlled all radio patents and in some cases radios in Canada sold for 100 per cent more than the same sets in the United States. In addition the patent combine set out to harass and threaten Canadians who imported radios from the United States under the $100 tourists exemption from customs duties.

Bennett Questions Steps

Conservative members, led by Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, question the wisdom of putting the work of combines investigation under a commissioner who would not have the wide experience and training possessed by members of the tariff board who now had charge of it in their dual capacity as members of the trade and industry commission.

The problem the act should deal with was the elimination of unfair competition, said Mr. Bennett. Cut-throat competition led to monopolies and there should be a degree of business regulation which would en-

MURDERED GIRL'S FATHER QUIZZED

Police Pick Gedeon Up Second Time—Announce Definite Suspect

NEW YORK, April 1 (C.P.).—Around the eccentric, slightly built father of the garroted 20-year-old artists' model, Veronica Gedeon, the investigation of the triple murders on Beekman Hill centered to-day.

Picked up by police a second time yesterday for long hours of questioning even as the district attorney announced "we have a definite suspect," bespectacled Joseph Gedeon underwent a cross-fire of questions as to what he did with three hours and 45 minutes of his time last Saturday night and Sunday morning.

In an all-day and all-night quizzing in the 51st Street police station detectives asked him why he spent Tuesday night bowling and drinking beer while the bodies of his daughter, frequenter of night clubs, and his wife Mary lay in an undertaking establishment.

He wet his lips, stared, kept silence. No hint was dropped as to the identity of the "suspect" mentioned by District Attorney William C. Dodge.

Police officials announced a charge of violating the Sullivan Law — which prohibits possession of firearms without a permit— would be lodged against Gedeon. A gun was found in his upholstery shop.

Despite Dodge's optimistic inference on an imminent solution of the Easter killings of the artists' model, her mother, and a roomer, Frank Byrnes, Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine and his aides were reluctant to predict a "break" soon.

Perhaps they were disappointed in Lakefield's Easter parade and retired to warmer climates where they could get a better line on spring styles. Or perhaps they felt their gay grey and scarlet ensembles were out of keeping with that drab winter outfits still worn in these parts.

'Civilian Vigilantes' Is Another Title By C.C.F. Opponent To Lapointe Plan

COST $80,000 YEAR

OTTAWA, April 2—(CP)—Creation of a reserve force for Canada's scarlet-coated Royal Canadian Mounted Police to be called out in event of an emergency and to furnish a ready supply of trained men for recruits is proposed in a measure given first reading yesterday in the House of Commons.

Strong opposition came from three members of the C.C.F. group when Justice Minister Lapointe moved the necessary resolution. They urged that if the force needed reinforcements it be increased in the customary manner.

"Civilian vigilantes" and "storm-troopers" were the designations used by opponents of the measure in referring to the 300 young men the Government proposed to enlist in a volunteer reserve for the Mounties.

This group would be called out for training for a maximum of three months a year, or in event of an emergency, and would be paid only when in training or service.

Cost of the reserve would be about $80,000 a year, the Minister said, compared with $500,000 if the permanent force were increased to the same extent.

Being Prepared.

Pressed by A. A. Heaps (C.C.F., Winnipeg North) for some indication of the nature of the emergency he anticipated, the Minister said he was taking the responsibility for asking parliament for authority to guard against eventualities he hoped would never rise. No person could describe a future emergency, he said, since an emergency was something that could not be foreseen.

The present R.C.M.P. Act provides authority for creating a reserve composed only of former members. No advantage has ever been taken of that legislation. The new proposal provides for the enlistment of men from 18 to 40 with strict standards of physical fitness. Enlistment will also be open to former members.

When members of the reserve are called out for service with the regular force they will exercise all the powers of those in the permanent force. It is proposed to train the reserve two months the first year and one month a year thereafter.

Members of the R.C.M.P. had wide and varied tasks and their activities were not confined to dealing with Communists, Mr. Lapointe said.

They administered all Federal laws throughout the Dominion and saw that all departmental regulations were observed.

C. G. McNeil (C.C.F. Vancouver North) suggested the creation of a Federal body of "civilian vigilantes" would be a bad influence likely to cause "grave uneasiness." If more police were required "why not take the frank and straightforward method of increasing the force?" he asked.

of the proposed force," T. C. Douglas (C.C.F. Weyburn) suggested.

TEAM RUNS AWAY DRIVER IS UNHURT

Excitement At Campbellford When Farmer's Horses Bolt From Siding

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, April 2. — A runaway horse caused a flury of excitement as it galloped across the town's main intersection at full speed with broken harness hanging from its sides. Jack Beggs, local farmer was loading steel on a freight car at the C.N.R. siding at five o'clock Thursday afternoon and when he drove his team between two rows of cars the horses got out of hand and broke away from the driver and the stone boat which they were hauling making a dash for freedom.

Beggs narrowly escaped serious injury when the team reared in the narrow space between the cars and headed for town.

The Irish Free State now has only one passenger automobile to every 70 people.

DAIRY PATRONS ENJOY PROGRAM

G. A. Gillespie And W. Montgomery Sponsor Social Evening At Hastings

WELCOME NEW RECTOR

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, April 2. — One of the most successful evenings was held on Monday night when the annual Assembly of the Catholic Holy Name Society was held in Lynch's Hall with a record attendance. Dancing with music furnished by the Wilson's "Merrymakers" Orchestra of Oshawa was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone and an excellent lunch reported. Refreshments were served at midnight and dancing resumed until the early hours of morning.

On Tuesday the patrons and their families of the Ormonde Cheese Factory enjoyed a real treat. G. A. Gillespie of Peterborough and W. Montgomery of Lindsay, the local cheesemaker, being responsible for the afternoon and evening entertainments. Mr. Gillespie, who is greatly interested in agriculture, was able to attend the Purina Mills Experimental Farm tour held at St. Louis recently. He was so interested that he asked the Purina Mills Company to give a demonstration to his patrons in Hastings. As a result a free talkie show was given in Lynch's Hall in the afternoon, when the spacious room was filled. The picture, "Hidden Harvest," was very enjoyable. Mr. Kennedy of Prince Edward spoke in favor of the Purina Mill products, and extended an invitation to the farmers to attend the four-day tour next fall to the St. Louis Experimental Farm.

In the evening a free dance was attended by hundreds, Lynch's Hall again being a suitable place for the many round and square dances enjoyed by young and old, to the music furnished by the O'Grady Orchestra. Refreshments were served during the midnight hour. The patrons appreciate the kindness of Mr. Gillespie and Mr. Montgomery in sponsoring such an eventful day.

Congregational Gathering.

The first congregational gathering held in St. George's Anglican Church since the new rector, Rev. William Stocks, took charge, was a decided success, about sixty members attending. Rev. Mr. Stocks took this opportunity of making Mrs. Stocks acquainted with those present. The evening was a pleasant one, games and a short program proving entertaining. The first number was a name contest, filling the names listed in the blank spaces in the story. Winners were: Mrs. C. Baker, Mrs. R. King, and Misses Clara Williamson, Doris and Myrtle Puffer. Cyril Blackbourne gave a cornet solo, accompanied by Miss Mary Puffer at the piano. Eric Puffer's monologue on "Happy Though Married" was most humorous and well given. Rev. William Stocks caused laughter as he told many amusing tales. Cyril Blackbourne then rendered a pleasing solo. "Believe me, if all those endearing young charms." Following the singing of old favorites, Mrs. C. Baker led in the playing of games, as coffee pot and a geography match. In the latter game little Vera Richardson deserves praise for remaining the longest on the losing side. Refreshments served by the members of the Women's Auxiliary, assisted by young men of the congregation, brought an enjoyable evening to a close.

BIG DEER STRAYS INTO FARM LANE

Stops Long Enough To Enjoy Drink From Water Trough

(Examiner Correspondence.)

ELDORADO, April 2. — On Tuesday evening shortly before dark, a large deer which had wandered from the woods walked into the lane leading to William Andrews' home and treated itself to a drink from the water trough. A sharp bark from the dog scared Mr. Deer, and he started across country toward the West Settlement.

On Sunday morning a chimney fire at Kellar's Bridge caused quite a bit of excitement for a time. The house, which is occupied by B. O'Brien and family, was badly damaged. A bucket brigade was formed and the fire was got under control. The occupants saved nearly all the contents. At present Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien and family are staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Davidson.

The Royal Road To The Coronation

At Historic Glamis, the Queen's Ancestral Home

TO-DAY we leave Prince Albert and his navy career to visit for a short time one of Scotland's most historic castles. For it was at Glamis, huge buttressed pile with a history that dates back almost as far as Scottish legend, that the Earl of Strathmore and Kingthorne had his family seat. And it was here, where legend says the ghost of bloody MacBeth and many another unhappy spirit wanders through dim-lit corridors and towers, that the future King of England would find his bride.

To-day's pictures provide two excellent glimpses at Her Majesty's home and parents. The Earl of Strathmore, her father, who is pictured here alongside the grim and stately castle which is his seat, traces his ancestry back into the dimness of Scotland's forgotten days. History has it that Glamis came into possession of the Strathmore family in 1372, a gift from the then Scottish King, Robert II. The family has kept its roots firmly embedded there ever since and though the Queen was born, and spent many happy days at the family seat in Hertfordshire, Glamis is her ancestral home.

One of the most noted features of the castle and its estate is also pictured. It is the large sun-dial which adorns the grounds and Queen Elizabeth and her mother, the Countess of Strathmore, are shown as they inspected the ancient time-recorder during a walk through the estate.

Prince Albert visited Glamis in 1920, to be heartily welcomed by the Earl and Countess of Strathmore and Kingthorne and a party of house guests, though no rumor of engagement between the Royal Prince and the youngest daughter of the house of Bowes-Lyon was yet heard. Royal Prince though he was, Scottish nobleman could claim as ancient and aristocratic a line as their honored guest. And Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon, youngest of a family of ten, had already become known to England and its soldier heroes for her nursing work.

WIRE THEFT CASE JUDGMENT HELD

Former Flinton Man Admits Taking Copper Lines On Junk Tour

(Examiner Correspondence.)

TWEED, April 2—Provincial-Constable F. W. Barrett, who had been working on the case for some time, last week arrested Gordon Robb and George Deline of Toronto on charges of theft of copper wire from the Rock Rock Mining Co., Ltd., located near Flinton. The thefts took place at different times during the period between July 1st, 1936 and March 15th, 1937.

Deline pleaded guilty to the charge but Robb pleaded not guilty and stood trial. Judgment in Robb's case was deferred by the magistrate for one week, and sentence on Deline was also deferred until the same time.

Deline, giving evidence in the case against Robb, said he was born at Cayuga, not far from Flinton, but had not lived there since he was ten years of age, although he had visited the place on several occasions since. He told of going, on several occasions, with Robb in the latter's truck, from Toronto to Flinton, where they took copper transmission wire, sometimes found lying under transmission lines and sometimes cut from poles.

In giving evidence under the examination of Crown Attorney K. S. Ham, Deline said that only once had he been paid his share of the proceeds of the sale of the wire. He also said that the proposition of going to Flinton for junk, had come from Robb. But under cross-examination of J. M. Simpson, K.C., Robb's counsel, Deline admitted making the proposition himself of going to Flinton. He also said that it was he who cut the wire from the poles. The case was heard in the weekly police court this week.

HEROISM IN WRECK SAVES JAIL TERM

Youth Who Rescued Four Men Is Cleared By Companion In Burglary Raid

LONDON, Ont., April 2 (C.P.)—The hero of a shipwreck in Lake Huron three years ago stood in Magistrate Hawkshaw's Court to-day and saw the courage he displayed then to save men's lives help win him freedom.

His companion on a burglar raid on a Strathroy home last week was sent to Kingston Penitentiary for two years.

Not alone did his own courage save Phillip Adams, 23, of Port Colborne, from jail. Facing a long term in Penitentiary, his companion on the Strathroy burglary, George Brown, 21, of St. Catharines, declared:

"I absolve my friend of all blame. He was never in any previous trouble and he wouldn't be this time if it were not for me."

About $75 of household goods and cash was taken from the home of W. H. Cuddy, prominent Strathroy merchant, on March 21, and Brown and Adams, travelling in a stolen car, were arrested at Windsor. Brown admitted stealing the car from John Notman of St. Catharines.

He Saved 4 Lives.

The story of Adams' courage, when four men perished in Lake Huron and a freighter sank, was recounted to Magistrate Hawkshaw by A. S. Ferguson, counsel for the youth, and by Jess Adams, his father, as it was originally related by James Gibson, mate on freighter.

Adams was a watchman on the Franz, of the Alaoma Line, in the summer of 1934. On its last voyage, in November, 1934, it collided with the American Transit Line boat, Loomis.

The Franz sank off Thunder Bay, about five hours from land, and in the scramble to reach safety aboard the Loomis, Adams' calmness and heroism were spectacular.

He saved four or five men's lives, said the mate, Gibson, but four others died. Adams wouldn't say much about his heroism after he was released.

Released on suspended sentence, Adams will go back to the lake freighters in two weeks. He must report to the Court once a month, by mail.

The charge of car theft was forwarded here from St. Catharines, and Brown pleaded guilty to it. Another charge, of stealing a leather coat worth $12 from Jack Mitchell of Strathroy, also brought a plea of guilty from Brown. Brown had a record of two previous convictions.

Just 45 Minutes

Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor-General of Canada, went to Washington to visit President Roosevelt, but it seems that visiting between such folk is not as simple as elsewhere. The King's representative in Canada attended luncheons, he placed wreaths on monuments, he attended press conferences, he was entertained by officials at state dinners. There was a trip to Mount Vernon, Va., the home of George Washington, and we learn this:

"On the 45-minute drive back to Washington the Governor-General had his first opportunity to talk alone with President Roosevelt since he arrived for a visit of state."

So there was not much actual visiting in the form of man with man during that trip; there was always something to be attended to, and probably the life of a Governor-General or a President is pretty much like that every day.

Lord Tweedsmuir had his first experience with a press conference, a method adopted at the White House some years ago where all the Washington correspondents are received at the same time and they can ask as many questions as they see fit, and the President can furnish such answers as he thinks best. United States reports say that "Lord Tweedsmuir, standing by the seated United States President, conducted himself with the ease of a veteran at the game of the White House interview." His excellency took the trouble to explain to the reporters the meaning of the uniform he was wearing at the time and remarked it was not his "normal garb." He did not say too much about the cordial relations between Canada and United States, nor did he gush at all about the friendly international line. He seems to have said just about what a well-balanced man should have said. Even if he saw the President alone for only 45 minutes in two days his visit was a success. It is well to keep the path open between Washington and Ottawa.

Examination Papers

Dr. R. C Wallace, principal of Queen's University, believes that school examinations should be a test of thinking ability rather than a repetition of factual knowledge. He believes the written examination has its place, that it is valuable, and admits it is not possible day by day to correctly estimate the progress of a student. On behalf of examinations he stated the case this way:

"What examinations should test is knowledge used for judgment, appreciation, thinking." An examination based on such premise would be helpful; it would not call for a mere categorical recital of assembled facts.

One weakness of a good many examination papers in the past has been that while they caused the pupil to do some thinking, it was not of the right sort. When the candidate had the paper before him the first thing would be to take a survey of the questions and figure which ones it was possible to do with a degree of certainty. Then when these were completed he would turn to those which required a greater degree of skill or thinking or whatever the talent brought to their solution might be called. The student would know there was a time limit fixed, so he would naturally want to make certain of as many marks as possible, and if he missed any questions it would be those on which he knew he would have to spend the most time. Yet the student would be thinking, but he would be thinking primarily of how he could best tackle the paper in order to get the most marks out of it in a given time. The tendency is toward watching more closely the day-to-day progress and application of the pupil and that is right. A capable teacher making such observations can tell with almost unfailing accuracy when a pupil is sufficiently advanced to go on with more difficult work.

Toronto Changes Its Mind

Several weeks ago Toronto began to shake itself loose from the ways in which it had been walking. It seemed that officially it had made resolutions like those written down by citizens when they face a new year. Toronto had done those things which it should not have done, but it was going to tighten up.

It did. Police were told to enforce existing bylaws, and the bylaws had been existing for a long time. They had been doing nothing else, being as inactive as the average member of many a committee. The start was made on selling tobacco and cigarettes on Sunday, and one resident says a police car parked for hours in front of a drug store in order to bag an offender. It was open season for the catching of such fellows. There were protests of course, but official Toronto was adamant. Toronto was once more going to be known as "Toronto the Good." We were inclined at the time to believe it was all right, as bylaws should be enforced or else rubbed off the slate.

But a great change has come and Mayor W. D. Robbins informed the Board of Control the crusade would have to stop. Why? Merely because it was going to cause American tourists to stay away from Toronto where they had heard they could buy no tobacco on Sunday and might even get into deep trouble by seeking to buy a bottle of pop. Therefore the crusaders in the police cars and on foot will be called off.

The bylaw remains the same as it was before, but it is going to be allowed to put its head on the pillow of civic diplomacy and once more have a long nap. It was going to cost Toronto something to be good, so it dropped out of the race.

He Can't Figure It Out

A gentleman from Peterborough recently spent ten days in his old home town. There were several matters of business he wished to attend to, so he had plenty of time to see the old place and note the changes. And there had been changes for it is 32 years since he left there. He was speaking to the Examiner about automobiles:

"When I was a boy there I remember there were just two families in the place which kept horses for the sake of having some means for getting about. Of course the doctors had horses, and so did the men who kept the stores and the butcher shops, but there were just two families where there were horses for driving and nothing else.

"There are not so many places of employment as there were 35 years ago. In fact nearly all the factory places have closed, and there is not so much retail business done as they tell me many of the people drive off to the city some twelve miles away when they have money to spend. But in spite of this there are plenty of cars and they are used for pleasure driving. Quite a change from the time when the town was much busier but with only two families keeping horses for the sake of having some means of going from one place to another.

"I walked on nearly all the streets of the place and noticed how often there were car marks at the side of the house leading to a garage at the rear. One day there was the funeral of a well-known man in town, and as the procession passed toward the cemetery I counted fifty-six cars. When I was a boy there most of the people who went to the cemetery walked, as the distance is not very great, but I did not see any one walking this time.

"What was running through my mind was this: How can they afford it today when there is not nearly the business activity there used to be, and when the places of employment and opportunity to earn wages are so much less? All those cars are impressive when one looks back to the time of 35 years ago when but two families kept horses for the purposes of pleasure. I am not acting as critic of my own home-town, but I can't figure it out."

One reason may be that few people after securing a car ever cease to be car owners. They will run their car as long as they can, but they do not stop then. They know they have a certain investment tied up in their car, and they know they can secure something for it if they purchase another, so that is what they do and they keep on doing it. We would not undertake to supply an answer to the other problem of how so many people in that village can now afford means for getting about when in the better days of 35 years ago only two families were able to afford such service. The same problem exists in each community and people do not seem much worried about its solution.

It Was Different on the Tenth

We noticed something in a New York paper about a gentleman who had left for some place in India. He said he had never been in that particular spot and wanted to see it. It was stated this way:

"This New Yorker read something about it in the paper, and found a liner was due to leave next day which would make connections, so he merely notified his man to take his bags to the dock. He is seldom at home and has the reputation of leaving for almost any spot in the world on the shortest possible notice."

Of course that is the way things are done now and probably it is right enough. It heads off a lot of stewing and fussing, but it is so different from what it used to be on the Tenth Concession. In the first place there was not a great deal of coming and going by train. Most of the movement was by horse power. The occasional trip to the village was an event. Two adults on the seat, two children on the floor with their backs against the dashboard.

Occasionally grandfather went away, but to no great distance, but it was an event. He did not telephone to his man to get his things ready, because there was no telephone and no man. The whole household helped. Grandfather would make sure of the time of the train's departure, which was the mixed which went through the village five miles off at 6.45 in the evening. It had done so for a long time, but grandfather always went to the station some days in advance and the agent told him the time and a note was made of it and carefully placed in the upper left hand vest pocket. Grandfather never took chances.

These over-night bags and other little contraptions of today would not have done at all. Grandfather had an enormous suit case which would keep on growing in size like an accordeon. All the people in the house had to have a hand in packing that thing. It was considered he might have a cough, so some cough medicine went in; the weather might turn cold so there was some heavier underwear and a scarf. Anything under the sun might happen, and the people kept turning over in their minds all that might take place. So when the day came to leave that big grip had within it fortification against everything that might possibly come to pass.

Every person wanted to go to the train, and as a rule all did so. The grip could hardly be placed in the space at the back of the buggy. We were always at the station well in advance of train time and grandfather was always the first customer at the ticket place. Meantime all members of the family would get weighed on the station scales; the younger members would all get several drinks from the tap in the water tank in the corner, and many times would one go and stand in the middle of the track to see if the train were coming. It was interesting too when one could look through the window and watch the man working the telegraph key. There indeed was a touch of the great world outside.

When the train came in grandfather always wanted that big grip along with him; he never would allow it to be checked. He was a man of faith and principle, but the faith never extended to those who took grips and trunks off to some other car. When he was safely seated every person stood on the platform and looked at him; if he could get the window up in time he would hear last minute advice on not forgetting to take his pills if he had a heavy meal on toward night, for it was a fact that grandfather was a little given to gathering up a spell of gas on the stomach on such occasions. When the train moved out grandfather always waved some sort of a farewell. We would soon have a bit of pasteboard stuck in the rim of his hat and the great venture would have actually started. So it seems a little strange to read today about the man in New York who started off for India almost as soon as he took the notion to go. Things were never done that way on the Tenth Concession.

NOTE AND COMMENT

British authorities will surely not let a penny strike in Scotland tie up the whole rearmament program.

Boston is practically without fuel as a result of a strike and the great home industry of cooking baked beans is probably very badly crippled.

A story from Africa tells of a missionary who routed a leopard by charging at it with his bicycle. There is one man who knows how to act when on the spot.

Before we get too enthusiastic over the reduction of the number of folk on relief, it would be well to remember that there are still 1,265,925 persons who are being taken care of by public funds.

Man in Halifax swallowed a three-inch nail and had it removed from the stomach in the hospital. Upon recovering he will be able to go ahead and finish putting up the pantry shelf.

Another American politician wants part of the British war debt paid by ceding a slice of Canada to the United States. Once more bobs up the mystery of how such folk contrive to get elected.

Hon. Peter Heenan will take Premier Hepburn's place at the Coronation. The appointment may be a gesture to show the Minister of Lands and Forests is forgiven for the scene he recently created in the House.

News pictures show Canada's governor-general being escorted through Washington streets with an escort of armored cars. After wandering around British countries all his life without such protection Lord Tweedsmuir must have found that a strange experience.

Italian motorcyclist missed his wife after a spin in the country and found her in a hospital in a neighboring town, injured by falling off the rear of the machine. He seems to have solved the problem of how to handle the back-seat driver.

It is said that the Hepburn government may abandon the provincial air force, in favor of hiring the aerial services it requires. The new plan may be more economical but it ignores the record for safe and sane flying that has been set up by the government fliers since the force was organised.

VICTUALS

(By A. E. K.)

¶ My Cousin Lem in passing through dropped off to spend an hour or two, he'd have a chat with me; so I suggested, Lem agreed, he ought to have a little feed, so he stayed on for tea.

¶ He is a funny sort is Lem, quite different from most other men, and he looks rather pale; his ribs aren't covered up with lard, nor is he husky like and hard, he's thin and like a rail.

¶ We knew that Lem looked full of woe, and had a long way yet to go, and he looked mighty slim; so when we parked him in his chair, we started piling victuals there, we'd fill him to the chin.

¶ But Lem don't eat good steak at all, he cut it out two years past fall, it made his stomach sour; before Lem started on his fill, he up and swallowed down a pill, he takes two every hour.

¶ He don't eat spuds, he don't take cheese, he says it makes him groan and Wheeze, he don't eat pie or cake; preserves he puts off to one side, he says it gets beneath his hide, and makes his stomach ache.

¶ His nerves are bad as they can be, he won't take coffee, nor yet tea, on bread he's none too keen; next time I hope I pick one right, a cousin with an appetite —who'll lick his dishes clean.

Our Statesmen At Their Labors

(Parliamentary Debates)

HE KNOWS THE RULES

The CHAIRMAN: I must ask the hon. member for Broadview to confine his remarks to the resolution.

Mr. CHURCH: I am well aware of all this, Mr. Chairman. I know the rules just as well as you do.

Some hon. MEMBERS: Order.

An hon. MEMBER: Take that back.

Mr. CHURCH: Mr. Chairman, I have not concluded. I am opposed to the vote of this $103,000. Though I am not prepared at present to move to strike it out, it should be struck out. It is throwing money away. With all the multiplying of committees and commissions, parliament has no powers at all. We have a committee on agriculture which can go into these matters; why is it not allowed to do so? I wish to protest against the encroachment upon the powers of parliament, and to say that while I have respect for Mr. Ralston as a lawyer, I believe him to be prejudiced in relation to the subject matter of the inquiry.

Mr. DUNNING: It is my distinct impression that the matter is before the commission.

Mr. DOUGLAS: I wish to associate myself with those who have expressed the feeling that the appointment of Colonel Ralston as commission counsel was an unwise move. I say that not in any spirit of criticism of the gentleman personally, whose integrity is well known, but in view of the fact that his prejudices are known so be quite strong, as shown not only in the debates that took place in this house, but for years past.

Mr. DUNNING: Oh that is not correct. That is all wrong.

Mr. BENNETT: In 1936.

Mr. DOUGLAS: It is not unfair to say that the associations of Colonel Ralston for the past few years have been with those who have decided views on this question, and the appointment of anyone who was prejudiced on either side was decidedly unwise. Whatever the findings of this commission may be, whether in favour of competitive marketing or cooperative marketing, there will be a feeling in certain quarters that the decision was based to a large extent on the point of view taken by Colonel Ralston in this house before he was appointed to this position.

Then in respect to salaries, the minister in reply to someone down here said that a good man deserves a good salary. That may be true. Nevertheless this commission is in the public eye in western Canada, where people on the land at the present moment are very fortunate if at the end of the year, after they have met the actual cost of taking off their crop, they have two or three hundred dollars left. To them a sum of $103,000 for a thirty days' sitting, and the payment of $15,000 to one man for thirty days, seems preposterous. While it may not seem excessive to certain gentlemen who are in habit of dealing in terms of lawyers' fees, which I suppose in certain quarters are phenomenal, nevertheless to the farming population it seems like flying in the face of providence. I can assure the minister that while this $220 a day for salary and expenses may not seem a large amount to him—

Mr. EULER: I did not say that it did not seem like a large amount.

Mr. DOUGLAS: Well the minister said "Good pay for a good man."

Mr. EULER: That is entirely different.

Mr. DOUGLAS: So he must be entirely satisfied with it. But in many quarters it will not be viewed in that light.

But the main criticism is that the whole purpose of the commission will be defeated by the fact that there has been brought to it, not a man who is considered to be impartial by the farming population, but one who is known to have a decided prejudice in the matter. The farmer feels that instead of getting a new deal, he is getting a deal in which the cards were stacked before the deal began.

Mr. FAIR: I also want to register my protest against the engagement of Colonel Ralston and the salary being paid him. While I am only a new member of this house, Colonel Ralston's name is by no means new to me, nor is it new to a number of those who sent me here. As was pointed out by the hon. member who spoke last (Mr. Douglas), his appointment is not at all favourable to the commission nor to those who set it up. I am afraid the effects will not be very good even though the commission may bring in the kind of report which we do not expect it to bring in.

Mr. KINLEY: Is the salary paid to Colonel Ralston out of line with salaries that have been paid by this and other governments of Canada to one man for thirty days?

Mr. EULER: At the moment I have a recollection of only one. One does not desire to make comparisons, especially between lawyers, for there are so many of them in this house. But I think the counsel who was retained for the price spreads commission received $150 a day, and for quite a long period.

Mr. KINLEY: How long was he at it?

Mr. BENNETT: Some months.

Mr. EULER: Yes, he drew a large sum.

A SAFETY MOVE.

(Montreal Star)

THE Legislative Council has done a fine day's work for greater safety in Quebec by passing the law requiring all vehicles using the roads at night to carry lights or reflectors; and Hon. George Simard, who has sponsored the bill for year after year in the face of the most stubborn opposition—now at long last disappearing—deserves the thanks of everybody. Motorists will pay those thanks now and those farmers who have opposed the measure largely because of misunderstanding and misinterpretation to them of its effects, will before long be equally grateful.

It is now squarely up to the Legislative Assembly and we would earnestly urge members of that body to realize their responsibility.

HIS PROPER SETTING

"For goodness' sake come away from that seat, Arthur. You look like one of those 40 thieves in the barrels of oil!"—Humorist.

The Dean of Cartoonists.

(From the Toronto Star.)

READERS have doubtless been wondering about the Sam Hunter cartoon which for so long a period has been a feature of the Star's editorial page, but which have not recently appeared. Mr. Hunter, who is at present sojourning in the South, is a dean of Canadian cartoonists. For more than half a century his work has been featured in the press of this city: in the World and the News, which are no longer with us, in the Globe (which is soon, with its recent spouse, to occupy the bridal suite being prepared for them at King and York streets), and, of more recent years, in The Star. Mr. Hunter is still on the staff of this paper as cartoonist emeritus, and The Star hopes that he will long be spared to enjoy the evening of his life, although advancing years have made impossible a continuance of his work.

Under these circumstances it is fitting that a tribute should be paid to what Mr. Hunter has accomplished since, as a lad, he attended public school at Millbrook, in Durham county. There, seventy-nine years ago, he was born. There, in boyhood days, he gave evidence of the two influences which were to dominate his life: his love of drawing and his love of nature.

His attachment to the out-or-doors is well known to all who have watched his career. He has made it his practice to spend long summer vacations in communion with nature. Plants, birds, dogs, the little creatures of the wild—these have been his delight. His love of created things has left a certain "sweetness and light" to his character and to his work.

From childhood he wanted to draw things. He early established himself as a cartoonist, and over a period of more than fifty years his facile pen has left its mark upon the course of Canadian events. The Dominion's great and near-great of the past half century have appeared to countless people as Sam Hunter drew them. The most important and exciting political events at home and abroad have been interpreted by him. All those years he has had to keep closely in touch with current events; a cartoonist who does not do so is lost. In no profession is a wide range of interest and knowledge more necessary.

Mr. Hunter's art-work has been admirable. He has not depended for his results, upon the drawing of repulsive faces, or upon gross physical distortion. There has been no venom in his work. His cartoons have been good natured, but none the less effective on that account. They have had point and timeliness. Such drawings, continued over more than half a century, must necessarily have helped to direct public opinion to an extent which is not easily estimated. They have reflected the shrewd but kindly personality of their creator.

Chance For Flag Experts.

(From the Manchester Guardian.)

THERE will be a good deal of fun —for some people—about flags before the Coronation has become a thing of the past. There are signs of it already; the experts are now stirring (like the daffodils, they have come before the swallow dares), and are beginning to write letters to the press denouncing in advance the many errors which the simple populace commits when it tries to fly a flag from its roof on to the one out of its window.

Even if the poor populace should surmount (as is most unlikely) the terrible initial error of describing the Union flag of this country as the Union Jack there will be an extremely prevalent chance of getting it upside down or wrong way round to the pole. That always causes considerable joy to the flag-purists, who immediately write more ostensibly pained letters to the papers in order to point out how horrified they are by that abysmal ignorance on the part of their neighbors. Even to speak of a pole in this connection is enough to send any fully qualified expert right up it, because the best people speak not of a pole but of a mast.

In the same way the royal standard ought to be called the royal banner, and probably even the lowest of the low is aware by this time that it should never be seen except, when the Sovereign is present. Nevertheless, it certainly will be seen next May—small versions of it will be really flaunted from thoroughly loyal back streets and the unassuming suburbs. Special detachments of Red Cross workers will, perhaps, be sent round to collect the prone and senseless remains of fainted flag-experts.

There is one special emblem or royal banner in Scotland for the unauthorized use of which the special penalty is reported to be by ancient statute, instant death by decapitation. One also seems to remember that there has to be a different death for each day on which it was improperly displayed. If that flag does not get a good showing in wrong places next May it will only be because the modern Caledonian does not know what it is or where he can get a copy of it.

No "Forgotten" Britons.

(From the Ottawa Journal.)

OVER in Britain they don't talk much about "forgotten men" nor about "New Deals." But absence of such talk doesn't denote that Britain spends all of her substance on battleships and guns and 'planes. A German War Lord told his people recently they must choose between "butter and guns." Britain is providing the guns, because she has to, but she prefers—and isn't forgetting—the butter. In the field of social security she stands first among the nations.

Unemployment and health insurance in Britain date back to 1908, the old-age pensions to 1911. Yet certain groups had been excluded from the benefits—the middle class who earn above $1,250 a year, farm laborers, domestic servants, clergymen, clerks and those who employ themselves, such as small shopkeepers.

Last week a bill was introduced in Parliament to bring these "forgotten men" into the vast social-security scheme. More than 2,000,000 white-collar workers and others, earning up to $2,000 a year, would be eligible for widows', orphans' and old-age pensions under the plan. Benefits would range from $1.85 to $9.80 weekly.

National health insurance in Britain now embraces 18,500,000 persons —virtually all wage-earners from 16 to 65. Unemployment insurance covers 12,500,000 persons, supplementary relief is provided for 4,500,000 and old-age pensions are drawn by 2,200,000. The cost of all these services is $2,000,000,000 annually.

We hear much in these times about the superiority of dictatorships, about the ability of the dictators to "get things done"; about liberty being inconsistent with security. Britain, doing more for her people than all of the dictators put together, and doing it without violence to their consciences or liberties, is the answer to such nonsense. It is an answer that warms one's loyalty to the old parliamentary system.

WHERE DANGER WAITS.

(Toronto Star)

ONE other night at London, Ont., a woman was found electrocuted in her bathtub, her hand still resting upon an electric heater which had apparently fallen into the water when she attempted to move it.

This tragedy is a reminder of the fact that the bathroom is the most dangerous room in the house, not only because of the falls which have injured so many people when entering or leaving the bath, but because electricity and water are as menacing as combination as gasoline and alcohol.

IT'S STILL SCARCE.

(Barrie Observer)

MONEY is not scarce in Canada, according to F. C. Biggar, secretary of the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

Addressing a meeting of the Political Science Association of McMaster University, at Hamilton, recently, on the subject of "Purchasing Power," Mr. Biggar said there is more money available in the dominion today for the purposes of spending than in many of the more prosperous years. He further asserted that the money is not concentrated in the hands of a few selfish men.

"If you add together the monthly totals of current and savings bank deposits in Canada and the bank notes in the hands of the public," he stated, "you will find that the yearly average of money available for spending, from 1917 to 1936 inclusive, was slightly less than 2,200 million dollars. For 1936 the comparable figure was more than 2,400 millions," Mr. Biggar added.

Money may be as plentiful as the bank expert indicates, but the biggest problem facing Mr. Average Citizen is how to get his hands on enough of it to pacify his creditors and keep the wolf from the door.

CHRIST OUR SAVIOUR

Christ is our Saviour and Redeemer,
He died upon the cross for us,
To save us all from sin and sorrow,
He must not suffer loss.

The lily blooms from out the darkness,
To show us purity of life;
Our Lord, He burst from death's own shackles,
To give us lasting life.

He bore His cross unto Golgotha,
With Mary weeping by His side;
They pierced His lovely hands and scoffed Him,
And on that cross He died.

They laid His body in the tomb,
And rolled a boulder to the door,
But on the third morn He had risen,
Triumphant ever more.

HOME CONSCIOUSNESS.

(Woodstock Sentinel-Review)

IT HAS been said that one of the effects of the Home Improvement plan which is now being promoted throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion will be to develop a "home consciousness" in the people. A combination of circumstances, two of which might be mentioned as being the popularity of the motorcar and four or five years of depression, have been responsible for many cases of lack of attention to home comforts and home surroundings. It is an accepted fact that, at the present time, thousands of homes in Canada require renovation and repair.

The Home Improvement Plan has come along at a time when it is most needed and those in the building and supply trades should be quick to take advantage of their opportunity. It is because employment in the construction and allied businesses has lagged that the Dominion government agreed to make easy the borrowing of money for home improvement purposes. Because of the ramifications of the building trades in the provision of employment it is believed that if these trades become active a large number of men at present on relief will be able to go to work.

Communities which give the most whole-hearted support to the Home Improvement Plan will reap the greatest benefits.

THOSE WOLVES.

(St. Catharines Standard)

THE Sault Ste. Marie wolf pack by slaughter and escape has been reduced to two.

Editor Curran of The Sault Star is making an appeal to make good the loss at the Soo Zoo. He broadcasts all the way to us in the Niagara Peninsula his appeal and this is a district where in recent months the Sage of Jordan Station, crack shot too, could not even bag a jack rabbit.

How come, Mr. Curran?

Why not broadcast your appeal to Wall street or the Toronto Stock Exchange and get some wolves worth confining for life and some years thereafter? Why not send to Germany and get some of the Real Kind? There are wolves and wolves, some even right here, in sheep's clothing.

Ontario editors will no doubt take interest in this new wolf hunt in Algoma. There is a promise that the captured wolf will be named after the man who brings it in.

Just imagine wolves as the Sault named for Elliott of Woodstock, Rupert Davies of Kingston or Art Kennedy at Peterboro. And could anyone imagine a wolf being named after Christie at Brantford? Oh boy!

OUR LIST OF DEBTS.

(Brandon Sun)

FOR every Canadian who is earning money there is a mortgage on his assets, wages, profits or property of $1,300. When we vote at election times we give our representatives power to mortgage our ownings and prospects to pay the interest upon public debts. Only those who are on relief escape direct taxation and the workers pay their share of the taxes for them. The average debt we have incurred of this $1,300 through our Dominion, Provincial and Municipal Governments is not all. Almost $300 more is added debt of other organizations, mainly railroads, guaranteed by the Governments. Nearly all of the interest on this $1,600 for every working Canadian must be paid in taxes.

Steels And Coppers Drop From $1 To $5

NEW YORK, April 2 (A.P.). — A sharp break in share prices and a fall in some commodities was the almost instantaneous reaction of the markets to-day to President Roosevelt's criticism of high prices of some basic staples.

Within ten minutes after the news had reached the trading floor of the New York Stock Exchange shares, led by steel and copper stocks, had fallen by from $1 to $5.

Producers of the two metals, steel and copper, specifically mentioned by the President, said they thought for the most part the immediate effect would be psychological rather than actual.

Replying to the threat of a cessation of Government buying, both steel and copper men pointed out the government was a comparatively light purchaser.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, April 2—(CP)—In sympathy with firmer overseas markets and renewed Continental buying, grain prices on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange turned upward today. At the close wheat futures were 2¾ to 1¼ cents higher with May at $1.47¾, July $1.42¾ to ¾ and October $1.27¼ to ½.

Trading was spasmodic and frequent dull periods occurred. However, prices had little difficulty in gaining more than two cents over the previous close as offerings were light.

Heavy selling which dominated the market during the past two days disappeared. Inter-spreading operations between Chicago and Winnipeg appeared which kept many brokers active.

Chicken's Feelings Baffle Court So "Bottling" Charge Is Dismissed

LONDON, Ont., April 2.—(CP).—Into Magistrate Menzies court room to-day crowded expert poultrymen, veterinaries, curious spectators, lawyers, witnesses, Humane Society officials and about 50 live chickens.

It was for a trial of William Shea manager of a hatchery who was charged with ill-treating a white, eight-weeks-old Leghorn pullet by keeping it in a five gallon jar.

While chickens chirped and pecked at each other, witnesses went to lengths to tell the court whether or not the bird in the bottle was suffering. There was a wide difference of opinion and finally Magistrate Menzies decided there was doubt about the feelings of the chicken. Consequently he dismissed the charge.

And after it was all over officials of the hatchey said they would cut the bottle and take out the chicken. They said they had intended to release the bird last Saturday but it had been seized as court evidence.

One of the features of the trial was a brooder full of chicks the defence brought into court. There were dozens of the birds in the large box placed on a table in the court room. They were brought to show the court how young chickens were raised in a confined area.

LYON ANNOUNCES NEW HYDRO LINE

Chats Falls area midway between the two existing high power lines from Chats Falls to Toronto and from Ottawa to Kingston.

Line Loaded.

Officials said the line from Kingston to Belleville is now loaded approximately to capacity. This condition makes it impossible to bring additional Gatineau power into the Trent Valley without heavy capital expenditure. The new Madawaska line is designed to take care of this situation.

With completion of the new line Commission engineers expect the Eastern Ontario system will operate as a completely connected unit.

Ragged Rapids development at a cost of $1,700,000 also is to be undertaken this spring, it was stated. Completion of this development will result in the discontinuance of purchased power from the Orillia Power Commission.

Chairman Lyon also said construction of a storage dam on the Frederickhouse River in the north had been started. This is to supply an additional water supply for the Commission's Abitibi plant.

"Let them all go into one if that is what they want, and apparently it is," said Mayor Macdonald in a tone that sounded like biting contempt. He also enquired about the "overflow" rooms where men and women drank together.

"I think we ought to know how many beverage rooms a hotel can have," the Mayor added.

Alderman Glover mentioned the news report that 47 hotels had been cut off the licensed list, and said he believed most of the hotelmen in Peterborough were observing the law.

"With one or two exceptions I think they are doing pretty well," Mayor Macdonald said.

Alderman Gordon reported that the change in closing hours was a result of the resolution which the city council had sent to the Liquor Control Board.

SEES NO SUNSHINE HEPBURN BUDGET

Drew Says Ontario Could Show Any Surplus If Taxes Heavy Enough

JARVIS, Ont., April 2—(CP). — Col. George Drew, Ontario organizer for the Conservative party, declared here last night that Premier Mitchell Hepburn attempted to cloud the real issue by referring to a fear of arousing religious prejudice when he repealed the Assessment Act amendment giving Separate Schools a large share of corporation taxes.

"There was no sunshine in the Hepburn sunshine budget which was made possible by the heaviest taxation the people of Ontario have ever known," said Col. Drew. "A surplus of $25,000,000 could be obtained if the people were willing to continue paying heavy taxes."

Mark Senn, M.P., and A. Douglas, London, also addressed the meeting, the annual gathering of the Haldimand Conservative Association. B. L. Sedgecomb, Dunnville, was elected president.

DEBT PRINCIPAL MAY BE HALVED

New Law Is Proposed At Caucus Of Alberta Government Members

By George Finlay
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

EDMONTON, April 2—(CP). — A new debt law, calling, it was reported, for reduction in principal as high as 50 per cent, may be introduced in the Alberta Legislature today.

It was considered in caucus by government members last night along with other Social Credit legislation that will be introduced within the next few days.

The Government's Debt Act was declared ultra vires early in March by Mr. Justice A. P. Ewing of the Alberta Supreme Court. It was the Reduction and Settlement of Debts Act adopted by the Legislature in 1936.

The old act dealt primarily with interest reduction, a matter which the court ruled within the powers of the federal parliament alone. The new act will be based mainly on reduction in principal and will provide longer terms for payment. It was said the terms would be extended from 10 to 20 years.

Members of the insurgent group of Social Creditors, including Dr. Harry E. Brown, the leader, attended the two-hour caucus last night. Premier Aberhart later said only general legislative matters were discussed, and that there was no talk of resignations.

Day, William Walker, Patrick Murphy and Frank Palmer.

It was learned one of the chief points seized to-day was the status of Mr. Millard. Union representatives insisted he be accepted as an international representative of the union as well as a representative of General Motors employees. This point was finally yielded by Mr. Highfield, who previously insisted the corporation would deal only with its own employees as such.

Hugh Thompson, international organizer for the Committee for Industrial Organization, who organized the Oshawa workers, was not in the conference to-day. Mr. Thompson was outside and union delegates frequently left the conference room to report to him and to seek advice.

DIES OF FUMES

AMHERSTBURG, Ont., April 2 (CP) —James Hunter, 36 year old Malden Township farmer found unconscious in his home Tuesday from effects of gaseous fumes from a coal stove, died in hospital here today. His dog, found unconscious by his side, is recovering.

Hunter was found by Ernest King, who, with his brother, Percy, worked on the Hunter farm. Arriving for work, he found the farm house locked and was unable to get response to his knocking. He questioned his brother, and Dr. F. W. Manning and entrance was gained through a window.

THE MAGNETIC HAT

Looking In Window Woman Says Just Before Accident

HAMILTON, Ont., April 2.—(CP). —Women the world over have a common interest in headgear, Mr. Justice Jeffrey observed during hearing of an action for $35,000 damages brought by Mrs. Emma Pastirak and Mike Pastirak against A. W. and A. D. Forrested, result of a motor accident a year ago.

It was said just before the accident, Mrs. Pastirak, Hungarian, had been looking into the window of a women's hat store.

"Whether they are natives of Hungary or natives of this country you can't get them past a hat store," His Lordship mused.

The hearing is proceeding.

10 Passenger Outfit.

Majestic fittings are planned for the 10-passenger machine, supplied with a 300-horsepower engine of expensive make.

An elevated "throne" is placed in the centre of the rear seat, flanked on either side by star-shaped windows. A canopy of milk-white plush, dotted with golden stars, has been designed. A dais before the throne is wide enough for four secretaries, or "recording angels," as Hunt decribed them. On the radiator he ordered placed an elaborate "dove of peace."

Federal officers were informed the "rolling throne" was destined to be used on his west coast visits by Father Divine and at other times by Hunt.

A push-button, it was planned, would slide down the top of the tonneau, revealing the occupant of the throne "to the multitude."

Detectives sought evidence that Hunt induced Miss Jewett to come to California in the belief she was the "Virgin Mary."

MAN BEHIND MADRID FLIERS

Going Back to His Squadron.

Malraux reached Buffalo by transport plane from San Francisco yesterday and proceeded by motor car to Toronto with his young wife, an attractive blend who also is a writer. He goes from Toronto to Montreal, then back to Spain to resume the leadership of the Malraux squadron.

In the course of a three-hour talk on the way from Buffalo to Toronto, the French anti-Fascist writer told of the birth of the Spanish government air force at the start of the Civil War.

Malraux was in Madrid a few months before the uprising. He was attending an organization meeting of the Revolutionary Writers' Association, technically known as the Association of Anti-Fascist Writers for the Defence of Culture. While there he was called into a conference with Largo Caballero.

Caballero was executive the instant the uprising, although not as soon as it ultimately did develop. He wanted to know what to do about an air force. Malraux pointed out that all the young aviators in Spain were Franco men. If warplanes were purchased, Franco as head of the army would take them over when he decided to revolt. So as a result of the conference the Spanish government bought eight large American transport planes.

An Air Force of Sorts.

"These were used commercially and Socialist pilots were assigned to handle them. So it was that when the instigators attempted their coup d'etat, the Caballero Government had the nucleus of an air force.

With the huge passenger planes and a few old Spanish crates Malraux had an air squadron in action a few days after the revolt. The transports were powerful and swift. But they were forced to carry antiquated Spanish machine guns. Malraux said the guns jammed after every 10 shots. But gradually the Spanish Government was able to get warplanes from Russia. From the same source came technical aid and pilots. Now, Malraux says, the government air force is better equipped and possibly better manned than the insurgents.

If Malraux's life were written as fiction no one would believe it. He has worked for France at the League of Nations. He participated in the Chinese revolution. He was president of the committee for the liberation of Dimitrov, the Bulgarian Communist who was accused of setting fire to the Reichstag. He now is head of a similar movement to obtain the freedom of Thaelman, the German Communist who has been held in a Nazi concentration camp since Hitler ascended to power four years ago. He learned to fly, by the way, when he was member of an archeological expedition seeking the tomb of the Queen of Sheba in Arabia several years ago.

Golds, Oils Close Strong In Toronto

TORONTO, April 2 (C.P.). — After dipping around mid-day and early afternoon, listings on the Toronto Exchange, particularly the golds and the Western oils, lightened up generally this afternoon. Gains ranging up to 25 cents were boarded by the cheaper oils. Volume also displayed some improvement.

On the day industrial shares were down, reflecting the decline on the New York Board. Moderate profit-taking unsettled the Abitibi issues, but the Great Lakes paper stocks came through the session with small gains. Steels, foods, banks and construction stocks slipped back narrowly while utilities and oils were irregularly higher. Brazilian, C.P.R., and Ford A declined ¼ to ½.

Oldest Native Lady Has Birthday.

Mrs. Joseph Milburn of the Chemong Road is ninety-five years old to-day. Mrs. Milburn is the oldest lady native to Peterborough, as she was born here, and is now the sole survivor of a family of ten children born to John Edmison, who was one of the original settlers. He was one of the first three white men to locate on what was then known as the "Indian Plains," later to be called "Scott's Plains" and still later, Peterborough. He arrived in this district with Squire Wood and Adam Scott, who gave his name to the rude settlement of those years. Originally a resident of the north of England, John Edmison decided to emigrate to Canada and had purchased his passage when he was conscripted to fight in the Battle of Waterloo. After the war, he was able to fulfill his original intention and came to Canada to receive crown land north of Peterborough and make a home on the property adjoining the farm where Mrs. Milburn now lives.

Mrs. Milburn, who is a great favorite with the people of her community, can recall the days when she studied by the light of a tallow candle which she had helped to make; when her mother and elder sisters did the weaving, spinning and making of their clothing; when Sunday was a day of rest indeed, with no permission for games, picnics nor frolics, not even for a whistling boy. Maple sugar was used as a sweetening for all purposes, and its manufacture was an important industry in every home.

Just Between Us Women

A Daily Chat With Examiner Neighbors, Conducted by Roberta

WHAT a chimera, then is man! What a novelty, what a monster, what a chaos, what a subject of contradiction, what a prodigy. A judge of all things, feeble worm of the earth, depository of the truth, cloaca of uncertainty and error, the glory and the shame of the universe. —Pascal.

Dear Friends:

How seldom does he seem to realize it, and sometimes by the way he acts, you would think he was made in the image of the devil. He has the power of life and death over the lower animals, he has the power for good, for inventions, for building this world into something better, but he spends most of his time thinking about his playthings like money making, or games, or drinking.

Year after year God gives him more power over air and water and land, yet every so often you hear some poor fool say there is no God, and those who don't say it, might as well for all the notice they take of Him.

With all his ability, he remains very childish, and altho' this can be very appealing, yet when it is used too much and too often, it makes a woman feel like crowning him, yet every so often he does something which brings the woman up short, for it is then she sees his Godlike qualities and she wonders why in the world he does not show them oftener.

No where does he show his childishness more than in his treatment of women, yet in a way it is no wonder that each is puzzled by the behavior of the other, for both have been knocked out of their stride by the rapid advance the world has made in the last twenty years, so don't condemn each other too much for you are both living under a greater strain than any generation the world has ever seen, and it takes a lot of adjusting.

Women for ages were supposed to stay in the home, but now they have to go out into the world and compete with them in order to live, and in a great many cases it was not from choice, but because the men of their family could not support them. I know many men blame women for them being out of work, but what would you have them do, starve to death?

Marriage used to be the natural thing for women, until men began to kill each other off wholesale, with torpedoes, gasbombs, machine guns, etc. And if wars are going to continue, women will have to take part in them too and get killed off in the same proportion to keep the balance even, else we shall have a race of women. Or the men will have to stop inventing things to kill each other, which women never do.

All women want homes of their own and children, birth control or no birth control. They want someone to love, and someone to love them, but you can't blame them for hesitating to bring children into the world to be killed off in wars. It takes two to make a home, to bring children into the world, to enjoy things together.

We have incubators for chickens and maybe men will invent the same thing for children, so that they can go ahead and kill each other off as they like. It isn't so far fetched either, for someone has got rabbits from them, so why not children?

Women are out in a strange world, not so strong as men, look at things differently, do business differently, and my hat is off to them for they are a gallant courageous lot, fighting against odds, doing work for less pay, doing things men hate to do such as all the little messy detail work, and getting mighty little credit from men in the doing of it.

Men are exasperated that women don't keep saying "you great big wonderful man," for how they are bucking competition, and how they are keeping their place in the workaday world, and no one thinks they are so wonderful in doing it. Men do not like clever women, nor too much intelligence in them, and yet which of them has any use for the clinging vines? But, oh heavens, how the women with the men would be men without so many weaklings. More? Maybe.

Your Friend,
ROBERTA.

Daylight Saving Suggested From May 29 To Labor Day

Move To Start Fast Time On May 15 Defeated By Vote Of 5 To 4

QUESTION LAID OVER

Daylight saving in Peterborough from May 29 to Labor Day was proposed by the finance committee of the council Thursday night on Alderman Glover's motion, seconded by Alderman Stocker.

A few weeks earlier beginning of "summer time" was moved by Alderman Gordon, seconded by Alderman Dutton, who suggested May 15.

The committee divided 5-4. Those who voted with Aldermen Glover and Stocker were Mayor Macdonald, Aldermen McIntyre and Sloan; and for the Gordon-Dutton motion, Aldermen Wilson and Cotton.

Referring to the later date, Alderman Dutton said that Peterborough was a manufacturing city with close business contacts with head offices in Toronto or other places on daylight saving time. These industries were virtually forced by business reasons to adopt a change in time corresponding with Toronto. Last year Peterborough went on summer time on May 15, and Alderman Dutton argued that shifting the period locally had the effect of "making confusion worse confounded."

"In England they make daylight saving universal for ten years," Alderman Stocker commented.

"If I were considering my personal wish I would have daylight saving as long as possible," Ald. Glover remarked, "but from my own experience I know that it is not a convenience to families with young children."

"When Alderman July is better we can debate this question again," Alderman Gordon said, putting a period to the discussion.

$800 Coronation Grant.

As a member of the committee which is undertaking a local celebration of the coronation of King George VI, Alderman Dutton said he had been requested to apply to the council for a grant not to exceed $800.

"We will if you promise not to buy robes for the Mayor," Ald. Hamilton said.

The money was appropriated on Alderman Gordon's motion, seconded by Alderman Dutton. The expending of this sum was made a responsibility of the special community committee.

"A pleasing experience in connection with the proposed celebration has been the cordial promises of support by manufacturers," Ald. Dutton reported.

NO HUNTING DOG

CHATHAM, Ont., April 2 (C.P.).—Charles A. Glock is convinced his collie "Bob" is not a hunting dog. A week ago he went hunting in the woods, but at the first crack of the gun, "Bob" was away and soon out of sight. Glock advertised, searched the woods, left articles of his clothing there for the dog to find, and finally found it at a farmer's some miles away.

NEW STRIKE WAVE HITS G.M. PLANTS

today the new strikes violated the agreement; the union retaliated by saying General Motors had not lived up to its terms.

William S. Knudsen, immigrant boy who rose to the executive vice-presidency of General Motors, and Homer Martin, former clergyman who heads the union, arranged a meeting to discuss the new labor disputes. They participated in many of the previous strike conferences.

136,000 Men Out.

The new General Motors strikes and other automotive labor conflicts especially that in the Chrysler Corporation's Detroit factories, brought idleness to approximately 130,000 Michigan wage-earners—the largest since the widespread G. M. shutdown.

Whether the Chrysler peace negotiations would be resumed today in Governor Frank Murphy's office at Lansing, as scheduled, was uncertain. The conference has been in recess since early this week. The principal conferees, Walter P. Chrysler and John L. Lewis, had gone east and Governor Murphy said they promised to return to Lansing.

The strikes which closed several General Motors units in Flint and Pontiac developed within a 24-hour period beginning Wednesday night. Approximately 30,000 G.M. employees were out of work in the two cities.

The newest and largest of the General Motors strikes affected the 14,750 employees of all units of the Chevrolet Motor Company at Flint. The Fisher Body plant No. 2, which produces Chevrolet bodies, also was closed.

This Fisher factory, with 1,100 employees, was occupied by sit-down strikers during the 44-day strike early this year. It was the scene of the strike which closed the Fisher body plant at Pontiac. Its 6,000 employees are to return to work Monday, first January 11 which resulted in day.

SEVEN-TON TRUCK CRASHES FUNERAL

er police officers, the automobile driven by Glen Summers, swung out slightly in passing a horse and buggy going in the same direction.

The truck, approaching in the opposite direction, side-swiped the Summers car, they said, throwing it off the road. Mr. and Mrs. Summers and Lyle and Arthur Summers were passengers in this car.

After the truck hit the Summers' automobile, it swerved and grazed the car of Myles Harper who had his wife and Mrs. James Gordon as passengers. They were not injured.

The truck swerved again and crashed heavily into Thoms and Saurlol, who were on their way to Williamsburg. The truck then hurtled through a heavy concrete and iron guard of a culvert, cut a pole in two and ended up on its side in a 10-foot ditch. St. Amour and Shaver were able to get out of the vehicle themselves.

TRANS-CANADA AIRWAY LINES

Canadian National Railways were a failure because they did not represent public ownership. He did not believe public ownership had a chance under the present Railways Minister.

It was a mistake, Mr. Church said, to place control of the air company under the railway because it did not have the men qualified to operate it. In addition, parliament would have no control over the company.

All Year Service.

"If this is public ownership, the sooner we get rid of it the better," Mr. Church exclaimed, waving the bill over his head.

To a question asked by Howard Green (Cons., Vancouver South), Mr. Howe said the proposed North Atlantic mail and passenger service would almost certainly be in regular all-year operation within a year. The Dominion is investing $1,250,000 in that service, initial establishment of which is in the hands of Imperial Airways. Once the regular service is in operation a corporation will be formed in which the Imperial Airways will retain 51 per cent. of the stock, Canada and Ireland 24½ per cent.

Montreal will be the eastern terminus of the North Atlantic service and Pan-American Lines of the United States will link up with it there. Shediac, N.B., has been named an alternative eastern terminus.

Pioneer flights will be made almost at once by Imperial Airways, the Minister said.

To Thomas Reid (Lib., New Westminster) Mr. Howe said he had no official knowledge of a proposed Japan to Los Angeles air service that would use British Columbia ground facilities.

Replying to Mr. Church, the Minister said American Airways charged a passenger rate of six cents a mile and it was probable the same tariff would be applied in Canada.

There would be no free passes. The best available Canadian pilots would be employed.

Under an amendment to the bill, directors of the company must be residents of Canada five years previous to their election or appointment.

HOW'S YOUR STOMACH?

YOU lose vital nerve force if you allow your stomach to distress you. Acid stomach, indigestion, gas or biliousness and "constipation" cause the blood to be poisoned and will eventually destroy health and nerve force. This is what W. J. Fisher of 4 Sanford Ave., N., Hamilton, Ont., said: "I suffered with my stomach, could eat but very little and that would cause distress. I grew weaker daily and suffered from headaches. My weight went from 174 to 134 pounds. I took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and was soon able to eat anything. I gained in weight and strength and could resume my work. The 'Discovery' made a well person of me." Buy now!

Choir Of Mark Street Church Presents Delightful Operetta

Well - Chosen Cast Presents Comedy That Is Highly Acclaimed

ARTISTIC HANDLING

The person who chose "The Lady of the Terrace" as this year's dramatic vehicle for the choir of Mark Street United Church had a good thought. It is one of those delightsome productions that carries itself, so rippling and sweet is its music, so gay and evanescent its comedy, so entertaining its light, blithe theme. And the cast that presents it does it full justice. It is seldom that an amateur presentation is marked by so little self consciousness in the actors. There are few breaks and, as far as one may note, no loss of memory in the speeches as it was presented by choir members on Thursday evening for the first of two productions, in the Sunday School auditorium of Mark Street Church.

"The Lady of the Terrace" (a somewhat ponderous title for a lightly-moving musical comedy) is in two pleasantly brief acts that leave the audience looking for just a little more of that tinkling, merry music that lightly-rhyming verse, that gay mood that permeates this story on a somewhat hackneyed theme but with an out-of-the-ordinary handling. This is Irish music of the gay type, with the tears left out, and it has the swing and the lilt of sweet melody in it. "All Blue Hollyhocks," a romantic bit in the spoken manner.

One of the most attractive of the solo numbers is a dainty number by the vivacious little Peggy (Miss Laura Chartren), called "I Love all the Boys," with a delicate handling that makes it quite outstanding, and a rollicking chorus by the boys. Miss W. Hepburn sings most effectively about Irish legends, with a melodious chorus, in "We Believe in Fairies"; Leonard Agnew's deep tones are heard to excellent advantage in "There'll be Trouble," and Mrs. M. Pomeroy's fine contralto leads the singing of a lovely composition, "Irish Harps are Playing," with a trio arrangement that includes Mrs. Mitchell and Miss Chartren.

Two of the comedians of the cast, Mrs. Hepburn and Rufus Payne, have a dialogue, "The O'Haras and the O'Tooles" that gets them a big hand, in which they recite the relative merits of their own families, in true Celtic fashion.

And as for the third comedian, Allen Stevens, as the good-natured Sir Clarence with a monocle that stays put and a constant smile that is just right for the role and would do credit to any tooth-powder ad, he deserves a place all to himself. Just as he deserved the appreciation accorded him by the audience. He has a manner all his own and gives the part the absolutely right touch, in the much-lined presentation of the true stage Englishman who goes in for a monocle, good-nature, and a great deal of vacant thought, loudly expressed. In his monologue (modelled on the old-time 'Burlington Bertie' favorite), called "I'm a Danced Clever Chap," he brings down the house.

The infectious melody and gayety of this bright musical comedy spread an atmosphere of cheerfulness over the house last night. Even the pastor, the Rev. E. W. Rowland, was moved to an Irish phrase. "I wish you the top of the morning," when he spoke very briefly during an intermission. It is, without doubt, one of the best presentations of the list of annual productions chalked up to the credit of this choir.

Harry Northrop, organist and choir leader, is the musical director; Leonard Agnew is stage manager; R. Brawn has charge of the scenic effects, and Miss Elva Throop is pianiste.

"The Lady of the Terrace" is to be repeated this (Friday) evening, when it is anticipated that last evening's large attendance will be doubled.

BRITISH TROOPS STAY

Will Not Be Replaced By Indian Soldiers.

NEW DELHI, April 2 (CP)—Reuters)—While the number of British troops in India has been reduced by 20,000 since the war there is no prospect of the replacement of British troops by Indian, declared General Sir Robert Cassels, commander-in-chief of the forces in India, at a meeting of the council of state.

Although admitting the saving effected by such replacement would amount to eight crores of rupees annually, General Cassels said the paramount consideration was the peace and tranquility of the country, and the Indian government had not yet had experience of an army trained by Indian officers.

GORDON ACCLAIMS BENNETT GOV'T FOR SOCIAL ACTS

Hon. G. N. Gordon Addresses Kiwanis Club At Its Weekly Luncheon

PRAISES NEW WAGE LAW

"It was one of the most daring and courageous efforts to improve social conditions ever made by any statesman," Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., said to-day in reference to the social legislation of the Bennett Government, in an address to the Kiwanis Club luncheon.

Reviewing the history of social legislation in Canada and estimating the status and value of existing social enactments, Mr. Gordon looked with satisfaction on the position the Dominion now holds in the parade of civilized nations to care for the social lot of their peoples by legislation. "Taken all for all we have reached in 1937 the highest standard of social legislation and community living we have ever had," he said. Several of the Bennett Government acts have been nullified by the Privy Council, but the Provinces are now effecting through independent legislation the much-needed features of the Bennett measures, he said.

Compensation Act

In the course of his review, he pointed to the great social benefit of the Ontario Workmen's Compensation Act. Workmen originally had to fight their compensation cases through all the courts in hopless battle for even the most just of claims. Compensation is now handled to the mutual satisfaction of both employers and workers, he said.

He predicted a great public benefit from the newly-enacted Ontario minimum wage law. Six hundred thousand workers in Ontario will benefit, he said. The discovery that 25 per cent. of the employees of chain stores in Ontario received an average of $6.32 a week was among the revelations which led to the passing of this act.

Enactments by the Ontario Legislature have in large part made up for the nullification of the Bennett Government's Unemployment and Social Insurance Act, Mr. Gordon continued. Dealing with the Farmers' Creditors' Arrangement Act, he stated: "I think we have a right to anticipate it will be helpful in bringing back healthy conditions."

"Social adjustment between capital and labor is being made through the force of strikes in the United States," he said. "Canada is proceeding in the more orderly manner of trying to legislate to cure social troubles in advance. It is not generally recognized that the day is gone when capitalists may pay their employees whatever wages they please, he said.

Dr. C. B. Waite introduced Mr. Gordon. During the luncheon, little Leonore Gordon entertained the club with singing and dancing. She was accompanied at the piano by Leslie Unitt.

SHELL DEALERS HOLD MEETING

Newspaper Advertising Greatly Aided Progress Of Company Last Year

Head office executives and J. L. Airth, local branch manager of Shell Oil Company of Canada, Limited, held a meeting of Shell dealers and salesmen from this territory at the Empress Hotel on Thursday.

R. O. Watson greeted the men on behalf of the Shell Company and outlined briefly plans for 1937. A series of talking pictures were shown during the meeting.

Mr. Watson said: "1936 was a very satisfactory year for our company in Canada. Aside from the general improvement in conditions, we believe a good share of the credit should go to our newspaper and other advertising activities in which we attempted to present the quality of our products to the public in a simple, straightforward, easy-to-understand manner. We look forward with a great deal of confidence to 1937."

PLANNING DINNER FOR ALD. STOCKER

Horticultural Society Will Honor Chairman Of City Parks Committee

A complimentary dinner to Alderman Walter Stocker in recognition of his years of service in the beautification of Peterborough as chairman of the aPrks committee of the City Council is being planned by the Horticultural Society.

A letter from John A.
